YEAR IN REVIEW

Winter Heads List of News for 1977

There were good days and bad days, happy ones and sad ones for many in the area last year, but 1977 will go down as the year of the big "winter."

It was the top story here and at most other places, too.

Not many will forget January 1977, when we had 18 days of zero or below weather - plus snow and strong winds.

Other top stories include the opening of two fast-food restaurants, new addition to city hall, announcement that United Savings Bank will build a new home office, and a fire that destroyed Hayden Mill.

There were expansions, either announced or near completion, at Tecumseh Corrugated Box (see picture below) and Harvey House Motel. Problems reported include defeat of a proposed historic ordinance and vandalism at The Herald office.

A resume of events from The Tecumseh Herald is:

Construction last year at Tecumseh Corrugated Box provided new offices for the company through an extensive remodeling and building program. Since being founded here in the early 1960s, Corrugated Box seemingly has been expanding ever since, first for production, followed by loading docks and now new offices. Photo at the left shows what Tecumseh Corrugated Box looked like before last year's construction.

Aden Mead, former president of Tecumseh school board, has been elected city mayor.

SUCCEEDS HAROLD EASTON

Mead Elected Mayor in 4-3 Council Vote

Aden Mead, 63, of 128 W. Brown, was elected to a one year term as mayor of the city of Tecumseh by council at its 1978 re-organizational meeting Tuesday night.

Mead won the 4-3 election over Harold Easton during the second council ballot. During the first ballot, Easton received three votes, Mead, three, and James Palmer, one.

Easton served approximately 16 years as mayor of the city during his 18 years on city council. He served as mayor from 1960-1970, was elected mayor again in April of 1972, after Wayne "Jim" Gillespie, and served continuously upon re-election through 1977.

Mead served two terms (four years) as a council member and was re-elected in the Nov. 8 election, polling the highest popular vote over other candidates DeMoss and Easton, incumbents, and new candidate, Michele Worley.

Easton immediately congratulated Mead after the deciding ballot Tuesday. He stood, passed the gavel to Mead and said, "I want to be the first to congratulate you."

Mead responded that he felt "very humble." Praising Easton's administration Mead said, he had "a big pair of shoes to fill." He asked the other council members, city officials and citizens for cooperation and assistance during his next year as mayor.

Mead is the president of Weather-Seal of Southeastern Michigan, Inc. He has resided in Tecumseh since 1938 and served 21 years as a member and president of the Tecumseh school board.

He is a member of the United Methodist Church and has served in various capacities.

His wife, Margaret, and a daughter, Laura, a junior at Tecumseh high school, reside on Brown St.

Also during the re-organizational meeting, council member Dr. Carlton Cook was re-elected mayor pro-tem after a second ballot for that office. He has held that post previously.

Prior to the council elections, DeMoss, Easton and Mead were sworn into office by city clerk, Vera Gardner.

Others Now Circulating Petitions

Petitions, supporting a move for installation of a traffic light on W. Chicago Blvd. at Occidental, are not only to be circulated at the offices of United Savings Bank but also by a number of businesses.

Residents of Tecumseh and area may sign petitions at McDonald's, Tecumseh Plywood, Big Boy and The Herald office.

The bank is promoting the petitions for a traffic light in an effort to help control traffic and relieve some of the congestion and hazards in the business section along W. Chicago, and near its branch office at Occidental.

Patrons of the bank and others have complained about the difficulty of entering W. Chicago from the businesses because of traffic.

Officials Unanimously OK Historic Ordinance

After quiet public hearing, Tecumseh city council unanimously approved the historic preservation ordinance to create a voluntary historic district and landmark designation for the city.

No one spoke in opposition to the ordinance.

Terrance Beland, 111 N. Union St. who led the opposition to the first ordinance proposed in July, spoke in favor of the revised ordinance.

"I think it is a good thing. I can't see anything but positive things coming from this. It is a good piece of work. We're respecting people, fostering a good thing," Beland stated.

He and a majority of residents in the downtown historic district signed petitions opposing the first ordinance which gave more clout to a seven member historic preservation committee.

The new ordinance requires homeowners to consult with the historic preservation committee before making exterior changes, but does not bind the homeowner to obey the committee, unless the property owner has agreed to have the property designated as a landmark.

Ordinance becomes effective within 20 days after its adoption Tuesday night and publication. Building plans approved previously are not affected.

Lynn Cook, chairman of the historic district study committee formed in 1974, said she was satisfied with the revised ordinance.

"It will open the whole town to the possibility of considering historic designation on a case by case basis," she stated.

Council is now compiling names of Tecumseh residents who may want to serve on the historic preservation committee.

Hearing in February for Zoning Charge

After a brief discussion, Tecumseh City Council voted to have a public hearing Feb. 21 at 8 p.m. at city hall to consider the rezoning request of Louis Schneider for about 4.5 acres of property from residential to highway business.

Property is located on the north side of W. Chicago Blvd. east of the Clark gas station.

Schneider was present and outlined the area for the council on a map. He proposed to use the land for used car display.

City manager Cal Zorn said that the zoning change from a planning perspective, would open land north of Schneider's property for commercial development.

Councilman Len DeMoss objected to the zoning change on basis of traffic safety. "I don't feel a used car lot is something we need with traffic that comes along that curve," stated DeMoss. He cited traffic light petition drive for light at Occidental and W. Chicago Blvd. as an example. "Traffic flow is atrocious as it is," DeMoss continued.

Council member James H. Palmer pointed out that ingress and egress would still be at Schneider's main business site, west of the gas station.

Council member Carlton Cook said he thought that rezoning the area on the south side of Evans Creek that runs through the property in question, would seem to be a "natural stopping place" for commercial development. "No one could build a house there, now," he commented.

Schneider said he would be satisfied if council decided to rezone that part.

Macon Road Improvements Are Planned

Charles Kipke, Onsted, and members of the Lenawee County Road Commission says more gravel is scheduled for the Clinton-Macon Rd. through the Macon village.

Village residents have complained about the road for sometime, and a couple weeks ago the road was closed to traffic because of mud.

Since, the county has hauled in large stones and some gravel. More is scheduled this winter and for next spring before it is paved.

State Highway Department was called by a resident, or residents, about the road's condition, but officials there turned the report over to the county department.

Trial Date Scheduled for Feb. 7th

Timothy E. Poll, 20 of Adrian, stood mute Dec. 30 during his arraignment in circuit court on charges of open murder, carrying a weapon with unlawful intent and use of a firearm during commission of a felony.

Judge Rex B Martin set a jury trial date for Feb. 7 and remanded him to jail without bond.

Poll is accused of shooting Charles Mercer of Fort Benning, Ga. in the back on Dec. 13. Mercer, the husband of a former Tecumseh woman nee Kathy Laslo, died two hours after the shooting.

Next Meeting on Jan. 17th

Next council meeting will be Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall owing to the legal holiday for Martin Luther King.

THS Addition About Finished

Special education classroom addition at Tecumseh high school is near completion, and officials anticipate opening it at the beginning of the school's second semester, Supt. Robert Duhan reports.

If the addition is available for students later this month, it will mark the end of construction that was scheduled for completion last year.

Brochures of City Sent to 250 Plants

Assistant city manager Paul Preston reported to council Tuesday night that nearly 250 small industries with 50 employees or more were contacted with a small brochure about Tecumseh industrial park site.

He is presently in the preliminary stages of discussing land sales with three firms but said it was difficult to tell at this stage if they will bear fruit.

In addition he contacted the Society of Industrial Realtors in Detroit and Toledo, Ohio and distributed brochures.

Next important step will be planning shell building for the development of the sites. Preston is investigating the best combination of financing methods and promised more details in the next report.

Jan. 1st Snow Closes School

Approximately six inches of snow fell here Sunday, starting the New Year off in a wintery fashion.

Snow and falling temperatures Monday and early Tuesday turned many streets and rural roads into very slippery conditions, and forced the re-opening of schools until Wednesday.

Holiday vacation for students was expected to end Monday with classes starting Tuesday.

5 Accidents Are Minor

Although many city streets were slippery much of the time the past week, police investigated just five traffic accidents.

None was serious. A resume is:

Dec. 28 — Karen Brumm, 17, of 408 Seneca, slid while attempting to park in front of Fabricare and ran into the building.

Dec. 28 — Joan E. Rapin, 16, of 116 Maple, lost control of her vehicle on icy Green Hwy. and went off the road and into a cyclone fence at 6919 Green.

Dec. 29 — Karla A. Caldwell, 20, of 509 Center Dr., was southbound on N. Evans near Burt and lost control of her car.

Dec. 30 — Charles Gross, high school driving instructor, reported a training car leased from Les Dallas had been damaged.

Jan. 3 — Frances J. Jaqun, 52, of 113 Maple, was cited for a stop sign violation after a collision with Kenneth E. Freshcorn, 28, Adrian, in the intersection of Shawnee and N. Pearl St.

The Freshcorn car was knocked into a parked car belonging to Kenneth Wolfe, 301 N. Pearl.

Turn-on-Red

National standards for permitting right-turns-on-red at traffic-signal controlled intersections on the nation's highways and streets were announced today by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

All governmental units having responsibility for traffic control are encouraged to use the new standards to the maximum practical extent as a means of energy conservation and improved traffic engineering.

The rule permits right turns at signal-controlled intersections after stopping and yielding to pedestrians and other vehicles lawfully using the intersection, except where signs prohibit such turns.

As of July 1, 1977, 48 states and Puerto Rico have adopted legislation for the permissive right-turn-on-red rule.

In Maryland and Maine, the legislation will become effective July 1, 1978, and May 1, 1978, respectively. The New York State law does not apply to New York City, where right-turn-on-red is prohibited.

Only the states of Connecticut and Massachusetts now prohibit making right turns on red (signal, except where a sign permits it. The District of Columbia does not permit right turns at any red signals.

The new standards provide for right-turn-on-red (or left-turn-on-red for one-way streets), except when engineering studies find one or more of the following conditions exist:

Sight distance to vehicles approaching from the left (or right, if applicable) is inadequate.

The intersection area is designed in a way that may result in unexpected conflicts.

There is a special pedestrian crossing phase in the signal system.

Significant pedestrian conflicts are resulting from right-turns-on-red accidents per year have been identified for the particular approach.

There is significant crossing activity by children, elderly, or handicapped people.

If any of the six hazards exist, a "No Turn on Red" sign may be posted.

The new standards are more flexible than and replace an interim policy issued July 16, 1976, and have been incorporated into the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices.

Zorn Reports on Purchase

City manager Cal Zorn reported that Lenawee Disposal purchased the M.H. Weaver refuse collection business which presently collects city residents' trash.

Weaver employees are to remain with Lenawee Disposal. No immediate changes in routes or day of collection are planned, Zorn repeated.

Vandalism, Complaints

Thefts, vandalism and alcohol related incidents were handled by Tecumseh police the past week.

Two residents lost their garbage bags, delivered just last week.

Larry Coscarelli, 501 W. Chicago, reported Friday that his garbage bags had been stolen from his garage, and Jane Hensen, 114 W. Kilbuck, told officers Tuesday that bags left at her home were missing.

Vandalism included breakage of glass in both doors of a truck owned by Forest Abner. He reported to the police Saturday that the truck had been parked behind Tecumseh Printers.

The day before, George R. Adam, a Central Michigan University student visiting here, told officers that his windshield had been struck by a rock while driving on S. Evans. Police theorize that a pellet gun was used.

Fay Crane reported a building on S. Maumee at Russell Rd. had been broken into and a restroom damaged. Discovery was Jan. 1.

Last Thursday, Michael D. Bolden, 23, of 519 N. Evans, was stopped by police for going through a stop sign at Pottawatamie and S. Evans St. Police found two cans of beer in his vehicle, one of which was open. He was cited for open alcohol in his car.

Also Thursday, Harold A. Gove, 57, of 8745 Matthews Hwy., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. He was seen running a stop sign at W. Pottawatamie and Adrian St., and then driving in the center lane of W. Chicago Blvd.

Saturday, John C. Alexander, 25, Temperance, was arrested for DUIL after police arrested him on W. Chicago Blvd. Police were alerted by a CB call that a vehicle had run several cars off the road, just west of Tecumseh.

Stanley Doroshewitz, 56, Lake LeAnn, was cited Saturday for DUIL after being observed driving left of center on E. Chicago Blvd.

Also Saturday Arthur M. Carney, 207 W. Kilbuck, was charged with being drunk and disorderly after being arrested in a downtown alley.

David A. Buck, 310 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., was stopped on N. Evans St. for a loud muffler. A check showed that he was wanted in Saline for failure to appear for a summons. He was taken to city police department where he posted $50 bond.

Basketball Season Opens for 8th Grade

Clinton's eighth grade basketball team opens its season Jan. 9 at home.

Nightfall Dangerous

Michigan motorists are reminded that nightfall—the most dangerous period of the day for car-pedestrian accidents, especially those involving youngsters—comes an hour earlier after the switch to Eastern Standard Time at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 30.

There were 19 five- to nine-year-old pedestrians killed by cars between 3 and 7 p.m. last year, and nine of those victims died between 5 and 7 p.m., when many motorists are returning from work in darkness," stated Arthur C. Gibson, Auto Club Safety and Traffic Engineering manager.

Motorists should adjust their driving in this period by:

+Reducing speed while increasing distance between cars.

+Watching for signs of children at play, including bicycles and dogs.

+Keeping windshields, headlights and taillights clean and in proper working order to insure optimum visibility.

Parents of school-age children can increase their visibility by dressing them in brightly colored clothing.

Vote Yes for Fire Department

City council voted to appropriate $780 to convert fire department oxygen-recharging system to compressed air system to comply with state safety requirements.

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY
KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

A few weeks ago the Medical Records transcription process was described and it was observed that this is only part of the role played by the hospital medical records department. Look at some of the other things they do.

Medical records is the legal steward for some 50,000 records of patients who were treated at Herrick Hospital. The number of these records is both vast and impressive. They were recently moved from the old file room in the basement, upstairs to the new file room in the remodeled east wing.

The job took a week and involved people from several other areas of the hospital.

Not only did the shelves of records have to be physically moved; they also had to be returned to the shelves in precise order.

The patient record or chart as it is called in the hospital is a medical legal document. Every individual's record is recorded in a card file and can be cross-referenced by name and patient number. The actual record is filed in numerical order starting with one and up through 50,400.

We can trace the process from the time a patient is discharged from the hospital. The "chart" is removed from its binder at the nursing station and sent to medical records where it is audited for completeness.

For example, if the record shows that the doctor ordered a chest X-ray, the report of that X-ray must be included in the chart.

The reports that the doctor dictates must be completed and signed by the doctor. If not, the doctor is notified and the chart is held until all these details are complete.

Next, an abstract form is prepared that summarizes the entire stay. This abstract is a form that will be sent to a computer firm where the coded information is sorted electronically each month.

Reports are then returned to the hospital containing statistics such as, the number of patients by age, by diagnosis, by sex, by hospital department and so on.

We also find how many laboratory tests were performed and what kinds and the same with operations, X-rays and many others.

All this information is of help in staffing the various hospital departments, ordering supplies and identifying trends.

These reports are used by nurses and by doctors in conducting studies, called "medical care evaluations." Suppose that the doctors decide to take a close look at cases of pneumonia in persons under age 16.

Medical records can consult the computerized reports under "pneumonia" and see at a glance the ages and hospital case numbers of patients who were treated each month.

From there they can go to the shelves and pull the charts needed to conduct the study.

Often when a doctor admits a patient, medical records will be asked to send the chart from previous hospitalizations to the nursing station.

When this happens the old chart is checked-out as in a library and quickly sent to the nursing unit where that patient was admitted. Then the doctor can use the old chart to refresh memory and compare symptoms and diagnostic findings before treatment is begun.

A great deal of work done in the medical records department must wait to be discussed in another column.

Hopefully, this week's column gives some insight into the important contributions made to patient care by the people in medical records at HMH.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smeil

HOLLOWAY—The Friendly Neighbors Farm Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Hester Wooster. A dinner preceded the business meeting, followed by the exchange of gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weiss had a wedding anniversary Dec. 20. The group extended congratulations.

A holiday card was signed by each one for Gladys Anderson, who was a surgical patient in Bixby Hospital.

The discussion topic was on "Marketing." If the farmer can contract his crops and make a profit on his production, it would be more feasible than on the open market, where as of now, it is difficult to meet expenses, with grain much lower, machinery, seed, fertilizer and gasoline at a premium price.

On Jan. 1, 1978 the minimum wage will be $2.65 per hour, which will not only affect the farmer, other employers also. This has been approved by the United States Congress.

There will be an agricultural tour of Israel on Feb. 5-15.

If interested, write to Larry Ewing, Michigan Farm Bureau, P.O. Box 30960 Lansing, 48909 and receive a brochure.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

December was an absolutely super month for evening grosbeaks in this area. The phone was ever so busy with people calling to ask about the chunky, short-tailed birds with yellow bodies and black and white wings.

It also seemed that, sooner or later, almost every in-person visit worked around to happy talk about the brightly colored birds who did so much to enliven the somewhat dreary winter scene.

Of course, after identifying the evening grosbeaks other questions arose which were not all so easy to answer. Where did they come from? Had they been around before? What did they eat? How long will they stay? Why are they called evening grosbeaks?

Part of the answer to this last question is obvious. The birds have large, broad based, strong bills. They are indeed gross beaks. There seems to be no good reason for the 'evening'.1

Some bird books speculate that early an ornithologist believed these birds lived deep in the dark conifer forests and ventured out to be seen and to sing only in the evening. Why in the world would he think that?

It seems a far-fetched idea to me. It certainly takes little observing to discover that the evening grosbeaks are abroad all during the daylight hours.

As for the evening singing — well, it stretches the imagination almost to the breaking point to describe the evening grosbeak's noise as singing.

They chatter and whistle, oh how they chatter and whistle, especially when they congregate on a bird-feeder or flock to near-by trees and bushes.

Perhaps, during the mating season they are more musically inclined. At least "The Audubon Bird Guide" talks about them making a slightly warbler-like sound. But, when these happy birds visit here in the winter-time, they chatter and twitter, maybe whistle — sing, never.

This is definitely not the first time we were treated to an invasion of evening grosbeaks; however, their numbers and wide distribution could well be near record breaking. Why the large flocks this winter is hard to explain. (Perhaps we should not question but just enjoy.)

The grosbeaks winter wandering is seemingly without rhyme or reason. Their history is that they may appear in one area for a number of years and then suddenly not show up. Some years they venture much farther south than others. It would be nice to say that the more severe the winter in the north the further south they go but it is not true.

The experts do believe though that the increasing popularity of maintaining bird-feeding stations might be a small factor in the ever increasing movement of the evening grosbeaks.

They dearly love sunflower seeds and who is to say that, as more and more of us keep our bird-feeders well-stocked with these tasty seeds, the word does not get around.

According to several of my bird books it was not until the winter of 1889-90 that evening grosbeaks were officially reported in this country.

That winter they showed up at feeding-stations in New England. Originally they were birds of Canada — their summer homes were in the Canadian conifer forests from the Great Lakes westward. And in the winter they migrated east but remained in the evergreen forests.

Why a west-east migration instead of north-south is unknown. Also unexplained is the sudden and continued shift to the southeast.

One thing is sure though — all of us who have been blessed with visits by these gorgeous birds just hope they continue to come our way. We won't ask why, we will just welcome them with sunflower seed laden bird-feeders!

Need Foster Grandparents

The Foster Grandparent Program is new to Lenawee County. It is a state-funded program for low income senior citizens who are over 60 years old and willing to volunteer 20 hours a week to work with needy, handicapped children in the county.

The Lenawee County program is a cooperative effort with the Intermediate School District, Adrian, Onsted and Tecumseh local school districts. Volunteer stations will be located in each of these districts.

The program is an opportunity for 40 older people to serve the community as well as offer them a meaningful relationship with children who need attention and love.

The foster grandparents receive an hourly, tax-exempt stipend plus additional benefits.

For more information, call the Lenawee Council on Aging at 263-2161, ext. 285 or the local senior citizen center in Tecumseh at the Community Center 423-5939.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON—1978 dawned a beautiful winter wonderland in the Macon area. Looking back over 1977 in a rural area it is hard to list month by month happenings as a city does because our story is mainly about people, not big events, new buildings, sports events, etc. One big thing in 1977 was the Clinton-Macon Rd. construction, which we hope will see completion in 1978.

Two Macon area residents are hospitalized for injuries sustained during the holiday.

On Dec. 23 Mrs. Herbert Gilmore fell in Tecumseh after Christmas caroling with a church group. She was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital and had surgery the next day for a broken hip. Her daughter, Rosemary Niblack, reported she is doing well but will be in the hospital for some time yet. Her room number is 208.

On Christmas Eve the Jerry Schultz family along with Joseph Schafer, Blanche, Myrt and Joel were on their way to church in Ann Arbor when they were involved in an accident.

Joe suffered a broken hip, the others escaped serious injury. Joe was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor and had surgery on his hip Dec. 30. Joe is in room 2027 and will probably be there a few more weeks.

The Robert Bush family had a busy holiday. The Friday before Christmas found the family at Myra's mom's, Mrs. Harold Osterhout's in Britton for supper. Dec. 24 the Bush family were all at mom's, Mrs. Leland Bush's for dinner. Christmas morning Bob and Myra had brunch for all their children, their spouses and grandchildren. Myra's mom was also with them.

Roy and Laura Donko and son, Steve moved from Pennington Rd. into Tecumseh last week. Their new home is on Center Dr. in Herrick Park.

Don and Clara Davis had the whole family at home for Christmas dinner, Mrs. Ted Babcox, Clara's sister, spent the day with them. This past week Clara was admitted to Ford Hospital for tests and hopefully will be home by the end of the week.

John and Lucille Banks had their family home for Christmas. John came from Chicago, Ill. Bill was home from college, Susan, Don and family came from Tawas. Fred and Judy Ross and family and Bob and Debbie Banks and family, both of Macon, were there along with Jimmy and Tommy for Christmas Eve supper and exchange of presents. The group was together again for a while on Christmas Day to complete the family holiday.

The Richard Mohr family spent Christmas Eve with Mr. and Mrs. William Warren and family in Tecumseh. Sharon's mom, Dorothy Warren of Adrian, was with them. Christmas Day they visited Richard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mohr, Sr. and family in Adrian. A potluck dinner was enjoyed by all 13 of the Mohr's children and their families.

The John Swanstons celebrated Christmas at the Kenneth Plank home in Britton. Sally (Grandma) Jardine was with them for the day which included holiday dinner. In the evening the group visited Dick and Bonnie Harvey in Tecumseh. Dec. 26 the Swanston Christmas was enjoyed at the home of Paul and Sally Schafer. Jerry and Karen Miller and family of Reading were there along with Thomas Swanston.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

For these cold, cold, temperatures so common during Michigan winters, nothing hits the spot like a bowl of hot, homemade soup. These recipes are quick, inexpensive and delicious.

You do not need an exact recipe for vegetable soup. It is "a little of this and a little of that" recipe.

Here is a basic recipe and you can add the vegetables your family likes. This was taken from a Pennsylvania Dutch Cookbook.

VEGETABLE SOUP

1 soup bone
2 pounds stewing beef
2 quarts water
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup tomatoes
2 teaspoon salt
black pepper

Into two quarts of water, put soup bone and stewing beef and boil for two hours. For a hearty, substantial soup, cut up the meat and return to broth. Add tomatoes, onion and celery.

Also add other available vegetables, such as diced potatoes, carrots, turnips, green beans, limas, corn, peas, cabbage or chopped peppers. Boil until all vegetables are tender.

Note: For an even quicker soup, add tomatoes, onions, celery, chopped potatoes and cabbage. In place of other vegetables, add two (10 ounce) packages frozen mixed vegetables.

This rich potato soup from Barb Croft is an especially easy recipe and is delicious.

POTATO SOUP

2 cans cream of chicken soup
2 cups of milk,
1 pound bacon, fried and crumbled
4 tablespoon chopped chives
salt to taste
8 baked potatoes

Missile Frigate Is Assignment

Navy Electrician's Mate Fireman Apprentice Greg A. Hicok, whose wife Tamila is the daughter of Robert Faust, Britton, is assigned to the Navy's newest guided missile frigate.

He is serving as a crewmember aboard the USS Oliver H. Perry which was commissioned Dec. 17 in Bath, Maine. Naval Admiral James L. Holloway III, chief of naval operations, was the principal speaker for the ship's commissioning.

Hicok is one of 164 officers and enlisted men assigned to the Perry. She is 445 feet long, displaces 3,600 tons and can operate independently or as part of a naval task force.

The Perry is designed primarily to support underway replenishment groups, amphibious forces and merchant shipping against surface-to-surface attack.

She is outfitted with surface-to-air and surface-to-surface missiles, a 76mm gun and antisubmarinne torpedoes.

Additionally, she is outfitted with a landing platform and can accommodate two light helicopters for long range detection and attack of submarines.

The Perry is the first ship of her class and is named for Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, best remembered for his defeat of a British fleet on Lake Erie during the War of 1812. She will be home ported in Mayport, Fla.

He joined the Navy in March, 1976.

Enlists in Air Force

Paul Edward Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Briggs of 1403 S. Wick, and Larry Dean Hallenbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hallenbec, 601 Cairns, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program, according to SSgt David J. Whitaker, Air Force recruiter.

Both are 1977 graduates of Tecumseh High School and are scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force on Feb. 21. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six week basic training course, they will receive technical training as an aircraft maintenance specialist.

They will be earning credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Program Is Monograms

BRITTON — A program on Chrismons (Christ monograms) was presented by Mrs. Charles Gorton, Mrs. Herbert Morden and Mrs. Edgar Clark, all from Macon, Dec. 20, at the home of Mrs. Frances Eberhardt for the Britton Woman's Club Christmas meeting.

Mrs. Gorton, with her husband, made Chrismons over the past several years and used them to decorate the Christmas tree at the Macon United Methodist Church ever since 1965. The Gorton's now have a collection of over 100 Chrismons, made of gold and white.

Each symbol was displayed on a lighted easel and explanation given along with a Biblical verse.

Mrs. Melva Kanous accompanied the group on the piano as they sang "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night."

Members answered roll call with "Some Christmas customs in your home."

At the business meeting, December birthdays were honored. ECOL projects were reported by Thelma Frayer, club president. Also discussed were memorials for deceased members.

Following the program Christmas boxes were packed for shut-ins.

Cookies, cakes, coffee, tea were served by Lillian Kniffen, Vivian Brown, Frances Eberhardt, Esther Seagert and Gladys Prill.

Nellie Barrett was the program chairman. She also gave a prayer, Christmas story and meditation "Christian Discipleship" on wonder, joy and love. She also gave the closing prayer.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Dorothy Hindes. Edna Bortel will be in charge of program on foreign students Jan. 17.

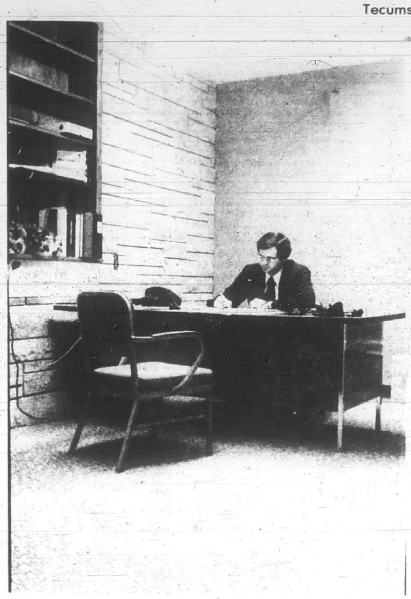
PICTORAL HIGHLIGHTS

1977 in Review

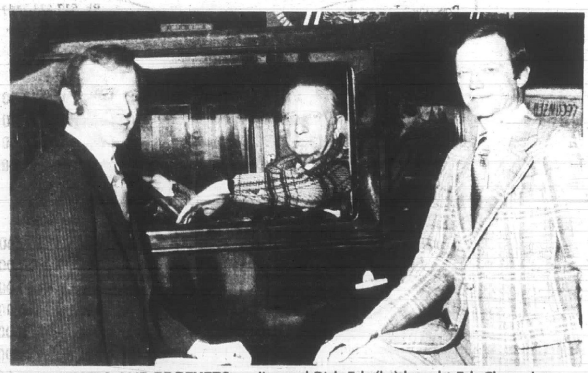
Pictures by Frank Weir, Kent Downing & Cortland Hunt

1977 SPORTS — As always, THS sports captured news headlines in 1977. This year, the Indian football squad won the Huron League title after loosing only to Flat Rock in league play. In non-league play, the Indians lost to Adrian after giving them the battle of their lives. The THS girls basketball team also rated high in the news after it went all the way to the regional finals before bowing in post-season play.

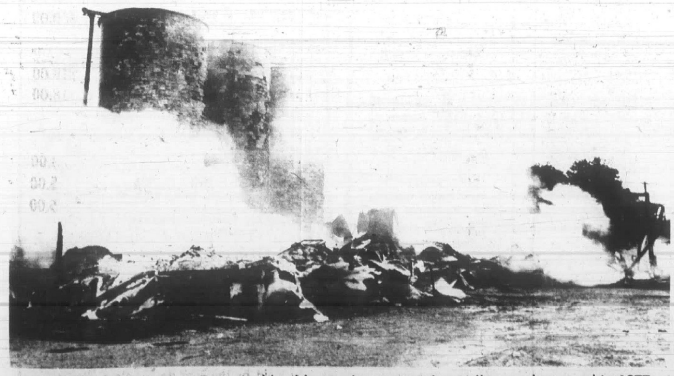


CHANGES AT CITY HALL — Tecumseh's city hall addition neared completion in November. New officers accommodate the city manager, assistant manager, clerk, assessor, building inspector and engineers. Paul Preston, (left) Tecumseh's assistant manager and community development director also made news in 1977 when council hired him for the new position in April.

TWO RESTAURANTS — By the end of October, Tecumseh area residents boasted two new restaurants. Local Big Boy owners, Earl Baldwin, Joe Mannino and Gene Tuckey, (above) are pictured opening day, Oct. 31. McDonald's owners, Bill and Vi Sigmund (right) opened their eighth restaurant here with a bang Sept. 26.



PARTNERS AND BROTHERS — Jim and Dick Erb (l-r) bought Erb Chevrolet-Buick from Walt Beglinger. Their father, Frank (center) helps with the business. A first was probably recorded in the state when the identical twins began their new business.



FIRE DESTROYS MILL — Tecumseh's oldest industry, Hayden Mill, was destroyed in 1977 when fire leveled the business on June 8. The business was started in 1858 and moved to Pearl St. in 1927, where it operated for 50 years.

MUCH CONTROVERSY — The Historic Ordinance received a great deal of publicity in 1977. The ordinance, effecting 90 properties, was formally introduced in July and captured both praise and objection in a September public hearing (above). The three-year study was vetoed in October, but revised to allow participation on a voluntary basis.

Tecumseh Library Bookmark

The Tecumseh Public Library has many new biographies and autobiographies in a wide range of subjects. Both historical and contemporary people are represented.

Liv Ullmann's mother remembers two things about her daughter's birth. A mouse ran across the floor and a nurse apologetically whispered, "I'm afraid it's a girl. Would you prefer to inform your husband yourself?" With this insight, Liv Ullman's autobiography begins. CHANGING is an honest, moving picture of the way the author sees herself as an actress, woman and a mother. Her childhood, her life with ingmar Bergman and her daughter, Linn, are all examined.

Virginia Woolf's only known autobiographical writings are collected in MOMENTS OF BEING, edited by Jeanne Schulkind. "Reminiscences" deals with "the greatest disaster that could happen" — the death of her mother. She treats the same subject in "A Sketch of the Past," but with greater detachment and more skill. The final three selections, "22 Hyde Park Gate," "Old Bloomsbury," and "Am I a Snob?", were written for reading at the Memoir Club. In each, Virginia's bold, original thoughts reflect her feelings towards society.

Leonard Mosley first met Charles Lindbergh at the famous Hauptmann trial. He became intrigued with the conflicting emotions of the man who was a genius with machines, but often had difficulty dealing with humans. In LINDBERGH: A BIOGRAPHY, Mosley relates Lindbergh's love-hate relationship with the U.S., his brilliant aviation achievements, his humiliation by the President, and his being barred from fighting for his country in World War II.

AMERICAN HUNGER is the continuation of Richard Wright's autobiographical BLACK BOY. BLACK BOY ends with Richard leaving the South in 1934 for a new life. AMERICAN HUNGER begins with his struggle as a clerk, dishwasher and finally, writer in Chicago. The Communist Party's demands that he use his artistic talent for its needs are an important part of this period of his life.

THE LIFE OF THE BUDDHA gives the essentials of the Buddhist philosophy in terms of the incidents in the Buddha's life that shaped them. The venerable Dr. H. Saddhatissa, a Buddhist monk, has used original Sanskirt and Pali sources to tell the story of the Buddha's youthful sensitivity to the human condition, his enlightenment and his 45-year Indian ministry. A pattern for daily living emerges from the teachings.

"I travel not for money nor for stardom, but for God, and I call it the King's Highway," testified Dale Evans Rogers. TRIALS, TEARS, AND TRIUMPHS is her story of her travels across the country, witnessing to the faith that has shaped her life. Her convictions on the new morality, on the dignity of being a woman and on patriotism are revealed in this glowing account of a Christian celebrity.

NABKOV: HIS LIFE IN PART is noted scholar Andrew Field's third book about author Valdamir Nabokov. Beginning with his life in pterevolutionary Russia and his emigration to England, the biography includes personal photographs and quotations from the Russian author. Field traces Nabokov's struggles as a young writer in Berlin, his stay in America during the 1940's and '50's, and his return to Europe.

Share in the history, discoveries, and research of science with these new books from Tecumseh Public Library. Remember — there's no charge for a library card if you live in the Tecumseh school district.

WHAT IS THE WORLD MADE OF? explains 20th century scientific advancements in the study of "atoms, leptons, quarks, and other tantalizing particles" to non-scientists. In chronicling man's search for the fundamental building blocks of all things, Gerald Feinberg not only traces pre-20th century achievements, but also predicts future accomplishments and their consequences.

How was the universe created? In 1965, astronomers discovered traces of radio static left over from the early explosion of the universe. The theory scientists now call the "standard theory" was developed. THE FIRST THREE MINUTES was written specially for general readers who have little or no training in physics and math. Professor Steven Weinberg, well-known for his work in physics, clearly explains each step in the creation process, frequently stopping to analyze complex occurances.

Would you like to live and work in an earth-like space community? Could these colonies be a solution to the energy problem? Providing homes for thousands of people, these units can and will soon be built. COLONIES IN SPACE, by Dr. T.A. Heppenheimer, covers the design and building of such units, farming and food supplies, recreation and fun (even swimming pools in space), building materials, and interstellar flight. Over 100 photos and drawings illustrate the text.

THE MENACE OF ATOMIC ENERGY is Ralph Nader and John Abbotts' probe into nuclear energy plants and technology. They examine the half truths, oversights and bad planning of the industry, including its effects of workers, consumers and taxpayers. Safety vs. economics is an important topic. Citizen action challenging local, state and federal officials is a necessity, according to the authors.

"Originally a toy scorned by admirals, the submarine is now the most deadly weapon on the planet," writes Drew Middleton in SUBMARINE. While exploring the past, present, and future of the weapon and political instrument, the reader will discover the men behind the machine, the sub's role in important battles and the status of underwater fleets should there be a World War III.

LIFE AT THE BOTTOM is the first book of its kind to study the scientists, servicemen and civilians who live at Antarctica. Author John Langone journeyed to this land of superlatives to find out about these people who chose to live with "boredom, cabin fever, sexual deprivation and relentless storms." Stand with him on the South Pole, viewing the ice creations and the animal life that exists on this subzero continent.

TIME OF MY DEATH is Alan Breslau's own story of his rebirth. After being burned beyond recognition over most of his body, Alan went through 46 operations to rebuild his face. He recounts the explosive crash, along with the data he accumulated while searching for the cause. TIME OF MY DEATH . . . "heart-warming, grisly at times, hilarious at unexpected moments . . . continuous hope, patience, endurance."

The Tecumseh Public Library has several new "how-to-do-it" books for the craft and restoration-minded. Our books will even help you build a studio!

"A convenient and easily set up work area can mean the difference between neglect of a talent and many profitable and enjoyable working hours!" SUCCESSFUL STUDIOS AND WORK CENTERS is a "where-to" book, concerned with the planning and lay-out of such areas. Margaret Davidson discusses possible locations and equipment needed, along with the basics of lighting, wiring, and plumbing. Specific topics include artist studios, sewing centers, darkrooms, woodworking shops and home offices.

The ancient and honorable are of stained glass is explored in depth in HOW TO WORK IN STAINED GLASS, by Anita and Seymour Isenberg. Divided into five sections, the book treats different types of glass, lead came, soldering and required tools. After explaining the procedures, the authors have included several projects and tips for "show and sell." A worthwhile section on repairing objects completes this extensively illustrated book.

Instructions for making over 100 workable musical instruments are given in SIMPLE FOLK INSTRUMENTS TO MAKE AND PLAY. Easy, step-by-step directions with photos and diagrams show how to make wind, string and percussion instruments, such as Mexican gourd guiros, Coconut thumb pianos and plastic bottle banjos. Many of the instruments can be made from household items: tin cans, plastic tubes and bottles, cardboard and sticks. The authors, Ilene Hunter and Marilyn Judson, conduct many instruction workshops.

FRAME IT by Lista Duren, is a complete guide to picture framing. Beginning with a section on choosing the best frame for the artwork, the book contains many photos and illustrations of sample frames and steps in the assembling process. Methods of backing, mounting and stretching are included, as well as suggestions for hanging artwork.

Whether you've had formal training in cartooning and drawing caricatures or not, THE COMPLETE BOOK OF CARTOONING can help you. John A. Richardson, cartoonist and illustrator, offers step-by-step directions for all types of cartoons and caricatures. Professional secrets of composition, characterization, and rendering for single panel gags, strips, comic books, cards and animation precede the section on how to get your work published.

FROM HEARTH TO COOKSTOVE is an encyclopedia of over 600 American kitchen collectibles from 1700 to 1930. The essays, definitions, gleanings and recipes are illustrated with 1,155 pictures and drawings. Instructions for buying, cleaning and displaying utensils, as well as a general price guide for buyers and sellers, are an added dimension to the book. Linda C. Franklin, an avid collector for several years, has also included a patent date table, a guide to restorations and museums, and an extensive bibliography.

"All" you need to know to restore an old car. Beginning with tips on what to look for when selecting an old car, CHILTON'S AUTO RESTORATION GUIDE takes the reader through systematically disassembling, refurbishing and reassembling the car. Each of the car's systems is treated in a separate chapter, illustrated with many in-process photos. Burt Mills also deals with body and upholstery repairs, and maintaining the car after restoration.

Consumers! Inventors! Aliens! Take note of Tecumseh Public Library's new books that could concern you:

Did you ever have an idea for an invention or new product and not know what to do with it? HOW TO TURN YOUR IDEA INTO A MILLION DOLLARS tells you, step-by-step, how to judge, protect, price, market, finance and merchandise your idea. Ideas don't just happen you have to work for them. Don Kracke includes a marketing plan, inventor's checklist, and list of trade journals he has found useful.

THE CHARITY RACKET, by Robert A. Liston, reveals the organized business as it exists today in the U.S. While many charities are honest, he states, some are downright fraudulent. A citizen would find it almost impossible to discover how his money was spent. Afflicted children and movie stars for advertising gimmicks, children selling candy in "scholarship" drives, the D.A.V. ident-o-tags, and religious charlatans—these are just a few of the areas he delves into. After showing how a charity gets started and raises its funds, the author suggests reforms so we can keep and trust them.

LIKE SOLDIERS

There's beauty to the morning after a snowstorm, with the world turned white. The trees march in line like soldiers buried under the weight of their packs. Branches bend under the load; sometimes they break. But, more often they're resilient enough to withstand the storm . . . and still keep growing.

Can we say the same of ourselves? Do we stand up under burdens, or do our hidden shoulders snap and break? It might help us to bear heavy loads if we realized that we're never alone. The world is full of others staggering along under their own burdens, and most of them manage to keep going. And the lucky ones who have a true faith even realize that the pilgrimage has a reason, a meaning, even though they may not understand it.

Where do you find faith? You don't. It comes to you. And the Church is the first step toward such a meeting.

THS Volleyballers Have New Coach, Open Season Jan. 9

Tecumseh's volleyball squad is looking for another successful season this year.

The Indians have a new coach in Denise Knuth. Knuth graduated from Adrian College last year where she played volleyball and basketball for four years. She was captain of the volleyball team for her final three years in college.

She is a substitute teacher for Lenawee County.

Last season, under former coach Sue Allen who is pursuing teaching full-time, the Indians had a 16-2 record. They lost to Jackson Lumen Christi in the regional finals and took second place in the Huron League with a 6-1 mark. Monroe St. Mary's won the league with a 7-0 tally.

Knuth figures the Indians will be tough again this season with a number of experienced players returning. In fact, the orange and black lost only two starters, Tammy Downing and Tori Iffland to graduation.

Returning lettermen and starters for Tecumseh include seniors Debbie Steadly, Robin Isom, Sheila Bihlmyer and Sandy Dunn, and juniors Sandy MacGeorge and Gloria Fosbender.

Co-captains for the squad are Steadly and Bihlmyer.

Filling out the roster is senior Jill Greenfield, juniors Connie Retan and Kim Adams and sophomores Sandy Humphries and Kathy Perry.

Tecumseh is switching its offensive alignment this season going from a 4-2 offense to a 5-1.

Knuth explains that the 4-2 offense calls for two setters and four spikers. The 5-1, of course, calls for one setter and five spikers.

Although the 5-1 offense is more complicated, Knuth feels its preferable to the 4-2. "With the 5-1, half of the time three people are in the front row. Spiking out of the center is harder for the opposition to pick up than from the sides."

"Most high schools use the 4-2. But I can't see taking out a spiker to use a setter." Knuth prefers to use all the people she can as spikers.

She admits the offense calls for "more communications." Spikers must know who will play the ball.

Although the varsity had a little trouble learning the new offense, everything is much smoother now.

Knuth is confident about her team and the season. "We have so much potential. We should be able to win the league. Nobody in the league has as much height and hits the ball as hard."

She quickly adds that the Indians have a very strong bench.

Starting for the junior varsity will be Therese Rapin, Kelly and Kathy Kruger, Chris Spagnoli, Kris MacDonald and Donna Bohannon. MacDonald and Spagnoli are co-captains.

Filling out the roster is, Janet Harper, Carol Cangley, Julie Reichenbaugh, Deb Bater, Janice Bishop, Kathy Stuart.

Tecumseh opens the season by hosting Adrian Jan. 9.

Indian Grapplers are 3-0 in League

Tecumseh's wrestling squad picked up a win over Airport 33-23 on Tuesday of this week and took a second in the New Boston Huron Invitational last Saturday.

The Indians picked up three forfeits from Airport on Tuesday to help the cause but forfeited two weight classes themselves.

Randy Halvin at heavyweight picked up his first win of the season, a 13-8 decision.

Individual winners for the orange and black: 119-Ben Williams, 5-3; 126-Jack Bagby, 6-6 draw; 132-Steve Bishop, 8-0; 178-Dan DeHaan, 7-4; Hwt.- Randy Halvin, 13-8.

The junior varsity won four of their five matches against Airport. Tim Day won an 8-1 decision at 105 pounds, Greg Kittle pinned his 119-pound opponent at 2:30; Jim Bagby also scored a pin at 2:47 in the 126-pound weight class and Claudio Gonzalez scored a 4-2 win at 178 pounds.

Last Saturday, the orange and black took a second in the New Boston Huron Invitational with 134 team points. Huron won it with 161 points.

Nine teams participated.

Winners included Dan Yoder, 138 pounds and John Silberhorn, 165 pounds, first place; Matt Barrett, 112, Jack Bagby, 119, Mark Barrett, 126, and Steve Bishop, 132 all took second place overall.

Melvin Yoder picked up a third place finish at 145 pounds. Dan DeHaan at 178 pounds and Keith Hill, 155 pounds were both fourth overall.

The Indians are now tied with Huron with a 3-0 league record. Huron is currently rated number one in the state according to Tecumseh coach Pat Connors.

The team hosts Grosse Ile this Thursday, traveling to the Jackson County Western Invitational this Saturday.

CHS Volleyball Squad Hopeful

Clinton's volleyball squad opened its season on Wednesday of this week against Addison.

Details were unavailable before the paper was printed.

Leading the Skins are seniors Karen Busch, Cathy Gibson, JoAnn Grossman, Chris Kershner, Marcia Camfield and junior Sue Richter.

Brought up from the junior varsity are Kay Beal, Dinan Weirich, Lisa Cark, Fran Corwin and Beth Langowski.

New to the team is Elina Kassila, foreign exchange student from Finland.

Coach Jane McKie feels the team is stronger this year with a higher level of skill. But LCAA League competition should be strong, McKie concludes.

The junior varsity squad is coached by Jan Porter and is made up of 14 players.

Co-captains are Carrie Merillat and Kelly Martin.

Others on the roster include, Yvonne Tallman, Laurie Porterfield, Beth VanTuyle, Valerie Reyner, Debbie Baxter, Cindy Vincent, Mary Campbell, Gisele DeKany, Kelley MacRae, Renee Snyder, Renee Peterson and Kathy Sanborn.

Cagers Rally to Win

Tecumseh's cagers rallied from a ten-point deficit at the end of the third quarter to beat the Adrian Maples 57-55 Friday night.

The Indians were up by seven with three minutes left when the team went into a slump for two minutes. Adrian battled back to tie the game up.

A jump ball was called with nine seconds left and John Ely tipped the ball to Bret DesErmia. DesErmia fired it to Jeff Hans underneath the basket who dumped it in with one second left.

According to coach Jim Curth, Hans played his best game offensively of the year scoring a high of 34 points. He dumped 12 of 19 from the floor and sunk nine free throws in a row in the fourth quarter.

As a team, the Indians connected on 18 of 41 for 44 percent and 21 of 39 from the line. The Maples succeeded on 21 of 52 for 40 percent and 13 of 21 charity tosses.

Tecumseh outrebounded Adrian 33-29 with Hans leading the way at 14.

Behind Hans, Ely had 10 points, Ben Maves seven, DesErmia three, Pat Davis two and Richard Cangley one.

Tecumseh hosts Monroe Jefferson this Friday traveling to New Boston Huron next Tuesday.

The orange and black upped its overall record to 8-0 with the victory over Adrian. In the Huron League, the Indians remain 4-0 and in first place alone.

THS JV's Post 3-5 Record

Tecumseh's junior varsity basketball squad fell behind early against the Adrian Maples Friday and had to play catch-up.

The loss dropped the junior varsity's record to 3-5.

The orange and black couldn't quite make up the difference losing the contest 58-50.

Tecumseh trailed by just three at the end of the first quarter 15-12 but by the half the deficit grew to 28-20. That proved to be the ballgame since both teams scored 30 points each in the second half.

At one point, the Indians were down by 12 points but put on a full court press which closed the gap to three points. But fouls and missed free throws dashed the squad's hopes.

Tom Maves came up with 12 points and nine rebounds to lead the Indians. Mike Phenicie had 10 markers.

Tecumseh had a total of 22 field goals and six free throws. The Maples had only 16 field goals but dumped 26 free throws to make the difference.

Before the Christmas break, the orange and black lost a close one to Airport 43-40. Mike Phenicie had 17 points and Maves, nine. Scott Schafer had 14 rebounds.

Clinton Freshmen Victorious

Clinton's freshman basketball team won its first game of the season beating Hudson 60-33.

The Skins hit 45 percent from the floor to the Tigers's 17 percent.

Brian Dettling dropped in a career-high 20 points to lead both teams. Ken Semanske added 16 and John Santure had 13.

The freshman take on Onsted this Thursday at 5 p.m.

Macon Road on County's Priority List

Clinton-Macon Road from Clinton Township line to Ridge Hwy., a total of 8.4 miles in Macon Township, will be one of five primary roads that will be paving priorities in 1978, the Lenawee County road commission decided at its organizational meeting Friday.

Commissioner George Hillard explained that the paving was in the county's three-year priority plan. Still the formality of the list should certainly bring a sigh of relief from mud-plagued Maconites living and traveling on that road.

About 2,000 tons of coarse stone were hauled to the road this winter to get people moving. Problem was late fall rains prevented sand fill from compacting. Instead of shedding the water, it turned the road into a muddy nightmare for travelers and residents. Late construction due to late delivery of culvert pipes also contributed to the mess.

Now travel is "rumbly" said Hillard, but possible, as long as roads aren't drifted shut with snow.

As weather permits the road will be shaped, given a two-inch limestone base and later asphalted. Approximate cost will be $130,000.

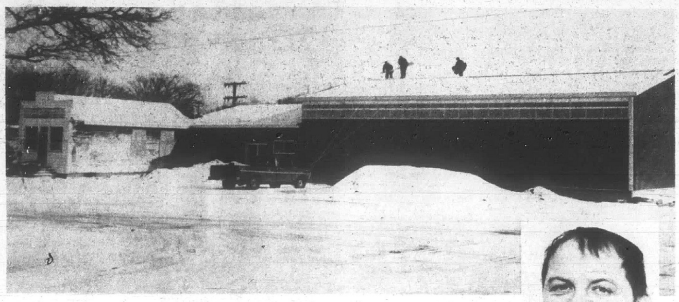
Construction projects in Raisin Township will include seal coating, paid for with township funds, on Billmyer Hwy. from Shull Rd. to Sutton Rd.; on Valley Rd. from Occidental Hwy. to Wilmoth Hwy.; on Wilmoth Hwy. from north of Chase Rd. to the railroad tracks; on Centennial Rd. from Rogers Hwy. to Billmyer Hwy., and on Dinius Rd. from Occidental Hwy. west to the curve.

Also in Raisin Township, less than a mile of Ives Rd. from M-52 east will be graded and road base laid at a cost of $18,992.

Wilmoth Hwy. from Sutton Rd. south for a mile will be shaped, blacktased and paved for a cost of $33,700.

In Ridgeway Township, about $10,000-$15,000 worth of stone patching for various township roads was requested.

Also in Ridgeway, a bridge on Palmer Hwy., .2 miles north of Centennial Rd., will be removed and replaced with a 72-inch drain pipe.



ATLAS II — Monday's wind damage to the roof may have delayed completion of the new town and country store under construction by Charles and Irene Steffens of Clinton. Located on the site of the former Hayden Mill, the 50' x 108' structure will be opened for a pet foods and garden supplies business in early February. Mr. Steffens, right, has another store in Clinton.

(PHOTO BY KENT DOWNING)

New Atlas II Will Be Town, Country Store

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steffens, owners of Atlas Feed and Grain, Clinton, have purchased the Hayden Mill property on S. Pearl St., Tecumseh.

Construction is already nearing completion on a 50'x108' building which is attached to the former Hayden office building.

The old office building is the only structure left standing after a fire destroyed the Hayden Mill last year.

The new business will be known as Atlas II, a town and country store.

John (Ted) Sisson, of Tecumseh, formerly manager at Hayden Mill, will manage Atlas II.

According to Steffens, the store will offer complete lines of pet foods, supplies, pool supplies, softener salts and water conditioners.

Other merchandise will be spring garden plants and a line of denims.

Atlas II is expected to have an open house in early February, when a country hoe-down will be held in the new building.

Atlas Feed and Grain was purchased by Max Steffens in 1955, and son Charles purchased it in 1964.

Built in 1835, the Atlas Feed and Grain Co. was recognized by Michigan Historical Commission in 1977, as the oldest business in the same structure in Michigan.

Holiday Status for Jan. 16th Is in Court

Apparently someone in bureaucracy decided that January was too quiet of a month and so Monday, Jan. 16, Martin Luther King Day was added to the list of holidays with the result of public confusion.

Is Martin Luther King Day, Jan. 16 a legal holiday in Michigan or not?

One cannot judge on the basis of local institutions that will or will not close to observe it.

For example, here in the Tecumseh area, all banks and financial institutions will be closed. Among these are United Savings Bank and First Federal Savings and Loan.

Tecumseh post office and city hall offices, however, will conduct business as usual. But Tecumseh city council will not meet on the third Monday of the month but on Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. owing to the "holiday."

Why then are the financial institutions closed and not federal offices?

Merlyn Downing, president of United Savings Bank stated "We are required by law not to open on any holiday, state or federal."

As of this writing, the status of the holiday is in some doubt until a ruling is issued by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Hal Heidbreder editor of the Blissfield Advance, telephoned the clerk of the House in Lansing on Monday and was informed that while it is an official holiday for Civil Service employees, a bill introduced by Representatives Jackie Vaughn III, D-Dist. 18, making it a statewide holiday for all state employees was defeated. Whereupon Vaughn appealed to the court which has not yet decided.

Heidbreder said: "Prospects for future holidays are tremendous. With a small amount of research and a large amount of approval from the Senate and House floor, the Michigan legislature could presumably find some 350 minority group heroes to honor.

"These special days, along with holidays already in existence, could mean a work year of one week. And who is to say we would not all be better for it?"

'77 Was Year of Records for United Savings Bank

United Savings Bank had better than a good year in 1977, it was a year of records for the Tecumseh financial institution.

The bank, which announced purchase of the Vescio building and property in November, established records for average assets, net income and net operating income, Kenneth McElroy, chairman of the board, reports.

Average assets increased to $79,736,000, compared to $73,600,000 in 1976.

Net income jumped $70,000 from $740,724 to $810,158 and net operating income rose over 24 percent, increasing from $648,018 to $806,515.

In looking ahead to 1978, we're "anticipating continued growth in assets and profits," remarked the board chairman.

This year also will be busy for the bank in another aspect, one that will involve planning a new home office at the Vescio property site.

Officials decided Wednesday that the Vescio building will be torn down, probably within the next 60 days. Vescio's went into bankruptcy several years ago and the building has been vacant since.

In November, bank officers said a new home office would be built and occupied within a two-year period.

Study Reports Flu Outbreak Is 'Moderate'

A "moderate" outbreak of influenza has been detected in Tecumseh, the Community Health Study reported.

The first influenza virus was isolated Dec. 16 and more than 16 viruses were detected since that time by laboratory tests of throat cultures.

All, so far, have been of the A/Texas variety; this type of influenza is also called A/Alaska and is somewhat different from the A/Victoria virus which was prevelant two years ago, according to Dr. Arnold S. Monto, director of the influenza study.

Respiratory illnesses in Tecumseh have shown an increase in number because of the local influenza outbreak. The outbreak appears to be continuing.

The new "Russian" influenza has not been detected in the United States as yet.

The Tecumseh Community Health Study has conducted a surveillance of influenza and other respiratory illnesses in the Tecumseh area since autumn 1976.

About 350 area families, comprising a representative sample of the community, are surveyed each week for reports of illness, Dr. Monto noted.

The Tecumseh project is a continuing study of an entire community's health which has been conducted by the University of Michigan School of Public Health since 1957.

Chamber Is Short in Brochure Fund

Approximately half of the $3,000 needed by the Chamber of Commerce for publishing a brochure about Tecumseh has been raised, officials report.

Much of the work has been completed for the brochure, which is being designed to inform potential industrial plants about the community and its advantages.

Businesses or individuals wishing to make a donation towards the publication's cost, should make their checks payable to the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, whose office is located with Glover Real Estate One in downtown Tecumseh.

Director Still Deciding Leads

Leads for the Tecumseh Players next production, "Two Blind Mice," have not been finalized by the director. Auditons were held and closed Jan. 3 and 4.

Traffic Finds Streets Slippery

Icy road conditions were contributing factors in six of 12 accidents investigated by police here the past week.

None of the mishaps was serious. A resume is:

Jan. 4 - Bruce B. Hughes, 19, of 1150 E. Monroe Rd., was cited for failure to yield the right of way after an accident at Bidwell and N. Evans St. with Wendell C. Woods, 50, of 1001 River Acres Dr.

Jan. 4 - Sandra L. Sprague, 17, of 415 S. Pearl, slid on icy N. Oneida at E. Logan St. and hit Billy R. Putman, 18, of 5700 Raisin Center Hwy.

Jan. 4 - James R. Barnes, 16, of 116 W. Patterson, slid at the Tecumseh Acres elementary school and struck a school bus there. Driver of the bus, parked at the time was Bonnie L. Thomas, 32, of 9652 Hewlett.

Jan. 5 - Dina D. Lee, 22, of 216 W. Kilbuck St., lost control of her vehicle on slippery W. Chicago Blvd., went over a curb and struck some shrubbery at Rusty's Drive-In.

Jan. 5 - Connie S. Bivins, 25, Clinton, was charged with improper passing after running into Anna L. Gibelyon, 19, Ypsilanti, on S. Maumee St.

Jan. 5 - Sherie Ann Shaffer reported her car damaged while parked on S. Division St.

Jan. 7 - Allen L. Brosamer, 17, Holloway Rd., was cited for driving too fast for conditions after he turned off S. Pearl into W. Pottawatamie and struck a parked car owned by David L. Randolph.

Jan. 7 - Clarence S. Russell, 31, Tipton, attempted to park at the Methodist Church parking lot and slid into a parked vehicle owned by John V. Deming, 43, of 605 Russell Rd.

Jan. 7 - Harold L. Duncan, 311 S. Maumee, was cited for leaving his vehicle unattended after his car rolled back in the Party Shop parking lot and struck a vehicle owned by James L. Perrin, 1305 Southwestern Dr.

Jan. 7 - Chris W. Staley, 19, Adrian was attempting to turn on S. Occidental when struck by Michele E. Wonderly, 24, Britton.

Icy, Snow Covered Roads Close Schools

Most hazardous driving conditions of the winter developed here Sunday and Monday when light snow accompanied by strong winds turned already snow-covered streets into ice.

Temperature started dropping here Sunday afternoon and evening with an occasional snow squall. Although roads were passable, they were extremely slippery.

Some school busses ran behind schedule Monday morning, and that afternoon three busses became stuck and needed assistance. School was cancelled Tuesday, the second straight Tuesday that classes were dismissed this month.

Icy conditions, more than drifting snow, forced all area schools to close. All were back in session Wednesday.

Although the mercury did not drop below zero - as had been predicted - the chill factor was far below zero because of the strong northwest winds. City found that the cold temperature restricted the melting advantages of salt on city streets and resorted to sand.

Four Complaints

All four complaints handled by the Tecumseh police the past week were minor.

Friday, officers arrested Forest J. Piercy, 6327 Holloway Rd., for driving under the influence of alcohol. He was stopped on W. Chicago Blvd. for driving left of center.

Also Friday, Mrs. Duane Steele, Dundee, told the police, that a snowball or stone was thrown and broke the windshield of her car while she was driving south on N. Maumee.

A headlight on a tractor was broken Monday at Hoyt E. Whelan Co. on W. Logan St. A broken golf club, found near the tractor, was probably used by the vandals.

Natalie Webster, 102 W. Pottawatamie St., reported her allotment of 50 garbage bags had been stolen. She is the third resident to report stolen garbage bags since they were distributed the last week in December.

DR. DAVID BLANDEN

Blanden Is New Head of Chamber

Dr. David Blanden was elected president of the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting Jan. 5.

Roger Proctor was elected vice-president and Opal Dickinson was elected treasurer.

The board of directors plans a special meeting Jan. 19 at 7 p.m. a the United Savings Bank to consider community projects. Project chairpersons were appointed by the president.

Reader Is Critical of Mayor Election

To the Editor:

If I might, I would like to make several observations in regard to the recent and sudden removal of our Mayor Harold Easton. After serving 15 years on the Planning Commission, later the Housing Commission, and three times as president of the Chamber of Commerce, I have had many, many conversations with Mayor Easton.

I have yet to find a time when his thoughts were not for the people and the community of Tecumseh.

I have tried, as best that I can, to go back over the year and try to figure out why all of a sudden Mayor Easton, with no prior knowledge to him, is very quickly removed from his position as mayor.

I come up with one very controversial issue and that is the Historical District Ordinance. Mayor Easton is not and was not against Historical rights in Tecumseh, in fact, very much in favor of them. His great objection was the restriction on the right of the people of this community to have their freedom to do privately with their property as they saw fit, I think, especially the people that were being forced into the Historical District that did not want to be there. As of last Tuesday night, Jan. 3, Mayor Easton's vote was yes on the new ordinance which gives the citizen the right to volunteer to be in the new district under the new ordinance. I think this proves my point.

I have one more observation that I have made. I cannot condone backroom politics, or whatever you would like to call it. It would appear to me that if you vote your convictions in the present council and step on a toe or two, you will be taken care of one way or another, depending on how high the emotions run.

Some of the people sitting on council I have voted for. I will be taking a very, very good look at the incumbents versus the hopefully new candidates at our next election. Our elections should not be popularity contests.

Understand, these are personal opinions and observations. We will probably never know whether they are right or wrong, but, what is that old saying, I have that gut feeling.

Respectfully yours,
Richard R. Eggleston

Wintering Editor Sends Commentary

Mrs. Lyle Grigg, Herald society editor emeritus, who's wintering in Harlingen, Texas, with her husband, sent along this commentary:

"Then It's Too Late"

Why is it? A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping on an advertised bed, in advertised pajamas. He will bathe in an advertised tub, wash with advertised soap, shave with an advertised razor, have a breakfast of advertised juice, cereal and toast (toasted in an advertised toaster), put on advertised clothes and glance at his advertised watch.

He will ride to work in an advertised car, sit at an advertised desk, smoke advertised cigarettes and write with an advertised pen. Yet this man hesitates to advertise, saying that advertising does not pay. Finally, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale. (A copy.)

Chicken can be prepared a variety of ways to make tasty and generally inexpensive meals. Here are some suggestions to try on your family.

This Chicken and Sour Cream from Harriet Clauda makes an elegant main dish, great for serving guests, and it is so easy!

CHICKEN AND SOUR CREAM

4 chicken breasts, skinned, halfed and boned
4 ounce jar dried beef
1 can mushroom soup
8 ounces sour cream
4 slices bacon, cut in half

Grease and flour a 9x9 inch glass baking dish. Line baking dish with dried beef. Wrap each piece of chicken with a piece of bacon. Lay wrapped chicken on top of beef. Mix mushroom soup and sour cream together and pour over top of chicken. Refrigerate overnight. Bake two hours in a slow oven at 275 degrees.

Lois Miller sent this recipe for Chicken Squares that sounds good and is also easy.

SAVORY CRESCENT CHICKEN SQUARES

3 ounce cream cheese
2 tablespoon margarine
2 cups cooked chicken
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon onion or chives
1 tablespoon pimento
8 ounce can refrigerated quick crescent rolls.

Blend cream cheese with margarine. Add cooked chicken, salt, pepper, onion pimento and milk. Mix well. Separate crescents into four rectangles and seal perforations.

Spoon ½ cup of mixture into center of each rectangle. Pull corners of dough to center. Brush top with 1 tablespoon margarine.

Dip crescents into croutons, if desired. Bake on ungreased bake sheet at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes until golden brown.

Hit 'n Miss

by Hollis Farley

After seeing the picture in The Herald the other week, picturing the condition of the road at Macon, we sympathized with the Maconites and wished that we could offer them some help in their dilemma. Then a couple of days later we ran across, in a daily paper, the story of a bridge at Vulcan, West Virginia.

It seems that a 60-year-old bridge across the Big Sandy River, way down in the extreme southwest corner of West Virginia, collapsed some two years ago and left the town with no way out except for a railroad bridge which was often blocked by trains, and which the school buses and commercial vehicles were forbidden to use.

Vulcan is a pretty little town on the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River near the "breaks" of the river near Elkhorn City. This part of the country is beautiful, unspoiled and inhabited by many "rugged individualists".

John Robinette is unofficial mayor of the 200 Vulcanites, and after he had pondered the problem of a bridge for some time but had been brushed off by the state highway department which said that it couldn't afford a new bridge at, that location way back in the hills, he had an idea. Somewhere he had read that the government of Soviet Russia had a foreign aid program, so he sat down and wrote to them, asking for aid.

"If your government finds it impossible to help your town, and we receive a request in writing, we would carefully consider it," wrote Valdimir in reply from Moscow.

The other day, Iona Andronov, a New York based writer for the Moscow Literary Gazette, was on his way to Vulcan to confer with them.

Then the other day the story received more publicity. Reactions at Vulcan were mixed. One group even threatened to blow up any Russian built bridge. All at once too, the State Highway Commissioner, Charles Miller notified the folks at Vulcan that a one-lane bridge would be built at a cost of from $350,000 to $500,000 and that it would be completed this year.

And now Mr. Robinette wishes someone would get him out of this mess, and he wishes that Mr. Miller would confirm his offer in writing which he had not yet done, but Governor Rockefeller's news secretary says that both Kentucky and West Virginia officials have been "conferring."

It seems to me that there just might be a lesson in this little tale for the Maconites to profit by. Isn't there a saying somewhere that the squeaking wheel gets the grease.

Dr. Knisely Marks 20th Year

by Kathy Brown

Jan. 1, 1978 marked the beginning of Dr. Carlos Knisely's 21st year in veterinary practice in Tecumseh at 106 S. Maumee St.

You might say it's the anniversary of a "family business" as the Knisely home and practice are located at the same address.

Over the years, the Kniselys have seen change in the scope of the practice from large and small animals to treatment of "companion" animals. They remodeled the home-office several times and Carlos and his wife, Barbara raised seven children.

Dr. Knisely said the home-office arrangement is a "mixed blessing". While it enables him to give 100 percent attention to the animals, it limits family vacation time, Dr. Knisely told.

The Kniselys seven children are, oldest to youngest, Pearl Ann, married now and living in Norfolk, Va.; Daniel, a student at Washtenaw Community College; Michael, senior architect student at Lawrence Technological Institute, Detroit; twins, Patrice, employed at Dr. Murray, Wolfe and Curtis and Pamela, a Michigan State University student; Paula Kay a Tecumseh sophomore and Kristen, a Herrick Park kindergartener.

The parents said that their children love animals and have always helped if asked.

"It is a family joke," said Dr. Knisely, "the animals come first. On holidays like Christmas, we don't celebrate until the beds are made the dishes are done and the animals fed."

Dr. Knisely was quick to praise his surgery assistant, his wife. "She's a big part of the business, I may have a diploma, but she's half the business. She's just super efficient."

Mrs. Knisely said she cried the first time she assisted her husband with surgery. About 10 years ago, she assisted her husband with a Caesarean for delivery of a calf. The family Christmas dinner had to wait.

The first year in Tecumseh was "a rough year" for the young family, the Kniselys said. "We were a little apprehensive. It was a little bit new to us. This was our first business venture," said the doctor.

He explained that when he first started in the rural area, large and small animals were treated. Today, the trend is more toward practice with small animals.

"People are aware of the needs for preventive medicine," Knisely said. He added that vacinations, surgery, neutering and dentistry are part of the work routine. Fussy about cleanliness, the Kniselys work to keep the office and home spic and span. He stressed owner responsibility plays an important part in animal health care.

"The human relationship the owner has with the animal takes a while to learn and is so important to consider," Dr. Knisely told.

The growing practice and growing family required the Kniselys to remodel about five times in the past 20 years. Among his friends, Dr. Knisely is known to have no fear of changing a door or window. Their work reflects design compatible with the older home.

"We've been so lucky. This is a tremendous community. It is neat, attractive, progressive community to do business, live and raise a family. We've always loved the town." He first became acquainted with Tecumseh when he drove through it on the way to Monroe where he practiced for a year.

He was graduated from Michigan State University in 1952 and married that year.

Knisely was originally a "farm boy" from Quincy. After debating about engineering and veterinary medicine, he chose the latter when someone told him he probably couldn't get into veterinary school.

The Knisely were also active in community affairs. Dr. Knisely served one term as city council member as chairman of the planning commission and was selected a Jaycee outstanding young man. He is a member of the American and the Southern Michigan Medical Veterinary Association.

Mrs. Knisely was a past president of the hospital auxiliary, Clinton St. Dominic's altar society. He also served the church council.

Pilot Program Is Designed to Conserve

State Representative John Mowat (R-Adrian) is assisting in a pilot program to help homeowners conserve energy and save on utility costs.

Called "Project Conserve," the program was developed by the Federal Energy Administration and will be implemented in 15 counties in the state, Mowat explained.

Project Conserve, involves the distribution of questionnaires to residents in the area. After the homeowner completes the answers regarding the condition of the insulation, windows, caulking, weatherstripping and other items in their houses, the questionnaires will be processed by Michigan State University.

An objective analysis will be returned to the respondent with estimates of costs and potential savings of the various energy conservation steps available.

"We hope this pilot program will result in more thorough energy conservation in the residential sector of our economy," Mowat said.

"But the success of the project really depends on the people who are willing to take the initiative to participate," said Mowat.

Participation in the program is free and voluntary. Questionnaires and information regarding the program can be picked up at serveral Adrian locations including financial institutions, Lenawee Council on Aging, utilities office, both at Adrian City Hall, Adrian Library, Citizens Gas and Fuel, 127 N. Main, Lenawee County Library, 4459 W. US 223, Consumers Power, 2613 E. Maumee, General Telephone, 2982 W. Beecher, all in Adrian.

Every mile of his run the engineer confronts truth and illusion.

The tracks are parallel — this is truth.

The tracks seem to meet — that is illusion.

What does it take to confront truth and illusion boldly . . . with throttle open?

It takes faith!

For the engineer . . . faith in those who laid the tracks.

For you and me . . . faith in One who taught The Way.

Conviction conquers fear. That is the truth millions are discovering in church.

SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS

Home Heating Assistance, Property Tax Rebates

State Representative John S. Mowat, Jr. (R-Adrian) wants seniors and other eligible citizens in Lenawee County to know just what they can look forward to under the Home Heating Assistance Bill passed by the legislature and signed into law by Governor Milliken late last year.

Application forms for the heating assistance will not be available until later this month. The payments under this program can be applied to past, present or future heating bills, although they are intended primarily to cover heating costs from December 1977 through February 1978.

The Home Heating Assistance Act provides for a basic payment of $130 to low-income citizens. Ninety percent of that is to cover heating energy costs and 10 percent for electrical energy costs. These payments will be made directly to the energy provider, usually a public utility, except in the case of fuel oil which would have to be co-endorsed by both the applicant and the provider.

A separate schedule is provided for those who rent, whose heat is provided entirely by electricity and who must pay the electric bill themselves.

Total payments for heating assistance under state and federal programs are limited to a combined total of $200 per household.

More information can be obtained from any local office of the Department of Social Services.

Lenawee county senior citizen centers have information on property tax rebates. Volunteers will be available only on an appointment basis to help persons in completing the MI 1040 CR form.

Please phone the local center in advance for an appointment to avoid inconvenience for waiting or appearing on the wrong day. Tecumseh number is 423-5939.

To be eligible for a senior citizen rebate on Homestead Property Taxes, a person or the spouse must be at least 65 years of age and a resident of Michigan for at least six months of 1977.

The surviving spouse, under 65 years of an eligible person who died during 1977 may also qualify for a rebate.

The following information should be brought to the appointment by you. Total income for 1977 broken down into social security, pension, interest, dividends, wages, gifts, rental income, net farm income, veterans disability, Supplemental Security Income, other public assistance payments.

New this year is the required information on total amount of health and accident insurance premiums paid by you. This amount can be subtracted from income prior to computing the rebate.

1977 tax state or monthly rental amount and landlord's name and address are also needed information.

City Council shall not issue nor shall the Commission recommend issuance of a Certificate of Approval for demolition except when deemed a hazard to public health or safety by a responsible public agency but City Council may issue or the Commission may recommend issuance of such a certificate for moving a structure. City Council may issue or the Commission may recommend issuance of a certificate of approval for demolition or for moving the landmark, if the City Council and the Commission shall be guided by the following conditions in exercising its judgement with respect to such a certificate:

(a) The Building Inspector deems such structure to be a hazard to public safety or health and repairs are impossible.

(b) Such structure is deterrent to a major improvement program which will be of substantial benefit to the community.

(c) Retention of such structure would cause undue financial hardship to the owner, which would be defined as a situation where more funds than any reasonable would be required to retain the structure.

(d) The retention of such structure would not be in the interest of the community as a whole, in cases where approval for the demolition is granted, for reasons other than public health or safety, such certificate shall not become effective until six months after the date of such issuance in order to provide a period of time within which it may be possible to relieve a hardship or to cause the property to be transferred to another owner who will retain the structure.

The City Council may accept grants from the State or Federal Government for historic restoration purposes; and may appoint the Historic Preservation Commission to administer on its behalf grants and gifts for the purposes herein provided. SECTIN 2611 Advice and Guidance to Property Owners

The Historic Preservation Commission may:

(a) Carry out, assist and participate in studies and programs designed to identify and evaluate structures, sites and areas worthy of preservation.

(b) Consult with and consider the ideas and recommendations of civic groups, public agencies, and citizens interested in historic preservation.

(c) Inspect and investigate structures, sites, and areas, which it has reason to believe worthy of preservation.

(d) Disseminate information to the public concerning those structures, sites, and areas deemed worthy of preservation, and may encourage and advise property owners in the protection, enhancement, perpetuation and use of landmarks, historic sites, and other officially recognized property of historic interest.

(e) Consider methods other than those provided for in this chapter for encouraging and achieving historic preservation, and make appropriate recommendations to the City Council and other bodies and agencies, both public and private.

(f) Establish such policies, rules and regulations as it deems necessary to administer its duties as herein provided.

SECTION 2613 Yard Variances

Due to peculiar conditions of design and construction in historic neighborhoods where structures were often built close to the lot lines, it is in the public interest to retain a neighborhood's historic appearance by making variances to normal yard requirements. Where it is deemed that such variances will not adversely affect neighboring properties, the Commission may recommend to the Zoning Board of Appeals that such variance to standard yard requirements be made.

SECTION 2614 Exceptions

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Oh, those blankety blank red squirrels! They are the bane of this bird watcher's life. One minute they are cute and fun to watch. Next they are doing something mean and nasty.

Of course my biggest complaint is that these little red demons do chase the much larger fox squirrels. In fact, if left unchecked they will completely drive them out of the neighborhood. Absolutely unforgivable.

If the larger squirrels would only stand their ground. But they won't so I might just as well quit urging them to do so. The red squirrels are not even nice to each other. They are mean and dirty fighters.

But, they are cute. Those black eyes with white rings, the soft, snowy white tummies, the smooth slick reddish stripe that runs down the middle of their backs, and those expressive funny tails.

These squirrels are as fast as can be and are almost always on the move. Bundles of nervous energy.

With so much deep snow this winter it would perhaps seem that the near-my-window feeders would not be bothered with red squirrels.

The large fox squirrels leap and bound through the deep white stuff with practically no trouble but there is just no way that the little reds could jump through some of the drifts.

Between the top of the creek bank and the feeder-post the snow was deep, deep, deep. The red squirrels were not bothered the slightest bit. They tunnel through!

We have never before had such a perfect and easy to see example of this. Little Red stood on the corner of the northern most feeder, jumped over the yew and lit right at the entrance of his tunnel.

It looked like a round dark spot in the snow until he disappeared into it. Almost immediately he reappeared at the top of the creek bank and from here it was only a short jump to the trunk of the maple tree. After streaking up the tree his options were many, he had tree roads leading in three directions.

This was an often repeated performance. I am sure all three of our 'in residence' little reds used the tunnel. Unfortunately I did not see any of the original construction but some of the refinements were fun to watch.

Ventilating shafts, air holes — actually I am quite sure that sometime, when in the tunnel, a squirrel simply became curious and poked his head up through the roof until he could see what was going on.

Before a stretch of warm weather destroyed the 'under snow runway' there were two such observation holes.

I realize that dogs can have human type ailments but do squirrels?

One of our little reds appears to be suffering from asthma, emphysema or some other breathing difficulty. I am giving her female gender because the sides of her back are such a grayish brown.

Back to her health problem — when in distress she sits down, clutches her two tiny paws to her breast, and literally rocks up and down as she gasps for breath. It is a sad, pitiful little sight.

One cannot help feeling sorry for her, even though during good periods she is as nasty and ill-tempered as the rest of her family.

Poor Shooting Hurts Tories

Britton's cagers still can't seem to get their season untracked dropping two more contests.

Britton fell to Madison 79-52 last Friday and to Northwood 100-42 Saturday.

A contest with Whiteford scheduled for Tuesday of this week was cancelled due to weather.

The Tories have yet to win this season, posting a 0-8 overall record.

Poor shooting plagued the Tories against Madison. They hit on 20 of 75 for 26.7 percent while the Trojans made 35 of 73 for 47.9 percent. Madison held a 49-31 rebounding edge.

Britton had fewer turnovers than the opposition losing the ball 15 times to Madison's 21.

Greg Fanslau led in scoring for the Tories with 13 markers.

The Tories connected on 31 percent of their shots from the floor against Northwood Saturday night while the Rangers succeeded on 46 percent of their shots.

Fanslau had 12 points for the Tories.

Britton travels to Summerfield this Friday and to Clinton next Tuesday.

JV Cagers Lose Two

Britton's junior varsity basketball squad suffered its first two losses of the season, back to back, over the weekend.

The Tories first fell to Madison last Friday 51-48 and then to Northwood 45-43 on Saturday.

Britton was tied with Madison at the half and were down by three at the end of the third frame. They trailed 50-48 with eight seconds left but a traveling call on the Tories sealed their fate.

Jim Helden had 17 points and 10 rebounds for the Tories while David Bruce had 12 points and nine rebounds.

Britton dumped 33 percent of their shots from the floor to 40 percent for Madison.

Britton is now 6-2 overall, 5-1 in the Tri-County League tied with Whiteford and Madison for first place in the league.

They host Whiteford this Saturday after traveling to Summerfield this Friday. Next Tuesday they travel to Clinton.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — Has spring arrived in Macon? Last Sunday a cold, damp, snowy day, Frances Collins of Macon Village saw a pair of robins 20 feet from her back door. Thinking she must be seeing things she called her husband, Russell, to the door and he assured her she was seeing right. Sharing this news is exciting even though it is January. Thank you, Frances, for the report!

People who travel the Clinton-Macon Rd. will be happy to know the Lenawee County Road Commission decided at its Jan. 6 meeting that the Clinton-Macon Rd. was scheduled to be paved this year. Five roads were scheduled for paving, total of 30 miles. A commissioner stated at the meeting that these five were probably not the worst roads in the county, but needed paving the most.

A Sunday afternoon drive through the Macon area last spring resulted in the Tom Nowak family building a home just west of Ford Rd. on the Tecumseh-Macon Rd.

That day the family agreed the area was just beautiful and inquired at a local store if there was property for sale in the area. The result was the purchase of 18 acres of rolling land which boasted three nice hills.

After hiking around the property and with help from the builder, the top of one of the hills was chosen for the building site and ground was broke in June.

The family moved to their new Macon home from Willis (near Ypsilanti) on Dec. 21, 1977. Tom and Vicki have four children, Rene, age 12, Linda 10, Kim 9 and Neal 8. The children attend Ridgeway school.

The seventh family member is Pickles, the family dog.

The "driveway" leading to the Nowak home is nearly 1,000 ft. long. Vicki says it is "too far for the children to run back to the house for a book when the school bus is in sight!"

"In fact it is difficult to communicate with the kids when they have walked to the end of the drive." Mom thinks she may become known as the screamer of Macon before she even meets too many people.

Tom is employed at Ford Motor Co. in Ypsilanti and looks forward to spring when they can start landscaping and working outside. The family like to travel and enjoy boating.

Mrs. Donald Davis was discharged from Ford Hospital last week.

Russell and Frances Collins enjoyed a phone call in December from former Maconites, Don and Dorothy Graff. The Graffs live in California and wanted to talk with somebody "back home". They subscribe to The Tecumseh Herald and manage to keep up on some of the news!

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY
KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

In coming days, HMH will open the newly renovated first floor South wing for patient occupation. Those who have been patients before on I South will probably not recognize the place as it is now. A number of changes and improvements were made in the past months.

Many of the obvious changes include new ceilings, freshly painted pastel walls with color coordinated curtains, fluorescent lights, vinyl wall covering in the hallways, and refinished woodwork and doors. All the refinishing was done by Jim Hickok of the maintenance department.

One can't help but notice the new thermal pane windows and the carpeted patient lounge. But there is more to this rennovation than meets the eye.

All of the old hot water radiator heat was replaced with a new central heating, ventilating and air conditioning system as found in other areas of the hospital. There are now telephones in each room, as well as a new Executone nurse-patient call system throughout.

New electrical wiring throughout the wing now provides for emergency power in each room. Fire alarms, as well as heat and smoke detectors, are present in the ventilating ducts.

There are new "clean" and "soiled" utility rooms, a spacious private exam and treatment room, a nurses lounge and a new medication dispensing room. I South is now an impressive floor and says much for the various contractors and hospital maintenance and housekeeping departments who have worked for months to prepare this unit to serve the people in our community.

The floor capacity will be 22 with six private rooms and eight semi-private rooms. There are no longer any wards. This week the State fire Marshall and the Public Health Inspector will tour I South to give their approval to open this wing to patients.

William Grover, administrator, told some of the things that these inspectors will examine.

The Fire Marshall is interested that the construction work meets fire regulations as well as that the materials used in construction can pass a flammability rating. He will also check for proper placement of fire extinguishers and see that the sprinkling and fire alarm systems are functional.

The inspector from the Public Health Department will observe cleanliness, the ease with which the area can be kept clean and the conditions that promote uncleanliness. Since the Health Department must approve plans before any reconstruction takes place, they will check to make sure that the new wing was built according to design. And not least important, he will observe for proper placement of cubicle curtains, light levels and the placement of furniture.

The hospital is proud of its newly renovated South Wing, and wants to share with the community not only some of the changes that have taken place, but let it know a little more in detail what is involved in such a major undertaking.

Parish Celebrates Epiphany

Parishioners expecially the children, of St. Elizabeth's Parish were awed at the sight of the three men dressed as wise men.

The men solemnly marched in the offertory procession during Masses on the weekend of Jan. 7 and 8.

The parish was celebrating the feast of Epiphany..a Greek work meaning manifestation - Jesus being adored by the wise men from the East.

Frances Spreeman selected the men and costumes.

Kings at the 7 p.m. Mass on Saturday, Jan. 7 were Charles Lauer, James Nickelson and Wayne Zettel. Serving at the 8:30 a.m. Mass were Philip Marvin, Richard Solarski and Thomas Ball.

The kings at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday Mass were portrayed by William Meni, Steven Vargo and William Hatchett.

After each Mass, a reception was held in the parish hall where the kings gave gifts of candy to the children.

THS Cagers in Top 10

Indian cagers cruised by Monroe Jefferson 86-43 last Friday and earned a berth among the top 10 Class B schools according to two polls.

The Associated Press rated the orange and black tied with Durand for fourth place in the state. In addition, the Detroit Free Press gave them the nod for sixth place.

The victory over Jefferson gave the Indians an overall record of 9-0, 5-0 in the Huron League.

Jefferson never threatened Tecumseh with the Indians taking a 20-8 first quarter advantage. By the half, the margin was 34-18.

Tecumseh continued its onslaught in the third frame piling up 28 markers to 10 for the luckless Bears.

Jefferson could complete just 12 of 51 for 24 percent to Tecumseh's 27 of 71 for 38 percent.

Jim Neill and Jeff Hans each had 13 points for the Indian cause.

Tecumseh wasn't bothered by Jefferson in the battle for rebounding control. The Indians grabbed 63 rebounds to 24 for the Bears.

The Indians committed 24 turnovers to Jefferson's 27.

Tuesday's New Boston Huron game was played Wednesday. This Friday the Indians travel to Flat Rock and to Jackson Northwest next Tuesday.

JV's Crush Bears

It really wasn't much of a contest Friday night when Tecumseh's junior varsity basketball squad crushed Monroe Jefferson 78-23.

The Indians held Monroe to just one point in the first period grabbing 18 for themselves.

According to coach Carl Novak, a Tecumseh full court press was the "main factor" in the victory.

Randy Wisner and Kevin Salters led in scoring for the orange and black with 10 points each. Tom Maves had nine points, Mike Phenicie, Dave Cubberly and Scott Schafer each had eight points.

Maples Fall to Indians

Tecumseh's volleyball squad opened its season with a win over Adrian in two games Monday night.

The Indians beat Adrian 16-14, 15-11.

Debbie Steadley had 16 serving points while Sandy MacGeorge had eight.

Coach Denise Knuth said of the contest, "We had a big lead, 12-4, when Adrian started coming back in the first game. Everyone was a little nervous. I think we looked okay except for a few times defensively."

The junior varsity won their match 13-15, 15-10, 15-13. Kelly Kruger had 14 serving points and Therese Rapin, 10.

The orange and black hosts Jackson Northwest this Thursday.

TJHS Sports Underway

Tecumseh Junior High's winter sports program is well underway.

Both the seventh and eighth grade basketball teams have had three contests and each team posts an identical 2-1 record.

Both teams have a 12 game schedule.

The seventh grade basketball team is coached by Ted Todd and has scored wins over Adrian Drager and Hillsdale but suffered a 30-24 loss to Adrian Springbrook.

Mickey Hyatt, Greg Clark and Mark Harter have provided most of the offensive punch for the seventh graders while Scott Winkler and Paul Vredeveld have done a good job on the boards according to coach Todd.

Bruce Cattell has led the team defensively.

Vic Lawson heads up the eight grade coaching duties.

The eighth graders opened the season beating Drager 40-19. Balanced scoring and good defense along with rebounding was the key to the win according to Lawson.

At Springbrook, the Indians fell 33-23. Poor shooting, turnovers and the inability to control the boards plus the outstanding play of Springbrook made the difference.

Tecumseh trailed by one point at the half against Hillsdale but came back for 20 points in the second half to win 31-26.

Hillsdale's big center scored 19 of his team's 26 points.

Gordie Crocker is coach of the junior high wrestling team which has 25 active wrestlers.

The team has a 1-1-1 record tying with Drager, losing to Springbrook but defeating Madison.

Tim Connors, Gary Davis and Randy Baxter have three wins each for the Indians.

In addition, the junior high has an intramural program involving 50 boys every Wednesday evening. All junior high boys were invited. Dermont Poley runs the intramural activity.

DAR Chapter Selects Three 'Good Citizens'

Catherine Heglin of Tecumseh high school, Scott Niblack from Britton-Macon area school, and Lesli Meyers from Clinton high school are the students selected as Good Citizens this year to represent Abi Evans Chapter of the DAR.

Since 1934 the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution has conducted in each state, in accredited high schools, a Good Citizens contest to select one student in the senior class who has demonstrated the best qualities of a Good Citizen.

In 1976 the contest was opened to both male and female students. This is the first time to have a young man as a representative of Abi Evans Chapter.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed this program on the advisory list a national contests and activities for 1977-78.

Citizenship refers to the student as a citizen of the United States and of his or her high school; regardless of race or creed. The qualities of good citizenship are based on dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Catherine Heglin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heglin, 1103 N. River Ct. Cathy was a member of the National Honor Society 1976-1978 and on the honor roll since 1975.

She received a debate award in 1977 and the Century Three Writing Contest winner 1977. Cathy was vice-president of student body 1976-78, student body school board representative 1977-78, a member of the French Club four years and president at this time, member of the Varsity club, drama club, ski club and homecoming chairperson in 1976.

She is a member of the Glori Dei Lutheran Church where she was active in the youth group, choir and vacation Bible school.

She helped with nursing home garden therapy and worked with the Lenawee County Youth Convention.

Cathy volunteered at summer workshops for the mentally and physically impaired 1975-76 and extensive weekend and summer volunteer work at YMCA Storer Camps at Jackson since 1975.

W. Scott Niblack is the son of Mrs. Rosemary Niblack, 9544 Pennington Rd., Tecumseh and Stewart Niblack, 254 E. Chicago Blvd., Britton.

Scott is a member of the National Honor Society, Spanish Club and Varsity Club. He has been on the yearbook staff for three years.

He attended Boys' State in 1977. He was treasurer of his class for the last two years. Scott is also a freshman at Siena Heights College under their SCOPE program.

He is a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Tecumseh. His mother was a DAR representative during her high school days.

Lesli Meyers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Meyers, 12000 Hogan Hwy., Clinton, was a member of the National Honor Society for three years, active in the drama club and pep club and student government.

She is now the president of the student government body and class treasurer. She was homecoming representative in the 11th grade as well as volleyball statistician, school newspaper sports editor and a member of the yearbook staff last year.

Lesli attended American Legion Girls' State 1977.

As with most residents of the country, Tecumseh's fourth and seventh graders are having problems learning their metric measurements.

That's what the Tecumseh school board learned Monday night after hearing the results of the Michigan Educational Assessment tests administered every year to all the fourth and seventh graders in the state.

Tecumseh curriculum coordinator Wayne Kaiser made the presentations.

It was the first year that metrics were included in the test which consists of two parts, reading and mathematics.

However, Tecumseh students fared better than the average for the state and that included those bothersome metric questions.

Fourth graders were higher than the state average in 18 or 19 reading objectives and in 27 of 33 math objectives. Seventh graders were higher than the average in all 20 of their reading objectives and in 41 of 45 math objectives.

An "objective" consists of five questions. Students have to answer four of the five correctly to pass the objective.

Kaiser told the board that any parent who is interested in discussing their own child's performance on the test may do so by making an appointment with the building principal.

Membership Tea Planned for Jan. 29th

A membership tea for the Tecumseh Area Historical Society will be Jan. 29 from 2-5 p.m. at the home of the Jay Tressler family, 311 W. Chicago Blvd.

Anyone interested in preserving the history of Tecumseh may join. Membership is $2 per person, lowered from $5.

The Tressler home, built in 1922 is eligible for registration on the state and national register under the new historic district ordinance, as it is over 50 years old.

The home is practically unchanged since it was built. After the fire at the home on Dec. 16, 1975, the Tressler family restored the home.

Oak cabinet work inside was done by the sons of the two brothers who built the home. One of the builders, R.A. "Dolph" Heeson owned a foundry in Tecumseh and resided at 508 W. Chicago Blvd., also in the historic district.

Pick Cast for 'Mice'

Rehearsals began this week for the Tecumseh Players' next show, "Two Blind Mice", written by Samuel Spewack.

Director Thomas Studnicka of Adrian combined a cast of familiar faces, seasoned actors and in the true spirit of community theatre, some "first-timers" for this hilarious satire on bureaucracy.

The "blind mice" are really two old women who are secretly running a government agency that was supposed to have been abolished after World War II, but no official steps were ever taken to close it.

Fearful of discovery, the ladies never cash the government checks that arrive each month, and survive by renting rooms in their government building to a variety of interesting tenents.

Confusion reigns when men from the army, navy, air force, and State Department arrive to set up headquarters in the same building.

The old women are played by Vesta Rothfuss of Brooklyn, as "Crystal", the adorably naive one, and Kathi Johnstone of Tecumseh as the dignified, strict "Letitia", whose late husband founded the agency they run.

Vesta Rothfuss was with the Players since 1963, and performed nearly every off-stage "role" involved with play production, as well as appearing on stage in many shows, including "Arsenic and Old Lace".

Kathi Johnstone, remembered as the Players' "Calamity Jane" in 1976, was also seen last fall in "Irene".

The role of Letitia's niece "Karen" will be portrayed by Tecumsehite Lori Egli, a stage veteran who was continuously active in amateur theatre since college. She was most recently seen in the Players' mystery, "10 Little Indians", and last spring in "Dear Ruth". She was Prof. Higgins housekeeper last summer in the Croswell's "My Fair Lady".

In this play, Karen is unaware of her aunt's situation and, returning for a visit, is shocked to discover her ex-husband there. He is a cunning journalist who, having stumbled onto the plight of the two ladies, is busy

Increase Water Rates or Subsidize Department

At council's request Tuesday night, city manager Cal Zorn will investigate alternatives of a rate increase or continued subsidy for the city water department.

The city has not increased rates since July 1973 but previously subsidized expenses. Last year, subsidy was $75,000 or about 2 mills. In the past eight fiscal years, department has had a net income of about $25,000, taking a loss in all but two years.

Losses were due to "unanticipated power cost increases" said Zorn. "Like everything else, we're paying more for labor, chemicals and power."

Still, volume of water used has decreased. Zorn explained part of the reason is "thanks to the Tecumseh Products." In 1963, he met with officials and the company undertook a conservation and recycling program that decreased its usage from 60 million gallons a month to between six and seven million gallons per month. Zorn said their cooperation was "tremendous."

Zorn stated, "I don't advocate raising rates the entire amount of the loss, but it should be looked into." He said one reason he recommended subsidy in the past instead of lowering millage is that the city gets credit for local tax effort with appropriations of state and federal money.

Another reason for the subsidy is that most property owners can get credit for property taxes paid, but not for utility bills.

7 Clinton Buses Are 'Red-Lined'

CLINTON — State inspectors made their annual inspection of Clinton Community School buses, Friday and red-lined seven buses as needing immediate repairs.

Friday just happened to be the day a new mechanic started work, after the system was without a mechanic for three weeks.

Interim mechanics serviced the buses for several months until a permanent mechanic could be hired. Mechanical work was farmed out to local repair garages.

Girard Cark of Evans Lake, former operator of a station and general store is now in charge of bus maintenance.

Two buses were borrowed from the Tecumseh School system while repairs were made of brake adjustments, inside flat on a dual wheel, and some minor other items.

By Wednesday, Supt. Richard Wegner reported the buses were all back in service.

Hearing Set on Zoning

Council members Len DeMoss and Carlton Cook opposed the first reading of an ordinance requesting the rezoning of the southwest corner of Louis Schneider's property at 807 W. Chicago Blvd. from residential to business.

Councilmen objected on the basis of traffic congestion in the W. Chicago business section.

Public hearing on the matter was set for Feb. 21 meeting at 8 p.m.

Funds Denied

Efforts to acquire outside monies for restoration of the Bidwell Building do not appear promising but the city is still hopeful it can interest a developer in renovating and renting the three story downtown commercial building.

The city acquired the building built in 1852, at the corner of S. Evans and W. Chicago Blvd. as a gift in July 1977. It intended to make it an example of downtown restoration.

Tuesday night, city council was told that its request for a State Historic Preservation Grant of $93,300 from the Michigan Department of State, Michigan History Division was denied.

State received more applications than the current $100,000 appropriation. Only five projects were awarded money.

Assistant city manager and community development director Paul Preston said that the city could reapply next fall, but "it is difficult to assess our chances for funding in the next go round."

Michigan Arts Council has funds available for feasibility studies and personnel but no funds for construction. The National Endowment for the Arts has programs available for purchase of art objects, not for construction or renovation. Some foundations offer funds for construction and renovation and all opportunities were not yet explored.

"Community development funds would appear to be one of the only public funding sources available to the community. It does provide for grants for the 'rehabilitation, preservation and restoration of historic properties'," Preston told.

However the city was previously denied such funds because the city's income was too high and housing in good condition.

She suffered minor injuries and was taken to Herrick Hospital for treatment. No children were on the bus at the time, about 1:30 Tuesday afternoon.

READER WRITES

Addresses Election, Eggleston Letter

To the Editor:

Regarding Mr. Eggleston's letter which appeared in the latest issue of the Herald, I feel moved to express my regret that an orderly and democratic change of public office should be reduced to the level of a personal issue, with tactless reference being made to "so-called backroom politics."

The real and obvious fact of the matter is this: By electing a new mayor, members of council were simply acting in the best behalf of the community. And this is precisely the function council members are elected to perform.

The opinions of the voters were unmistakably apparent during the November election in which, of the 4 persons on the ballot, Aden Mead overwhelmingly received the highest number of votes. Harold Easton, on the other hand, finished third, - only a narrow margin in front of a new, and virtually unknown woman contender.

This is not to say that Harold Easton has not served his community admirably during the past many years, or that he is not still a very well-liked individual. Quite the contrary. The very fact that he remained as mayor for such a long time does, in itself, distinguish and honor Mr. Easton as a special person. And there is no doubt that he will continue to serve with the same attitude of dedication while a member of council.

By the same token, Aden Mead is a respected and dignified man who has quietly, but efficiently, been serving Tecumseh in a number of ways for over 30 years. Without question he, too, will conscientiously fulfill all of the duties that are involved with this public office.

Mr. Mead did not seek to become mayor. The appointment was conferred upon him, and he graciously accepted the responsibility. During this period of transition, and throughout his tenure of office, our new mayor deserves the active support of everyone.

Granted, changes are not always easy or comfortable. But we cannot ignore the fact that constructive change is absolutely vital to an effective government within a progressive, growing community.

Sincerely,
Kathi A. Johnstone

Incapacitated Go to Treatment

Anyone found incapacitated from alcohol in public in Michigan on or after Jan. 15 goes to treatment, not to jail, according to P.A. 339 and 340 which went into effect Sunday.

But this does not mean that all drunks will be taken to a hospital or detoxification center, stated Tecumseh police chief Merlin Mowery.

Disorderly drunks or people driving under the influence of liquor will still be dealt with by police under criminal statute.

The new law provides that law enforcement officers will make the primary contacts with apparently "incapacitated" persons and will make arrangements to transport these individuals to appropriate service providers.

The key word is "incapacitated," stated Mowery. It is defined to mean that the individual is a "substantial" and "immediate danger" to themselves or the public.

Under previous statute, being drunk in public was of itself part of the disorderly person criminal laws. The new acts decriminalize this particular condition and make treatment of it a temporary medical emergency similar to a severe laceration, broken bone, drug overdose or any other physical or mental problem requiring medical attention.

In Lenawee County the designated detoxification center, where these individuals will be taken for sobering up, is Bixby Hospital, in Adrian. Costs for service are to be born by the individual.

Chief Mowery stated that the new law may apply to about one case per month locally and should actually save police time in handling these types of calls since new law attempts to define incapacitation from alcohol as a public health rather than a criminal problem.

Michigan is the 25th state to decriminalize public intoxication and switch to treatment.

The state legislature has appropriated $2,510,000 for the program with $69,300 to the Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee Substance Abuse Commission which coordinates the program in this area.

Circulation Is Up

Circulation of all items in Tecumseh's Public Library is up, according to the library's annual report presented at the Tecumseh Board of Education meeting Monday night.

The report stated that a major thrust of the library in the past year was to "improve our services to adults."

Although card holders, both adult and juvenile, is down somewhat as of July of 1977 from the previous year, librarian Debbie Harris isn't concerned. "The number of card holders fluctuates during the year. As of right now, that number is approaching an all-time high. And, we are checking out more materials than ever."

Circulation of all items was 71,048 in the 1976-77 year as opposed to 69,286 for 1975-76. The total book collection is now 34,386 for '76-77. In '75-76, IT was 33,967.

In addition, Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told, the board that a private solicitation drive to benefit the library raised $2,410 during October to Dec. 31. The drive has now ended.

Harris went on to tell the board that 13 individual contributions, ranging from $10 to $400, had been received during the drive.

Water Rates

For examples, most senior citizens at certain income levels can receive refund on property taxes from the state. Other residents can receive credit for property taxes on income tax. But this is not the case with a utility bill, except for businesses where utilities are a business expense.

Last year the water department had a loss of about $19,500. Income was $292,163 and expenses, including bond payment, was $311,605. Next fiscal year's estimated loss is only $27, because other monies will be used to subsidize the water department. In view of previous losses members felt a study was in order.

Estimated reserve funds are $113,918, which include $100,000 borrowed for installation of new wells not used and income over expenses gradually accumulated. According to city ordinance, reserve must be at least $55,000-$45,000 for bond repayment and $10,000 for water replacement.

City is also planning a wastewater plant expansion to conform to federal pollution control standards which will require additional money.

Question School

Several Tecumseh parents are concerned about the schools' policy for allowing children out of doors for recess and the noon hour.

The women attended the school board meeting Monday night to question the policy. One mother maintained that her child suffered frostbite on the face after being allowed out recently.

In addition, the parents stated that children are not allowed into school buildings until a certain time in the morning. That makes it difficult on children who walk to school, a woman said.

Supt. Robert Duhan told the women that the decision to allow children out for recess and lunch hour is made by the building principal and noon supervisor.

Duhan went on to say that some children want to go out regardless. He concluded by saying that he would discuss the situation with building principals.

City Approves Contribution

Tecumseh city council approved continuing the city's annual contribution to the Community Action Agency.

City contributes $4,400, or about five percent of the city's federal revenue sharing monies.

The Community Action Agency, which recently opened an office at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, serves minorities and low income people.

It is a multi-service county organization that provides information on legal, medical services, job placement and education opportunities.

Tax Help from IRS

The Internal Revenue Service announced that area taxpayers can receive help with their federal tax questions through IRS's toll-free telephone assistance network, weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The IRS toll-free telephone center located in Detroit serves over 3½ million taxpayers throughout Michigan. The phone number for the Adrian area is 800-482-0670.

For prompt service, call either early or late in the day, or after Tuesday, IRS says.

Persons with more complicated tax problems will be able to get free help from Internal Revenue at the Adrian Mall, 1357 S. Main, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., Saturdays, starting Jan. 28.

Vandalism Increasing

Vandalism in the city increased last week with four reports of glass breakage and one report of a vehicle driving across lawns.

Sunday evening, a neighbor of Harry L. Crosby, 305 E. Pottawatamie St., observed a dark colored van pulled up along side Crosby's parked vehicle and a van occupant hurl a beer bottle through the driver's side door window.

The same day, Fabricare also had a beer bottle thrown through an 8x10 window.

Monday, Art Brady, owner of Brady Sand and Gravel, reported three windows shot out of a front end loader, parked at Duff Truck Line. Also Monday, police were notified that the front glass at Don's Contented Sole had been smashed.

Henry Newlin, 710 W. Pottawatamie, reported Monday that a vehicle had been driven across his yard and his neighbors, Jens Touborg, 704 W. Pottawatamie, and Louis Schneider, 706 W. Pottawatamie.

Other complaints investigated were:

Jan. 14 - Terrance R. Strand, 23, of 1205 Murray Dr., was charged with possession of an uncased firearm after police had stopped his vehicle for an equipment violation. Officers confiscated a shot gun from the rear seat of the car.

Jan. 15 - J.R. Harris, 49, Dinius Rd., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol after police observed him driving erratically on N. Pearl St.

A passenger with Harris, Louis J. Carswell, 42, of 9800 Murphy Hwy., was charged with possessing open intoxicants in a vehicle.

Insurance Costs Jump

Insurance costs for Tecumseh's school system recently took a sudden upward jump, Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told the Board of Education Monday night.

A 69 percent jump in the insurance premium over last year's resulted in the need to add $19,405 to the budget. Those funds came from the district's "contingency fund" set up for unexpected expenses.

The 69 percent figure means that the districts' insurance premium has increased $35,000 this year over last.

The district now pays a total of $85,805 in total insurance costs.

Board members unanimously approved the $19,405 addition to the budget.

Preston said that one realtor-developer with prior experience in the renovation and renting of older buildings has expressed interest in the building and favors a joint venture with the city sharing costs and profits.

Preston said he will continue working with the developer and retailers.

In an attempt to attract retail, he personally contacted a number of retailers, none expressed interest. He mailed nearly 100 letters with a plan for the building to retailers in Adrian and Ann Arbor, but no results. He mailed nearly 75 letters to realtors in the area, but has received no replies.

Local sources of funding could be a bond issue at five percent annual interest, revenue sharing funds or the city general fund. Bonding would require a higher rent of approximately $5 a square foot, higher than existing rents. To offer a competitive rental rate of $3, city would be required to make a quick investment with a slower return.

Total cost of renovation of the building is estimated at $228,000. Making the first floor rentable was estimated at $90,000.

Preston suggested the city wait until a newly formed committee investigates needs for civic auditorium before the city pursues the suggestion to convert the second and third stories into a civic auditorium.

Cast 'Mice'

concocting a scheme to "rescue" them.

John Belcher will make his first appearance with the Players as the ex-husband, "Tommy Thurston". Originally from Tecumseh, John graduated in 1965 and recently returned after several years, including a tour in Germany with the army.

A reporter friend of Thurston's, "Charlie Brenner", is played by Tecumseh high school senior Mark Phelan. This is Mark's first show with the Players, but he appeared at the Glass Room last year as the "inspector" in the junior class play, "The Mousetrap".

Another Tecumseh senior, Tom Conklin, is cast in the role of "Major Groh" of the army. Tom also had previously stage experience at the Glass Room. Last spring he was in the junior play and this past fall, the senior play.

Representing the Department of State is "Mr. Threadwaite", Guil Rothfuss of Brooklyn. A member of the Players for the past 15 years, he was in numerous productions. Among them are "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "10 Little Indians", the latter of which he did the same role of the Judge both times that show was produced by the Players.

The role of the senator, who ordered the closing of Crystal and Letitia's first appearance on stage at all.

Skip Johnstone, a junior at Tecumseh high, will portray "Ensign Jamison", an eager young man who acts as courier for Thurston. This will be Skip's first major role, although he was in the chorus of "Li'l Abner" and "Irene", and worked backstage for many productions, both in Tecumseh and at the Croswell in Adrian.

Assistant director for "Two Blind Mice" is Sandy Swift of Clinton. The technical director is Gary Mills of Tecumseh, assisted by Hank Hart.

The show is scheduled to run Feb. 17, 18, 23, 24, and 25 at the Community Center Glass Room.

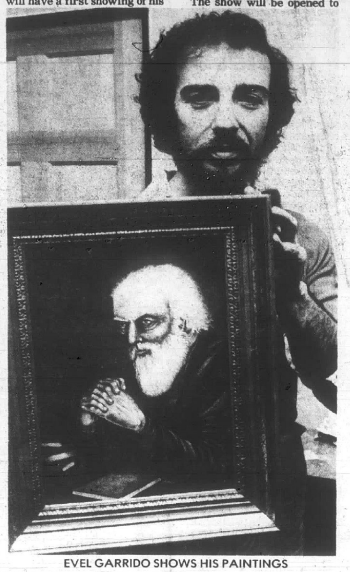
Evel Garrido Plans First Art Work Show

By Maxine Calhoun

CLINTON — Evel Garrido will have a first showing of his art work next week in Tecumseh.

The show will be opened to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily Jan. 23 through 27 at the remodeled upstairs apartment at 140½ E. Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh, above the former Evel's Coiffures, now DRC's beauty salon.



EVEL GARRIDO SHOWS HIS PAINTINGS

The show collection includes 30 pieces ranging from pencil sketches, pen and inks, oils, pastels and water colors in a wide variety of subjects, still lifes, impressionistic figures, landscapes and fantasies. He uses no models, all figures are pure imagination.

Evel studied art privately for the past year and a half with Bill Girard, a staff artist at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Previously he studied still lifes with Tecumseh artist Russell Steinke.

A native of Spain, Evel Garrido came to the United States 14 years ago with Dean Helmerdinger of Clinton. The young men met in Germany, and formed a dance trio entertaining throughout Europe for three years after Dean ended his duty with the US Army there.

In 1966 Evel and Don teamed up to form EvelDean Exclusives, couturiers in a location above Don's Beef Buffet.

Evel's artistic talent was evident then. His innovative designer sketches were works of art in themselves. They were translated into beautiful, handmade fashion creations by Dean.

In 1967 Tecumsehites rallied to the young Spaniard's aid as a cliff-hanger situation developed with the U.S. immigration service over an extension of his visa to permit him to work in the States and continue to live here.

With Michigan congressmen working in his behalf, by the spring of 1967, the deportation order was rescinded by Congressional action, and Evel was assured of a permanent visa.

Over a year ago Evel achieved his goal of becoming a United States citizen.

For the past seven years Evel operated his own beauty salon — Evel's Coiffures, in Tecumseh. A few months ago he sold the business to one of his operators and it is now DRC's.

The partners moved their couturier business and residence to Clinton a few years ago, where they proceeded to transform the late Clarence Heimerdinger's 150-year-old house into a modern Mediterranean styled villa.

This, too, represents Evel's imaginative interior design work and Dean's skillful carpentry. Their use of antique stained and beveled glass in windows and door and open-arched room treatment—is another story—to be elaborated on when that project is completed.

Evel recalled his interest in sketching began when he grew up in Barcelona, Spain. At 14, he illustrated a children's book.

While studying architecture at the university in Barcelona, he free-lanced sketches for a hair styling school. He eventually became a stylist to earn money for his artist's supplies.

"That's ironical, too," he said, since he was a hair stylist for seven years to earn funds to engage in his first love — a full-time painting career.

He says he could never create a painting just to sell it — he agonizes over each one for months in his imagination, as he considers the art form, color and subject.

Bringing his concept to life on canvas is then a relatively brief and easy process, he explains.

However, with unabashed ebullience, Evel proclaims, "I'll never consider myself as a real artist until I sell a painting for $10,000 — and someday I will do it!"

A creative artist is an extension of himself in his work, he says, and many of his works he would not part with.

He said he feels that his style of impressionist, symbolistic painting is having a resurgence of interest in the art world — and he'll be ready for it.

The 42-year-old artist already has his sights set on a wider audience for his work in years to come — as some intriguing offers have begun to come his way.

"I don't know where I'm going—but, I know I'm on my way!" he said, as he reaches another milestone in a colorful life.

Hit 'n Miss

by Hollis Farley

I was watching the Cotton Bowl and Orange Bowl parades the other day with one eye, and reading with the other, one of the deluge of books and articles about juvenile delinquency. My attention became centered on the various bands that were making the parades such a success.

The announcer identified each high school band, which most of the marching units were, and among them he noted were the "best bands" from several states, among the Tishamonga, Okla; Jordan, Minn.; Springdale, Ark.; and Independence, Iowa.

After the parade was over I was a bit curious so I got out my trusty atlas and looked up these towns and found that they were all what might be termed "small towns" with populations from 850 to 6,000 where these bands were something that the whole town could be proud of. Each member marching in the parade seemed to be bursting with pride at being in the parade and were putting forth a lot of excellent music. They must have put forth a great deal of time and effort to perfect their performances.

Thinking a bit about it I am sure that these schools' music programs have done a great deal to combat delinquency and that these boys and girls had gained knowledge of the world of music that they would continue to enjoy all of their lives, and I know that the boys and girls who spent the time practicing and playing that it takes to become a proficient band member couldn't have had much time left to be delinquent.

Lenawee has a good music program in their schools and may it so continue and improve Our all-county band festival is an affair that should be retained and each year improved upon.

And may we express our appreciation to each of the music directors in the county for the part they are playing in our educational system, and perhaps they should have more consideration than they have been getting in some instances.

I'm certain that in most every instance the boy or girl who takes an active interest in music and who plays successfully in a high school band, has an interest which, if it needs to, is a very successful deterrent of delinquency.

Chief Addresses 'Safety, Security'

CLINTON — "Safety and Security of Our Property, Our Homes and Persons" was the subject of a talk by Clinton Fire Chief Harlon Ruhl for members of the Clinton Woman's Club, Jan. 11.

Ruhl explained that 26 men make up the department. They become eligible by means of 66 hours of schooling, seminars, and emergency medical training. The men donate their time for this training which is paid for by the department.

The fire siren alert is controlled by the Clinton State Police post. The rescue squad or the bomb scare squad do not run with the siren alone.

Among the tips for fire safety Ruhl suggested: If you smell smoke, instead of trying to find it, call the fire department, using the sticker number, which should be on your phone (456-4110).

If you have children or elderly persons living with you, have a plan set up in case of fire so that you all meet in one area outside for a head count.

Smoke alarms now work for both heat and smoke; all new homes must have them.

Franklin stoves and hanging fireplaces should be installed according to specifications, for nails can conduct heat and go through to the studding; also avoid wax and turpentine logs in these particular fireplaces and be doubly certain to have an all-fuel Underwriters Laboratory (UL) chimney.

It is helpful to keep baking soda near the stove to put out a fire quickly. In an emergency, remember that oxygen is best nearest the floor. Fire extinguishers should be well located.

Ruhl also urged that snow blowers and lawn mowers should be filled outside buildings.

Mrs. Alvin Wahl, Mrs. Roy Bower and Mrs. E. John Hoelzer served dessert and coffee to members before the business meeting.

Mrs. James Chellman presided and plans were made for the rededication of the Riverside Cemetery chapel.

A thrift shop will be held June 1 at the home of Mrs. Bower.

County Federation meeting will be held Feb. 8 in Adrian.

Next meeting will be Feb. 8 at 1 p.m. the Community Center with George Lancaster, Jr. speaking on "Training Procedures for Rescue and Fire."

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Good nutrition is important all the time. Recently we were made aware of the necessity of limiting cholesterol and fats in the diet.

Phyllis Kopka sent this delicious peanut butter bread recipe in its original form and with the substitutions she makes for low cholesterol, low fat diets. Similar substitutions can be made in your favorite recipes.

PEANUT BUTTER SPREAD

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup margarine
¾ cup chunky peanut butter
¾ cup sugar
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk

On wax paper, sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. In medium mixing bowl, beat together margarine and peanut butter until blended; beat in sugar, then egg and vanilla. Add flour mixture; with pastry blender, mix until fine crumbs form. Add milk and stir until mixture is moistened.

Turn into a greased loaf pan (9x5x3). Bake in preheated oven 350 degrees until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean and top of loaf is golden (55-60 minutes).

Place loaf pan on wire rack for five minutes. With small spatula, loosen edges, turn out on rack, right side up. Cool.

Store wrapped in transparent wrap or foil. Try warm from the oven, spread with margarine and jam.

NOTE: For low cholesterol, low fat diets, substitute with ¼ cup Mazola or low cholesterol margarine; ¾ cup diet or unhydrogenated peanut butter and ½ cup chopped raw or dry roasted peanuts; ¼ cup egg beaters; 1 cup skim milk.

Willa Haas makes her family this quick raisin bread frequently. It sounds delicious.

OLD KENTUCKY RAISIN BREAD

1 cup raisins
2 teaspoons soda
1¼ cup boiling water
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
4 tablespoon oil

Cover raisins with boiling water. Add soda. Let set for 12 hours or overnight. Next morning, drain raisins, reserving liquid. Beat together eggs, sugar, raisin liquid, flour and oil. Mix well. Add raisins last. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake at 325 degrees for one hour.

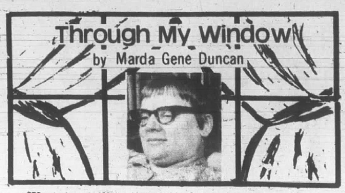
I've had several requests for low cholesterol, low fat recipes, dietic and low calorie recipes. If you have suggestions for these special diets, call 423-4848. Hope to hear from you.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



We were still in a state of high excitement. The day before was a super bird watching day. Over late afternoon tea we recounted the birds who dined at the near-my-window feeders and agreed that indeed it was quite a day. Thirteen different species!

Was there anything left by way of newcomers? Oh sure - we could name cross-bills, purple finches, etc. Even a couple of regulars had not appeared the day before so even if we have a repeat, the total could be topped if the red-breasted nuthatches, the brown creeper and a few woodpeckers came to visit.

Well, good gracious, the list of what could happen was not finished when suddenly Gertie T rushed for the binoculars and started exclaiming.

She was seeing black colored birds with patches of red on the wings. Red-winged blackbirds at this time of year? A shout brought Mom from her desk in the other room. She joined Gertie T in exclaiming. About then an oversized sparrowish bird landed on the near-my-window feeder. I joined the exclaimers.

Our birds were most definitely red-winged blackbirds but what in the world were they doing here in the dead of winter? There was no mistake.

As they shifted about in the trees and came down to investigate the ground beneath the feeders and yews, we had ample opportunity to 'check them out'.

The males were not the iridescent jet black of summer but even though the color was dull it was most definitely black.

And although their shoulder epaulets were not the vivid brilliant red worn during courting season they were most definitely red. It was interesting that more red showed when the birds flew. At rest the large shoulder patch was covered by black until it was often merely a widish red bar. Beneath that there was a beige or tan stripe.

Only one bird came to the feeder but we noticed several others, similarly marked, traveling with the flock. My first thought was that they were females, black sharply pointed bills, black feet and legs, brown bodies with many broken, darker brown stripes.

The throat or chin patches were light, buff with almost an orange or yellow cast and faintly streaked. Undistinguished looking birds but not unattractive.

As exciting as the red-winged blackbirds were, their appearance posed many questions. The bird books were little help; in fact, they only added to our confusion. Red-wings are migratory, they have no business being here now.

In Florida, yes - for two winters in Tarpon Springs, Fla. we had red-winged blackbirds regularly coming to the feeders by our small lake. Except during the courting and family rearing time, these gregarious birds usually separate into flocks according to sex.

So what were our gals doing in a flock of males? Juveniles resemble the females but I am sure the non-black birds of this day were not dark enough to be young males. They showed no trace of shoulder patches either.

Crazy mixed-up goings on. Perhaps these birds are pushing the northern most range of their winter area farther north, perhaps our flock was just a bunch of rebels. Who knows the answer?

The fact is that they 'made the day' for us. The previous 13 bird day was a thrill but imagine having a flock of red-winged blackbirds here along Evans Creek in January!

Self-Improvement Classes

by Kathy Brown

If self-improvement was one of your resolutions, you might check into the classes offered by the Tecumseh Public Schools adult education program.

This semester you can learn a new language or brush up on English, tackle a decorating problem or sew something for yourself, refresh your secretarial skills or review your knowledge about the political system.

Classes, both credit (for earning a high school diploma) and non-credit, begin Wednesday, Jan. 25 and continue through May 25. Two of the non-credit courses are only 10 weeks.

Registration is Jan. 23-26 at the high school from 7-9:30 p.m. in the adult education office, the guidance center. For enrollment information, call 423-5634. Tom Muncie has been director since the program began in Tecumseh in 1974.

Although "night school" was offered by Adrian public schools, the Tecumseh program was started because it was felt enough students were interested in classes closer to home.

An average of 12 students were graduated from the Tecumseh night program in the past three years. Average completion time is two years since the average dropout leaves school at age 18.

Muncie said that enrollment increases during hard economic times and decreases when people are called back to work. Many men would enroll in night classes but work evenings.

Classes welcoming new students for high school credit or enrichment are:

English for grades 9, 10, 11 - Four areas covered each session include weekly spelling, vocabulary, reading, composition. New material each semester. Grade level placement determined by high school transcripts. Class is informal, graded on individual basis according to potential and effort. Pam Muncie is the instructor.

Social Studies - Government semester. Basics of federal, state and local government through the study of text material and current events. Students with schedules permitting may join the day school field trips. Larry Crittenden, instructor.

Clothing - Basics of garment construction. Projects are selected by students, completed in class. Students not required to own sewing machines. A good introductory class for those considering purchase of a machine.

During the last semester, one woman who lost 90 lbs. learned to remake her wardrobe. Another made a baptismal gown for a baby.

Interior Design - Basics of line, color and design featuring field trips to local decorating centers when possible. Covers window treatments, walls, carpeting, furniture and floor plans.

"Many people want to learn how to design themselves within their budget and according to their own tastes and lifestyles," said Linda Herman, instructor of these home economics classes.

Meal Planning and Food Preparation - How to plan nutritional meals from the four food groups.

Noncredit courses, for enrichment only:

Secretarial Refresher - 10 weeks. An individualized review for people who have had typing and shorthand and want to return to work or advance in their jobs. Ruth Prettyman, instructor.

Beginner and advanced German - 10 weeks. A self-directed class as students determine emphasis. Includes alphabet and phoenics, grammar, reading, conversation, writing. Gisela Gero, instructor.

Three Perform at EMU

The Eastern Michigan University 1978 high school honors band performed in concert Jan. 15, at Pease Auditorium on the EMU campus.

Tecumseh high school participants were Andrew Neilson, trombone; Dave Roberts, French horn and Lynne Smith, clarinet. Jimmie Rice is the Tecumseh director.

The 68-member band was directed by Robert S. Bianco, director of bands at Eastern.

The honors band was composed of top students representing 52 Michigan high schools. The students auditioned for the band at the wind and percussion clinic held in December on the EMU campus. Eastern Michigan music faculty members selected the top students from the auditions. Members of the high school honors band were housed on campus two days prior to their Sunday performance, during which they will maintain an intense rehearsal and clinic schedule in preparation for the concert.

Speaker Discusses 'Newness of Life'

Irma Ward from Milan was the guest speaker at the Jan. salad luncheon of Tecumseh United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Ward talked about the group's theme for the year, "We, too, might walk in newness of life."

She illustrated her message with the biblical account of Jehoiachin's imprisonment in Babylon as an allegory to one's imprisonment in sin.

Evilmerodach, the Babylonian ruler, lifted Jehoiachin from prison and supplied him with every need, just as God lifts one from personal prison when Christ brings newness of life.

Mrs. Herbert Dillon gave devotions and Marvel Steinhoff, president, led the business meeting.

The Father-Son banquet will be Feb. 18.

NORTHWEST PLAYS SPOILERMAKER

Cagers Hopes Dashed!

Tecumseh's hopes for an undefeated season were dashed on Tuesday of this week when a fired-up Jackson Northwest team beat the Indian cagers 59-56.

On Wednesday of last week, the orange and black prevailed over New Boston Huron 69-64 and walloped Flat Rock 78-59 Friday.

The Associated Press rated Tecumseh alone in fourth place on Tuesday of this week.

According to coach Jim Curth, Tecumseh and Northwest were about even in shooting from the floor Tuesday night.

But the Indians fell behind early trailing 16-6 in the first quarter. By the end of the frame, Northwest was ahead 20-12. Tecumseh scored 28 points to 17 for Northwest in the middle quarters.

The orange and black held a slim 40-37 lead at the end of the third frame but Northwest took a 22-16 advantage in the final frame to win.

Jeff Hans was top scorer for Tecumseh with 15. He fouled out with five minutes to go in the game. John Ely had 12 points, Bret DesErmia, 10.

Coach Curth said, "We just can't get down 16-6. We deserved to get beat, now maybe we can get our heads out of the clouds and get back down to earth. Defense killed us. We allowed too many easy buckets."

Last Wednesday, the Indians narrowly avoided defeat by beating New Boston Huron 69-64.

The Chiefs outshot Tecumseh 54 percent to 38 percent.

The orange and black were behind 40-30 at the half when Mark Creswell sparked the team in the third quarter by picking off key rebounds and scoring nine points.

The Indians took a 54-52 lead at the end of the third stanza and went on to win.

The results of Tecumseh's game with Flat Rock Friday night were about what you'd expect when a 6-0 team plays a 1-3 squad.

The Indians leaped to a 26-6 lead after the first quarter. It was 44-24 at the half.

Tecumseh shot an impressive 56 percent from the floor hitting 36 of 64 while the Rams shot 43 percent.

SERVING TECUMSEH AND AREA SINCE 1850

VOL. 126 OUR 127th YEAR—NO. 26 | THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1978 | TWELVE PAGES—25¢

Suggests Increasing Farm Evaluations from 9.6 - 33.85%

According to a preliminary assessment report from the Lenawee County equalization office, local assessors will have to raise the state equalized valuation on farmland in area townships.

Suggested increase in the Tecumseh area range from 33.85 percent increase in Franklin Township to 9.60 percent increase in Tecumseh Township.

Other area township increases were reported as 22.40 percent increase for Clinton Township; 19.29 percent increase for Macon Township; 10.51 percent increase for Raisin Township and 25.81 percent increase for Ridgeway Township.

Average township percent increase for the county was 32.99.

The figures are average increases, based on the decisions of the assessors, usually the township supervisors. Some assessments could be raised higher or lower than the average.

The assessor could decide to spread the total increase over total property, ipcluding residential, commercial, industrial and agricultural.

County Equalization director David Jager explained that this year is a "catch up" year for assessments since the county was without an equalization director for two years.

In 1975, assessments were raised only five percent, based on a guess by the county commissioners. In 1976 when Jager began working, he limited raises to 15 percent though some should have been more, he stated.

County commissioners must approve the 1978 equalization factors before they can be placed on the townships.

Farmers argue one reason for the high rise on farmland is because people are willing to pay more for land than it is worth.

'50th' Observed by Rotary Club

At a special dinner meeting Jan. 17 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Tecumseh Rotary Club celebrated its 50th anniversary. Club was chartered Feb. 14, 1928.

Special meeting brought over 50 Rotarians, their wives, visitors and other special guests. Speaker for the evening was Donald Currie, executive director of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

Currie served as director of the Ford School operations in Lenawee County and surrounding areas in the late 1930's and early 1940's.

He gave candid recollections of Henry Ford as a person along with Mr. Ford's influence on the youth and communities of this and other areas.

Currie's protrayal of Henry Ford is quite contrary to that of many Ford historians and contemporary writers who seem to depict Henry Ford as a person unlike Currie knew him.

Currie outlined Ford as a warm, compassionate man and a man who recognized the worth of each and every person as an individual.

On hand for the evening was the Club's only surviving charter member, Perry Satterthwaite. Another special guest was Rotary district 640 Governor, Dr. Gerald E. Ebmyer, who presented the 50th anniversary charter to the club from Rotary International.

Special guest Vera Driscoll was introduced and honored as the club's pianist for the past 37 years.

Also recognized at the meeting was the late Robert Moore. He was recognized for his efforts with respect to the gathering of flags from Rotary clubs throughout the world. The collection of flags, which was under the direction of Moore, now numbers nearly 1,400.

There are only two remaining clubs in the entire world which do not have flags represented in the Tecumseh collection.

A feature article on the Tecumseh Rotary Club's flag project was submitted to the "Rotarian," the magazine of Rotary International.

Hospital Visitations Limited

Visitors of Herrick Memorial Hospital patients are limited to immediate family only, as of last week due to outbreak of influenza in the community.

Officials ask for voluntary cooperation of visitors although some violation of the visitation policy was noted.

Visitor limit will be in effect until outbreak of this highly communicable influenza subsides.

Immediate family refers to spouses, mother, father. In the obstetrics department, visitors are limited to either one grandparent or father.

Visiting hours are from 1-4:30 p.m. and 6:30-8 p.m. A pass system is in effect and operates with the cooperation of the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary.

New Manager for Adrian Housing Unit

Orrie L. Gilbert, 59, of 150 Brown St. was named the new resident manager at the Kiwanis Riverview Terrace.

Gilbert was the Herrick Memorial Hospital administrator for 11 years moving to Ann Arbor in 1966 where he was a research associate with the University of Michigan school of public health.

There at the university, he was a member of a committee which formulated a comprehensive health plan for the state of Michigan.

His wife, Florence is a registered nurse at Hillhaven Convalescent Center, Adrian.

Monitoring Absences in Schools

The Lenawee County Health Department is monitoring absences in county schools to get a good idea of the degree of the outbreak of influenza in the general population.

According to percentages figured by the health department, Tecumseh absences showed a "moderate increase."

On Jan. 16, 12.5 percent of the Tecumseh student population of 3,606 was absent, and 11.3 percent were absent on Jan. 17.

Last week was exam week in the secondary schools. This was noted by the health department in its general comments on the statistics. These are compared to average statistics for this time of year.

In Clinton and Britton schools, percentages were "favorable," said Jean Swiderski of the health department.

Clinton had absenteeism of 8.8 percent on Jan. 16 and 8.0 percent absent on Jan. 17. Student population is 1,280.

In Britton, a respective 8.3 and 4.5 percent absentee rates were given by the health department. Britton has about 600 students.

The Tecumseh Herald polled the schools Wednesday morning. Tecumseh schools reported 466 absentees on Jan. 24, or 12.9 percent. Clinton reported 163 absentees or 13.5 percent and Britton reported 100 absent, about 16 percent.

Heavy Snowfall Is Predicted

Record day for school teachers Friday was cut short when officials sent teachers home late in the morning.

Accumulating snow was creating hazardous driving conditions. Students had the day off.

Weather continued to be a problem Wednesday, Jan. 25th, with snow falling and weather predictions of 10 inches or more by Thursday evening.

By noon Wednesday, practically all streets were snow covered and slippery, and cancellations of events for Wednesday afternoon and evening were being reported regularly.

Plan Ahead for City's Dawn Patrol

An ad hoc committee is being formed for the purpose of planning and implementing a successful Dawn Patrol May 21 at Al Meyers Airport.

The 99's Michigan Women Pilots have already voted to make that day their fly-in of the month, here in Tecumseh.

Friends of the airport and anyone interested, including individuals and organizations, may volunteer to help in the following support areas:

Organizing food and refreshment, publicity, air and ground traffic control and special attractions (booths and flying exhibits).

For more information, call Mrs. Allen H. Meyers, 423-7629 between 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and leave your name with the secretary.

Also on that weekend in Tecumseh, Promenade the Past 1978, a tour of historic buildings will be held from 1-6 p.m. May 20 and 21. Pat Lamb is general chairman for that event. Volunteers may call her at 423-5757.

Last year the two events brought over 4,000 visitors to the Tecumseh area. The two committees hope that this year's activities will be as successful with the cooperation of the community.

Snowmobile Mishap Hurts Young Girl

Twelve accidents were investigated by Tecumseh police the past week, including one that involved a snowmobile and injury to its driver.

Susan Erb, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Erb, suffered a laceration near an eye Sunday afternoon after a snowmobile mishap at the family's residence, 40 Ridgemont.

She was taken to Herrick for treatment by her parents.

Other accidents on city streets were:

Jan. 18 - Rebecca S. Comford, 17, of 606 Stacy, made a left turn in front of Cassie I. Niblack, 32, Britton, on W. Chicago Blvd.

ADDRESSES TP WORKERS — Douglas Fraser, president of the UAW and one of the country's most powerful labor leaders, was here Sunday afternoon at Tecumseh High School to discuss the possibility of United Products Workers Union joining the UAW. Fraser, seen above talking to TP workers and at the right just before the meeting, explained advantages of belonging to a big and strong union and fielded a number of questions from the floor. Products workers are expected to make a choice of staying local, joining the UAW or possibly one or two other international unions within the next two or three weeks. Hearings before the NLRB are scheduled Thursday and Friday at Adrian College.

NLRB HEARINGS SCHEDULED

UAW's Fraser Informs Workers about Union

UAW president, Douglas A. Fraser, addressed the Tecumseh Products workers Sunday afternoon on the importance of belonging to a strong, professionalized union.

He explained to a crowd of 330 at the Tecumseh gymnasium that "It is impossible to cope with a company like the company that you work for (Tecumseh Products) unless you have the professionalism, unless you have the know-how, unless you have the capacity, unless you're equipped to deal with the problems."

Fraser's address came as a climax to the UAW campaign to organize the 1,800 Products employees presently represented by the independent United Products Workers Union.

Hearings are scheduled this Thursday and Friday at 10 a.m. at Cargo Hall, Adrian College before a representative of the National Labor Relations Board.

One result of the hearings is an anticipated election date for Tecumseh Products workers, and an election that will probably be held prior to Feb. 28, when the current contract expires between the company and United Products Workers Union.

At that election, union members are expected to make a choice between the local union, UAW and possibly one or two other unions.

In Fraser's brief, pointed speech, the 61-year-old president explained the massiveness of the UAW, which includes some 12 departments - research, education, legal, health and safety, arbitration, social security, organizing, time study, engineering, community action, data processing and retirees.

With the departments, explained Fraser, came "professionalism." And, when comparing the independent unions to the UAW, Fraser said, "You're in way over your head and you really cannot compete with the labor relations people who work for the company, because you're outclassed before you even begin."

And "most important of all," according to Fraser, is the "long and proud history of the UAW." "You never read of any scandals or corruption. You know our union's reputation."

Fraser then addressed the union's democratic process. He explained that workers could not go out on strike unless they voted to go out. And then the decision had to come after a two-third's secret ballot vote and after an executive board okay. The okay is needed to avert self-defeating strikes. Then, if any group or person wishes to appeal that or any other decision, they can go to the Public Review Board.

The Review Board, the only such board in America, is composed of seven "outstanding citizens from all over the country and Canada." They can reverse the decision of the executive board.

In conclusion, Fraser spoke of security - "security when you work, when you're ill, when you're older and for your family," with $183 million presently in the strike fund, he suggested that Tecumseh Products Workers could find that security in the UAW better than they could with the independent union that now represents them.

Security, according to Fraser, comes only with the larger UAW, an organization so strong that "the company has to respect it. The likelihood of having to strike to get what you're entitled to is much less than it is if you're a small organization that does not belong to a strong union such as the UAW."

The 20-minute speech was then followed by an hour of questions.

The most obvious questions arose first. If Tecumseh went out on strike again as it did three years ago, could the UAW stop the Tecumseh Products Company from working other plants a little harder to make up the difference?

Fraser responded that the situation was a difficult one, but could be attacked by forming a wage and hour council to get consistant wages and hours between the plants if the union could not get one agreement for all the plants.

He stressed that such action is impossible by the small independant union now representing the Products employees here.

A second man questioned Fraser's earlier comments on exactly what the larger union could do for the workers.

Fraser explained first off that if the workers wanted to be guaranteed the benefits of the big three, he would make no promises. Not all the UAW unions get the same money, he explained, you must "negotiate based upon the economics of the bargaining table."

He did positively state that the Products was in no danger of going out of business, that they were "very, very prosperous." And he added that those benefits were achieveable only if they belonged to a strong union, a response that drew a great deal of applause.

A third question concerned strike benefits and Fraser assured the group that if they went out on strike before they voted to become a member of the union, they would still get the same benefits as if they were already in the union.

Another Products worker questioned an assessment on local workers if others went out on strike, referring to the 1967 Ford strike.

Fraser responded that in 1967, the UAW strike fund was not nearly as large as it is now. Thus an assessment should never be necessary again. But if it were, the UAW workers would have to agree to it, as they did in 1967.

And it the union ever did reach that point, Fraser said, and if "someone on strike needs your help and you turn your back on them, then you ought to be ashamed of yourself." Again Fraser drew applause.

At a special board of directors meeting January 19, the Tecumseh area Chamber of Commerce reviewed its 1977 accomplishments and discussed its goals for the coming year.

The directors also voted to support the petition for a traffic light on the corner of Chicago and Occidental Streets and sent a letter in support to the State Department of Transportation and other appropriate parties.

The following is a list to date of the businesses and professional people who are supporting the Chamber of Commerce by becoming 1978 members:

Addresses TP Workers

Past union president Ray Jackson then went to the podium and explained that he had the greatest admiration for the independent union he served for 25 years. But he urged that now it was time to join the UAW.

Referring to the last strike, he stated, "never in three months could we lose so much and gain so little as we did three years ago."

Only two unfavorable comments were heard in the hour, and those drew little attention and laughter from the crowd and union officials.

In final conclusion, UAW President Fraser stated that the choice was up to the workers, he or no one else could make it. "Whether or not you come into the UAW is your decision."

'Blind Mice' Rehearsals Continue for Players

As rehearsals continue for Tecumseh Players' upcoming show, "Two Blind Mice" by Samuel Spewack, Thomas Studnicka, director, is molding newcomers and local theatre veterans into a cohesive cast.

Centered around a government agency supposedly abolished several years ago, the comedy involves two old ladies, Crystal, played by Vesta Rothfuss, and Letitia, played by Kathi Johnstone, who are still running the office in secret.

An enterprising reporter, Thurston, the ex-husband of Letitia's niece, hatches an elaborate plot to help the women before they are discovered.

The niece, Karen, played by Lori Egli, finds herself embroiled in the scheme, along with her new fiance, whom she brought home to meet Aunt Lettie.

As the cast members become familiar with their roles, they are also getting acquainted in real life. Of the 17 persons in the show, nine of them are either new to the stage or new to the Players, illustrating the unique opportunities available in community theatre for those who might otherwise never get a chance to participate in live drama.

John Belcher, the lead as Thurston, recalls his only previous experience as a high school senior playing in the orchestra for the Players' production of "Music Man" in 1965.

Casey Gerard of Clinton makes his stage debut as the despised senator responsible for the initial order to close Lettie's and Crystal's government office.

The role of Henry, the unsuspecting fiance, is played by another newcomer, John Thomas, who moved to Tecumseh this past year. John's wife, Karyn, appears as the dance teacher who rents a room in the building to give rhumba lessons.

The Thomases and their three children live in the former Rita Blake home, 309 W. Chicago Blvd.

Other new faces in the play are Don Miller of Blissfield, as the man who presses pants in the basement; Jerry Coulter of Adrian, the marine sergeant; and Milt Schoch of Sand Creek, Lt. Col. Robbins of the air force. Milt has a number of Croswell roles to his credit.

Others with the Players for the first time are Mark Phelan, another reporter and Tom Conklin, the army major.

Returning to the Glass Room include performers Bob Miller of Tecumseh, the mailman—last seen as the butler in "10 Little Indians"; Dick Lewis as Cmdr. Jellico of the navy, last in "L'il Abner" and "Calamity Jane."

Kim Swift of Clinton will appear as a hesitant rhumba student and Skip Johnstone, the young ensign. Gull Rothfuss will appear as the representative from the state department.

Performances of "Two Blind Mice" are scheduled Feb. 17, 18, 23, 24, 25 with 8 p.m. curtain each night.

A special rate for senior citizens will be in effect for the opening night performance. On this night persons aged 65 and over will be admitted for $1.

Reservations may be made now by calling 423-2770.

Dr. and Mrs. Carlos L. Knisely, 106 S. Maumee, Tecumseh announced the engagement of their daughter, Patrice Marie to Bruce Gerald Sommers. He is a 1972 Britton-Macon graduate and is employed at Meyers Industries. A May 20, 1978 wedding is planned.

Speaks on Nutrition

Ann Hinsdale, home economist for the Lenawee County office of the Cooperative Extension Service spoke on nutrition, dieting vs. balanced meals and the ol' devil, additives at the Jan. 19 meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club of Tecumseh.

Hinsdale recommended that all consumers take an active interest in what they eat and how it is prepared.

After the discussion period, everyone participated in refreshments prepared by the Welcome Wagon hostesses for the evening — Nancy Baillargeon, Kathy Buell, Janet Morgan and Tess Lee. They made a special dessert which contained only 35 calories per serving.

Welcome Wagon's next meeting is Feb. 16 at the United Savings Bank, Occidental Branch. A book review will be given by Marge McKenna, followed by a book sale to raise money for the club treasury.

If you know of a new Tecumseh resident (or you are one), let the Welcome Wagon know. Contact hostesses Mary Sue Perraro, 423-5828 and Patty Littlefield, 423-2035.

SR. BARBARA WALL discussed the patient, family and staff oriented standards for dying as determined by the International Conference on Death, Dying and Bereavement, of which she was a member.

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY
KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

Herrick Hospital hosted an eight hour seminar on "Death and Dying" presented by Sr. Barbara E. Wall, philosophy professor at Siena Heights College on Jan. 19.

Seminar was attended by 34 nurses, aides, orderlies and department heads from Herrick, Saline and Chelsea hospitals.

She pointed out that for all the talk and publicity, society is desensitized to death. In viewing violence in history and in the media, society represses the value of death. It is second nature. We are immune to it.

She observed that society impresses children that life is for the strong by institutionalizing aging and death. The values of death are as important to teach as the values of life.

Sr. Wall feels, as do others in the field, that the way we live is the way we will deal with death. "Death is part of life: to deny death is to deny life."

She raised questions, including the thought that human beings are incomplete, vulnerable and fragile, with fears and weaknesses. She stated that we live our lives trying to be more human, and thus more complete. To deny these fears and weaknesses is to deny our humaneness.

She listed different kinds of death, aside from physiological death, such as loneliness, despair, loss, separation and divorce.

Forms of suicide in our culture include overeating, alcoholism, drug addiction and excessive smoking. These people take their lives "by inches," she explained. Others actually take their lives.

Suicide is on the increase especially among those aged 12-20. In the past 10 years, suicide in this age group has more than doubled and is now the second cause of death for teenagers and the fourth cause of death for Americans.

Contrary to popular belief there is no "suicidal" type. Although sensitive, creative, over-achieving individuals may be more prone to suicide, anyone is capable of taking his own life, it was stated.

A film on suicide gave clues on "cries for help" from those contemplating suicide:

+ Those who have a preoccupation with death, talk about death or suicide. It is a myth that if they talk about it, they won't do it.

+ Individuals who put their affairs in order or give away prize possessions.

+ Severe depression precludes suicide 75 percent of the time. Yet not everyone who becomes depressed will contemplate suicide.

+ Those who withdraw from social activity or make actual attempts are also possibly suicidal.

If you recognize someone of this description, be prepared to help them get help, even if it is only to "listen" to them without judgement, Sr. Walls suggested.

In the afternoon session, the five stages of grief were presented. Although the stages are not chronological or absolute, the are: 1. denial—an inability to deal with the truth 2. anger—feelings of losing control of one's life 3. depression 4. bargaining and 5. acceptance.

These stages are experienced in every situation lived, she pointed out. She emphasized the importance of living and loving in the dying process.

In addition she showed several short films and related personal experiences with dying individuals. She described dying in a hospital as lonely, mechanical and dehumanizing.

She stated much healing can take place if we afford people the dignity and respect of their person. This is true not only in dealing with the dying individual, but also in dealing with any individual in life.

She ended by briefly discussing the aging process. She showed the award winning film "Gramps" which examplified all that was discussed. It depicted the importance of valuing the aged for their wisdom and insights.

In summary, Sr. Wall stated, "When I begin to deal with my limitations (as a human being) then I begin to enlarge the boundaries of my life."

Snowmobiling for Record

By Kathy Brown

Now it's a cross country snowmobiler trying to set a new record.

Fritz Sprandel, 33, of Allentown, Pa. stopped in Clinton last Thursday while on his 5,000 mile odyssey from sea to shining sea, from Westport, Wash. to Eastport, Maine.

He started his trip Dec. 4 in the Pacific Ocean. He emphasized "in". He traveled 3,400 braving temperatures from 40 degrees above to 40 degrees below zero, blizzards, floods and mud slides and crossed Mackinac Bridge to arrive in Clinton.

He expects to finish Feb. 1 in the lakes of Maine.

Traveling 50 m.p.h., he followed Rt. 2 closely, passing through all the northern boundary states. His partner, mechanic Ed Kazmierski, 27, also of Allentown, Pa. followed closely behind in a support truck. Sprandel said his machine was never on the truck or on a trailer during the trip.

The two men own a wood construction company back home. A mobile home company in the Key Stone state sponsored their adventure.

Sprandel had only four hours previous snowmobile driving experience in a hometown park prior to starting the trip he dreamed about eight years ago.

The duo spent Christmas on the Continental Divide and decorated a tree with their cigarette packs. On New Year's Eve, they celebrated at a bash in their honor hosted by the lieutenant governor and Sen. Walsh of North Dakota.

They were "reported" by the media as they traveled. They stated that they are indifferent to the personal glory. "I'm promoting American made products to show they are as good if not better than any others," said Sprandel. His vehicle is completely American made.

It hasn't been all fame and glory. Shortly into the trip, Sprandel skid on an ice patch in the Cascade Mountains in Washington. He cut his head and spent some time of his planned 18 "visiting days" recuperating from the blow.

The men stay with snowmobile dealers across the route and receive clearance from law officials as they travel.

Town Combats Drugs

CLINTON — A community meeting to discuss the local drug problem, Thursday night, was attended by more than 300 parents, teachers and students, at Clinton high school.

Meeting was arranged by the Rev. Thomas Kruchkow of the Clinton United Methodist Church in cooperation with school administrators.

Extent of the drug "problem" seemed blurred by the apparent generation gap, with some students stating that they did not think that use of marijuana was any more harmful than alcohol and cigarettes.

The Rev. Kruchkow explained his background of experience in this area of concern, offered his view of the issue and requested questions from the audience.

Principal Howard Oesterling presented the views of the school administration. He reported that of more than 400 students in Clinton high school, 62 are known marijuana or drug offenders.

Students caught using drugs on school property are expelled by school policy.

Supt. Richard Wegner suggested ways those who need help may seek it through the schools. Besides the school social services, county Family Counseling is available.

A volunteer task group was formed to continue study of the ways the community can give positive support to those who face this problem.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Hamburg casseroles can be tasty, hearty and great budget pleasers, just right for this time of year. Here are two I think you will enjoy.

Helen Jewell, from Port Huron, sent this Country Casserole recipe. My family enjoyed it.

COUNTRY CASSEROLE

4-6 large potatoes
1 green pepper, diced
3 medium onions, diced
½ cup celery, diced
1½ pounds hamburg
2 cans tomato soup, undiluted
salt, pepper and oregano to taste

Butter a large casserole baking dish. Slice a layer of ½ the potatoes, add a layer of ½ the onion, celery, and green pepper, and layer of half the hamburg. Repeat layers. Pour both cans of soup over mixture. Do not stir as it will gradually work its way into the casserole as it bakes.

Bake for two hours in a 350 degree oven. De not bake less than the required time or the potatoes will not be done. If the casserole starts to get too brown, cover it with foil for remainder of baking time.

Mashed potatoes puts the finishing touvhes on this good hamburg casserole.

SHEPHERD'S PIE

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed vegetable soup
¼ teaspoon salt
dash thyme, if desired
Seasoned mashed potatoes, about 1 cup.

Brown beef and cook onion and green pepper until tender; stir in salt, soup and thyme. Spoon into 1 quart casserole; place potatoes in mounds around edge of casserole. Bake in a 425 degree oven 15 minutes. Makes four servings.

Hit 'n Miss

by Hollis Farley

An impassioned drive to induce smokers to quit using tobacco is evidently about to get underway on a nationwide scale, sponsored, and of course paid for, by the government. Probably, well and good, if it is an educational program, but I hope they don't intend to pass any laws prohibiting the use of tobacco.

Each individual must be induced to convince himself that he wants to quit—really wants to. If he does that, the rest is comparably easy. I know. It worked for me.

Some 10 or more years ago, I spent a considerable part of a couple of winters wheezing and hacking and suffering from a badly congested condition of the lungs and bronchial tubes, caused mainly by the fact that I spent most of my waking hours with a cigarette at hand. Whenever any concentration was required or when the pressure built up, I fired up another cigarette.

So one day I went to see Dr. O'Connor for a shot of an antibiotic which always gave relief. He gave me the shot with no lecture attached about my shortcomings, but as I left his office he turned to me and said, "Hollis, I would like to have you quit smoking, that would solve most of your congestion problems, but I know you can't."

As I walked back across the street, I repeated to myself "but you can't" and each time that I did so the more angry I became. I walked into my office and to my desk and emptied my pockets of cigarettes, match books and lighter.

My wife glanced at me and said "What are you doing?"

"I just quit smoking," I replied.

She looked at me askance but said not a word.

Several days went by, and from force of habit, when things tightened up I involuntarily reached into my pocket for a cigarette, then paused and mumbled to myself, "but you can't." Then I clenched my teeth a bit and went on with my work.

After 10 days or so, I found that I had no particular desire to smoke and I have not smoked a cigarette since. A couple of times I have lighted one and taken a puff or two, but believe it or not, I almost despise the smell and taste of the tobacco. That was more than 10 years ago.

I don't want a medal for my performance. Anyone can do likewise with very little pain or strain. All that you have to do is to convince yourself that you want to quit smoking, and then do just that.

Nobody is going to legislate our morals. Remember, we had a Prohibition law in the country that failed, because the majority of the people didn't believe we should have it and it was unenforcible.

Thirty or forty years ago we had a head tax law in Michigan which seemed to offend most everyone. Almost no one paid it, and it couldn't be enforced because the people had convinced themselves they didn't want it, that it was unfair, and when the great majority didn't pay, there was no way that it could be enforced.

So, if you want to stop smoking, all that is necessary is that you go home, take a good long look in the mirror and say to that image that you see there "I'm gonna quit smoking, it's bad for me", and mean it.

You're the only one that can do this. You're the captain of your soul.

HELPING HANDS — The Jaycee Auxiliary and Kiwanis Club are joining Tecumseh schools in an emergency situation program for area school children. Children will be able to see the hand pictured above in a window and know they can go to that home for help. Pictured are the sponsors, Sarah Russell and Jane Petee, Auxiliary co-chairmen. Back, elementary principals Pete Clark, Lois Fleming and Margaret Yerman.

'Helping Hand' Program Under Way in Tecumseh

The "Helping Hand" program is underway in Tecumseh to aid school children in emergency situations.

The voluntary program involves adults who are home when children are walking to and from school. These adults simply make themselves available in case there is an emergency.

In the emergency situation, each adult's responsibility is to keep his or her head and get professional help. Help may include the police, fire, or ambulance, and calling the child's parents.

The children will know a "Helping Hand" home by the big cardboard hand in a window children can easily see. There will be one such home per block in each school area.

At a meeting Jan. 17, the program's sponsors, Auxiliary, Kiwanis Club and public schools discussed the application form, and the printed hand that will be used.

Applications for citizens who wish to participate will be available next month at city hall and will be sent home with the children through the schools.

The program will hopefully start by March 1978. Those interested may attend future meetings or call Sarah Russell, 423-7686.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Now there is nothing at all wrong with feeders full of pine siskins, juncos, goldfinches, chickadees, tree and song and English sparrows, tufted titmice, and both white and red-breasted nuthatches.

Nevertheless we were all beginning to wish for a few of the larger birds. When it happened the bird who came was one of the largest who visits the feeders. The flicker!

He seemed bigger than ever. We looked at tiny guys, some of whom could barely stretch to the five inch mark. Suddenly the feeder was full of a bird over 13 inches long. A heavy bodied bird with strong feet and legs and a powerful bill. A big bird! And a handsome one too.

Only when seen up close does the true complexity of the flicker's markings show, the intricate patterns and the perfection of each line and mark.

The white rump spot and the yellow lining of the wings are good field marks at a distance, the brilliant red V across the back of the head and the black crescent at the top of the breast are easily visible at a mid-distance, If the flicker is a male and if he comes reasonably close, his black mustache can be seen.

However, it is only when the bird visits as close as the near-my-window feeder that his true beauty can be appreciated. For example, on his soft tan breast each of the dark brown or black spots are circled with a ring of light cream or tan.

And oh, that bill is something to behold too. It is so large and sharp. A highly efficient tool for wood chipping or ground drilling. On this particular day through it was used as a snow shovel.

A snow remover would be more accurate, Marda. The feeders were piled high with the white stuff. A storm during the night had buried lots and lots of goodies. Fortunately the big guy knew they were there.

A couple of beats of those strong wings brought him from the trunk of the creek-bank maple tree to the northern most feed tray. He landed on the flat surface, sunk belly deep in the snow, looked around only for a second, and then went to work.

Putting his bill down, then swiping his head back and forth, he sent the light snow flying. In no time at all some of the cracked corn was reached.

Actually this feeder held corn so finely cracked that it was almost like ground meal. A few of the birds have turned their bills up at it but the flicker went at it with gusto.

It was amazing what tiny particles of corn that large bill could pick up. Or perhaps he used his sticky tongue to lap it up in much the same manner as he does ants in the summertime.

We were overjoyed with the flicker's visit. He did not stay long but, before Mom could get around to cleaning the snow from the trays, he was back again. This was the pattern for most of the morning—none of his visits lasted long but we did not care since he kept coming back.

He always went to the same feeder and, as near as we could tell, snacked on the corn meal.

An admission: Mom finally did push the snow from the one feeding tray but it was such fun watching the flicker 'bill' the white stuff out of his way that she did not clean his feeder. A dirty trick, maybe; on the other hand though, he did not seem to mind.

When the other feeder was free of snow the little birds began flocking in. Oh, the juncos came earlier, these hardy souls are not daunted by snow. They work for their meals and think nothing of chicken-scratching their way through snow to reach food.

Finally we relented and Mom cleaned the flicker's tray. Then we had small birds on both trays. Once when the flicker came a couple of brave pine siskins worked up enough courage to share the feeder with him. His bill looked almost as long as the siskins. An exageration, but not much.

Our handsome flicker, truly a giant of a bird!

MACON — Snowstorms certainly caused problems in many parts of the country this past week. As the wind drifted the snow in our area last Friday, people listened to their radios for notice of cancellations.

Only the families of wrestlers who are cutting weight realize the dedication one must have for the sport at a time like this.

To eat or not to eat — if the tournament is cancelled it won't be necessary to maintain that weight. But who knows when or if the meet will be called off?

We have such a wrestler at our house.

Luckily Saturday morning found the roads good enough for the Tecumseh varsity wrestlers to go to Monroe and the JV and Junior High to travel to Jackson. They all represented Tecumseh well!.

Vo-Tech Evaluations

Traditional report card, showing only a letter A, B, C, and so on, is a thing of the past in vocational education.

Vo-Tec Center's report card, or student evaluation, is comprehensive in that the basic content, or individual job skills that make up the course, are presented on the evaluation form.

Vo-Tec instructors rate their students on each job skill, thus drawing a better picture or profile of the student's strengths and weaknesses.

Student evaluations are being completed and should be ready for distribution during the week of January 23-27.

Evaluations that are completed in this fashion are more clearly understood and interpreted by students, parents and potential employers.

Assist Veterans

Last year, the Lenawee county committee of the Disabled American Veterans assisted 313 veterans, widows and dependents of veterans, for a total of $14,967.

Throughout Michigan, county committees assisted 23,746 veterans, widows and dependents, with a total expenditure of $1,168,446.

AEROBIC EXERCISE — Judy McAran, front, heads her aerobic class in exercise. The "endurance fitness" program is designd to improve the student's cardiovascular system, leading to better figures and physically fit bodies.

Fat Fades in Aerobic Exercise

By Kathy Brown

People laughed when Chubby Checker twisted his way to a slimmer self in the 1960's. Today, 60 women in the Tecumseh area are learning that "aerobic dance" can be a fun way to keep your figure and your body physically fit.

That's the idea of a course in aerobic dance offered in Tecumseh through the Tecumseh Recreation Department at the community center and another class at the First United Presbyterian Church.

The instructor, Judy McAran, 33, a housewife and mother, has taught aerobic dance for about three years. Her husband is Michael McAran, assistant Tecumseh high school principal.

Aerobic dance is a program described as an "endurance fitness" activity designed to enable you to "dance your way to a healthier mind and body."

It is based on the principles of aerobics—which means "with oxygen"—developed by Kenneth Cooper, M.D., author of "Aerobics," "Aerobics for Women," and "The New Aerobics."

Dr. Cooper contends that the body's cardiovascular system—the capacity of the lungs, heart and blood vessels to accomodate themselves to heavy work—can be improved dramatically by sustained rhythmic exercise.

Jacki Sorensen developed a method of aerobic dance in 1969.

Mrs. McAran's classes have a 45-minute session of dancing counts that includes a warm up, vigorous dance and a "cool down" set to music with different dance tempos.

National tests indicate such programs are equivalent to jogging a mile slowly, swimming 300 yards or biking two miles.

In addition, the program is supposed to help control weight, release tension, improve muscle tone, flexibility, balance, coordination and agility.

A physical exam is recommended for enrollees, especially if over 40. Persons who are 35 pounds overweight should choose a less vigorous exercise program until excess weight is lost.

Because the dance exercise requires you to work on your highest level, smokers find the program difficult.

Mrs. McAran said that she did not really become involved in physical fitness program until after her son, Michael, 4, was 13 months old.

She took a women's physical fitness class at the Mt. Clemen's "Y" where the family lived at the time. She also ran 30 miles a week.

She said that it was discouraging to see the women in the fitness class return week after week with the same figure problems.

Aerobic dance, she stated, is a program that works.

"They still have to huff and puff and sweat when they dance, but this is a fun way to do it. It brings out the 'chorus girl' in the women," she told.

Students learn how to determine minimum and maximum heart rates to avoid strain. All new material is taught each program session so everyone starts from the beginning, she explained.

Originally from Adrian, Mrs. McAran was a Siena Heights College graduate. She has taught English on a high school and community college level.

Extend Show

Showing of Evel Garrido's paintings will be extended through Saturday, from noon to 7 p.m. due to the excellent response by the public. Thursday and Friday, hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

More than 200 persons attended a private showing at the gallery at 140½ E. Chicago Blvd., Sunday evening and each day this week.

HISTORIC POSTCARD shows 311 W. Chicago Blvd. virtually unchanged after 56 years. The Jay Tressler family, now owners, welcome guests for a Tecumseh Area Historical Society membership tea, Sunday from 2-5 p.m.

Open Home for Tea

By Kathy Brown

A tradition of Tecumseh hospitality at 311 W. Chicago Blvd. will be kept by the Jay Tressler family as they open their home to guests for the Tecumseh Historical Society membership tea this Sunday, Jan. 29 from 2-5 p.m.

Members of the historical society and anyone interested in the history of Tecumseh is welcome to attend the tea. Memberships will be taken for the 1978 year at this time.

The history of hospitality at the traditional brick home may be traced back to its first owner, R.A. "Dolph" Heeson owner of a local foundry, who had it built in 1922.

The Heesons were members of a businessman's winter social club known as the "Merry Go Rounds" which met every other Saturday night in the home of one of the 10 couples who were members.

To liven their spirits during the dull Michigan winter, the men wore tuxedos and the women wore long evening gowns with long white gloves for the elegant evening affairs catered by Polly Mattis.

Club members were the Heesons; Leon Rosacrans, clothing and dry goods store owner; the Henry McClures, postmaster; R.H. Moores, lumber yard owner; Ben Pulvers, pharmacist; Vern Russells, celery farmer; Leon Williamsons, grocer; Tom McCanns, clothier; Don Heesons, foundry employee; Louis B. Schneiders, head of electric company.

George Kempf, general contractor of the Heeson home worked on the house with his brother, Henry back in 1922.

Norman Kempf, builder, the son of Henry, and his brother, Raymond, restored the dining room of the Tressler home after the Dec. 16, 1975 fire. Original detail was followed closely in the buffet and window seat, rebuilt with new oak.

Heeson also had the woodframe, Queen Ann home at 508 W. Chicago Blvd. built. He lived there before he moved to the brick home on the boulevard east of N. Union. The couple had no children. An older relative, Mrs. Glover, lived with them.

After Mr. Heeson's death, Mrs. Heeson traded homes with the Karl M. Schneiders in about 1939. The Schneiders had two children and added a large recreation room in the basement. Every Friday night they had a dance for the teenagers. Mrs. Vera Driscoll played for them.

In 1944 after Mr. Schneider's death, the Ned Baldwins traded their home to live on the boulevard with their four children. Accordingly, the style of entertainment became family centered.

Since 1969, family entertainment focused on the Ely-Tressler family. Mr. and Mrs. Tressler have seven children at home.

The interest in teen entertainment flourishes again at the home as Mrs. Tressler is active with the "A Place for Teens" committee of the Tecumseh Area Town Meeting Organization.

Some of the interesting features visitors of the Tressler home will see Sunday are its oak woodwork and hallway reception area with ornate deacon's bench.

Service Club Active in 1977

The Tecumseh Service Club was active throughout 1977 thanks to money allocated by the Tecumseh Community Fund and individual contributions.

The club is a volunteer group of Tecumseh people who provide emergency assistance to families within the Tecumseh School area. After receiving referrals, each situation is investigated and acted upon accoringly.

A rather limited number of families were assisted at Thanksgiving. At Christmas food and gifts and clothing were provided for approximately 27 families, which included 71 children.

Food and a gift were delivered to 13 elderly people or shut-ins. Cookies were made by and delivered by grade school children to 23 elderly and shut-ins. Many needed shoes, boots and clothing were purchased.

A huge amount of canned goods and food were furnished by local churches as well as new gifts, wrapped and marked as to the contents. Cash contributions were received which helped in spreading happiness at the Christmas season.

The response to the mitten and hat tree at Herrick Park Branch Bank is growing each year. Enough mittens were received to cover the needs of all children and young people for the winter.

The Tecumseh Service Club worked closely with Associated Charities in Adrian who generously assisted with the food baskets and used clothing distribution.

Members of the Service Club expressed their gratitude to the many community organizations and concerned citizens of Tecumseh who helped so much with this year's program of activities.

Special thanks were given to the young men from the high school, Jim Neill, Mike Ery and Pat Davis, who volunteered their services in the distribution of food and gift boxes.

The following slate of officers were elected for the year 1978: Opal Dickinson, president; Irene Baran, vice president; Phyllis Lennington, secretary; Jean Colgrove, treasurer.

Requests for further information may be directed to any of the officers.

Britton outrebounded the competition 40-25 with Greg Fanslau coming up with 16.

Fanslau led the Tories with 21 points followed by Dan Sparrow with 18.

The Tories are now 0-9 in the Tri-County League, 0-13 overall. They host Dundee this Friday.

The orange and black came back to trounce Airport on Monday of this week 15-7, 15-7.

Coach Denise Knuth said the St. Mary's team was "excellent." "I think the varsity was a little bit surprised by St. Mary's. We learned a lot from that match, that you can't stand around and expect everyone else to do the job. They wanted to beat St. Mary's so bad, maybe they were a little overprepared."

Robin Isom had seven serving points in the game, Sandy MacGeorge had five.

The junior varsity also lost, but it was a closer game. The Indians won the first game 15-9 but then fell 12-15 and 13-15. Kris MacDonald had 10 serving points.

The Redskins now post an unblemished 4-0 LCAA League mark, 5-0 overall.

The Skins defeated Manchester 7-15, 15-5 and 15-9 last Thursday.

Sue Richter had 10 serving points for Clinton and scored on eight spikes. Karen Busch scored on seven spikes.

The junior varsity also won 15-4, 16-14.

On Monday of this week, it was more of the same with Clinton dominating Blissfield 15-13, 15-5.

Karen Busch had 10 serving points and nine spikes. Sue Richter had eight spikes and Marcia Camfield came up with 20 sets.

The junior varsity beat the Royals 15-12, 4-15, 15-13. Renee Peterson had 10 serving points.

The Skins traveled to Onsted on Wednesday for a make-up contest. This Thursday they travel to Dundee hosting Morenci next Monday.

Tory JV's Are 8-1

Britton's junior varsity basketball squad had one of its best nights as far as shooting is concerned against Sand Creek on Tuesday of this week.

The junior Tories won it 72-67 hitting on 33 of 64 for 52 percent.

Britton trailed the Aggies 18-4 in the first quarter but caught fire in the second to take a 36-31 advantage at the half.

Sand Creek got close towards the end of the game but Jim Heiden and Randy Dusseau drew one and two foul shots respectively to preserve the win.

Heiden finished on top in scoring for Britton with 24 points. Randy Dusseau had 18 points while Dave Bruce had 17.

Last Saturday, the junior Tories defeated Deerfield 49-47. The game sound close but Brittonw as actually on top by 15 in the fourth quarter when coach Cam VanAradalen began substituting freely.

Randy Dusseau had 15 points in the battle. Bruce had 11 with 12 rebounds.

The team hosts Dundee this Friday. They are still tied with Madison for first place in the league, both with 8-1 records. Overall, Britton is 11-2.

Tecumseh, Area Snowbound after Blizzard

★ ★ ★ Businesses, Industry Closed, Schools Are Still Out ★ ★ ★

A Midwest blizzard last Thursday and Friday has been claimed by many as the worst storm of the century. Some may question such an appraisial, but all will have to admit that it ranks near the top.

It brought our way of living to a standstill and still leaves evidence of its occurrence - huge snow drifts, mountains of snow piled up by removal equipment, and hazardous streets and roads.

City officials report at least 15 inches of snow fell and explained that it was blowing so hard that it was difficult to measure.

Not included is the freezing rain. Officials in nearby areas reported over 20 inches of snow.

Tecumseh, like the Midwest, suffered. One resident here died shoveling snow, another was rushed to Herrick Hospital with a heart attack. Fortunately, he survived.

There are hundreds of experiences and accountings that will never be reported, but none forgoten by those involved. There are many who gave freely of their time and equipment, not only helping their neighbors and friends but police and fire departments as well.

The nightmare actually started Wednesday of last week when falling snow created treacherous driving conditions. Kindergarten classes in the Tecumseh schools for that afternoon were cancelled, although all other classes finished the normal school day.

About midnight Wednesday, freezing rain started and lasted nearly two hours before it gave away to snow, whipped by winds in excess of 30 and 40 mph. The snow and winds continued through Thursday and into Friday before subsiding.

Snow squalls Saturday and Sunday only reminded residents of the past storm and caused little additional problems. While nature was beautiful, it was also devastating and to the extent that the National Guard was in Tecumseh Friday for emergencies and assistance.

Schools cancelled out Thursday and Friday and were not able to resume until this Thursday, Feb. 2. While most main city streets are in good to fair condition, many rural roads are still one lane.

Number of businesses that opened Thursday in downtown Tecumseh could be counted on one hand, and most of these closed by noon. Industry also closed and did not reopen until Sunday or Monday.

While some stores reopened Friday or Saturday, many continued closed until Monday. Parking was minimal until Saturday morning as offstreet lots were not plowed until midnight Friday.

Tecumseh's street department had six men working around the clock, starting at 5 a.m. Thursday and working until 5 p.m. Saturday, except for two brief rest breaks. Three plows, grader and two loaders were not enough to keep up with the blowing snow, and additional men and equipment of Brady Sand and Gravel were employed, a cost that the city hopes to recover in Federal aid.

Under terrible conditions city crews did an excellent job in just keeping most streets passable.

Residents did not have to leave their homes to know what was going on. Radios were constantly giving reports, and scanners detailed emergency runs and evacuations.

There were a number of oddities, such as snowmobiles buzzing up and down Chicago Blvd., some assisting and some simply joy riding; Dr. Carlton Cook skiing to the hospital, a first grade Patterson school teacher ready to give it the old college try Thursday morning, a few hardy bank employees staring out at deserted Chicago Blvd., churches canceling services, horse and rider braving the elements in the downtown area, and many more, some humorous, some not.

Many city departments and services were unusually busy, and all crippled by the blizzard. A resume is:

Fire Department

Manned constantly by six medical technicians and driver Thursday and Friday nights. Made 11 runs with rescue wagon Thursday through Saturday, most runs were emergency and evacuation types:

Thursday: Warren Tuckerman, 6933 Close Dr.; John E. Walz, 206 N. Wyandotte, fatal heart attack while shoveling snow; and false alarm, corner of Occidental and Russell Rds.

Friday: Car stuck on M-50, just south of US-12; Marion French, 710 N. Evans; Harold DeClercq, 512 W. Kilbuck, heart attack while shoveling snow; Mrs. Daniel Semark, 3809 Loveless Dr., taken out via snowmobile to rescue wagon on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.; Arnold McDonald, 807 Outer Dr., medicine to heart patient, 9833 N. Adrian Hwy., by snowmobile; evacuation of seven people, two mothers and their five children on Centennial Rd. by three snowmobiles and a sled, no heat in the house.

Saturday: Charles Wheeler, 12089 Britton Hwy., broken leg, one and a half hour trip through Clinton to Macon and back to Herrick Hospital.

Police Department

Most officers worked many hours overtime, transporting nurses and other hospital personnel to and from work, delivering medicine and giving assistance to motorists and public.

Some officers used their own four-wheel vehicles for police work plus one four-wheeler loaned to the department by Erb Chevrolet-Buick.

Police, like the public, are very appreciative of the help given by snowmobilers during the emergency. Now that emergency is over, officers ask snowmobile operators to discontinue using city streets, since it is not only illegal but also dangerous to their safety.

General Telephone

Reports a record number of calls, Wednesday through, Sunday of 1.5 million calls in Lenawee County, and an intermittent loss of commercial power at the Tecumseh central office that did not result in loss of service as a standby emergency generator took over.

Consumers Power

Approximately 200 customers on Occidental and Green Hwy. were out of power from 2:00 to 11:00 p.m. Thursday, after a tree in the vicinity of Fisher Body Plant dropped its snow laden branches over wires, causing a line to trip out.

Isolated calls were received from the Red Mill area, north of Tecumseh and a couple calls on Centennial Rd.

Post Office

Mail carriers attempted rural deliveries Thursday, Friday and Saturday where they could travel. City delivery was not attempted until Monday.

All carrier routes resumed Monday, but boxes that are not shoveled out are not being served.

Officer in charge, George Hawkins, stated that carriers would appreciate it if patrons would shovel walks and clean out snow from boxes.

No mail was received until Sunday afternoon, so no one missed any mail, Hawkins stated.

THURSDAY 9 A.M. — This downtown photo shows what it was like at the height of the blizzard. Chicago Blvd. was one lane - barely - east and west, and motorists were few. Those who did venture out became stuck, and many simply abandoned their cars. About 99 percent of the traffic involved four-wheel vehicles and many, many snowmobiles. At this time Thursday morning, most city streets were impassable or nearly so, including such primary streets as Evans and Union. (PHOTO BY KEVIN TRICKEY)

PERCY VAN TUYLE

Percy VanTuyle Headed Clinton Bank Since 1935

Services were held Tuesday at St. John's Episcopal Church in Clinton for Clinton banker and philanthropist, William Percy VanTuyle, who died Friday at Emma L. Bixby Hospital, Adrian.

Although he had been in ill health for a number of years, he continued as president of State Savings Bank of Clinton, a position that he held since his father died in 1935.

Born in Clinton on April 10, 1888, he was the only son of Willard D. VanTuyle and the former Alta Eveline Silvers.

The Van Tuyles and the Silverses were among the early Dutch settlers of Michigan.

Mr. VanTuyle was educated in Clinton, Howe Military Academy, Kenyon College and the University of Michigan.

On Oct. 6, 1923, he married the former Martha Frances Finney in Holland, where she taught school. She survives.

He started his banking career in 1912 with the Exchange Bank of Van Tuyle and Silvers, which merged with the Smith-Richmond State Bank in Dec. 1922 and later became the State Savings Bank of Clinton.

In 1972, he built the new bank in Clinton and in 1975, the Irish Hills branch was added.

Mr. VanTuyle believed in the Rotary motto, "Service above Self," and was always active in community affairs. Among his gifts to the community were a swimming pool to the Clinton Schools in 1959 and recent construction of the roads in Riverside Cemetery.

He was a member of the St. John's Episcopal Church, Order of Eastern Star Chapter No. 85 of Clinton, Masonic Lodge F&AM No. 175 of Clinton, and Rotary Club.

Survivors also included three children, Willard D., Bay City; David K., executive vice-president of State Savings Bank, of Clinton; and Martha Jane Brauburger of Ann Arbor; and 10 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

He was preceded in death by his parents and an infant daughter, Jean Catherine.

The Rev. Russell Cooper, assisted by the Rev. Jack Warner, officiated the services. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

Arrangements were made by the Proctor Funeral Home, Clinton.

Reschedule Membership Tea Sunday

The Tecumseh Area Historical Society membership tea was rescheduled for Sunday, Feb. 5 from 3-5 p.m. at 311 W. Chicago Blvd. due to last weekend's snow storm.

The Jay Tresslers will welcome guests interested in the history of Tecumseh and membership in the society.

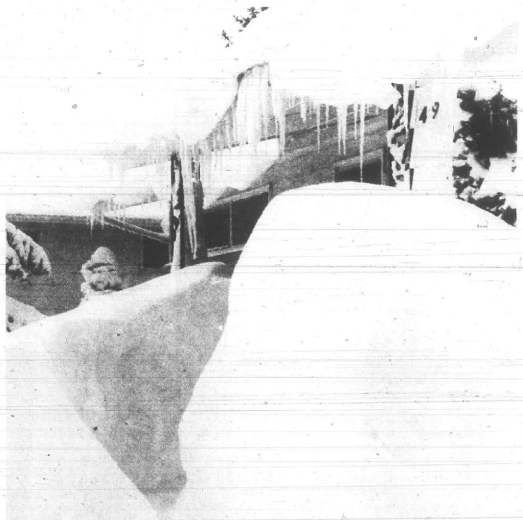
Snowmobiles Stolen, One Is Recovered

Tecumseh police investigated three stolen snowmobile reports this week and recovered one of the vehicles Saturday.

Jan. 28 — Leverett DeJonghe, 6546 Gove Ct., reported his snowmobile stolen from behind Lev's Bakery. Police recovered the vehicle on S. Occidental.

Jan. 29 — Kenneth Randolph of 106 W. Kilbuck reported his snowmobile stolen from the parking lot in front of his apartment.

Jan. 30 — A snowmobile valued at $1150 was taken from in front of Whelan's Implement at 111 W. Logan. Dick Whelan, owner, reported the theft.



AFTERWARDS — Typical house scene in the city with snow and icicles hanging over the roof. Paths to homes were tunnel-line, as drifted snow amounted from three to five feet in places. (PHOTO BY JIM LINCOLN)

Schools May Open Thursday

School officials still did not know Wednesday morning if classes could resume here Thursday.

Although practically all roads have been plowed and are passable, maneuvering a school bus over many of these roads is much different than driving a car or pickup.

Officials took some busses out on these roads Tuesday and found many to be extremely slippery and difficult for the busses to negotiate.

Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent, reported Wednesday that the schools may ask students to walk to main roads. He said their safety is the primary concern, and if conditions affecting their safety remain questionable, the schools will remain closed.

A two-hour freezing rain that preceded last Thursday's blizzard left a three and four-inch ice base on many roads. The ice coupled with blowing snow and cold temperatures are factors that school officials are taking into consideration in whether to open or close schools.

Accidents Blamed on Weather

Large piles of snow and slippery conditions caused a number of accidents this week, but none was serious.

A resume includes:

Jan. 25 — Judith A. Craig, 37, of 906 Willow slid on Chicago and hit a snow bank Wednesday. Beverly A. Rose, 26, of 307 Cairns was unable to stop and struck the rear of Craig's auto.

Jana L. Mueller, 20, of Britton hit a parked car on S. Maumee. Parked auto belonged to Eugene N. Drouillard, 6440 S. Ridge.

Garry L. Agnew, 22, of Adrian told police Wednesday that he pulled into the Kroger lot, slid, and hit an auto driven by Joan M. Lundahl, 51, of 402 Marlboro Ct.

Also on Wednesday, Richard E. Ford, 10410 Matthews, reported his auto damaged while parked at Les Dallas.

Jan. 27 — Gerald A. Carpenter, 33, of 106 N. VanBuren and Charles K. Miller Jr., 31, of 1301 Southwestern, collided in the intersection of Chicago and VanBuren.

Jan. 28 — Pamalynn E. Bryant of Adrian told police she was loading groceries at Kroger when an unknown vehicle hit her car door.

Jan. 29 — Mark D. Keller, 19, of 119 W. Brown, slid on icy Evans Sunday and struck the auto stopped in front of him, Mark T. Hoffman, 18, of 306 N. VanBuren was waiting at the Chicago light when hit.

Jan. 31 — Gisela D. Gero, 56, 120 W. Brown, pulled into Occidental from Westhaven and struck an auto driven by Jack E. Withrow, 39, of 223 E. Cummins. Snow piles blocked the drivers' view.

Also on Tuesday, Frederick J. Ward, 39, of 700 Center Ct., was cited for failing to yield after he pulled onto S. Maumee. Snow blocked Ward's vision as he struck an auto driven by Rhenold C. Ely, 51, 1211 Russell.

Have Cabin Fever

Diann Anschuetz, senior citizen coordinator at the Tecumseh Community Center said that the blizzard has given many senior citizens "cabin fever."

The senior citizen center activities resumed Monday. Anschuetz said that all seniors who depend on the homebound meals are counseled on the importance of having at least a three day supply of food for such emergencies. Most have a friend or neighbor they can rely upon in emergency.

In addition to this week's schedule of events for senior citizens, two other events may be noted for the February calendar.

Rose Bowman, director of the Lenawee Council on Aging will be present at a meeting 10:30 a.m. Feb. 10 at the Tecumseh Community Center to discuss program planning in 1979. Seniors are to attend and give comments and ideas.

On Feb. 21 at 1 p.m., assistant city manager Paul Preston will discuss senior citizen housing in the city of Tecumseh.

For more information about senior citizen meals and program at the community center, call Diann Anschuetz at 423-5939.

He is a first child for the Schneiders, who moved to Tecumseh last summer. Mr. Schneider is an apprentice tool and die maker at Peerless Gear Division.

PROUD MOTHER WITH TWINS, MICHAEL LEE AND STEVE ROBERT

Blizzard of Births

By Kathy Brown

The miracle of birth wasn't postponed by the blizzard.

Mrs. Charles Case of 12065 Highland Dr., Tipton delivered twin boys early Sunday morning at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

The birth climaxed a tense 55-hour drama that involved several neighbors in the Tipton lakes area.

Born at 3:24 a.m. was Michael Lee, 5 lbs., 12 oz.; and at 3:25 a.m. Steven Robert, 6 lbs., 5 oz. They are the first children of Charles and Joyce Case. He works at Dundee Cement Plant.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Case of 1056 Breyman Hwy., Tipton and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Haynes, Vineyard Lake, Brooklyn.

The twin birth was not a surprise to the neighborhood. "Everyone knew that she was going to have twins. This is what scared us," said new grandmother Mrs. Leroy Case.

A neighbor, Larry Bowles, dug out Collier Rd. with a backhoe on Friday night for the mother-to-be's fateful trip.

"Without that, I don't know how anyone would have gotten through. It seems we're always the last one to get dug out," stated the grandmother.

At about 10 a.m. Saturday morning, Mrs. Case was taken by snowmobile to US-12 where the Sand Lake Fire Department rescue vehicle was stationed.

The trek by snowmobile was a good mile the way they had to go. Ordinarily, distance to the highway is only four blocks. "We had snowmobiles lined up in the neighborhood," Grandmother Case explained. Tom McCullough and a friend identifiable only as "Jeff" were the drivers.

From the rescue vehicle, the sheriff's department transported Mrs. Case to relatives in Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rousselo, 5 Occidental Rd.

Expectant mother was admitted to Herrick Hospital at 1:30 a.m. and delivered her sons two hours later. Dr. J.C. Rhee was the attending physician. Charles Case, the father, and grandmother Case were also present for the delivery.

Players Work On

Last week's snow called a halt to everything, including play. Or, to be specific, play practice. Cast of Tecumseh Players' "Two Blind Mice" studied lines at home since suspension of rehearsals.

But in other areas of production, work continues in preparation for opening night, Feb. 17.

Technical director Gary Mills, assistant Hank Hart, and crew people Rosanne Frolich, Ricki and Doug Speller and Marty Frolich coordinated efforts to create a convincing setting.

The story calls for a once-elegant mansion which was converted into a government office building sometime during the Theodore Roosevelt administration.

While actual set construction can't be completed until the Players move into the Glass Room at the Tecumseh Community Center, many hours were invested in the designing and painting and in gathering the necessary furniture and props.

Enormous effort is required to authentically depict the time that the story takes place, which is 1949. Costumes must reflect the styles of the post World War II era, requiring much research for the costumer. Responsible for properly costuming the large cast of "Mice" is another Tecumseh newcomer, Mary Ann Bone. She was active in community theatre in Windsor, Ontario. Helping her will be Sandy Swift of Clinton, also assistant director for the show.

Other important tasks include distribution of tickets and posters, being handled by Ginger Meikle, Gary Rader and Gerry Johnstone; the management of the house and ushers, delegated to Dorothy Walker, with help from Delores Mills, who operates the lights during the show; and the demanding responsibility of reservations and seating, which is done by Marge Hart and Ginger Meikle.

Call 423-2770 for reservations. As an alternate number only, call 456-4370.

Persons aged 65 or older are reminded of a special admission price of $1 in effect opening night only.

Citizens Discuss Reasonable Taxes

The Lenawee County Citizens for Reasonable Taxation met Jan. 16, in the cafeteria of Onsted community schools.

President Joyce Drake called the meeting to order with 25 members present.

Mrs. Drake spoke of the difficulty in getting the public to attend such meetings. She suggested an executive committee be formed to hold regular sessions, dispense information, and handle all the business details of the group, giving periodic reports to the rank and file of important happenings.

Joe Schultz of Morenci reported a meeting he attended in Lansing Jan. 6, hosted by the Michigan Citizens for Reasonable Taxation and attended by representatives from tax groups across the state.

Main topic was whether to support tax limitation for state government or to push for outright tax reform. A coalition was formed to decide which alternative to follow.

Local board of review meets the first Tuesday after the first Monday in March. Mrs. Drake urged those who feel they have been unfairly taxed to take their cases to the board.

She reminded them to have all facts and figures with them to be able to answer fully any questions from the board.

Next meeting is at the Blissfield elementary school Jan. 31, at 7:30 p.m. Public is urged to attend.

For more information, call Joyce Drake, 467-3638.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

Many complimentary letters are probably being written regarding the performance of the men involved in keeping our city streets open during these past few weeks and especially during this most recent blizzard.

The men and their machines have been outstanding and their efforts should not go unrecognized.

Speaking for many of the so-called "silent majority" we are certainly grateful to our street crews for a job well done.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

From the beginning, it started out to be a super day. The first thing Mom and I noticed was that yes indeed, the days truly were beginning to be longer. It was getting light earlier.

Then we turned on the TV and learned that luckily a horrendous snowstorm was missing us. A strong, high pressure system was keeping the heavy snow south of Michigan. Hooray, more of the white stuff we do not need.

The drapes were not open long when the first breakfast customers showed up at the near-my-window feeders. Among the regulars there was also a pair of evening grosbeaks. What a way to start a day!

By the time Gertie T arrived Mom and I had enjoyed some excellent bird watching. The evening grosbeaks were not only back for second and third courses but they brought friends as well.

At one time when a fat fox squirrel monopolized the feeders, Mom counted six grosbeaks in the tree. They sat there patiently waiting for the squirrel to leave.

As I excitedly stammered to Gertie T the list of early breakfast eaters, she went to the window to see if she could spot any of them. Any would suffice but, of course, the evening grosbeaks were a prime interest.

Seeing nothing spectacular she 'lowered her sights' and discovered a wealth of birds beneath the yews. Grosbeaks, cardinals, and all sorts of little guys.

A quick shout brought Mom to the window. There the two of them stood, looking down and giving me a bird by bird description of what was happening. This area beneath the bushes and the near-my-window feeder was good, the bird seemed to like it.

A great deal of food was spilled from the trays and it fell through the bushes to the ground. The yews themselves afforded much protection and so the birds had the best of both worlds. They dined out of the weather.

By midmorning Mom and I shared all of our birds with Gertie T. And how nice — really, about the only thing better than seeing exciting birds is to share them with someone else.

Just as we started the day's tea drinking, the General's Lady arrived. Yes, of course she would join us in a cup, Mom said she would have one too.

I hardly dared hope the bird action would continue. Sharing with Gertie T was lucky, could we possibly do the same thing twice in one day? Birds usually just aren't that cooperative.

However, we could at least enjoy some steaming hot tea and, if the birds decided to be ornery and disappear, there was always good conversation.

Nothing at all on the feeders and nothing of excitement in the trees and bushes to be seen through the west facing window. Gertie T came to the rescue though and spotted the grosbeaks in back. That seemed to be the signal.

From then on, as the four of us sat enjoying our tea, the parade of visitors to the near-my-window feeders was continuous. The west facing window picture became alive.

The siskins and goldfinches packed themselves shoulder to shoulder on both trays, chickadees joined the crowd as did the three sparrows. Two bluejays sent everyone flying. Mourning doves, cardinals, the flicker, and, of course, evening grosbeaks had their turns too.

The squirrels were not about to go unnoticed. When either the big fox or the small red shinnied up the feeder post the birds took off in all directions. As soon as the feeders were empty they immediately came back again.

By noon the expectations of the morning were more than met. Already it was a 14 bird day and we shared it with two friends. What more could we ask of a Tuesday morning?

General Telephone Increases Intrastate Rates

General Telephone customers who make long distance calls to other points in Michigan will be affected by the increase in intrastate long distance rates approved for Michigan Bell by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

New rates were in effect Jan. 25.

The new rates do not affect long distance calls made to points outside of Michigan nor calls to points within Michigan up to 25 miles from the rate center.

However, for calls to points within Michigan 26 miles away or further, rates for the first minute and for each additional minute have been increased by one penny.

The "day rates" apply Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 5-11 p.m. The discounted "nite rates" -- 30 percent less than day rates -- apply at all other times and on certain holidays.

Increases of one penny also apply for additional charges for operator assisted calls. Those new rates are: 26 cents for credit card calls, and 51 cents for third number and collect calls, for requests for time and charges, and other operator assisted calls. Another 51 cents is added if these calls are placed as person-to-person.

Rates for Budget Toll Dialing Service, Circle Calling, and WATS have been increased about 2.6 percent. Conference call rates will also increase slightly.

ECOL Accepts Woman's Club

The Tecumseh Business and Professional Woman's Club was accepted as a new member organization at the Jan. 23 meeting of the Environmental Council of Lenawee (ECOL) at Adrian College. Mrs. Reginald W. Dixon is the representative to ECOL.

All officers of ECOL were re-elected for 1978: Lloyd Ruesink, president; Mickey St. Clair, vice-president and Dan Bruggeman, secretary-treasurer.

Bicentennial Park funding was reported in good shape. A total of $6,000 was collected thus far toward a goal of $8,000. Most of the amount was donated by individuals and clubs; the rest by businesses.

The Mill St. (Adrian) floodplain filling case was discussed. Adrian planning commission will discuss it at the Feb. 7 meeting. Also discussed was a proposed fill along Evans Creek in Tecumseh.

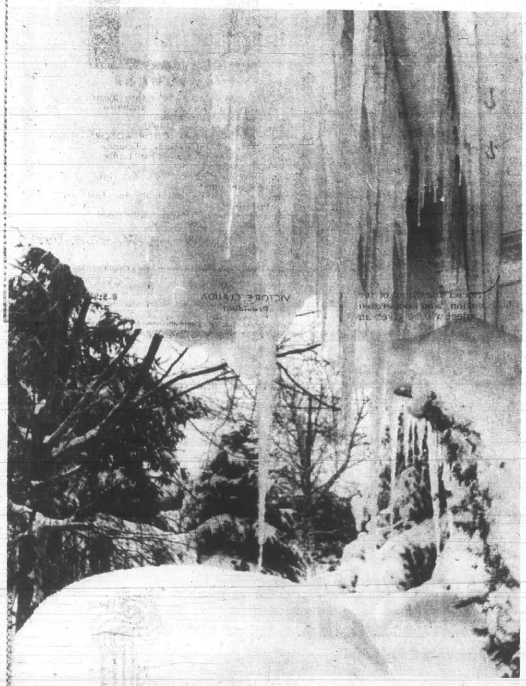
Snow Scenes of Buried Tecumseh Area

15 INCHES — Over a foot of snow followed by 30 and 40 mile an hour winds made Tecumseh roads impossible to keep clear this week. Photo at left shows a county V-plow cutting back huge mounds of snow on Murphy Road.

WINTER BEAUTY — Heavy snow can make life difficult, but snow certainly also has an unmatched beauty. The snow at right buried a Tecumseh resident's fence and highlights the evergreen trees.



PRISON OF ICICLES — It's a nice, landscaped view of green in June, but it certainly wasn't Saturday. Hanging icicles from a porch roof and snow drifting from three to five feet here make the view awesome, almost prison-like by enclosing the porch.

Jim Lincoln
and Kent Downing

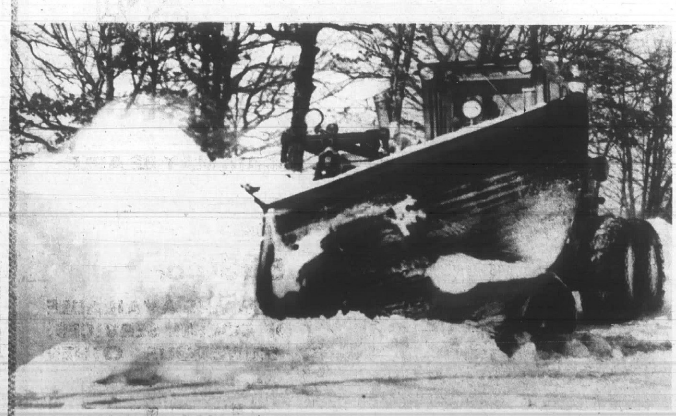
HIGH PLOWED DRIFTS — We parked the Herald van beside a large drift (and not the largest drift) on Hendershot to show just how high the snow was on many of Tecumseh's back roads. The photo at right was taken just south of M-50.



WORKING AROUND THE CLOCK — Above, a county plow smashes back heavy snow on Murphy Road. City crews here in Tecumseh worked around the clock from Thursday morning until Saturday night and still could not keep up with the falling and drifting snow.

TUNNEL OF SNOW — A tunnel-like effect was created on Billmeyer as county workers plowed through some of the largest drifts, piling snow up as high as 10 feet. Picture at right was taken from the top of one mound and shows the Herald van actually dwarfed by the snow.

Hit 'n Miss

by Hollis Farley

Clinton has lost a friend — a lifetime friend who had done many things for Clintopia, more than many realize.

In the Local of April 12, 1888, appeared the following personal item:

"Do you know why W.D. VanTuyle walks so sprightly nowadays? Look in another column and you will know the cause of his energetic stride." and in another column was the following announcement:

"Born, in Clinton on Tuesday, April 10, 1888, to Mr. and Mrs. W.D. VanTuyle, a boy."

This was the beginning of a love affair that lasted a lifetime between W.P. VanTuyle and Clinton.

He had spent his entire lifetime in the banking business here and had been president of the State Savings Bank for many years.

He had the opportunity and he and his family have done a great many things for Clintopia — for instance the school pool and the paved roadways in Riverside Cemetery here, and the time and money that he and the bank have spent to improve Clinton's industrial picture — and other unpublicized improvements to preserve and improve the best of Clintopia for all of us.

He was a very proud man, and all of his life he was greatly interested in his home town.

Once upon a time Teddy Roosevelt was credited with saying that the "sure way to borrow money from a bank was to prove that you didn't need it."

This was, in many ways, untrue in W.P.'s (as he was affectionally known) case. I'm afraid that, in some instances, the local banker's actions may have been hampered, not by his personal intentions, but by the various laws and regulations under which the bank was forced to operate.

I'm sure that in the future, we will become increasingly aware of many things that he had done for the community — how much time and money he had contributed to promote the financial and general welfare of our area.

We will miss his familiar presence for he took daily an active part in the activities of our town.

I'm proud to have known Mr. VanTuyle.

Archdeacon Will Visit St. Johns Sunday

CLINTON — The Venerable William S. Logan, Archdeacon or the Diocese of Michigan will make his official visit to the St. John's Episcopal Church, Sunday.

He will give the morning sermon and celebrate holy communion.

A coffee hour will be held after the service.

3rd Farm Home Day

CLINTON — Third annual Farm and Home Day at Clinton high school Feb. 25 will feature a day-long program of interest to all rural residents.

More than 50 sessions will range from gardening and homemaking to livestock feeding and machinery repair.

A nationally prominent agricultural speaker will be featured at the evening program, which will follow at 6:30 p.m. catered dinner.

Luncheon will also be available at the school.

John Jansen vo-ag teacher described the program as a mini-farmer's week, with many extension Dept. personnel and MSU faculty members staffing the program.

Registration is at 8 a.m. and sessions start at 9 a.m.

A complete list of session subjects will be available soon from the school.

Band Follies Date Changed

CLINTON — Annual Band Follies at Clinton high school was postponed from this week until Feb. 15, 16 and 18, because of the prolonged cancellation of school, which hampered rehearsals.

Show time is 8 p.m. each evening in the CHS auditorium.

40 Motorists Assisted

CLINTON — State Police and Clinton Fire Department anticipated some 40 motorists stranded on US-12 would need assistance when they were brought into Clinton Thursday night. Local churches were alerted and the Smith-Kimball Community Center was opened.

Several local women assisted with food.

However, only two motorists stayed at the center all night and six others were given a meal Thursday night.

All the others, apparently dispersed to local taverns or obtained snowmobile transportation out of the village.

Circles Meet

BRITTON — The three Circles of the Congregational Chistian Church will meet Feb. 7 at the following places:

Sunshine Circle: Hostess, Nancy Wilson, at noon.

JANET BAWDEN, geriatric services intern, interviews Fern Stewart, a resident at Herrick Nursing Home.

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY KATHY BAILEY, R.N. RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

This week we'd like to introduce you to a new face at Herrick Hospital and a new concept.

Janet Bawden was with our Social Services Department since Sept. 1977, serving as a Social Services intern during her senior year at Eastern Michigan University.

On the initiative of Norma J. Schroeder, director of Social Services, Janet came to us to work in her "field" and gain actual experience in social work to compliment her classwork at EMU.

Janet and Norma worked out an educational contract, outlining the objectives that Janet will work towards during her time here.

Janet, originally from Bellevue, lives in Ypsilanti. In addition to being a housewife and mother, Janet works full time midnights, in geriatric care. She is involved in two geriatric volunteer organizations, RSVP, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, and Senior Citizens Independent Living High-rise Project.

Her hobbies include vegetable gardening, reading, and she is a member of the "Old Lacers" in which her expertise is knitted lace. Janet has lectured and demonstrated this art at Greenfield Village. She enjoys many outdoor activities, including camping and motorcycling. During her internship with us, Janet's main area of interest was the Herrick Nursing Home. Cooperating with the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary, Janet proposed a number of improvements to aid the patients at the nursing home in their daily living.

Drawing on her extensive background in geriatric care, Janet suggested a number of changes that may seem small, but mean a great deal to the residents.

Physical changes, which will also help improve the self-image of the residents include: increased lighting throughout, handrails in each bathroom to facilitate the transfer of residents from wheelchairs to the toilet, large number clocks in conspicious places, full-length mirrors in the halls and mirrors and paper towel dispensors lowered within the reach of the residents.

Janet currently works on a community volunteer program to establish a one-to-one friendship for the 28 residents at the nursing home.

We haven't listed all of the functions and changes that Janet brought to our facility, but we are glad to have her.

In April Janet will graduate from EMU with her bachelor of science degree in social work. She plans to continue work on her master's degree.

Janet Bawdin recognizes the importance of education, out in her own words she is "university trained, but work experienced".

Give to Heart Fund

Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary reminds the community that February is National Heart Month.

Traditionally it has been designated in February because of the celebration of Valentine's Day, when people remember their loved ones.

During February and the other 11 months, much is done nationally to educate people as to how to prevent heart disease, how to live with it and to raise money for the study and research of this disease.

In Tecumseh, Herrick Memorial Hospital has an intensive coronary care unit made possible through the generous donations of area residents. Equipment purchased with these donations has helped save the lives of heart victims.

The ICC unit in Tecumseh began operation in 1968 and was the first in Lenawee County.

To keep it up to date with modern equipment, area residents may consider a memorial contribution or a "living" contribution in honor of your loved one, anytime, but especially during February, National Heart Month.

For information on gifts, contact Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary president and contribution fund chairman, Mrs. L.D. (Betty) Thompson, 1017 Red Mill Dr., 423-4117.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Isn't this weather something? Snowmobilers are having a holiday but the rest of us will probably be glad for the spring thaw. Here are a couple recipes I tried while snowed in this week.

I served Applesauce Salad with ham and it was excellent. It would be just as delicious with other meats or sandwiches.

APPLESAUCE SALAD
1 can applesauce (15 ounce)
1 package lime gelatin (3 ounce)
1 cup lemon lime soda pop
1 cup celery
1 cup chopped nutmeats

Heat applesauce. Dissolve gelatin in hot applesauce. Add soda pop and mix well. Chill until slightly tickened, then add chopped celery and nuts. Serves 6.

For another version, try

APPLESAUCE DELUXE
1 package (3 ounce) raspberry gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1½ cups (15 ounce jar) applesauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Blend in applesauce and lemon juice. Chill until firm. Serve with sour cream or mayonnaise, if desired. Serves 6.

This Miracle Whip Cake from Sandy Cross is moist, easy and delicious.

MIRACLE WHIP CAKE
1 cup Miracle Whip
1 cup water
2 cups flour
1½ teaspoon soda
4 tablespoons cocoa
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix dry ingredients in bowl. Add salad dressing, water, and vanilla. Mix well. Pour into a greased 9x13 inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool then frost as desired.

While listening to the radio this week, I heard someone mention snow ice cream. If anyone has recipe please call me at 423-4848. I would enjoy making it and I would like to print it for the readers.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — During the blizzard, people helped other people, families were together making do with what they have on hand. Macon Grocery managed to supply those who could make it to the store some in four wheel drive vehicles some on snowmobiles.

Thank God the area was not without power during the fierce storm. Thanks to the many local people who helped others dig out and of course the county road workers who are still hard at work.

Ted Greenfield and Frances Poley left Macon last Wednesday evening for the night shift at the Ford Plant in Rawsonville. They returned to Macon on Saturday morning.

On Thursday they got as far as Milan before they were forced to stop. They spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Vern Smith, parents of Mrs. Greg Allen of Tecumseh.

On Friday, they forged ahead to Saline and, unable to get any farther, were housed at Emogene Morden's mother's, Amanda Meddaugh. Finally on Saturday they got to Macon.

Bill and Susie Bishop left for work as usual Thursday morning driving to the Ford, Saline Plant. Realizing how bad the storm was, they were sent home shortly after arrival and on the way home picked up five stranded people along the way. Getting to Macon, Bill then took three of the people to Clinton and the other two to Tecumseh.

Joseph Schafer returned home on Wednesday just before the big storm hit. He was hospitalized in Ann Arbor for a broken hip since Christmas Eve.

The Henry Hurst dairy farm on Mills-Macon Rd. was hard hit by the storm last week as all the dairy farms were. Henry with his wife, Allene, and children, Henry, Alvin and Jackie, run the farm which has 200 head of cattle of which 106 are milk cows.

The farm has storage coolers for up to 6 milkings and the past week they even had a borrowed one. Their road was finally opened on Saturday but the truck which takes their milk to Kroger dairy in Detroit was not able to get out till Sunday.

Hursts were forced to dump the product of three milkings, some 5,600 lbs. of milk, some 10 hours of work. If that wasn't enough, the Hursts had to shoot a cow that had given birth to a dead calf and lost two others to pneumonia. The veterinarian was unable to make it to their farm. The Hursts are hopeful and say things could have been worse if the power had failed.

Mrs. Ed Zick flew to Fort Riley, Kan. last Saturday. Her son, Staff Sgt. Richard Zick, wife, Nancy and children, Stephanie and Jason, live there.

Grandma Zick will be with the children while Nancy is in Virginia where her dad is hospitalized. Staff Sgt. Zick will attend school in March at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. for six weeks and if Nancy's dad is better, she and the children may return to Michigan to spend some time with Ed and Bertha in Macon.

The Macon Historical Society will meet Feb. 8 at Harold and Julie Rhora's home at 7:30 p.m.

Voters Would Elect Mayor in Proposed Charter Change

Councilman James H. Palmer proposed a change in the city charter Monday night that would allow the electorate of city of Tecumseh to elect its mayor by popular vote.

To make the charter change, the city must petition with the state that the issue be placed on the November 1978 ballot. If the majority of voters approve the charter change, it could become effective in November 1979 elections.

Council is now elected by voters and the mayor elected each January by council at an organizational meeting.

Palmer suggested that the change would enable any citizen to run for the office of mayor, including a current council member. A council member would have to announce candidacy 90 days before the election so that his or her seat could be filled in the same election.

Mayor pro-tem would also be elected by voters, Palmer suggested, as council candidate with the highest popular vote would hold that office.

Palmer stated that he wanted to propose this change since he took office about five years ago, but "It didn't mean that much to me until this year. We're a pretty well informed public and I think its time for a change in our system," Palmer stated.

Palmer said the charter change would enable the voters to feel closer to city's highest official. Furthermore, it would give no more powers to the mayor or mayor protem.

3rd Operation for Businessman

Roger Linger, Tecumseh businessman who was involved in a truck-car accident on Nov. 7 that claimed the life of a young Adrian woman, underwent surgery for the third time last week at St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Besides internal injuries, which originally were considered not serious, he suffered two broken legs, one a compound facture.

He re-entered the Ann Arbor hospital over two weeks ago after being released in December.

27 Accidents in Week Probably Sets Record

Snowy, icy roads kept Tecumseh police busy this week with 27 accidents, including two hit and run collisions.

On Monday, Jan C. Nielsen, 22, of Clinton told police she was westbound on Water St., at the curve when she met an auto heading toward her on the one-way street. The two collided and the unknown white Olds left the scene.

In the second hit and run, Kevin D. Yoakum, 17, of Petersburg, was cited for failing to have his vehicle under control and for leaving the scene after a collision with Edwin T. Hamilton, 26, of 1327 Southwestern. Hamilton was reportedly parked at the curve on N. Maumee, near Shawnee.

A resume of other accidents includes:

Feb. 1 — Mark S. Hochrein, 24, 704 Wenonah, was cited after he collided with James C. Curth, 35, of 515 W. Kilbuck at the intersection of S. Democrat and W. Pottawatamie Sts.

Merlyn P. French, 52, of Blissfield told police he was loading snow off the streets when he backed into a auto driven by Stephen S. Moore, 23, of 5914 Rogers.

Snow piles blocking visions caused Scott P. Day, 16, of 809 Adrian St.; and Karin J.

Council OKs Appointments

Roger Proctor was appointed Michigan week chairman for 1978 at the Monday night meeting of Tecumseh city council. He also served as chairman in 1977.

A representative of the Tecumseh Area Chamber Commerce, his appointment is in keeping with the chamber's desire to make the chairmanship one of its 1978 projects.

Donald Woods was appointed marshal for Memorial Day pending his acceptance of the post. Woods coordinated the local celebration for several years.

Charles Kipke, city engineer, was designated street administrator.

Close Monday

Tecumseh's two financial institutions, United Savings Bank and First Federal, will be closed Monday, Feb. 13th, in observance of Lincoln's birthday.

U-M Health Study Says Russian Flu Case Here Is First in Michigan

A 20-year-old man from the Tecumseh area has the dubious distinction of being the first person in Michigan to contract the "Russian flu," University of Michigan researchers here report.

The man's illness was detected last week and confirmed Tuesday as part of the community surveillance of influenza currently being conducted in Tecumseh by the Community Health Study of The University of Michigan School of Public Health. Directed by Dr. Arnold S. Monto, the surveillance is part of a national network sponsored by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious diseases.

The Tecumseh area man first visited his physician on Jan. 19. It takes about two weeks to identify Russian flu, authorities explain.

"The isolation of this virus is the first reported recovery of the 'Russian flu' in the United States outside the Rocky Mountain area," Dr. Monto said. "It was found in the midst of an outbreak in Tecumseh caused by the Texas strains and probably represents early "seeding" of the new virus. Based on experience in the Soviet Union, we can expect the new virus to mainly affect individuals under the age of 24."

The U-M physician said adults from 24 to 50 years of age will be relatively protected, especially if they received the swine influenza vaccine last year. The illness caused by the Russian flu virus is similar to that produced by the older type A viruses; hence, isolation is necessary to distinguish between them, he added.

According to Dr. Monto, it presently is unclear whether the flu outbreak here is diminishing.

The Tecumseh Community Health Study has been conducting surveillance of influenza and other respiratory illnesses in Tecumseh area since the autumn of 1976. About 350 area families, comprising a representative sample of the community, are surveyed each week for reports of illness.

Annual Chamber Meeting Feb. 28

Annual meeting of the Tecumseh area chamber of commerce will be a luncheon and program Feb. 28 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church noon to 1:30 p.m.

7 Appointed to Commission for Historic Preservation

Tecumseh city council appointed seven members to the city's new historic preservation commission at Monday's meeting.

Council members each voted for seven members from a list of 11 compiled by assistant city manager Paul Preston and historic district study committee chairman Lynn Cook.

Council members ranked their choice according to first, second, third preference, etc. and commission members were selected on basis of highest number of points.

Those receiving the highest scores, but not necessarily in order were:

Richard Lewis, appointed for one year, 503 Seminole, 1977 president of the Tecumseh Area Historical Society, research engineer at SWS silicone; Earl Mason, appointed for three years, 117 Park St., senior vice-president and branch manager of United Savings Bank; Lynn Cook, three year appointment, 140 W. Brown St., historic district study committee chairman and planning commissioner; Michele Worley, two year appointment, 710 W. Chicago Blvd., historical society treasurer, historic district resident, restoring own home; Teresa Powers, two year appointment, 301 N. Union St. historic district resident restoring own home; Edna Smith, three year appointment, 900 Red Mill Dr. past treasurer of historical society, restaurant owner; Millie Saksewski, one year appointment, 508 W. Chicago Blvd. historic district resident restoring own home.

All appointees were members of the historic district study committee.

There were two one year terms, two two-year term and three three-year terms. They were assigned by council after informal discussion. Basically, newer residents received the shorter terms. Dr. Lewis requested a one-year term. All appointees must be residents of the city for at least two years.

Three of the appointees are residents of the historic district.

Others suggested for the appointments were Betty Wollenhaupt, 125 Maple St., the Rev. Allan Gray, 404 Seminole Dr., Ester McLain, 109 N. Pearl St.

Suggested appointees who did not meet resident requirements were Betty Kline, historic district resident; Harvey Schmidt, 311 W. Shawnee St.; John Thomas, 309 W. Chicago Blvd.; Barry Seidel, 705 Outer Dr.

Notably, none of the strong opponents of the first historic district ordinance was listed. Terrance Beland, N. Union St. later approved the less restricting version of the historic district ordinance. He stated that he did not want to serve the committee. George Sommermyer, another opponent of the first ordinance was not contacted but Preston and Cook told council he left the impression he was not interested in an appointment.

Residents, Chamber Offer Suggestions for Removing Snow

Residents and business people complimented city crews for the snow removal job well done after the recent blizzard, but as the saying goes, you can always improve on a good thing.

With that in mind, some residents suggested that city council declare a snow emergency and no parking streets for faster street clean-up. Tecumseh area Chamber of Commerce wanted more cooperation from the city on removal of snow from curbs.

In a letter from R.L. and Zoe A. Maher, Lawrence E. Quigg, Sandra S. and Walter H. Elkins, council was asked to declare a snow emergency whenever a certain number of inches of snow falls. No parking would be allowed on certain streets to aid removal of snow.

This was the second written suggestion received by council on the subject in as many meetings.

Present city ordinance allows the city to declare a snow emergency by posting notice at the police station only.

City council member Jay Tressler questioned the effectiveness of the ordinance since no one would know an emergency existed unless he observed the notice in person.

Other council members questioned enforcement.

Councilman Carlton Cook stated that the city tried to enforce removal of cars from city streets during snow storms, but residents protested.

"What we should really do is pass an ordinance limiting snowfall," said Mayor Aden Mead.

"Why don't we find out what they are, get one and use it," said council member Harold Easton regarding the snow emergency ordinances operating in other communities.

"It becomes confusing what we do and don't do here after a storm," said city manager Cal Zorn. He stated the city gets some complaints because intersections are cleaned and other complaints because they are not cleaned.

City attorney Greg Forsthoefel will study model ordinances.

The Tecumseh area Chamber of Commerce Monday night asked council for more cooperation on removal of snow from curbside.

Representatives from the chamber said that snow between the sidewalks and curbsides creates several problems: (1) it deters shoppers (2) is dangerous to pedestrians (3) causes motorists to get stuck at curbs (4) prevents motorists from using parking meters.

No matter how many times merchants shovel show, they said cars push it back onto the sidewalks unless the snow is removed from the curb.

City council member Harold Easton pointed out that the city does remove

PUBLIC INVITED — Local residents have the opportunity Sunday afternoon to tour offices at city hall, including the office at the left for Robert Hamden, building inspector and assessor, and Chuck Kipke, engineer. Open House Sunday at City Hall

Most Tecumseh residents probably have never been in city hall, let alone in the new addition that was completed last fall.

Sunday afternoon between 2:00 and 4:00, residents have the opportunity to tour their site of local government. They should be pleased, and proud.

Twenty years ago this month, Tecumseh's city hall at E. Chicago Blvd. and N. Maumee was dedicated. At that time, the new city hall was a paradise compared to the old residence that housed city government on S. Evans St.

Today, with last year's $110,000 addition, city hall has fine, larger offices, especially the general office in which most business with the public is conducted.

Department heads along with the city manager and his assistant have their own offices in which to handle their affairs.

City hall personnel will welcome and conduct tours Sunday afternoon.

Snow Removal Suggestions

snow from the curbs, but merchants must be sure it is all shoveled out into the street.

City manager Cal Zorn stated that state highway monies may be used for street cleaning only and are not for snow removal on private property.

According to city ordinance, vehicles must be off the streets for snow removal between hours of 2 and 6 a.m. Theoretically, if merchants cleaned off walks into the streets before the road crews went past, curbsides would be cleaned. But each storm is different and a fixed time schedule for snow removal is not possible, stated manager Zorn.

Problem is complicated by merchants who do not cooperate by removing snow from sidewalks.

After 45 minutes discussion, suggestion was made for city to hire a private contractor to clear walks and assess merchants on a frontage basis. Council and chamber agreed to discuss and investigate feasibility and cost of the possible solution.

Church is located on the corner of Lauderdee Rd. and Raisin Center Hwy., and is inviting all of their friends and neighbors to share in this open house.

For further information call the church at 423-7023, or Ken Isley at 265-8795.

Dawn Patrol Date Changed

Date of the Dawn Patrol at Al Meyers Airport was changed from May 21 to July 2.

New date coincides with community heritage celebration planned by the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce the preceding week in June.

Compeling reason for the change in the Dawn Patrol date was the 50th anniversary airport activities at Ann Arbor airport scheduled for May 21.

To give Ann Arbor Airport its support, Al Meyers Airport changed its date. Ann Arbor Airport expressed appreciation and cooperation.

Again, any individual or organization interested in serving an ad hoc committee to plan the Dawn Patrol is urged to call Mrs. Allen H. Meyers at 423-7629 until 4 p.m. and leave name and telephone number with the secretary.

Lenten Services at Gloria Dei

Ash Wednesday evening, a Holy Communion service will open the Lenten season at the Gloria Dei Lutheran church at 7:30 p.m.

The Chancel Choir will present the anthem "God So Loved The World".

For the second Lenten service, Feb. 15, a special presentation will be offered to members and visitors by the Covenant Players, a young traveling group from California.

The Covenant Players is a non-profit organization. Its only financial support is derived from performing engagements. Their "seed" is communication in a form of a contemporary drama about people and the world in which they live.

Their dramas are written to focus on thought facing the Christian in the modern world. Their unique format is one that has left audiences both laughing and squirming at seeing themselves portrayed on stage.

Drawing from all aspects of history, past and present, using both comedy and drama, this is a program that will communicate to all ages.

A few performers of this group will be in Tecumseh on Feb. 15 at 7:30 p.m. During the Lenten service of the Gloria Dei Church, they will present a drama of life, love, suffering and salvation. Church members and the community are invited.

Two Honored for 25 Years of Service at GM

Lawrence K. Bilkie, senior industrial engineer, Herbert Camfield, traffic manager, and Saburo Sasaki, superintendent-trim fabrication, were honored at a luncheon Friday in recognition of their twenty-fifth anniversaries with General Motors.

William J. Polk, plant manager, was host for the event held in the plants executive dining room and attended by management personnel. In commemoration of the occasion, Bilkie and Camfield were presented watches and Mr. Sasaki, a mantle clock, inscribed with their service anniversary date and embellished with a replica of the Fisher Body Division Coach.

Bilkie began his career with GM at the Detroit, Michgian Chevrolet-Gear and Axle Plant with early employment as an hourly-rated employe in the machine and assembly department. He began his salaried employment as a time clerk-payroll department on Feb. 3, 1953, with other accounting department service as clerk-general accounting, where he was promoted to senior clerk.

In August 1955, he transferred to the Fisher Body Division-Livonia Plant as a senior clerk-cost analysis, with later promotion to accountant-cost analysis, prior to his move into labor standards department as an observer, with promotion to labor standards-analyst in 1960.

April 1, 1965 brought about his transfer to Fisher Body-Tecumseh Plant, labor standards department, where he was further promoted to senior works engineer, then, senior industrial engineer on December 1, 1975.

Camfield is a native of Baldwin, Michigan. Following graduation from Baldwin High School, he served in the Army from 1949 to 1953 before joining General Motors at the Fisher Body-Grand Rapids No. 2 Plant on Feb. 6, 1953.

His first job was as an hourly-rated hand trucker in the production and material control department. In September 1953, he moved into a salaried position as senior clerk-master mechanics department, being further promoted to specialized clerk-scheduling with assignments directly related to tool contool and conversion of the plant from Korean conflict aircraft production back to trim fabrication production readiness.

In March 1955, he transferred into the traffic department activity as senior clerk-receiving-shipping-material handling, with further promotion to specialized clerk-traffic and supervisor-traffic on Sept. 1, 1961, the position held until his promotion and transfer to Fisher Body-Tecumseh Plant as traffic manager on March 16, 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Camfield (Jean) are the parents of four children, Tanna Kay, Steve, Vicki, Marsha and reside at 9598 Tecumseh-Clinton Road

Sasaki, formerly of Los Angeles, Calif. moved to the Cleveland, Ohio area in 1945, graduating from East Tech High School there in 1953. He began his career with GM as an hourly-rated employe at the Fisher Body-Cleveland Plant, with subsequent plant sponsorship in the General Motors Institute cooperative education program, receiving his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from GMI, Flint, in 1958.

While at the Cleveland plant he continued his education at Case Institute of Technology and served in various design and engineering capacities, with promotion to process engineer in 1962, the position held until his transfer to Fisher Body-Tecumseh Plant in June, 1965 as supervisor-maintenance.

In August 1966, he was promoted to senior process engineer, with further promotion to plant engineer in May 1973, and superintendent-trim fabrication on Dec. 1, 1976.

Mr. and Mrs. Sasaki (Ann) have two children, David and Julie, both at home, and reside at 4711 N. Clubview Drive, Adrian.

RECOGNIZED — Stanley Butler, supervisor-production (front cushion area), at Fisher Body, presents bracelet to Mrs. Rufina Gottschalk, for 20 years service. Bert Konczal, general supervisor-production, attended the presentation.

Honored for 20 Years at GM

Mrs. Rufina Gottschalk, 502 Murray Dr., was presented her 25-year service award on Feb. 1, the date of her service anniversary. She is the first hourly employe of the Fisher Body-Tecumseh Plant to receive a 20-year award, which is composed of a gold bracelet with the Fisher Body Coach.

A native of Wauseon, Ohio, she began her GM employment with Central Foundry in Defiance, Ohio, where she worked as a core processor during the period 1951-58.

After relocating to the Tecumseh area and the opening of the Tecumseh Plant, Mrs. Gottschalk was hired as a sewing machine operator, production department, in April 1966. She was among the second group of sewing machine operators hired and trained in-plant for the new trim operation and has remained in the classification during her tenure at the local plant.

Annual 4-H Day at Adrian Mall

Feb. 11 is an important day for all Lenawee County 4-H'ers; it's the annual 4-H Day at the Adrian Mall.

Many 4-H clubs of the Tecumseh area worked hard to put together a day of fun and learning for the public's enjoyment.

Day starts early as clubs prepare their displays from 9 a.m. till noon. At 12:30 p.m., demonstrations and shows will begin including application of clown make-up, a talent show, and a style show put on by 4-H'ers modeling garments from Mall merchants.

Expanded nutrition will also join 4-H Day with many demonstrations on food preparation and new recipes given by the Nutrition Aides.

A mini-float parade, dog training shows, and demonstrations on "How to Do" projects will add to the day, and will be topped off with a square dance open to the public.

Five Snowed in at Saginaw

Little did St. Peter Episcopal Church members Emily Lewis, Lillian Taylor, Rae Lynne Mattis, Nancy Morrison and Ruth Crosby think when they left last Tuesday for a retreat at Saginaw that they would be in for an extended stay. They returned Sunday.

In spite of the weather, they felt their experience at Queen of Angels Retreat was a most rewarding one. Theme for the sessions was "We are the Flowers."

At the close of the session on Thursday, all were able to leave except the five ladies from Tecumseh area and one other. Cots were brought in by the Red Cross and these six who were left did the cooking, cleaning, and dishes for the staff. Forty-nine women attended the retreat.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Small

HOLLOWAY — The Main St. Extension Club met with Mrs. Leon Lewis. Mrs. Raymond Potts was the co-hostess.

Mrs. Robert Kerr presided at the business meeting. Group discussed "Family Day", held at Adrian high school on Jan. 28.

Mrs. Potts and Mrs. Lewis gave the lesson on house plants. Most plants need an abundance of light, with much care. Some receive too much water, while some varieties, too little water.

Mrs. Lewis has many African violets. The watering devise consists of a piece of nylon stocking, folded like a wick, about a half inch or more in thickness, fold and stretch to form a wick. Most plants rest during the winter months and require less water.

Dorothy Kopke reported that in 1918, there was a horrible blizzard. Temperature dropped to 18 degrees below zero, with winds gusting to 60 miles per hour, causing high snow drifts. People drove their horses and sleighs around the buildings and went "crosslots" to get out to purchase groceries or other supplies. Holloway had two grocery stores at the time.

All physically able men shoveled and cleaned their own roads and driveways where the snow was too deep for the horses. For funerals, they shoveled the snow all the way to the gravesite.

Mr. and Mrs. Veldan Bidle of Tecumseh were Saturday evening guests of Mrs. Marvel Neuman and son, Richard. They played pinochle.

Croswell Membership Drive

Five Tecumseh women and two from Clinton, members of the volunteer Croswell Opera House Guild, participated in the Croswell Opera House and Fine Arts Association Membership Drive.

The women—June Macbeth, Judy Vanzo, Lynn Cook, Claire Dana and Kay Walper of Tecumseh and Peg Geiger and Virginia Proctor of Clinton—conducted a person-to-person campaign in the area to explain the purpose of the Croswell membership drive and privileges.

Brochures were sent to those on the opera house mailing list. Memberships are still being accepted and for more information, readers may call one of the women above.

As a non-profit organization, the Croswell Opera House needs new members to provide leadership for its programs, and input to make the Croswell community-oriented. Membership monies defray the operational expenses and keep general admission prices low enough for a majority of people.

Membership monies are used for salaries and employees of the Croswell, manager, secretary and maintenance people; utilities; repairs; supplies,postage.

Membership monies cover costs of those programs which are not showing a profit, but are worthwhile offerings to the community. The Croswell must raise about half of its operational expenditures through membership monies.

Operational revenues also come from the city of Adrian, Adrian Public School System, theatre organizations and Croswell programs such as the Town Hall series, Summer Stock, Junior Town Hall series, special programs; costume rental, individual business and foundation memberships, state and federal grants.

The membership drive and the renovation of the front of the building, undertaken by the Rotary Club of Adrian, are two separate funds. However, without membership monies, the theatre cannot operate even with the new exterior.

Questions regarding the Croswell Opera House and Fine Arts Association may be addressed to the drive workers, or call 517-263-5674.

For the Record

Warren Tuckerman was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital with chest pains last Thursday. He did not suffer a fatal heart attack while shoveling snow as may have been inferred from last week's report of the rescue calls.

Yet only a few had been struck!

Success is not simply reaching one's aim. A bowler knows how much depends on the right "action" once the ball hits that first pin.

Religion doesn't guarantee worldly success. The people who are in church every Sunday share their neighbor's hopes and dreams. But they are learning to cherish values which will make firmer their aims. They are challenged by a faith which teaches men to use constructively every achievement.

The Church can help you cultivate religious convictions which will influence how you live on the way to your goals . . . and what you become when you reach them.

ECOL Nears Goal

In the past two years, the Little Garden Club of Tecumseh contributed $1,400 to the ECOL Bicentennial Woods Fund.

Bicentennial Woods is a 78 acre site about three miles north of Adrian in Lenawee County.

About 20 acres is virgin timber, containing a number of trees believed to be up to 200 years old. It is predominantly a beech-maple forest, traversed by Black Creek, and contains a vernal pond and a shallow marsh.

Among the many animals that inhabit it are: deer, fox, woodchucks, cottentail rabbits, red and fox squirrel, skunk, raccoon, oppossum, chipmunk, and over 150 species of birds. Adrian College long used it for field trip studies.

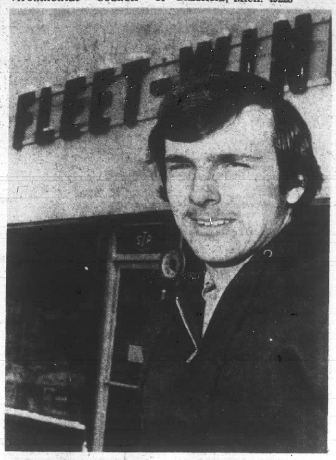
Property was purchased in 1975 with the Nature Conservancy (administering for the American Land Trust Program) providing the money, and at the present the title is held by the Nature Conservancy.

Upon repayment to the Nature Conservancy, Lenawee County will own the property. The county will maintain the Bicentennial Woods as a park.

Fifty percent of the $52,000 purchase price is certain to come from the federal government. Three-eighths is guaranteed by the county leaving ECOL (Environmental Council of Lenawee County, a non-profit organization) to come up with $6,500. ECOL has $3,000, but must raise the last $3,500 by the first of the year.

In 1976, the Little Garden Club of Tecumseh donated $400 and in 1977, $1,000 was allocated to pay off the loan.

Tax exempt donations may be sent to ECOL Bicentennial Woods Fund, care of Jipson Carter Bank, 130 S. Lane, Blissfield, Mich. 49228



OPENS STATION — Mark Schwamm of Blissfield has opened the former Buck's Fleet-Wing for business. The new station, Mark's Service, will be run by Mark, who is a certified master mechanic.

'No' to Rezoning

Council members Len DeMoss and Carlton Cook opposed the second of the ordinance relative to the request of Louis Schneider to rezone all that part of his property lying southwest of Evans Creek, commonly known as 803 W. Chicago Blvd., formerly the Erhart property, from residential to commercial.

It was their second "no" vote in as many meetings. They object to the request on basis it would increase traffic on Chicago Blvd. and "nudge" the commercial district closer to the downtown residential district.

Most Close 'till Monday

Two weeks ago one of our worst blizzards ever hit Tecumseh. One week ago, conditions were still bad enough that schools remained closed.

Classes resumed Friday for Tecumseh, Clinton and Britton, but most schools remained closed until Monday.

Although snow and ice are completely gone for traffic on Chicago Blvd., all side streets are snow covered and some primary streets - Evans, Brown, Union, Adrian and others - still have considerable ice and snow.

Question today is where do you put the snow?

An additional four inches Sunday morning did not help, and with lows near zero and highs in the teens our mountains and drifts of snow could be here for many weeks to come.

Civic Center Group Meets

The Tecumseh Civic Center Study Committee will meet with representatives of the Sturgis Civic facility in Sturgis, Mich. Feb. 9 to look at the facility and discuss general operations.

David Fox, citizen at large; Larry Wollenhaupt, planning commission.

Advisors and consultants are city manager Cal Zorn and assistant city manager Paul Preston, city of Tecumseh, and superintendent Robert Duhan and high school principal Clarence Lacny, Tecumseh Public Schools.

Preliminary plans were made to keep the study as wide in scope as possible until the committee finds need lacking or the project not feasible.

Grant Ok'd for Sewerage

BRITTON — County Drain Commissioner Donald Mitchell announced that telephone confirmation was received from Congressman David Stockman's, District 4-R, office last Wednesday regarding a federal grant of $1,117,200 forthcoming for the Britton-Ridgeway sewerage system construction project, dormant for several years without federal funds.

Project is expecteu to begin again when the grant formally arrives.

Original design plan was completed in 1971 and re-examined in 1976 and 1977. It will include a wastewater collection system for the entire village of Britton and the unincorporated area of Ridgeway about two miles west of Britton.

The treatment system will be a wastewater stabilization lagoon to be constructed on land reserved for that purpose northeast of Britton.

Complete Fitness Project

BRITTON — The Britton-Macon schools completed participation requirements for "Project Fitness-Phase I" - a statewide physical fitness project.

Over 1,100 Michigan schools requested information on the project sponsored by the Michigan Council on Physical Fitness and Health and Michigan Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation (MAHPER).

The council serves in an advisory capacity to the Michigan Department of Public Health.

"Project Fitness-Phase I" marks the first attempt by a state agency to assist schools in monitoring the physical fitness levels of students. Knowing these levels will help serve as a basis for establishing and maintaining good physical fitness habits early in life.

State health director Dr. Maurice S. Reizen said, "Studies show that youngsters in our mechanized society are in poorer physical condition than every before. As a result, health problems are more likely to develop later in life. Substantial evidence supports the belief that serious, chronic health problems, such as heart disease and low back disabilities, begin in childhood and adolescence.

Michigan schools requesting information on the project were furnished a test battery free of charge which was compiled cooperatively by MAHPER and the Michigan Department of Education.

Participating schools could use another test battery if they chose to. Feb. 15, was set as the due date for returning participation report forms.

Teachers administering physical fitness test batteries will be honored with a governor's award to be presented during Michigan physical fitness and health week, May 1978.

School Notes

Editors Note: Following Britton-Macon school news are excerpts from the February "Principal's Letter".

District Senior High Solo and Ensemble Festival will be held at the Jackson Northwest school on Feb. 11, with 35 members from the Britton-Macon high school band taking part with 12 ensembles and 17 soloists. Those events receiving a "one" rating will be eligible to participate in the state festival. Festival is open to the public. No admission charge.

The Britton-Macon high school band received its new concert uniforms and will wear them for the first time at the band and orchestra festival March 18.

Driver's Education classes will be offered at the Britton-Macon high school starting June, 1978 and will run until mid-July. Students wishing to attend these classes must be 15 years old by June 1, 1978.

Classroom and driving instruction will be taught by Bob Jones of Dundee high school and Al Lenz of Britton-Macon high school. Lenz will hold a general orientation meeting at the high school early in May. Further information will be given at a later date.

Fifth and sixth grades of the Britton elementary school will attend a presentation of "Young Tom Edison" at the Croswell Opera House, Adrian, on Feb. 13. Admission is one dollar.

Open House

Open house at the Lenawee Vocational-Technical Center on North Adrian Highway will be held Feb. 12 from 1 to 4 p.m.

The open house marks the beginning of National Vocational Education Week, which has for its slogan, "I'm Committed to Building the Skills of America through Vocational Education."

Vo-Tec labs and shops will be open for visitors to see. Instructors and students will be present to discuss and demonstrate their area

Plan Heritage Days

Tecumseh Heritage Days are being planned for June 29, 30 and July 1 and 2 in town by the Tecumseh area chamber of commerce. Harvey Schmidt is chairman.

Organizations are invited to contact Schmidt with suggestions for events as the celebration is in the early planning stages. Sponsors for an ice cream social, chicken barbecue, etc. are welcome.

An Indian theme will dominate the weekend that will tentatively include a parade Thursday afternoon, pending council approval.

The Tecumseh Band Boosters plan a band competition with prizes for high school bands from across the state. As many as 14 bands may participate and join in the parade.

Plan Shoe Swap

Everywhere—tables of boots and shoes—that's the setting for Old Mother Hubbard's Shoe Swap to be held Feb. 11 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Tecumseh United Methodist Church.

Many new and used boots and shoes are available for both children and adults.

Businesses and organizations are asked to consider parade units that may be entered.

Dawn Patrol will be at Al Meyers Airport July 2 in conjunction with the city-wide celebration. Anyone interested in organizing the dawn patrol may call the airport for more information.

Change Meeting

Tecumseh city council will meet on Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall instead of Feb. 20 owing to president's holiday.

Tecumseh city council had the first reading of ordinance no. 3.300 regarding prohibiting drunkeness and ordinance no. 3.309, section 2, regarding disorderly person. The revisions conform to new state statue that removes public intoxication as a criminal offense.

As of Jan. 15, 1978, Michigan statue provides that anyone found "incapacitated" and a "substantial" danger to public safety will be taken to a treatment center for sobering. However drunken drivers and disorderly drunks will still be treated until criminal statue by the police.

ROY HELLA

Roy Hella Resignation

Roy Hella, a 16-year police veteran with over 11 years in Tecumseh, has turned in his resignation here with the department, effective Feb. 23.

He has accepted a supervisor's position with Meyers Industries, where he has worked part-time for the past eight years.

Officer Hella explains that he was simply tired of working two jobs and has enjoyed working with police personnel here, but simply couldn't pass up an advancement at Meyers.

Sells Wreaths

Voyage en France Club of Tecumseh high school is selling handmade candy wreaths through Feb. 14.

The heart-shaped wreaths are made of assorted, individually wrapped, hard candies and gum.

They will be available in local business places.

Trip to France or French speaking countries are partially financed through these projects by the students.

Jan Harrison, teacher, is the club moderator.

MACON — Renewing old friendships is something everybody enjoys. The Connorses had a super reunion with old friends this weekend.

Ray and Mary Moriartey and son, Jeff, of Marlette, were weekend guests at the Connorses'. Their daughter, Cindy, was in a wedding in Deerfield on Saturday. Ray was superintendent of the Deerfield Public Schools during the years Pat taught and coached there.

Sunday afternoon, the Connors family attended the 25th anniversary celebration for Brother Leonard B. Siwierka, C.S.C. at St. Mary's church, Monroe and a reception at Monroe Catholic high school. Brother Leonard was at Boysville in Macon from 1958-1969 and is known to many Tecumsehites.

Others from Macon attending were Ed Zick and many of the brothers from Boysville. Much reminiscing was enjoyed and several former Boysville students and their families honored Brother Leonard. The Connorses enjoyed seeing many of the young men they knew during Pat's years at Boysville.

The Macon Blue Bird group welcomed two new members last week. Shayna and Christina Kennedy joined the active group led by Sharon Mohr, assisted by Donna Oliver. Girls toured Mcdonald's Tecumseh, last Monday.

At a special meeting Feb. 2 at Don and Karen Oswald's home, the Macon Historical Society decided not to be a sponsor of Promenade the Past 1978 in Tecumseh. Members felt they had enough work with the restoration of Mills School. Macon members are currently making signs for the community's entrance.

However, Maconites voted to help the Promenade committee by furnishing hostesses, addressing fliers and baking cookies.

Regular meeting of the Macon Historical Society is Feb. 9 at Julie and Harold Rhora's. Sign making workbee will be held at Boysville along with the meeting.

Come the January wind and snow, so comes the birthdays of Dean and Josie Jones on Jan. 29 and 31. For the second year in a row, a triple celebration with Dr. and Mary Ann Phelan of Tecumseh was planned as Mary Ann's birthday is Jan. 30. However, because of the '78 blizzard, the plans were cancelled, just as they were a year ago. For the second time, the group gathered at the Phelans' in Tecumseh. Dr. Phelan cooked for the other three. This year's menu was fondue. The group is considering changing the month of their birthdays to June. Dr. Phelan is in favor!

Feb. 5 Josie's mom, Mrs. Joe Foglio of Dundee, had the family over for birthday dinner. Besides the two Joneses' birthdays, Josie's dad also celebrated his on Feb. 1.

Program at the Macon Methodist Church father-son banquet will be Harold Tesch and company. Tesch is a gospel magician. The evening promises good food and fun. Banquet is at 6:30 p.m. Sat., Feb. 11. Contact Clarence Hall for tickets.

You Are What You Eat

By Shirley Weekley

I received several responses from my request for snow ice cream. The recipes are all similar and I am printing a general recipe. I prepared a batch of snow ice cream and it was good. A special thank you to all those who called this week.

SNOW ICE CREAM

1 cup milk.
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
2 quarts fresh clean snow

Combine milk, sugar, egg, vanilla and nutmeg in large bowl and beat with beater until well mixed. Add fresh snow, a little at a time, mix well. It is now ready to eat. Any left over ice cream that is not eaten immediately should not be placed in conventional freezer (it gets too hard), but placed in tightly sealed container and placed in a snow bank to keep its texture. This is a great project for school age children as they can easily make this themseleves.

This is another hearty hamburg casserole that I tried. We really enjoyed it.

HUNGRY BOYS' CASSEROLE

½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup green pepper
1 pound ground beef
1 can (one pound) pork and beans
¼ cup catsup
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1 can refrigerated biscuits

Sprinkle celery, onion and green pepper in bottom of 8 inch baking dish. Crumble ground beef on top. Bake uncovered at 425 degrees for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and stir in pork and beans, catsup, water, salt and garlic salt until well blended. Reserve ½ cup of bean-meat mixture. Return casserole to oven for 10 minutes.

Separate refrigerated biscuits and using donut cutter or something similar, cut one inch holes from the center of each biscuit, reserving holes. Arrange biscuits without centers on casserole.

Spoon reserved bean-meat mixture in hole of each biscuit. Top with the biscuit holes. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. Serves 4 to 5.

To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

During our recent snow storm the warmth and consideration for one another shone forth like the warm spring sunshine melting the snow.

It was most gratifying to see people band together to help one another, open their doors for people who were stranded, and run errands of mercy wherever needed.

The Herrick Memorial Medical Staff would like to sincerely thank the many people who worked long hours, gave of their time, gas, and various means of transportation to help not only patients to the hospital who needed medical care, but also some physicians that were stranded.

It was this spirit of love and concern for our fellow citizens that in itself was a healing balm and showed so beautifully the spirit of our people in this community and those surrounding it.

UMW Meet

CLINTON — Peggy McCaffrey from Community Education in Alcoholism, Bixby Hospital, Adrian, discussed alcoholism in general and as a disease among females at the recent meeting of the Clinton United Methodist Women.

Cause of alcoholism is unknown, it is called the "X" factor.

Alcoholism can develop in anyone of any age, even small children.

Tests have proven that alcohol can cause fetus deformity and it can be worsened at certain times. Best protection is abstinence by mothers-to-be.

Help is available for alcoholics through Alcoholics Anonymous and for the families of alcoholics through AL-ANON and AL-TEEN. Mini-clinics are held in Clinton.

After the program, Mrs. Martin Scott gave the mission report and told the ways money was being used at Methodist centers in the United States.

Career development teens help with many classes in these centers and become social workers later.

Dorcas Circle will meet Feb. 15 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jack Warren.

Fee Schedule Is Considered

CLINTON — Clinton Township Board had a long session of discussion with no action taken at Monday's meeting.

Building inspector Charles Wilson had no building permits to report due to weather conditions.

Wilson is working on a new schedule of electrical and building permit fees, which will be considered by the board at the next meeting.

Ski Weekend

CLINTON — Last weekend the Clinton high school Ski Club was at Crystal Mountain near Thompsonville.

Attend Christening

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Grossman and children, JoAnne, Tom, and Becky, attended the christening of their grandson, Christopher James Grossman, at Darlington Evangelical Lutheran Church, Ann Arbor.

Parents of the baby are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Grossman, Ypsilanti. Other guests include the Rev. and Mrs. Greg Lens and the baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Gray of Tecumseh.

Occasion also marked the 18th birthday of JoAnne Grossman, who was presented with a decorated birthday cake at the christening dinner in the Grossman home, Sunday.

Since there was no school on Friday, the club departed at noon and arrived up north in time for some night skiing.

The snow cover on the slopes was excellent and bright sunshine on Saturday provided an enjoyable time for all.

In addition to skiing some of the students swam in the outdoor heated pool and rode innertubees down the slopes at night.

Saturday evening a rock band entertained.

Council Buys Data Machine

CLINTON — Only action taken by village council at Monday's meeting concerned the authorization for purchase of a bookkeeping data systems machine from Data Machine Co., Jackson.

The machine will be used in the village office.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

While dictating this I am looking at more snow than I have ever seen. It is everywhere and beautiful. Between wind, plows and shovels there are free-standing art sculptures as well as large areas of flat and unmarked snow. It is simply too deep in most places for kids and dogs. But this is not going to be an article celebrating the breathtaking beauty of snow nor the excitement of a bad storm. The blizzard of '78 is still too recent.

As might be expected, the storm provided some interesting bird feeder watching. For one thing, Mom and I were both surprised at the absence of chickadees. Usually these are the bouncy little characters who take winter in their stride and, in fact, we have often thought that the worse the storm the happier these birds seem. Not this last time.

For two days we had feeders full of juncos, song-sparrows, goldfinches, pine siskins and tree-sparrows but no chickadees. Once the wind quieted a bit they came around — now we are wondering whether they are truly not the bad weather birds we thought or were they simply visiting elsewhere!

Adverse weather conditions often 'brought out the best' in some of the freeloaders. While it does not effect a complete change of character we often noticed a sort of coming together, it cannot quite be called friendship but some of the birds are more inclined to let others eat, too.

I am sure it is not sharing, it is probably just that they are so interested in getting something to eat themselves that they have no time to think about chasing their neighbors away.

The tree-sparrows were not of this inclination. We were astonished but, when the storm was raging at its worst, there were three or four belligerent little tree-sparrow battling not only each other but any of the other small birds who tried to land on the near-my-windows feeders.

Such brats! We actually watched one for minutes and all during his stay at the feeders, he was so busy fighting and running back and forth that he never ate.

Red squirrels, of course, waited until the storm quieted before they ventured out. It took them no time at all to excavate tunnels from the creek bank to the feeders.

What expert aim they have —whenever they left the food-trays, whether of their own volition or at our invitation, they always hit the entrance of the tunnel dead center.

Our photographic aim was to get a picture of Little Red popping out of his tunnel but as much time as we spent watching. He always waited until our attention was elsewhere and then scampered out.

Red squirrels were never favorites. We know them to be mean and nasty. They are cute characters and, once in a while, there is a slight temptation to think that perhaps they are not all bad. Never again, red squirrels are 100 percent bad news!

Late one afternoon, I watched one destroy all good feelings I might ever have had. On this day, blizzard plus two, the feeders were full of birds. Most flew when Little Red's head appeared at the edge of the tray but a cardinal, two pine siskins and a tufted titmouse, for some reason or other, kept right on eating.

For a fraction of a second the action was frozen. Then Little Red dashed at the cardinal and actually bit her.

Birds flew, the squirrel left and gray feathers were everywhere. I could hardly believe what I saw. I am sure the bird was not hurt but she certainly lost some much needed feathers. And Little Red certainly lost any and all sympathy he or his kinsmen might ever have had.

Imagine, biting a cardinal!

Webster Is Assistant Principal

Daniel Webster has been named Assistant Tecumseh High School Principal. He will start his new position next Monday.

Mr. Webster will be moving from Ionia, where he has been a guidance counselor for the past year and one half. He also has been director of guidance at Clio High School, guidance counselor at Willow Run High School and a classrrom teacher at Hazel Park High School.

He received his B.S. degree from Central Michigan University and his M.A. degree from Eastern Michigan University in educational administration and guidance and counseling.

Orientation for Parents of Freshmen

An orientation program designed for parents of Tecumseh high school freshman, next year's ninth grade class, will be held at the high school cafeteria Feb. 23 at 7 p.m. promptly, announced Clarence Lacny, principal.

Program will be divided into four sections and will enable parents to hear presentations by all department chairmen and guidance counselors regarding high school graduation requirements and course selection.

Students will begin to select courses in the near future.

Program is designed to give parents an opportunity to have input into their students' education program and acquaint them with high school policy and procedures.

Parents are urged to attend this meeting and will have the opportunity to raise questions, Lacny stated.

Program will end at 9 p.m. and be followed by refreshments.

Follow up will be a visitation day for the future high school students. Approximately 300 students are expected to enter the class of 1982 at THS.

ONLY MEMORIES NOW — For many years, Tecumseh boasted the sharpest, neatest Santa Claus hut in the area. Thousands of youngsters visited Santa in his hut - but no more. Vandals are suspected of setting fire Saturday night to the frame building, which had been stored just outside the city garage building behind the hospital. Ward Eardley, city recreation director, examines the charred remains of what once was the scene of many, many memorable greetings between Santa and our children. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

Union Election 2 Months Away, Reports Director

Date for union election at the Tecumseh Products plant in Tecumseh may be two-and-a-half months away, according to a statement issued by Bernard Gottfried, Detroit regional director of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

The 1,800 workers at the Tecumseh plant are currently represented by the United Products Workers, an independent union, since 1937.

After getting enough workers to sign union cards, the United Auto Workers (UAW) called for a union election at the plant. Cards of 30 percent of eligible employees are required to do this.

Following three days of NLRB hearings in Adrian, which ended Feb. 7, a date for election could not be agreed upon between the two unions and the company.

Main point of contention is the bargaining unit. Historically, the United Products Workers Union represented all workers, outside of management, as one unit. The UAW, according to NLRB, wants one bargaining unit.

On the other hand, the company asked for a division between white and blue collar workers, with separate union elections for the production workers and for the clerical, data and engineering staff.

Since an agreement could not be reached at the hearings, all parties were to file briefs on the case by Feb. 17. NLRB has extended the date to Feb. 24.

Gottfried of the NLRB will then decide on the bargaining unit and set a date for the election.

He stated that such decisions are usually reached within 45 days after the close of the hearing.

Union election would then be held within 25 days after the decision.

United Products Workers current contract with the company will expire Feb. 26.

Another source at the NLRB indicated that the United Steel Workers Union intervened in the election and attended the first hearing. It is not known whether the steel workers union will withdraw from the election, but withdrawal was rumored. To intervene in the election, a union needs only one card.

Snow Removal Cost Schools Over $3,300

Supt. Robert Duhan reports that snow removal expenses after the January blizzard cost the local schools $3,325.83, of which the schools expect reimbursement in Federal aid of 75 percent, or $2,494.37.

The blizzard may well have been the first time that schools had to seek outside help in snow removal.

Brady Sand and Gravel was employed to clear drives and parking lots at all city school sites plus Ridgeway and Sutton. Norman Ries & Sons of Tipton cleared away snow at the Tipton school.

Report 2 B&Es

Police investigated 14 complaint reports this week, including two breaking and enterings.

Saturday, Don Wolff reported a B&E at his Sunoco Station at 402 E. Chicago. Vandals pushed open a wooden door on the station's west side to gain entry.

Cash, a CB, cigarettes and other small items were taken, totaling $550.

Last Sunday, Donald Nichols reported a B&E at his home on S. Adrian. Four old guns, valued at $725, were stolen.

A resume of other complaints includes:

Feb. 10 - James Abts of Adrian reported the larceny of a CB from his wife's auto while she was at work at Herrick Hospital.

Feb. 11 - Edwin T. Hamilton, of 1327 Southwestern, apt. 1, was arrested for open intoxicants after police stopped him on Occidental.

James M. Mangrum of 516 N. Evans was arrested on DUIL charges Saturday after police stopped him for weaving on Russell Rd.

Police also investigated the Santa Hut fire Saturday after Robert Gonzales of 108 W. Pottawatamie called in that he thought the city barn was just set on fire.

Arnulfo Flores, 607 Center, and Richard Steele, 505 Stacey, reported their sons were bitten by dogs. Owners were advised to watch their dogs.

Also on Sunday, John R. Haveman of 306 E. Pottawatamie was arrested for DUIL after police stopped him for having a loud exhaust on S. Evans.

Feb. 13 - The assistant principal at Tecumseh High, Mike McAran, reported several broken windows to police Monday. Police also found three broken sky lights.

Michael H. Dunn, 213 E. Pottawatamie was arrested by police for having open intoxicants. Police stopped Dunn in front of his home.

Feb. 14 - Margaret Studnicka of 714 S. Occidental was driving in the 300 block of E. Chicago when someone shattered her auto window with a pellet from a small gun.

Ask Residents To Uncover Fire Hydrants

If your house were on fire, would firemen be able to find the fire hydrant on your block?

Fire chief Wallace MacGeorge urges residents to cooperate now and dig out snow and ice covered hydrants before an emergency.

Last week time was lost searching for a hydrant at a fire call. Fortunately, the department did not need to use it, but in an emergency valuable time could be lost threatening property and lives.

Dawson Retiring at Adrian College

Dr. John H. Dawson of Adrian College resigned after more than 23 years as president, effective September.

When he arrived to the campus from Crafton, Pa. in 1954 as a young minister, the school was $300,000 in debt and the campus had five old brick buildings dating back to the Civil War. Today, it has almost 30 buildings with modern equipment.

Under his efforts, the college was raised from its lowest point in 119 year history. Enrollment quadrupled, faculty doubled and physical facilities expanded.

Adrian trustees appointed a presidental search committee which includes Todd W. Herrick of Tecumseh.

The late Ray Herrick, founder and first president of the Tecumseh Products Co. was a great benefactor of Adrian College and a close friend of Dr. Dawson.

Fisher Body Lays Off 30

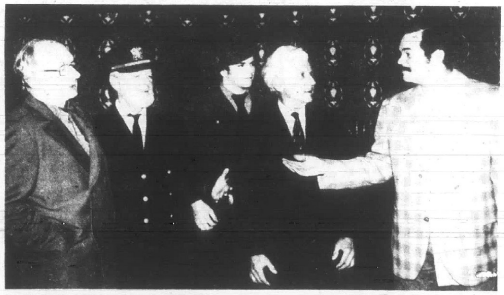
Thirty persons were layed off indefinitely Monday at the Tecumseh Fisher body plant, a division of General Motors, due to idled workers in other assembly plants nationwide.

Jerry Becker, personnel manager in Tecumseh, explained that blizzard conditions and after effects, such as the energy shortage in Ohio and Indiana, resulted in absenteeism and closing of some plants.

In the Tecumseh trim assembly plant, 990 are employed. He indicated layoff was not a big one. Becker said the plant is concerned about the energy curtailment in other states and possible impact on operations at the local plant.

3 Close Monday

Tecumseh post office, United Savings Bank and First Federal offices will be closed Monday in observance of Washington's birthday.



WHO WORKS FOR WHOM? — Thurston, played by John Belcher of Tecumseh at right, cons the representatives of the armed services into thinking that they are his underlings to save the "OMH" bureaucracy operated by two little old women in the Tecumseh Players' production of "Two Blind Mice", playing Feb. 17, 18, 19 and continuing 23, 24, 25 at 8 p.m. at the Glass Room, community center. COACH JIM CURTH

Curth Has Indians Rolling

Coach Undefeated in Huron League, Boasts State Ranking with Overall 16-1 Record

by Frank Weir

Tecumseh's cagers had an easy time of it against New Boston Huron last Friday and — if coach Jim Curth is right — the Indians had more than talent on their side.

"If you do good things for other people, I really believe the good Lord looks out for you," Curth comments.

It just so happens that the New Boston Huron game was "Good Deed Night," a Curth creation in which varsity and junior varsity basketball players host area youngsters for an evening of popcorn and companionship.

"If the kids learn to do things for others, that's the most important thing. I'd rather have them learn that, than to be worrying about a won-lost record."

Worry or not, it just so happens that Curth, in his second year as head mentor, and his Indians have put together an impressive cage season up to this point, posting a 16-1 overall record, 11-0 in the Huron League.

Tecumseh is currently rated fifth in the state by the Detroit Free Press and sixth in the AP poll.

The Indians play their final home game of the season this Friday against Flat Rock. Next Monday they travel to Monroe Catholic Central. And a week from this Friday is the all-important Airport contest which will determine final league standings.

Provided the orange and black triumph over Flat Rock and Monroe, they will have at least a share of the league title. Another victory over Airport will earn them the title exclusively.

Last year, Tecumseh ended the season with a 15-6 record, tied with New Boston Huron for the Huron League title.

That gives Curth a combined record of 31-7 up to this point for the two seasons.

A 1960 Tecumseh grad himself, Curth graduated from MSU in 1964 with a BS in biological sciences. He added a Masters Degree in 1968 in guidance and counseling. Curth teaches biology and natural sciences at the high school.

He was no slouch as a prep athlete himself, freely admitting that he was better at football than basketball. He also lettered in baseball.

He spent eight years coaching Tecumseh's junior varsity basketball program and his teams "won over 80 percent" of their games.

Curth feels good about what's happening with his varsity cagers right now. "I think we are starting to jell at just the right time. Last Friday was the first game that we played for a whole game. We played good basketball.

"We have a lot of players doing a good job. Other teams maybe have four or five good players, but they don't have

Kroger Vandalism Stops Herald Sales

For the first time in over 20 years, The Tecumseh Herald will no longer be sold at the Kroger store here.

Customers there who buy the local newspaper off newsstands will either have to buy it at other newsstands or subscribe. During the 20-year period, The Herald sold between 300 and 400 papers each week at the Kroger outlet.

Reason, or reasons, that The Herald is dropping its Kroger outlet is vandalism. Vandals have now made it impossible to keep papers there.

Since company policy is to prohibit newsstands inside the store or inside the store's lobby, newspaper racks — including others — have been stationed outside the store.

It simply has not worked for The Herald, which out sells all other papers there by a large margin on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Filfering, therefore, is more profitable.

During the past couple months or so, Herald's newspaper racks have disappeared as fast as they were replaced. Until the past couple of months, the racks could usually be fished out of Evans Creek. Not so today, they're simply gone.

About four weeks ago, large, new locks for coin holders were installed and the Herald rack was chained to other racks. These locks were either cut or ripped off, but chaining the rack to others helped.

Three weeks ago, again new locks were installed. About two weeks ago, The Herald discovered its keys to the locks did not fit. Vandals had replaced the newspaper's locks with their own and to which the vandals had keys. Less than 10 days ago, vandals again took locks and coin holders. It was time to call it quits at the Kroger store.

Other newsstands carrying the local newspaper in Tecumseh are the A&P, Party Shop, Holmes Pharmacy, Schmidt Rexall Pharmacy, Ken-Ray Drugs, Heeman's Country Market, Meadows Market and Bob's Market.

COMMON CAUSE (CC) lobbyist Ann McBride, seated (r), visited Tecumseh Feb. 7 to garner support for a bill on public financing of congressional elections, similar to public financing of presidential elections, enacted '74. Hon. David Stockman, Dist. 4-R. is a sponsor and key supporter. Under bill, taxpayers would not increase taxes, but designate on IRS forms how $1 of their taxes would be spent. Contributions by special interests per candidate would be cut in half to $2,500, contributions $100 or less would be matched from public fund and new candidates would have a chance over incumbents' financial edge. A $24 million reserve in '76 fund is estimated enough for '78 and '80 congressional and presidential elections. Seated (l) is Lori Egli, CC telephone activator, Tecumseh; standing, (l-r) Rich McRobert, CC district coordinator and Alan Feuer, CC Michigan executive director. CC is a citizens' lobby for open, participative government.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

First order of business these days is a long and careful look outside. If there is fresh snow, and oh how often there has been, then there is a whole new book to read. Lots of things happen but most of them remain a mystery as neither one of us is any good at interpreting tracks. Just lately though we were lucky and two mysteries were solved.

For several days we wondered about the tracks around the white end-of-the-street barrier. Then yesterday afternoon my bed was in a slightly different position and suddenly the mysterious tracks were explained.

In the mornings we did not see the little detour trail which went from the barrier to the euonymus bush but when we finally did, all was perfectly clear. Rabbits.

A circular path is worn around the bush and many of the lower branches are nibbled off. The 'inside' of the bush is full of tall branches with many side shoots, but around the perimeter there is nothing except the blunt, bitten-off branches. No side shoots or anything.

Right next to the euonymus is a forsythia bush which was apparently not touched. It has many low arching branches and truly, it seems that these would afford much easier dining. I wonder if forsythia does not taste as good as euonymus.

And about this I am still not sure. They were not early morning tracks but, later in the day, patterns would begin to appear in the clean fresh snow and we could not figure out what or who made them.

It was seemingly not an animal and there was no direction or indication that something was coming from somewhere and going someplace. Our puzzlement went on for many days. Finally we saw who was causing the feathery edged depressions. Juncos.

It could only happen in light fluffy snow. I still resist saying it, but Mom and I both watched the pretty black-hooded juncos swim in the snow. Swim?

At first we thought the bird was in trouble. He lit in the soft snow, sank belly deep and began beating his wings up and down. We thought the poor bird was stuck in the snow.

In a few seconds though he 'lifted off', flew a few wingbeats away, landed again and started fluttering his wings. He obviously was doing, whatever it was, on purpose. We've seen other birds go through the same process. Could they be taking snow baths?

This has absolutely nothing at all to do with tracks in the snow but shortly after we saw the juncos swimming, a new little bird appeared on the near-my-window feeder.

We had several calls so perhaps this is a good time to briefly talk about redpolls. They are smallish sparrow-like birds, about five inches long, with white wing bars and striped breasts.

They closely resemble pine siskins but lack the yellow on wings and tail. The male has a delicate rosy pink cast to his breast and sports a brilliant, firey red spot on his forehead. The female lacks the breast color but does wear the red head marking.

The books show these birds have black chins but this is hardly a good field mark. Their brown striped backs, shortish but deeply forked tails, and tiny, sharply pointed bills are easily seen when the birds come close.

Redpolls are birds of the far north, the subartic to be exact, who wander south some winters. How far south? Well, we are currently hosting them in Tecumseh and when Gertie T. came in this morning, she had the exciting news that Mary Joe, her daughter in Pennsylvania, was enjoying them in her woods, too.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — Many celebrated the beginning of Lent last week. Mrs. Tom Kosky of Hack Rd. celebrated uniquely at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, La.

Some years ago the Kosky family camped in New Orleans during Easter week and an interest in Mardi Gras was born.

When Sue's sister moved there, a trip was planned with her mom, Mrs. Josephine Yedey of Ypsilanti.

Sue's husband, Tom, and the children were enthusiastic about mom making the trip and kept things running smooth at home while she was gone. One small hitch came up when sister Pat's husband was transferred to Houston, Texas, but plans remained unchanged and Sue and her mom stayed with Mary Veith in New Orleans, La.

Along with many parades, Sue attended the mid-city ball.

After spending a few days in Houston with her sister and family, Sue returned to Macon and the snow, after enjoying flowers and warmer temperatures!

Through the past months of cold and snow, Maconites continued to see two familiar people walking every day. Ray Betzoldt walked three miles daily since his heart surgery last year and wife, Carrie, goes with him.

When the snow hampered walking for several weeks, Ray switched to cross country skiing. He reported it is harder than walking. The walk was canceled only a few days and on those days. Ray walked one hour in the house. Who doesn't admire such dedication? No wonder he is doing great.

Fathers and sons dined at the Macon Methodist Church last Saturday night. A swiss steak dinner was served. Harold Tesch presented the program. Prizes were awarded.

Clarence Hall received the award for being the oldest father and for selling tickets for the event the longest.

Robert Bigelow, son of Charles, traveled the farthest and Rogers, son of John Hewlett and his dad, Rose, raised up the highest.

Ed Clark was the toastmaster. Perry Moore toasted the fathers and his dad, Dean, toasted the sons.

The Macon Methodist Church youth fellowship went to the Archers concert Feb. 4 at Pioneer high school, Ann Arbor.

Feb. 12 the group went to the Clinton Methodist Church for the first cluster Lenten service.

Afterward they attended social hour before returning to the Macon church for their regular meeting. Members will attend the other Lenten cluster services.

Next Sunday the group will meet at the church at 6:15 p.m. to go to the Tecumseh Methodist church services.

The Macon Historical Society had its regular monthly meeting at the home of Harold and Julie Rhora Feb. 9. Preceeding the meeting the entire group worked on the Macon signs at the woodworking shop at Boysville.

Members decided to change meeting night back to the first Saturday of each month. March meeting will be at Jim and Joyce Conrad's home on Mar. 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Macon's valentine couple, Clarence and Margaret Hall, celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary Feb. 14.

Old Crafts Are Shown

CLINTON — Old-fashioned crafts were featured at a recent meeting of the Historical Society of Clinton at the community center.

Mary Ann Chellman explained a bit about the history of spinning from the time of the drop spindle through the invention of the spinning wheel.

She demonstrated the handling of the raw wool through the hand carding and spinning process and then let members try their hands at spinning.

Quilting was shown by Jackie Roland and Sharon Scott, members of a group of Methodist women who have made three or four hand-quilted bed covers in the past four years.

They displayed the current project, a king-sized quilt for Mrs. Wesley Proctor. They created an original design to use the squares, which had been appliqued by Mrs. Proctor's mother.

Jennifer Retke, Elsie Helgren and Sally Scheer demonstrated rug hooking.

They showed several styles of hooked rugs, from the early days when wide hand cut strips resulted in heavy, unshaded primitive rugs.

Later methods of machine cutting, and tapestry hooking permits more delicate and intricate patterns, which they also showed.

Next meeting, on March 7, members only will attend an open house at the home of Mrs. Martin Scott, who has been redecorating one of Clinton's finer older homes.

Rescue Work Is Described

CLINTON — Fire and rescue procedures were the subject for an informal talk by George Lancaster Jr. for members of the Clinton Woman's Club, Feb. 8.

Clinton's rescue squad is comprised of 20 of the 26 volunteer firemen.

Stickers were distributed for placement on home telephones, with the fire and rescue number 456-4110.

In all calls for help, Lancaster suggested the caller should state: who you are, what is wrong, and what is needed.

Squads training includes about 100 hours, in such areas as the emergency room at Bixby Hospital and obstetrics.

Part of their rescue equipment is a "jaws of life" tool that can open a wrecked auto as easily as a "can of soup" to rescue the occupants.

The squad services such emergencies as heart attacks, suicides, auto accidents and those of a medical nature.

He emphasized that all persons should learn to resuscitate heart attack victims. The first four to five minutes are the most important. After that brain damage is possible.

Keeping calm is important not to alarm the victim.

Because the siren attracts a following of cars, the squad is now alerted by radio.

He noted that US-12, because of the many curves, is one of the most dangerous highways in the state, requiring many accident rescue runs.

During the recent blizzard firemen borrowed several snowmobiles from friends and delivered food and fuels to householders who were snowbound.

Mrs. Harlon Fraumman presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. James Chellman.

Mrs. Alfred Cowhy, Mrs. George Wolf, and Mrs. Ray Schlegel were named to a nominating committee.

Scholarship committee is composed of Mrs. John DeKany, Mrs. Max Stamats and Mrs. Thomas York.

Named to plan a Riverside Cemetery chapel rededication are Mrs. William Neblo, Mrs. Richard Hittle and Mrs. Dan Reilly.

Mrs. Cowhy, Mrs. Fraumman and Mrs. Allen Wahl composed the social committee that served dessert from a table centered with a Valentine tree circled with red hearts. Mrs. DeKany poured beverages.

March and April meetings will be open.

March 8 at 1 p.m. the subject of Canton porcelain china will be discussed by Thomas Forshe, a specialist in oriental and early English china.

April 12, the meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in St. John's Lyster Hall, featuring a talk on Solar Heat by Raymond Fry of Adrian.

Delay Selection for Girls State

You get more than phones when you order a phone system from us.

You get us.

Any shrewd business person—you, for example—knows that value is measured by what you get for your money.

That being the case, the service you get from General Telephone is one of the best bargains around.

For instance, we don't vanish the minute your phone system is installed. Our communications service advisors help to train you to operate your equipment. And they don't leave until you're as good at it as they are.

We provide maintenance and repair technicians who really know their stuff. And we make sure we have enough of them to give you fast, efficient service.

If your system is ever damaged by circumstances beyond your control, we get it working again faster than you'd think possible.

And, of course, our Communications Consultants are always available to analyze and meet your changing communications needs.

That's value. In fact, when you compare our business rates to the Consumer Price Index trend for the last 15 years, you find that our service is more than a value.

It's a miracle.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We, the members of the Quick Finger Clickers Club, would like to use this opportunity to appraise you and the public of our contributions to our communities.

We are a group of people who enjoy and use our CB's for many uses. Some of us may even have helped you.

Last year, we made the following contributions and would like you, the public, to know what they are, and maybe you as merchants and friends alike could help us in our upcoming Coffee Break.

We are proud to say we gave over $1,050 to many charities. The break-down is as follows: Sent 2 needy children to camp, Milton C. Porter School, Camp Fire Girls, gave $350 to a family who was burned out at Christmas, Tecumseh Band Boosters, Muscular Dystrophy, accident victim family and help in expenses and the cancer foundation.

You ask — Where do we get our money? We have monthly meetings and pay dues, have bake sales along with our big Coffee Break once a year.

We are once again planning a break. We need many gift contributions to be used as prizes.

This is where you, the merchant's and friends alike, can help. Please help us when we ask for a small gift. We want to say a big thanks to those you have helped us in the past.

For more information please call or write, Cheryl Withrow, 1103 Russell, Tecumseh, 423-7802.

Sincerely
Cheryl Withrow, Treas.

To the Editor:

I would like to take this method of thanking the many people who extended themselves above and beyond the call of duty helping the Herrick Memorial Hospital and Herrick Nursing Home during the recent snow storm.

At the risk of overlooking someone I would like to name a few, the city police and private individuals who provided their four wheel drive vehicles and snowmobiles for transporting personnel to and from work, the city snow removal crews for their work keeping the parking lot and emergency entrance clear, Mr. Charles Lauer for keeping the walks clear, the many hospital and nursing home employees who worked shift after shift without relief, employees who were not scheduled to work but reported anyway knowing we would be short handed, employees who walked to work when there was no other way, patients who were really patient realizing the problems we were having.

To all of you a great big thanks.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the recent Tecumseh Herald article concerning Councilman Palmer's proposed charter change in the method of electing our mayor.

Why is it that a member of Council would want to change the present method which has demonstrated that it not only works, but has provided Tecumseh with excellent mayors.

Mayor Easton did a remarkable job while he was mayor of Tecumseh and I have no reason to believe that Mayor Mead will not also do an outstanding job.

Councilman Palmer stated that he had wanted to propose this change since he came on Council five years ago, but it didn't mean that much to him until this year. I don't really understand this statement or it's intent.

The statement strongly suggests discontent with Council's recent election of our new mayor, and perhaps this is the only reason that the charter change has been proposed.

I object to the proposed charter change.

In reading the Herald article several times, I reached the conclusion that Mr. Palmer is suggesting the addition of an eighth member to Council. If so, this plan is not workable. A governing body should never be constructed such that there are an even number of votes.

I do not feel Tecumseh needs this Charter change. Our Council members have thus far done an excellent job in electing a mayor who has dedicated himself to serving as mayor.

We place our trust in our Council members by electing them to serve us and I see no reason to remove any of that trust now. It is an honor bestowed on a Councilman to serve as Mayor.

It demonstrates the respect of his fellow Councilman by being elected Mayor. Let's not make the position of mayor a popularity contest.

I appeal to Council not to consider the proposed Charter change. Give Mayor Mead your support.

John B. Seay

BHS JV's in First Place

Britton's junior varsity cage quad pulled off two more big wins to remain in first place alone in the Tri-County League.

The Tories beat Madison 65-41 Friday night avenging their only league loss which was to the Trojans earlier in the season.

Britton trailed Madison 14-10 after the first period but pulled into the lead 27-23 at the half.

After a big third quarter effort, Britton was in the lead 44-33.

Britton outscored its opponents 38-18 in the second half.

Randy Dusseau had 16 points and eight steals while Troy Bailey had 14 including eight in the last quarter. David Bruce had 14 points and Jim Heiden, 13 along with 12 rebounds.

The Tories travel to Whiteford this Friday in a key league match-up. If Britton wins, they have the Tri-County title by themselves. A loss to Whiteford, and they'll have to share the title with Whiteford.

Next Tuesday, the Tories host Dundee.

Tories Even Record

After starting the volleyball season slowly, Britton's Tories have come back to post an even mark in the Tri-County League and overall.

The Tories fought past Onsted last Thursday and won a doubleheader against Sand Creek on Monday of this week.

Pat Armstrong had 12 serving points in the Onsted battle which started with a 15-10 Britton loss. The Tories came back to win the next two games 15-3, 15-10 and win the game.

Janene Schultz had eight serving points in the battle.

The junior varsity also won 15-13, 9-15, 15-9.

Britton traveled to Sand Creek Monday and won the first match easily 15-10, 15-2. Mary Oswald had 10 serving points, and Janelle Schultz and Armstrong each had six.

In the second match of the double header, Britton lost the first game 5-15 but came back to win 15-8, 15-12. Kim Cottrell had 13 serving points, Janelle Schultz, nine.

The junior varsity played the best three out of five and the match went the full five games. Scores were, 16-14, 10-15, 15-12, 12-15 and 15-13 in favor of Britton.

The team hosts Deerfield in a non-conference battle Thursday hosting Madison Monday and traveling to Deerfield Tuesday.

Suffer 2 Losses

Tecumseh's gymnastics team suffered two narrow losses dropping a 78-75 decision to Jackson County Western on Saturday and a 77.15-77.10 battle to Hillsdale Monday.

Coach Mary Wood stressed that, although the Indians now post a 1-5 mark, some of the contests have been very close.

She also said, "The kids did a super job against Hillsdale. The public has to remember that we are a Class B school and we go against some Class A schools and many are state ranked."

Wood goes on to say that most of the schools the Indians face have had a gymnastics team for several years. Tecumseh gymnastics is in its third year of competition.

Against Jackson, Cindy Egli was tops in total points for the Tecumseh team with 20.30. Joanie Rapin was close behind with 19.35 points.

Competition between the top three Tecumseh gymnasts was even closer against Hillsdale Monday. Egli had 20.70 points, Rapin had 19.40 and Grace Gould had 19.05.

Against Hillsdale, Cindy Egli was first overall in the balance beam while Joanie Rapin had that honor in the uneven bars.

The top three Tecumseh winners against Jackson included: Balance Beam—Egli, 6.25, Isom, 5.9, Patten, 4.75; Even Bars—Rapin, 7.55, Spencer, 6.5, Phelan, 5.95; Floor Exercises—Egli, 6.8, Gould, 5.7, Rapin, 5.35; Vaulting—Egli, 7.2, Gould, 6.85, Rapin, 6.45.

Top three against Hillsdale were: Beam—Egli, 6.1, Isom, 6.0, Gould, 5.15; Bars—Rapin, 7.05, Phelan, 6.45, Spencer, 5.5; Floor Exercises—Egli, 7.0, Gould, 6.45, Patten and Rapin, 6.1; Vaulting—Egli, 7.6, Gould, 7.45, Rapin, 6.25.

The Indians traveled to Napoleon on Wednesday. Thursday they go to East Jackson and next Monday to Columbia Central.

the seven or eight players that we have."

As a team, the Indians are averaging 70.2 points per game holding their opponents to 52.6. Tecumseh starters, Bret DesErmia, Jeff Hans, John Ely, Richard Cangley and Ben Maves, are averaging 54 points while the bench is averaging 16.2 points per contest.

"That's quite a few points for the bench but then a good bench should get that," Curth says.

Tecumseh will need a team effort to beat Airport, Curth is sure of that. "If everybody really dedicates themselves, I believe we can beat Airport. The key to the game is rebounding and shooting. I don't think we played exceptionally well against Airport the first time around."

In that contest, the Indians pulled out a 46-44 victory.

Curth frankly admits that the winner of the Tecumseh-Airport match-up will probably be favored to win the district title. Saline, Milan and Catholic Central are also in the same district.

Curth is trying to impress upon the team the importance of consistency in post season action.

"We can't have a bad night."

Group Says Porno Books Used at THS

By Frank Weir

Charges that Tecumseh schools are using "pornographic books" in the classroom have again been leveled against the School Board.

Three parents appeared at Tecumseh's Board of Education meeting Monday night to complain about the use of the book "Nigger," an autobiography by Dick Gregory.

The book is used in English classes in the ninth grade.

Although the three declined to identify themselves after the meeting, it was learned later that they were Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Dotson and Mrs. Carl LaGore.

The three were primarily concerned about language used in the book but also expressed concern about the way black culture is presented.

Mr. Dotson told the board, "We resent this book in schools. This book is pornography as far as we're concerned. We ask you to examine your consciences."

Dotson said they were also concerned about the book, "Catcher in the Rye," by J.D. Salinger.

Dotson read a petition presented to the board which called the Gregory book, "materalistic, atheistic" and expressing "secular humanism."

The petition went on to request that some way be set up to allow parents to review books that are to be used in the schools.

Dotson asked the board to review the book for further discussion when parents come to the next month's board meeting.

But board president, Dr. Donald Phelan, stated that the board had reviewed the book at a Feb. 8 meeting and that everyone on the board also had read the entire book.

Phelan added, "The board is of the opinion that the book should remain in the curriculum."

At that point, Dotson asked if any "born-again Christians" were on the board. No one responded.

Board member William Macbeth said, "The issue is not the book per se. The real issue is the policy for choosing books. We don't feel there is anything wrong with the policy."

Mrs. Carl LaGore told the board that they would like to have a 10-person, parental group review books and curriculum in the schools with particular emphasis on history curriculum.

Macbeth quickly replied, "That's a far cry from passing judgement on a book called 'Nigger'."

Mrs. LaGore went on to say that other books could be used that don't contain profanity.

Board members Dean Sheldon and Richard Heglin informed the three that students are told that the book might offend them and are given alternative books that they may read.

Dotson felt that parents should be contacted first, rather than having a student turn down a book in front of his class.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley said after the meeting that the book is approved by the American Library Association and is endorsed by the North Central Accreditation Association.

Close 4-3 Vote Rejects Change

After a public hearing, Tecumseh city council voted 4 to 3 Tuesday night to reject the request of Louis Schneider to rezone all of that part of his property lying southwest of Evans Creek from residential to business.

The triangle of property, less than half an acre, is commonly known as 803 W. Chicago Blvd., formerly the Earhart property bounded on the west by a gas station and approximately 100 feet to the east by residential district.

Reviewing City Charter

Councilman Jay Tressler suggested Tuesday night that Mayor Aden Mead appoint a charter study committee to recommend all and any sections of the city charter that may need revision.

City's charter was adopted 25 years ago. In that time, said Tressler, changes have occurred at levels of government and a charter study committee could make recommendations in spirit of revising the city's important document.

He further said that this would be better than a "piecemeal" approach to revision which is "only responsive...to controversy."

City attorney Greg Forsthoefel stated that revision would take longer, be more complicated and could cost more than charter amendment.

At the previous council meeting, Council member James Palmer suggested attorney look into steps necessary to revise charter so mayor could be elected by popular vote.

Forathoefel said he would prepare a brief for council on the options it could follow based on the two council members' proposals.

Council members Len DeMoss and Carlton Cook previously opposed the first two readings of the ordinance to rezone. Tuesday night Council member Jay Tressler and Mayor Aden Mead also opposed adoption of the ordinance.

Council members Harold Easton, James Palmer and Mary Bowers voted not to reject the rezoning request.

"I'm curious to know why you think it will create a traffic hazard," Schneider asked council after DeMoss' motion to reject the ordinance was seconded by Cook.

"I cannot understand any objection," Schneider continued. He argued that traffic problems are created by workers and transient traffic. "If anything, traffic is good for the city. Traffic is what we need."

Schneider planned to use the small lot for parking "15 to 20 cars" for Tecumseh Leasing Inc. 807 W. Chicago Blvd.

Some council members objected to rezoning because they claimed it would increase traffic where W. Chicago Blvd. narrows from four to three lanes. They cited nearby residential district and petitions for traffic light at Occidental and M-50.

"I don't think that anyone should have to live next door to a well lighted, used car lot," said Carlton Cook.

"What do we do across the creek?" asked Len DeMoss. Would you want a used car lot in your backyard?"

Schneider owns property across the creek which is currently zoned residential.

Council was presented with a resume on the rezoning issue by Valican-Leman Associates, planning consultants retained by the city prior to its affiliation with Region II planning consultants. Cook,

Tecumseh, Airport in Showdown for Huron League Championship

★ ★ ★ 8 Seniors Ready for Title Game, Tournament Action ★ ★ ★

Tecumseh planned to enter Friday night's game at Airport with hopes of a league title or at least a share of the championship. Such plans went awry Monday night when the Indians were upset, and now its either the title or second place, there's nothing in between.

The title game is a tossup between the two powers of the league. Tecumseh edged Airport here in a squeaker by one point, and the Jets have not lost since.

In the meantime, the Indians were upset in January by Jackson Northwest, 59-56, and then again Monday night at Monroe CC, 62-61.

Tecumseh was heavily favored in both losses, especially against CC, a team defeated earlier by 18 points, 65-47.

Regardless how Tecumseh makes out at Airport, the Indians will have an opportunity to avenge the CC defeat when they face the Falcons in district play Tuesday night at Saline.

Saline district also includes Airport, but the Jets are in a different bracket than the Indians. If both advance, they could meet again next week for a championship and the right to advance in tournament play.

Coach Jim Curth's club sports a fine 17-2 season mark, the best in many years here. Eight seniors are largely responsible for this record with four among the five starters.

Playing their final basketball game for Tecumseh are Ben Maves, Richard Cangley, Jeff Hans, Bret DesErmia, Doug Bohannon, Pat Davis, Jim Neill and Lyndon Hughes.

They and the rest of the squad need a team effort Friday night and next week in the district. By putting it together for all four quarters per game, the Indians could well win the Huron League crown this week and the district title next week.

There's no tomorrow!

Fire Damage over $20,000

Roland Dowling residence at 607 Sutton sustained fire damages in excess of $20,000 Sunday afternoon in a blaze that Tecumseh firemen fought for two and a half hours.

Kitchen, apparently where the fire originated, was gutted. Flames also destroyed much of the family's furniture. Smoke and water damages were inflicted throughout the house.

Firemen theorize that the fire resulted from something left on the stove.

House damages were estimated at $15,000, and contents, $6,000.

Family, at home when the fire started, called the local department.

Police Sue Council over Pension, Retirement System; Hearing Monday

A suit against members of Council has been filed by city police to force placing a proposal relative to the police pension and retirement system on the November ballot.

Council officials named include Aden Mead, Harold Easton, Carlton L. Cook, Mary Bowers, Jay Tressler, Leonard DeMoss and James Palmer.

Police personnel named are James Knierim, Don Rodehaver, Roy Hella, Jerry Anderson, James Stephenson, Gary Greene, William Meni and Doug Aylesworth.

The suit charges that city officials refused and still refuse to accept and file petitions — presented to Council last August — and place the pension and retirement system proposal on the ballot.

Officers want to switch from the city's pension and retirement program to one under the provisions of Act No. 345 of the State of Michigan.

City officials contended last year that the proposal was a negotiable one for the city-police union contract.

A hearing before Judge Rex Martin in Circuit Court is scheduled for next Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock. Law firm of Crudder and Daly will represent the police and the city attorney from Detroit for union affairs will represent Tecumseh.

After the regular meeting Tuesday night, Council met in executive session to discuss the suit.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says the basic plan from the police officers would nearly triple the city's cost, and three alternatives that are included would be additional costs.

At the present, the city pays 6.5 percent of the officer's salary for the pension and retirement system. The basic plan for the police's proposal would have the city paying nearly 17.5 percent.

Last summer, Tecumseh fire department was invited to participate with the police officers in its proposal to the city, and the firemen refused.

Petitions for Board Are Ready

Petitions for the Tecumseh School Board are now available at the Board of Education office on W. Chicago Blvd.

The terms held by William Macbeth and Dr. Donald Phelan are due to expire in June. Both are four-year terms.

Deadline for filing petitions is April 10th at 4 p.m.

Macbeth and Phelan indicate at this time that they are undecided as to whether they will run again.

TP Statement Sent to Workers

Briefs in the case of the union election for employees at the Tecumseh Products Co. are due Friday, Feb. 24 to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) by all parties concerned.

Employees were represented by the United Products Workers Union for 40 years. United Auto Workers Union (UAW) intervened for an election after collecting the required 30 percent of the union cards of eligible employees.

Date for the election will be determined by NLRB after briefs are studied. Election date could not be set after preliminary hearings since company and unions disagreed on bargaining unit.

Unions want one bargaining unit to represent all eligible employees, except management. Company wanted a separate bargaining unit for the so called blue and white collar workers.

Contract between the United Products Workers Union and Tecumseh Division of Tecumseh Products Co. expires at midnight Sunday, Feb. 26.

Here are excerpts of a statement from the company to employees which in part states it will continue employee wages and benefits during the interim:

The contract between the Tecumseh Division, Tecumseh Products Company, and the United Products Workers Union expires at midnight on Feb. 26, 1978. Due to the pending NLRB election, the Company is prevented by law from extending any provisions of the old contract.

The law, however, does not prevent the Company from continuing current employee wages and benefits; and as a matter of Company policy, these shall be extended until such time as otherwise determined.

Benefits such as the current insurance coverage and the pension plan will be continued by the Company during this interim period. Employees will be informed as to what holidays will be celebrated in the future.

It should be noted by all concerned that in order to maintain the Company's neutrality as required by law, current union officers and stewards will not be recognized after the expiration of the current agreement. The contract grievance procedure must be held in abeyance. Should problems arise after the termination of the contract, you should continue to discuss any problem with your foreman.

Also, as in the past, if the problem cannot be resolved, you should contact the personnel department. If a situation arises and you desire to have an employee representative of your choice with you, please bring that to the attention of your foreman. A representative of your choice who is employed by the Company will be provided as warranted.

Parents Question School Policies on Driver Training

Parents of a Tecumseh high school student complained to the Board of Education Monday night about the enrollment and selection procedures for driver's education.

The issue revolves around Charles Hunt, a tenth grader at Tecumseh high school who turned 16 last December.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hunt, wanted their son to have drivers education during the current school year, so he could have his license for this summer.

The Hunt's told the Board that Charles has a summer job which requires him to drive. In addition, they need him to help drive vehicles on business for the family's farm.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley informed the board that students are assigned to driver's education chronologically by date of birth with the oldest students given first priority.

Cooley went on to say that only 32 students, 16 per semester, are allowed into driver's education during the school year. Around 300 students go through the program during two five-week summer sessions.

Cooley said that 13 students who are age 16 are in line to begin driver's training in the first summer session. Charles is the 13th in that list, Mrs. Hunt stated.

Cooley cited several reasons why a limited number of students are allowed to take the course during the school year. In past years it has been difficult to obtain a sufficient number of cars, although this is currently not a problem. Scheduling students and instructors around other after-school extra-curricular activities is a problem as well.

In addition, economics are a factor, Cooley said. The state reimburses the school district $30 for each driver's ed student. Actual per student costs are twice that figure.

Mrs. Hunt maintained that the law states that students must be enrolled in driver's education "prior to" their 16th birthday.

Cooley replied that it was the opinion of school officials that the district is in compliance with the law.

Driver's education instructor Charles Gross told the board that students turn 16 everyday. "We can't really start a new program every day."

Mrs. Hunt, who has already contacted the State Department of Education, indicated that she will again contact state officials.

Prayer Theme Is 'Community Spirit'

The high incidence of loneliness and alienation in modern life will be contemplated in the theme, "Community Spirit in Modern Living" for the World Day of Prayer celebrated March 3 in Tecumseh, as well as in 140 countries and 33 islands, by Christian women united in study, liturgy and prayer.

This year's Tecumseh service will be held at the Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church at 1:30 p.m. All are welcome. Special music will be presented and the pastor, the Rev. A. Dane Ruff, will present the message. Fellowship will follow the service.

In the United States, World Day of Prayer is sponsored by Church Women United.

Each year the International Committee for World Day of Prayer chooses one nation to write the service. This year, Canadian women explore the conflicts, tensions and compromises of living in community in the selected theme.

First World Day of Prayer was held over 90 years ago. First offering was taken in 1920. Church Women United's Intercontinental Mission program, enabled by World Day of Prayer offerings, shows concern in several ministries.

Annual grants are made to Christian colleges for women in Asia and the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children, as well as short-term grants to migrant ministries, native American self-help projects,and programs for women in prison, for community development and for ministry to the aging.

Does Holiday Forget Hero?

By Kathy Brown

Bankers are teased about their holiday. Businesses and residents are vexed and disappointed there is no mail delivery. The legal holiday controversy rages. Few reminders are available to 20th century Americans of the man for whom "President's Day" or "George Washington's Birthday" is celebrated.

Maurice McIntosh, 4315 Dillingham Dr., contributed a newspaper clipping, dated 1927, based on the 1800 account of the funeral of George Washington. In its lines are the essence of what George Washington represented to his countrymen.

The 1800 news account was found among the papers of the late Jesse Gortner of Franklin Township. It was a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, printed at Kingstown, N.Y., Saturday, Jan. 4, 1800.

The four column four page paper was devoted almost exclusively to an account of the death and burial of Gen. George Washington, commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States, Revolutionary War hero, first president of this country.

A "multitude of persons" attended the ceremonies at Mount Vernon, his home. His corpse was in state in the long, lofty portico.

On the head of the ornate coffin was inscribed "Surge and Judicium," about the middle of the coffin, "Gloria Deo" and on a silver plate "General George Washington departed this life on the 14th December, 1799, AEt, 68."

A verse in the account was significant to Washington's life:

"I have failed in a thousand cases, But I still have the heart to try. I am bruised in a hundred places, No darling of Fate am I. In many a crucial hour I have failed, and been scorned and kicked; But never has Fate had the power, to make me believe I am licked."

Another aspect of the 1927 newspaper article was the admonishment: "So, live that the people who know you won't feel pleased when the funeral is over."

Hayden Mill Ends Short of 150 Years

by Kathy Brown

It survived failures, fires, floods and panics. It carried the pride of Tecumseh to the world and Tecumseh was proud of it. Just 8 years short of its sesquicentennial, Hayden Mills ceased business in Tecumseh. For 119 of those years, the Hayden family charted its course.

Early this year, Hayden Mills property was sold to Charles Steffens, Clinton and named Atlas II. A 1977 fire demolished the Hayden Mills 50-year-old mill on 314 S. Pearl St., second location in the company's history, where soft wheat flours were produced until the 1960's.

Since 1954, Mrs. Perry Hayden, 512 W. Logan St. was president of the business, named in 1857 after her late husband's grandfather, Wm. Hayden, grandmiller of Tecumseh.

Hon. Stillman Blanchard was the originator of the Globe Mill in 1835, now the site of the Tecumseh Community Center. Its name originated from the brilliant yellow mill's trademark, two copper "globe" decorations suspended from both sides of the roof. Later in 1926, Perry Hayden, William's grandson, adopted the globe as an inspiring symbol for the company that indeed marketed around the globe.

Stillman Blanchard sensed the opportunity for developing the Raisin River's water power desireable to Tecumseh's early settlers in 1824. On July 30, 1835, with financial help from Troy, N.Y., 600 acres of land were purchased, a part of Daniel S. and Silas R. Burt and the balance of Musgrove Evans and Austin E. Wing.

Land ownership gave water rights. A dam was thrown across the valley of Evans Creek near its junction with the river and another dam was thrown across the point now Standish Pond.

This later site was the plateau of the so-called Indian dancing grounds. A mill race was dug at the foot of the Burt St. bluff and so the ax leveled the ancient mound builders' work.

Mill race, three quarters of a mile long, was was dug so the waters of the Raisin could join the pond of some hundred acres made by damming the creek.

Approximately $34,000 was spent on digging of the mill race, done by hand and horse power, and erection of the mill building market was opened by the Erie-Kalamazoo railroad. By 1845 the railroad deteriorated and a record output, 2,544 barrels of flour ground in 10 days, was drawn by teams to Adrian and Monroe.

Rippling effects of 1837 panic hit when the company was just getting underway. Mounting difficulties forced it into bankruptcy. A succession of owners followed. In 1857, William Hayden bought the mill at a sheriff's sale.

From that time, it remained in the Hayden family and was dubbed the Wm. Hayden Milling Co.

Reader Writes

To the Editor,

In looking through the abstract of the home we purchased 7½ years ago, we came across a Nellie Goodrich who once owned some property we now live on. Warranty deed was dated Nov. 14, 1899.

The Goodrich Family book was printed in 1889 and traces the beginning of the Goodrich name back to William Goodrich of Hegesset Co., Suffolk, England, he died 1631.

If there is anyone in the area that knows more information regarding the Goodrich genealogy, I would appreciate a call or letter.

I am in the process of completing a family tree, which I traced to my father's great-great-grandfather, seventh generation.

Sincerely,
William Goodrich

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Correction. In last week's article the final two paragraphs dealt with redpolls. Looking back I see that I made a broad statement about the books showing these delightful little birds having black chins but that such a mark was hardly good for field identification. Wrong, all wrong, Marda.

I did not mean to be misleading; in fact, I was "telling it as it was". The redpoll I watched on the near-my-window feeders did not have much, if any, black under his chin.

However, practically all of the redpolls who came afterward distinctly showed this chin marking.

Occasionally my original bird comes along and he still did not have a black chin. How ironic that the exception to the rule would be the model for last week's article.

Fortunately the redpolls became fairly regular visitors. They joined the chickadees, juncos, siskins and goldfinches at the near-my-window feeders.

When the sunshine flooded these feeders, the colors of the redpolls were absolutely beautiful. Both sexes were the fiery red caps, cockily pushed down on their foreheads. They blazed and flashed in the proper light.

Only the males showed any color on the breast and oh, what a color it was. A soft delicate rosy pink. The stripes were not actually on the front of the birds as much as they are on the sides. Remarkably pretty things.

Although insect eaters in the summer, these birds eat a diet of seeds during the cold winter months. This brings up a point Ella made the other day. We exclained about our redpolls, compared notes as it were, when suddenly she surprised me by saying that she was thoroughly disgusted with the juncos as they were such lazy little guys.

Juncos — lazy? Mom and I always thought that our little black-hooded juncos were quite industrious. They seemed to mind their own business and often worked hard scratching through the food on the trays to find exactly what they wanted. But Ella's juncos apparently took advantage of the redpolls.

It happened when the redpolls ate in the mock orange bushes. The small seed pods on these bushes hold tasty seeds. As the redpolls work through the bushes, some of the seeds or pods fall to the snow and the juncos are ready and waiting for the easy handout.

I suppose it would be upsetting to watch birds going through all sorts of antics and obviously working hard to nip off, bite open or in some other way get at the little tid-bits they expect to lunch on and have the fat round juncos 'camp out' on the snow beneath the bushes happily feasting on seeds that drop.

All of the books mention redpolls traveling in flocks once the nesting season is over and the kids are grown and on their own. They wander south but their travels are erratic and unpredictable.

The same book also said that these delightful winter visitors in our area flock with many other winter travelers including crossbills.

Wouldn't that be nice? Some years ago we had a thrilling winter of crossbills but they were not seen since. And interestingly enough, that crossbill winter was also a redpoll winter.

Other bird friends of the redpolls are goldfinches. Today I watched such a mixed flock. The ground beneath the thistle feeder was almost carpeted with redpolls but a few goldfinches were here, too. If only yesterday's purple finches joined the crowd. Or even better, how about some crossbills!

Milk Quality

Guidelines for preserving milk quality will be featured in a series of seminars for producers to be held throughout Michigan this month.

A meeting will be held in Tecumseh, March 6 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

For more information, contact the local Cooperative Extension office, 263-8831.

Fuel Bill Assistance

The Lenawee Council on Aging now has forms to be completed by eligible elderly people to receive financial assistance on fuel bills for the period March 1978 through August 1978.

Application forms are at each senior citizen center in the county. Deadline for filing and applicaion is April 30, 1978.

A household is eligible for assistance if liquid assets do not exceed $15,000 and energy assistance is not received through another program such as general assistance.

Eligibility income levels for a one-person household is $3,700 and for a two-person household is $4,900 total annual income.

Households with one or two people age 65 years or older are eligible for fuel assistance if the 1977 income level is $7,000 or less.

Assistance is provided whether a person owns the home or rents provided the household meets the eligibility requirements.

In households where two or more fuel suppliers are used, one will be designated the main fuel supplier, name of the supplier and the customer account nunber must be listed on the application form.

Verification of eligibility will be done by the State Department of Social Services. Applicant and fuel supplier will be notified of eligibility. Amount of assistance received will vary, based on household income. Smallest payment will be $60 and the largest payment will be $200.

Senior citizen centers are located in Adrian, Tecumseh, Morenci, Deerfield, Blissfield, Onsted, Addison and Hudson. Older persons should contact the center directors to varify eligibility and mail applications well in advance of the April 30 deadline. In Tecumseh, Diann Anschuetz, 423-5939, is director.

The Lenawee Council on Aging office may be contacted at 327 Erie St., Adrian or phone 263-2161, ext. 285.

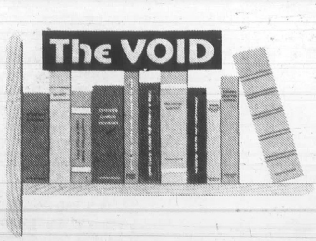
The VOID



Not so long ago they liked to look at the pictures, but the words were just black squiggles which Mommy had to interpret. Now they can read. With each passing month more and more words have meaning, and a whole new world is revealed.

Think of the tremendous void in life if you had never learned to read — almost as great as if you'd never gone to church and learned what it is like to be a useful member in God's House.

Is there a void in your life?

CORONARY CARE UNIT — Checking Mrs. Josefa Davila's pulse and intravenous feeding rate are Deloris Furgason, N.A., right, and Dianne Cottrill, R.N., center. In addition to being monitored, nearly all patients in the unit can expect to have an IV. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY
KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

Intensive coronary care unit at Herrick Memorial Hospital celebrated its 10th anniversary last Jan. 31.

Unit came about from the research, dedication and hard work of three men: Richard Cook, M.D.; Joseph Bachman, M.D. and Richard E. Dustin, M.D., the only current member of the medical staff.

Original unit housed four coronary beds and one surgical bed in a large room that it quickly outgrew. Unit was moved several times before the new second floor west wing became its permanent home in Nov. 1975.

Capacity is six patients, one semi-private and four private rooms, all highly visible to the nursing staff. Each is equipped with a heart monitor.

Herrick Hospital Woman's Auxiliary purchased the six monitors as well as resuscitative equipment and furniture. This includes the emergency or "crash" carts, defibrillators and cardiopressor (oxygen powered cardiopulmonary resuscitation machines).

Monitors, which readily display a patient's heart rhythm to alert nursing and medical personnel, and the resuscitative equipment were instrumental in saving countless lives.

First year it operated, intensive coronary care unit served 131 patients. In 1977, unit served 319 patients; only 15 died.

Such statistics point out need and advantage of such a facility to a community hospital in the care of acute coronary patients.

Most vulnerable period for an acute heart attack is the first 24 hours. If a patient received the best of medical and nursing care, aided with fine medical equipment, lives can be and are being saved.

At the time the unit first opened, physicians trained its nursing personnel. Those remaining since the unit opened are Alice Williams R.N., Deloris Furgason and Joyce German, nurse's aides and Dianne Cottrill R.N., head nurse of the unit for three and [illegible].

Bobbie Kerans R.N. was head nurse in ICCU from its origin until 1974.

Nursing personnel are still trained to work in the intensive coronary care unit. A 40-hour course in critical care is conducted by Kathy Bailey R.N., coordinator of inservice education.

Twenty-four R.N.'s and L.P.N.'s successfully completed the course in 1977 and eight more are currently enrolled.

Since February is Heart Month, have you ever stopped to think about your heart?

It's a fist-sized, four-chambered pump, which in the course of a normal lifetime, beats almost three billion times. Except for the rest between beats, it works constantly, day after day, year after year, throughout life.

But don't think the heart is a delicate organ—it's tough and durable. It has the power to raise a battleship 14 feet above the surface of the water in the course of a lifetime. From a medical standpoint, no pump created by contemporary engineering genius can surpass it.

However, the heart is not immune to sickness or disease. To keep this pump running smoothly, avoid abuse. A heart condition is not something the other fellow has. It could happen to you. Here are positive things to do to keep our heart healthy.

+ Control high blood pressure. Higher blood pressure means a greater risk of heart attack and stroke.

+ Watch your diet. A diet rich in saturated fats and cholesterol increases chances of heart attack. Body metabolism changes as you grow older. Body doesn't need as many calories and energy building foods as when a teenager.

+ Keep physically fit. Physically active people have a lower heart attack risk. You'll be surprised what you can do on your own power.

+ Don't smoke cigarettes. Heavy cigarette smokers (a pack a day or more) get coronary disease at a rate two to three times higher than non-smokers.

+ See physician regularly. Family doctor is the only one who can help control blood pressure and advise on weight, exercise and proper diet for you. Follow his or her advice.

FROM CARING HEARTS — Norma Every, R.N. demonstrates the recharging of the defibrillator on the emergency or "crash" cart, used to attempt to restore the heart rhythm of attack victims during the first critical minutes. A unit is kept on each hospital floor. Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary purchased some of these units and was one of the sponsors of the intensive coronary care unit opened in 1968. To date, it has spent approximately $32,000 on equipment for the unit. Caring hearts in the community donated several thousands through memorial contributions. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — A lovely, new two story home now stands beside the Macon Grocery in Macon. Roger and Nancy Ross, owners of the store, moved in with their sons, Carl and Bruce on Jan. 31. House was built by contractors but also had many hours of family work.

Running the business and being in on every step of the construction was not always easy. Nancy, along with being the runner, cooked and served dinner to the workers every day. Roger and Nancy's folks, the Harold Rosses, and the Al Ludwigs lent a helping hand when ever needed. Months of hard work behind them, the Roger Rosses are really enjoying their new home.

Judee Williamson of Macon continues her miniature work. Her story was told in many magazines all over the world. Besides working on commissioned rooms for museums and collectors, she teaches seminars at a shop in Birmingham in which she is a partner.

People come from all over the world for these seminars. One was to begin the Thursday of the '78 blizzard. Judee taught it by phone until she could get there Sunday, thanks to a four wheel drive vehicle she hired.

Rooms that Judee makes for people are usually a room in their house, a memory, a replica of a photo or a painting. Now she even has a European market for her work. Presently she has 13 rooms in a museum in Kentucky. Judee works mainly out of her Macon home, thanks to lots of cooperation from her husband, Trevor, and their four sons.

Feb. 28 the Macon Camp Fire and Blue Bird girls will have a midyear ceremonial at the Paul Hover home, Macon. Lois Hover's group and Sharon Mohr's will gather for the event. The Women's Club has sponsored the Camp Fire group for 11 years.

Maconites who have been piling up those papers in the basement or garage and wondering what they will ever do with them can keep stacking.

The Macon United Methodist Youth Fellowship will have a paper drive in the spring. Group will keep you posted as to the date and how to bundle them. Youth group will also sell Easter lilies. Members will be at the church doors every Sunday starting Feb. 21 taking orders; or they can be ordered by phone.

Local Fuel Supplies Adequate

CLINTON — Village residents may consider themselves a bit luckier than some of the folks in the state who live in areas where power companies must depend on coal-fired generating plants. Coldwater is already facing imminent blackouts for its 20,000 locally supplied power customers.

Trooper Douglas C. Whiting, of Kentwood, has been assigned to the Clinton Police Post following graduation ceremonies Friday at the Lansing academy. Training for 51 police candidates started Nov. 13. His assignment at Clinton was effective Tuesday.

Village engineer Richard Sharpe explained that locally, the village owned electric facility is not faced with any immediate shortage of fuel to operate its five generators. Nearly a three month supply of oil is on hand.

Present capacity of Clinton's light plant is 2,300 kilowatts. This will soon be increased by addition of a 2,000-kilowatt, used generator which will be added into the newly enlarged facility on River St.

Diesel generator was due to be shipped by rail from Grove City, Pa. this week, and installation is expected to be completed by next fall.

Auxiliary power is furnished to the village and industrial users by Detroit Edison, however, and that utility faces shortages of coal in the next month if the coal strike continues.

Government officials speculated that there may be a two-year supply of high sulpher content coal available in the state. Unfortunately this is only usable in certain plants, and only costly conversion would permit its use in most of the state's power plants.

Sharpe said that if Detroit Edison is forced to begin periodic "blackouts", Clinton's power plant could not supply local factories with sufficient power to keep them open.

Village has a standby plan for conserving electrical use if it becomes necessary, but, Sharpe indicated he thought Clinton residents would not be in any immediate emergency situation.

Members and guests listened to "Mary Todd Lincoln" tell of her life from childhood through adulthood.

McKenna was so convincing there were tears in some of the listeners' eyes when she told of the deaths of the Lincoln babies.

Marge McKenna portrays various Presidents' wives but specializes in President Lincoln's wife.

Meeting ended with refreshments provided by hostesses Joan Misterka, Nancy Aiklin, Britt Wann and Carol Nixon.

Next meeting will be March 16 at 8 p.m.

If you are, or know of, a new resident in Tecumseh, contact Welcome Wagon's hostess, Patti Littlefield, 423-2035.

Class Reunion Wanted

CLINTON — Clinton high school alumni of the class of 1968 would like to plan a class reunion.

Anyone interested in helping to organize the reunion is asked to meet at the home of Kay Harrison, 205 Coman St., Clinton, Tuesday, Feb. 28 at 7:30 p.m.

"If you shop around for travel insurance, you can get $50,000 worth for just $3.75."

"Travel insurance is one of the few things that's gone down in price instead of up. So be careful how much you spend.

"You can now get, for instance, $50,000 worth of accident protection for as little as $3.75 a day.

"And you can buy it for more than one day and up to six months at even lower daily rates.

"This kind of comprehensive coverage at a low premium rate is why we recommend Auto-Owners travel accident insurance."

Auto-Owners Insurance is for travel insurance, too.

Fire Service Rate Increases

Tecumseh city council and Tecumseh township board agreed Tuesday night that the township will pay $8,000 next fiscal year for its fire service contract with the city, an increase of $2,000 over what township presently pays.

Township offered $7,600 this year. City asked for $400 more so township would pay its share for the number of fire calls to the township.

In fiscal years 1974-75 and 1975-76 township paid about six to six-and-one-half percent of the operational costs, or $4,000 for about 20 percent of the calls. In 1976-77 it paid $6,000, or about nine percent of operational costs for 13 percent or 15 calls of all calls. City last year paid 84 percent of costs for 74 percent of calls.

City manager Cal Zorn told council that city contributes about 1½ mills to fire department operations, township contributed six-tenths of a mill. City's assessed valuation is $40 million, township's is $10 million.

WARMER HERE — Bank's temperature sign spread the good word here over the weekend. It's warmer here than in Florida, really! Look at the sign, not that bank of white stuff across the street in the background. After all, we'll probably still have snow around when it's summer.

CLOSED SESSION, ACTION QUESTIONED

Council Selling Bidwell Building behind Closed Doors at City Hall?

Tecumseh Council met in executive session Feb. 21 after its regular meeting with D.E. Limpert of Manchester to discuss his interest to purchase the Bidwell Building.

Michael McPhillips and another representative of the Robert H. Thornton Jr. P.C. Realtor, Ann Arbor were also present. Preliminary efforts by assistant city manager Paul Preston and McPhillips brought the interested party to the city.

Limpert was long involved in the restoration of historic buildings, including the Black Sheep Tavern, Manchester.

The Bidwell Building, built circa 1852 on the corners of W. Chicago Blvd. and S. Evans St., was made a gift to the city last July. City was seeking a buyer to restore it if feasible. It was designated a historic site on the Michigan Register of Historic sites last fall.

Council, taking steps to go into a closed session, went on record to meet secretly to discuss the police suit against Council members. At the time during the regular or open meeting, nothing was said about discussing the Bidwell Building and some Council members were not aware that it was to be part of the closed meeting.

Council did not take any action during the executive session, stated city officials. However, Council did approve continuing the negotiations with the interested party and asked the city attorney to review the sales agreement.

Limpert plans to submit architectural design plans to Council by April 20.

The Tecumseh Herald questioned the legality of Council's meeting in executive session to discuss the sale of the property. City attorney, however, says the meeting was legal.

According to the Open Meetings Act, 1976 PA 267, public bodies may meet in executive session for purchase or lease of realty.

Other exceptions are 1) dismissal or discipline of a public officer or employee or student when the person involved requests; 2) collective bargaining; 3) legal strategy with an attorney; 4) review of applications for employment or appointment when the applicant so requests (however, interviews for employment or appointment must be held at open meetings); 5) material exempt from public disclosure.

Furthermore, the open meetings act states that minutes must be kept and minutes of open meetings must be made available for public inspection. Proposed minutes must be available within eight business days after a meeting; approved minutes must be available five days after approval.

Asked why the executive session was necessary, assistant city manager Paul Preston explained that the city wasn't notified until 11 a.m. Tuesday morning, the day of the council meeting, that the interested party would like to meet with Council to discuss the purchase of property.

Limpert told the city he was negotitating to buy other real estate (privately owned) in the city and preferred that information not be made public at the time.

Asked why this information was important to the city council regarding the sale of the Bidwell building, Preston stated he felt it showed Limpert's committment was serious.

After the meeting, however, Preston said that Limpert and the realtor did not seem concerned to keep the other negotiations private.

Friday morning, the Tecumseh Herald received a press release from Thornton Realtors that stated Council gave "tentative approval" for the sale and that "According to the agreement, Limpert has until April 20 to win Council's final approval."

An option to purchase, signed by Limpert, was presented to council last Tuesday, but it was not signed by the city, Preston said.

Because of ambiguities in the document, city attorney Greg Forsthoefel said that the document will be studied, then resubmitted to council in its pre-meeting brief, and delivered to each council member's home on Friday before the March 6 meeting.

Realtor Claims Tentative Agreement for Property

Although some city officials say no deal was made with Limpert nor the Ann Arbor real estate firm, following is a release received by The Herald:

The Investment Division of Robert H. Thornton Jr. P.C. Realtor is pleased to announce that the Tecumseh City Council in executive session last night gave tentative approval to the sale of the historic Bidwell Building to D.E. Limpert of Manchester.

Preliminary efforts by Michael McPhillips of Thornton and Paul Preston, assistant city manager, led to the tentative action. According to the agreement, Limpert has until April 20 to win Council's final approval.

Mr. Limpert has long been involved in the renovation of historic buildings, including the Black Sheep Tavern in Manchester.

This release was dated Feb. 22, day after the closed session.

Auditorium, Facilities Inspected at Sturgis

Six members of the ad hoc committee to study the feasibility of a community auditorium for Tecumseh visited Sturgis, a community the size of Tecumseh, to observe operations of its civic center recently.

About 20 years ago, a similar committee visited Sturgis which at the time had just gotten underway with city operation of its center.

What did Tecumsehites learn after 20 years that it didn't know before?

"That a town of equal size can support a civic center with fees and rentals and a six-tenths mill from taxes," and operate on a break even basis, told Bill Frownfelder, Tecumseh committee member.

Sturgis maintained its multi-purpose facility for 23 years. Operating budget is $145,000 which comes mostly from rental fees.

It has a full-time director, a secretary and two maintenance employees and is busy practically every day of the week.

The Sturgis facility has four separate areas to allow simultaneous activities. It hosts meetings, such as Kiwanis and Rotary, in its dining and ballroom facility with seating capacity of 300 and huge kitchen.

It hosts productions and meetings in its 1,000 seat auditorium, 700 first floor and 300 balcony seats. It has a lounge for public use. Wedding receptions and art exhibits are held there. Finally, it houses a separate teen club facility.

The Sturgis center was built with public subscription at a cost of three-quarters of a million dollars.

Also of interest to the Tecumseh group was the city's two indoor and two outdoor swimming pools in a complex next door to the high school.

Operated by a local authority, it was built in 1974 with $400,000 in public donations. This last year it operated within $1,500 of breaking even.

It is available to schools for physical education programs, may be rented by smaller communities, scheduled for city recreations programs and instruction. It employes three full-time people.

In last year's recreational needs survey by Tecumseh Area Town Meeting Organization (TATMO), respondents named expaned swim facilities as desirable.

The ad hoc auditorium committee includes Dr. Carlton Cook, city council member; Patricia Tressler, school board; Bill Frownfelder, Tecumseh Area Town Meeting Organization; Carol McLeod, Tecumseh Players; Wayne Gillespie, Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation; Don Dobrosky, Tecumseh area Chamber of Commerce; the Rev. David Fox, member at large.

Advisors are Cal Zorn, city manager and Paul Preston, assistant city manager; Robert Duhan, school superintendent and Clarence Lacny.

Next meeting is March 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Presbyterian Church, Tecumseh.

Police Drop Suit, Want Negotiation on Retirement

Police suit against members of Tecumseh Council was withdrawn Monday afternoon in Circuit Court before Judge Rex Martin.

Police attorney, James Daly, said the suit was withdrawn and dismissed by the judge without prejudice, meaning it can be filed again in the future.

Police here want their present pension and retirement program switched to one under a state statute. Officers filed petitions with Council last year, asking the proposal be placed on a ballot for a decision by the voters.

City has contended the issue is negotiable. Officers have wanted negotiations on the program and apparently will have such action this spring when the police-city union contract talks are scheduled.

Police union contract expires June 31.

Since the city is willing to negotiate, local police have indicated some encouragement. One officer remarked Tuesday, "we only want a fair shake."

Another officer stated that the city refused to negotiate in the past in transferring the city's pension and retirement program to one under a state program.

Police contribute five percent of their wages for the pension and retirement program and the city contributes 6.5 percent of their salaries. Officers want to have something to say how their money is invested, relative to their pensions and retirements.

One Bargaining Unit Ruled at Products by Detroit's NLRB

No election date has been set for the Tecumseh Products Co. employees, but the bargaining unit has been determined to be one unit for all eligible employees, said Dave Basso, spokesman for the National Labor Relations Board, Detroit.

Basso said that the election date would be determined within the next 25-30 days.

An election date, to determine a union to represent the employees of the Tecumseh division, could not be set after preliminary hearings with parties concerned a couple weeks ago.

Unions wanted one bargaining unit for all eligible employees, excluding management. Company wanted separate bargaining units for blue and white collar workers. Briefs on the case were due last Friday.

The United Products Workers Union has represented employees at the Tecumseh division since 1937. The United Auto Workers (UAW) recently challenged the local union by collecting the necessary 30 percent of employee cards to call an election.

The United Products Workers Union contract with the company expired midnight Feb. 26. Company told workers it would continue wages and benefits.

BEAT MONROE CC, 69-64

Indians May Have Another Shot at Airport in District Saturday

Tecumseh was almost certain of a second shot at Airport Tuesday night when the Indians rallied to clip Monroe CC, 69-64. Last Friday's loss to the Jets in the Huron League title game left a sour taste here as fans decried the poor officiating.

Local fans would like to see the same two teams play again but with better referees.

Although the officiating favored neither team, Airport and Tecumseh fans alike agree that it was terrible, confusing and marred performances by two fine basketball teams.

If the Indians beat Monroe Jefferson Thursday night in the second round of the district at Saline, Tecumseh will probably face Airport again Saturday night in the finals at 7:30.

Jefferson is one of the weakest teams around and is not expected to give Tecumseh much of a game. Airport, however, must get by a good Saline team Wednesday evening to gain the finals.

If the Indians and Jets clash again, hopefully the game will be decided by the teams and not by poor officiating.

After the Indians had defeated the Jets early in the season, they lost the championship game in a wild finish, 59-58, on the Jets' floor. A desperation shot at the final buzzer knocked the Indians out of the game after leading most of the way.

Let down after the loss may have affected Tecumseh's play Tuesday night in squeaking by CC. Indians need to rebound from defeat, especially if a rubber game with the Jets is to be played for the district title and the right to go on in tournament action.

CAN'T BELIEVE IT — Coach Jim Curth couldn't believe this call by the officials in the fourth quarter of the Tecumseh-Airport game Friday night and protested. In one of their few correct decisions, one official finally decided that Curth was right. A foul had been charged to the wrong player, Jeff Hans, who would have picked up his fifth foul and would have been out of the game. Indian guard Richard Cangley also wants to know what is going on as Hans was not involved in the action - nor the area - that an alleged infraction occurred. End result, a two-shot technical against Curth for protesting, although one official agreed he was right. Figure that one out!

Report 25 Lockers, Dispensers Damaged

It appears that some members of Tecumseh's basketball team caused damage to the locker room they were using after last Friday's Airport-Tecumseh game held at Airport high school.

Tecumseh high school principal Clarence Lacny stated Tuesday that some members of Tecumseh's basketball team were involved and that disciplinary action would be taken.

Lacny also said that restitution would be made by those responsible.

Joe Hamilton, Airport athletic director, stated that around 25 lockers were damaged. The doors of five lockers were completely removed while the rest were bent so that they could not be closed.

In addition, hand towel dispensers as well as soap and toilet paper dispensers were "ripped off the wall," Hamilton said.

Hamilton could not put a dollar estimate on the damage and said that representatives of the company making the lockers were to visit and assess damage.

Hamilton concluded that the respective principals and school superintendents were cooperating with each other. "We have no complaints," he explained.

Lacny commented, "Obviously we're disappointed. I realize that emotions get high with a game like this, but I would hope that the participants could control themselves. We've been investigating it since it happened. I'm very sorry it happened and in a similar situation with the same circumstances, this wouldn't happen."

OUR OPINION

Secret Meeting Not Justified, Violated Law

In our opinion, Council met illegally in closed session, often called executive session. Closed or executive sessions are almost always held by the School Board every month, and it is our opinion that many of these sessions are probably illegal.

Act. No. 267, Public Acts of 1976, State of Michigan defines closed sessions and clearly defines when such sessions are legal. Section 8 of Act. No. 267 reads:

A public body (council, School Board, etc.) may meet in closed session only for the following purposes:

(a) To consider the dismissal, suspension, or disciplining of, or to hear complaints or charges brought against, a public officer, employee, staff member, or individual agent, when the named person requests a closed hearing.

(b) To consider the dismissal, suspension, or discipling of a student when the public body (School Board) is part of the school district, intermediate school district, or institution of higher education which the student is attending, when the student or the student's parent or guardian requests a closed hearing.

(c) For strategy and negotiating sessions connected with the negotation of a collective bargaining agreement when either negotiating party requests a closed hearing.

(d) To consider the purchase or lease (not sale) of real property up to the time an option to purchase or lease that real property is obtained.

(e) To consult with its attorney regarding trial or settlement strategy in connection with specific pending litigation, but only when an open meeting would have a detrimental financial effect on the litigating or settlement position of the public body.

(f) To review the specific contents of an application for employment or appointment to a public office when the candidate requests that the application remain confidential. However, all interviews by a public body for employment or appointment to a public office shall be held in an open meeting pursuant to this act.

(g) Partisan caucuses of members of the state legislature.

(h) To consider material exempt from discussion or disclosure by state or federal statue.

The Herald questions that Council could legally adjourn to a closed session for (1) discuss the police suit and (2) sale of the Bidwell property.

Both do not come under the criteria of Section 8, Act No. 267. Also, sale of the Bidwell property must comply with the city charter, which states that sealed bids must be received on all sales or purchases in excess of $500 - Chapter 12, Section 12.1 of the city charter.

It would also seem unethical for Council to meet in a closed session over public property, exclude a citizen and tax payer of Tecumseh but admit residents of Manchester and Ann Arbor.

Big Boy Resturant Selling The Herald

Big Boy restaurant began selling The Herald last week after Gene Tuckey, one of the restaurant's owners, read that the local newspaper was dropping Kroger because of vandalism.

Mr. Tuckey is allowing The Herald's newsstand rack to be placed in the restaurant's lobby.

Kroger's policy prohibits a newspaper rack inside its store or lobby, according to the manager.

Vandals stole one newspaper rack after another there, cut off a number of locks for coin holders, and even switched locks, taking The Herald locks off and putting on theirs.

Concerned Businesses

Letter to the Editor:

Recently, the national news has been filled with headlines of strikes, alledged consumer fraud, rising prices, and a myraid of other dilemnas which help to contribute to a feeling of helplessness on the part of the "average" community members. Large businesses and corporations often receive the brunt of criticism which is leveled by those of us who are looking for someone to blame for the hardships of inconveniences which are thurst upon us. They become easy targets because we know so little about them. In recent weeks, this has changed for me and I would like to share my experience with you.

I am a senior at Adrian College majoring in Business Administration. As part of my business program, I am engaged in an Internship program at the Fisher-Body Plant in Tecumseh. An Internship is a program to help students learn about the internal mechanisms of the business world before they actually find themselves in the job market. I spent two eight hour days a week observing and learning about the various facets of a business operation. Neither the Company nor the individuals who work directly with me receive any type of compensation for their efforts. They could have easily said that they didn't have the time nor desire to become involved, but they didn't. They have provided a worthwhile learning experience for me. I feel that this endeavor is indicative of Fisher Body's Community spirit and their concern for the youth of today.

It's nice to know that "Big Business" is really made up of concerned, community minded individuals who are willing to give of their time and share their experience. I sincerely thank all of Fisher-Body for this opportunity.

Sincerely,
Robert J. Sullivan

To the Editor:

This is a letter of appreciation for all the support the team received last Friday night at Airport. A special thanks goes to Gaston's and Green's for sponsoring two fan buses. To play and cheer for a crowd that showed as much enthusiasm and spirit as the Tecumseh fans showed, made us feel proud to be from Tecumseh.

Playing away, not on a home court, is sometimes a disadvantage, but Friday night you could have never told we were at a disadvantage. We appreciate all the people that came to the game. Knowing you have that many people who believe in you, is an inspiration.

Now that tournaments are starting, we hope you continue to give as much support as you have in the past.

Sincerely,
THS Varsity Basketball Team and Cheerleaders

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

The screech owl, standing about 10 inches high, is the smallest of our horned owls. It is found in most parts of the country, from Maine to Alaska and from California to Florida. A sleeper by day and hunter by night, it is a bird of the open woodlands and clearings. It nests in tree cavities and has an appetite for about anything it can catch. Although called the screech owl its voice is more accurately described as a whinny.

General and His Lady can fill out the brief description above. Avid bird watchers for many years, this winter they were able to specialize. Specialize in what? Screech owls! One screech owl to be exact. They watched it almost every morning and were most thoughtful in sharing the adventure with Mom and me.

As is true with most owl experiences, it was sound before sight. Almost every morning just before daybreak the owl "talked" to them. They speculated he was coming home after a night of hunting in their woods and the nearby fields. Soon, of course, merely hearing was not enough and thus started the campaign to see him.

His home is in an oak tree at the edge of the woods not too far from the house. About 25 feet up the trunk there is a short stub of a branch and just above this is the hole which is the owl's front door.

Often when he comes home, after a night "on the country", he perches on the little broken-off limb, a good place to relax before going to bed and an excellent place for his people friends to watch his actions.

He adheres to a time schedule of his own. But, more often than not, he flies home just when there is barely enough light to see him. His grayish color blends into the tree trunk but a lightish area under his chin or at the top of his breast stands out. It is this high spot that my friends have said is sometimes their only clue that the owl is there.

Whereas he first talked to them before he retired for the day, since the weather has become so cold, he is rather quiet. When he favors them with an appearance a bit later, the light is good enough to show more details and they see the typical owl silhouette, round head and no neck. Sometimes his horns are perky and erect but other times he lays them flat and close to his head.

What fun it must be to watch these late visits. As we hear it, he is apt to sit on his perch and twist his head around first one way and then the other. A leisurely surveying of his kingdom, so to speak.

One of the old tales about owls was that they could turn their heads completely around. This of course is not true, their heads are not on a 360 degree swivel. They can, however, twist and turn enough so that not much escapes their attention.

This head twisting ability is necessary because the birds have relatively unmovable eyes. These eyes, are super sensitive. They can collect light which is so dim as to be almost useless to human eyes. Thus it is that the owl is such a good nighttime hunter.

Complimenting this superior eye sight is an almost unbelievably acute sense of hearing. The feathers on the facial disk of the owl are so constructed that they act almost as hearing aids. They catch sound waves and tunnel them to the sensitive ears. The slightest rustle of a mouse scampering across the woods' floor is enough to insure an alert owl of a good meal.

A LOOK INSIDE
Herrick Hospital

BY
KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

Role of the stock-room staff is seldom visible to the patient in most hospitals. Herrick Memorial Hospital is probably no exception. From admission kits to paper clips, almost all supplies pass through the stockroom.

Stockroom is a part of the purchasing department and headed by Adeline Ferrow, purchasing agent.

Ms. Ferrow, who prefers to be called Adeline, is involved with much more than simply ordering the supplies the hospital depends upon; she must constantly shop for the best quality, best prices, most reliable vendors and in her spare time, keep track of all the new hospital products marketed. Since progress in health care is rapid, this is both a big and interesting task.

Under Adeline Ferrow's guidance, Herrick Hospital is a member of "Hospital Purchasing Service", a hospital buying cooperative with a number of member hospitals who combined their ordering of many products in order to realize volume discounts.

This will suggest to many that a bit of paperwork goes along with this type of work. A large part of this assignment is in the capable hands of Nancy Andrus.

Every purchase order, packing slip and bill of lading must be kept track of daily. Tight control must be maintained over the supplies that are on the shelves in the stockroom, so that fresh stock may be ordered before the hospital runs out of an item.

The real fun comes in keeping the many hospital departments stocked with the items as needed. This requires a systematic approach patience and comfortable footwear. Roxanne Sieler and Barb Bowers handle these duties of getting all the specialized items from the stockroom shelves up to the department that needs them.

Paperwork has a way of creeping into everything and Roxanne and Barb get their share of it. Many items must be priced and tagged when they are unpacked and placed in stock so that the proper charges can be recorded. And then there is inventory. All in all, the purchasing department plays a significant part in the bigger picture of the hospital.

Play Review
'Two Blind Mice'

By Kathy Brown

Some things haven't changed in nearly 30 years. Government is still trying to trim its bureaucratic fat, old women are still subjects for comedy, the divorced still keep a jealous eye on the ex's love life and the press is still maligned for "sensational" reporting.

These themes combined in the Tecumseh Players' production "Two Blind Mice," a satire by Samuel Spewack, last weekend at the community center glass room.

Setting is spring 1949. Scene, artfully reconstructed to the final detail of byline on a newspaper, is a government Office of Medicinal Herbs, OMH, supposedly abolished four years ago.

OMH was founded during Theodore Roosevelt's administration by the late Mr. Turnbull and was preserved in his memory by his widow, Letitia, (Kathi Johnstone) and her co-conspirator sister, Crystal, (Vesta Rothfuss).

Thurston, ex-husband of Letitia's niece, masterminds a complex plot to protect the women. His internal motive is to foil his ex-wife Karen's (Lori Egli) forthcoming marriage.

Overall, the cast, composed of veterans and newcomers, was fun. Several offered entertaining performances.

What has changed in nearly 30 years, however, is what makes people laugh. Dated satire of "Mice" was not the best choice the Players could have made. Some lines were miscued. Some had slow timing.

For example, when Thurston appears in Act 1 at the Georgetown office of OMH, he tells the women he seeks their friendship because he is lonely.

"Oh, I thought you were a newspaperman," said Crystal. Only this reporter guffawed at that joke.

Before this review is over, more may understand why a reporter's life is lonely.

John Belcher has all the physical force for the lead as Thurston, the reporter more suited to a career as a conman. His two failings however were lack of eye contact with actors and audience and a distracting habit of propping his hand on his hip.

Success of the play hinged on Thurston's ability to take charge of the scheme and interact forcefully with the other actors. At times, however, Belcher does not become the character.

Cited for distinguished performances are these cast members:

Lori Egli gives a performance that bespeaks her recent successes at the Croswell as Higgins' maid in "My Fair Lady" and others on the Players' stage. She gives her attention to the action of the scene. Her outrage is compelling. (By the way, why isn't there a masculine form for the noun divorcee?)

Kathi Johnstone, this enthusiastic player, first seen as "Calamity Jane," proved in "Mice" that she can age gracefully with makeup. She needs to slow down her energy a bit, though, to complement the gliding performance of Vesta Rothfuss. Vesta's innate winsomeness makes her characterization of Crystal pleasing and engaging because of her childlike charm and innocense.

John Thomas, the urbane, reliable Virginia gentleman doctor who's swept Karen off her feet — gives the audience easy laughs in his deadpanned confrontation with Thurston who's sweeping him under the carpet on a phoney OMH mission to France.

Karyn Thomas, John's wife in real life, debuts as the distracting rhumba teacher that unwittingly keeps the military nose out of OMH, but the military can't keep away from her. Milt Schoeh, the playful lieutenant colonel, turns in a classic performance.

Skip Johnstone, the opportunist courier, Ensign Jamison, gives one of the best comic performances. Gail Rothfuss and Dick Lewis are "substantial" veterans. Casey Girard, Senator Kruger, is intimidating in his role.

Mark Phelan is convincing as Charles Brenner, the hotshot Washington newspaperman who writes a story based on heresay and his own bad judgement. He lands smack into Thurston's maelstrom.

Players' president Gerry Johnstone's cameos are becoming his trademark, not unlike producer Alfred Hitchcock's. Johnstone has one of the play's most comical entrances.

Women Observe 'Call to Prayer'

CLINTON — United Methodist Women of Clinton will observe - the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial at 7:30 p.m. March 6, at Clinton United Methodist Church.

Major events of the observance include the quiet day and description of the mission projects for which a special offering is given.

Each woman who takes part is asked to give for others by denying herself and to pray for a spiritual oneness with planners, mission workers and those served in church-related ministries.

The women's division of the Board of Global Ministries of The United Methodist Church sponsors the call to prayer and self-denial.

Two areas of the large United Methodist mission program are designated for giving this year. In the United States, the offering will be used for mission institutions: maintenance and improvement of women's division-owned property.

The Women's Division owns approximately 95 pieces of property in 30 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. At these sites, mission programs are carried out. Most of the buildings have been in service for many years, some as many as 75. A few are newer.

All are heavily used, sometimes around the clock. The buildings need maintenance and improvement so that the mission programs can operate more efficiently.

Overseas, the offering will be used for "Children and Youth in Today's World." Children and youth make up most of the world's population, over 60 percent of the people on some continents.

Frequently, children and youth suffer the most from poverty, urbanization and violent social upheaval.

Offering will go for programs for mentally and physicaaly handicapped children, pre-natal and post-natal care for mothers and babies, nutrition and health care for children, child and youth advocacy, education for children and youth, Christian education programs and materials and other needs.

Service for the quiet day "Be Thou My Vision," was written by Jean Hawk Troy. Service is organized around the hunn, "Be Thou My Vision." Theme is hunger – physical, spiritual, emotional and intellectual hunger.

About 1.5 million women in 35,000 local units in all 50 states will join in the observance. Last year, the offering totaled $792,455.

Life Twice Threatened, Twice Spared

by Kathy Brown

Twice his life was threatened, twice his life was spared. William Hayden seemed fated to lead the milling company which carried his name for 119 years.

William Hayden was orphaned at age four. As a young man, he went to California in the 1849 gold rush, was taken with cholera and left to die. One comrade with more conscience than pluck, returned and nursed Hayden to health.

Hayden set sail for the east with $3,000 in gold dust but was ship wrecked at Cape Horn. He aborted his money belt to save his life.

In 1851, he was employed by his brother, Henry, at a mill near Jackson. He purchased the Globe Milling Co., west of town on LaPlaisance Bay Rd. (M-50), on sheriff's sale in 1858.

William Hayden led the business for almost 40 years before his death in 1896. He was identified with the social and religious life of Tecumseh as well.

An obiturary stated "In business his name was synonymous with integrity, honor and perserverance. In private dealings, scrupulously honest. His belief was in deeds and actions rather than woods."

Local historian Clara Waldron used the mill's prosperity as an economic barometer. The mill was one of the prime industries of the community, farming was the cornerstone.

In the 1870's, the Globe, Red (north of town) and Quaker (at Comfort Rd. in Raisin Township) flour mills worked long hours grinding Tecumseh's wheat for the nation's markets.

By 1881, Hayden's Globe Mill was sending flour abroad. In 1884, 24 carloads in one shipment were sent to Sligo, Ireland. Hayden observed the Irish used his empty flour sacks for suiting.

In the 1890's, flour production was steady at the Globe, the Heck Mill on Red Pond, and the Quaker in Raisin. Heck Mill burned in 1891.

In 1896, Levi C. Hayden was called from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he was an architecture student, to carry on the company after his father's death.

He and his brother, Will, remodeled the mill after the 1907 panic to manufacture flour strictly for domestic trade. That first day of operation, March 25, 1898, a worker tried to mix liquor with milling and fire destroyed the mill.

It was especially disastrous because the insurance had lapsed. Because of the mill's importance to the community, funds were raised by public subscription to help defray rebuilding costs. This was done almost at once and on the same site. Railroad shipping reports for the year indicated nearly 3 million pounds of flour were shipped.

Levi Hayden, a creative businessman, developed a successful trade on "1900" flour in surrounding counties.

Through 1903, the East continued to be a market for carloads of Hayden flour.

LEVI C. HAYDEN
1869-1918

During World War I, Hayden flour was sent abroad under government contract with the local allowances cut from 50 barrels a day to 20 a month.

Shortly after Levi Hayden's death in 1918, Perry C. Satterthwaite, a son-in-law, guided the business as manager.

In the depression after World War I, merchants and local factories, most of which were concerned with agriculture, were affected by the loss of farm buying power. Only the Quaker Oats Macaroni factory and Hayden Milling Co. continued work during the depression and on a limited scale.

In 1921, the Hayden Milling Co. constructed an electric generating plant on the southern bank of the Globe Pond and electrified its old mill. Perry Satterthwaite planned and supervised the installment. Tecumseh Electric Co. operated it and used excess power to supply the town's electrical needs for several years.

About the same time, old Quaker mill, then owned by Amendt Milling Co., Monroe, had moved to 314 S. Pearl and was also electrified. Mills no longer depended on direct contact with the Raisin River for power.

In 1927, Hayden Mills moved to 314 S. Pearl. The same year, Perry Hayden, grandson of William Hayden, became president of Hayden Mills.

Power Cut Voluntary by Residents, Industries

Consumers Power Co., Michigan's second-largest electric utility said last week its 1.25 million customers are cutting back power usage system-wide as coal stockpiles dwindle.

Locally, Kenneth Chichester, district manager for Consumers stated that the Adrian office was in contact with all larger, industrial customers asking them to reduce non-essential load usage. And they are cooperating, reported Tecumseh area plant managers.

Residential customers have been asked to do what they could. Although no goal for conservation was set, Consumers recommends saving energy whenever possible. A three percent savings at home would be good, Consumers suggested.

While energy conservation is a matter of corporate policy for many area industries, some outlined continued voluntary energy saving efforts precipitated by the coal miners strike.

Jerry Becker, personnel manager at Fisher Body stated his company has 1) reduced office and plant lighting to minimum safe levels; 2) turned off equipment during break periods and at the end of shifts; 3) reduced outside roadway and parking lot lighting to minimum safe levels; 4) reduced office and plant temperatures to 68 degrees Farenheit; 5) intensified shutting off equipment when not in use; 6) promoted energy conservation at home and work away from the job by talks, meetings and printing energy saving ideas in the plant newspaper "Hotline"; 7) turned off "down" escalator and limited use of "up" escalator from plant to the main cafeteria.

Leonard Mason, plant manager at the Budd Co., Clinton plant, stated that each Budd Co. plant has an energy conservation committee to investigate, try and incorporate suggestions into plant operations. Plant is currently considering changing lighting system to save 50 percent energy usage.

DST plant manager Ben Butters said lighting has been cut to 50 percent in some areas and rearranged for more efficient usage. Plant has dialed down, has an automatic thermostat system and will replace incandescent with flourescent lighting.

At Meyers Industries, Wayne Seagraves, plant manager said his company is not energy intensive but has cut outdoor lighting and indoor lighting in staging and storing areas. They have dialed down and converted to a cold cleaning process instead of steam.

Recent plant construction at Tecumseh Corrugated Box incorporated improvements to the heating system said plant manager Jay Wheeler. An overhead fan system in production area works to circulate heat in winter and to cool in summer.

Corrugated Box recently reduced operation of its scrap removal system, dialed down to 65 degrees Farenheit and turned off one-third of lights in storage area.

At the Tecumseh Products Co. and Peerless Gear, Clinton, Ken Goldmann, corporate director of advertising and public relations, reported that "Where ever we could do without, we've taken necessary steps." He stated that the Products has a continuous energy program. Lighting loads have been reduced where ever possible. "We're doing what everyone should be doing in their homes," he stated.

Slow Start For Project

by Kathy Brown

If your child needed a helping hand in an emergency away from home, would you appreciate a responsible adult being close by?

"Yes" would probably be the unanimous answer from concerned parents. Still only 10 residences have applied to join the Helping Hand program in Tecumseh.

The program, sponsored by the Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary in cooperation with the schools, was scheduled to begin in March. Despite publicity in the Herald and notes to parents through the schools, the program is sorely lacking in its goal to have one house in each city block desiignated as a "Helping Hand" home.

These homes are designated by blue cardboard hands placed in a visible location in a front window to indicate an adult is nearby in case of child emergency.

Applications sent home with children may be returned to the Tecumseh Police at city hall, 309 E. Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh, 49286.

For further information, readers may call Sarah Russell, 423-7686 or Jane Petee, 423-4723, Jaycee Auxiliary co-chairmen.

The Helping Hand program is adult volunteers who are home when children are walking to and from school. These people make themselves available in case there is an emergency involving children.

Volunteers' main responsibility is to get professional help such as police, fire department or ambulance, provide reassurance and call the child's parents. Training is provided.

Children will learn about the program in classrooms. Program thus benefits children by an awareness of how to react in emergency.

This program is to be also used by children away from home or school activities.

For some people, it may be difficult to believe that an emergency situation involving a stranger and child, as drastic as the Oakland county child slaying mystery, could happen in a family oriented community such as Tecumseh.

But each new season seems to bring a rash of complaints to police and schools regarding lingering strangers.

The Helping Hand program is intended to be a visible sign to those "outsiders" that the community is concerned and aware.

Next meeting of the Helping Hand committee is March 7 at 1:15 p.m. at Tecumseh Acres School.

Helping Hand committee is William P. Clark, Tecumseh Acres principal; Lois Fleming, Ridgeway and Herrick Park principal; and Margaret Yerman Patterson principal; Brenda Johnson, Inservice Club representative and Sarah Russell and Jane Petee, Jaycee Auxiliary co-chairman.

HELPING HANDS — Co-chairman Sara Russell of the Jaycee Auxiliary and Pete Clark, Tecumseh Acres Principal, explain the "Helping Hands" symbol to kindergartener Christine Russell.

Discuss Plans for Dawn Patrol

Organization for the 1978 Dawn Patrol was discussed at the Feb. 22 meeting of the ad hoc committee at the First Federal Savings and Loan Tecumseh office.

The 1978 Dawn Patrol will be at the Al Meyers Airport on July 2, the end of "Heritage Days" sponsored by the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce.

Suggestions were made for groups to handle ground parking plane parking, and prepare breakfast, organize an art and or arts and craft booths, organize and antique car display.

Other suggestions were made to plan door prizes, design and mail flyers, plan parachuting display, locate a tent for activities, organize a blood pressure booth manned by registered nurses, feature helium balloons, son-cones and cotton candy concessions, involve local clown groups, offer wagon and pony rides for children and plan Indian entertainment for the heritage days theme.

As volunteers are needed to work in these many areas, groups or individuals are welcome to attend the next planning meeting March 15 at 7:30 p.m. at First Federal. Use back door entrance. Volunteers may also contact Mrs. Allen H. Meyers, chairman, at 423-7629 and leave name with the secretary until 4 p.m.

Other elected officers of the committee are Jim Abbs, treasurer (manager of McDonalds) and Opal Dickinson, secretary (assistant treasurer-branch manager at First Federal, Tecumseh)

Charles Goodacre volunteered to handle air traffic control. Marian Holmes will design the flyer.

Goals of the Dawn Patrol were discussed and each person was asked to consider the goals before the next meeting.

$341 Million Kept in Trust

Chairman Thomas A. Murphy announced that $341.0 million is being paid or kept in trust for 95,200 U.S. salaried employees participating in the 1974 Class of the General Motors savings-stock purchase program that matured Dec. 31, 1977. Of these employees, 67,900 elected to receive distribution immediately.

In Tecumseh, 106 employees participated in the GM savings-stock purchase program. They saved $90,670 in 1974 and received $233,607 today.

The overall return to the employe is the equivalent of $2.58 for every dollar saved by participating employes during 1974.

ACCEPT BANNER — Six production and service employees were on hand Tuesday to accept GM's award for maintaining a high level of product quality. Holding the banner are (l-r): Jane Perez, Shirley Mutter and Carlo Herd of Adrian, Barbara Logan of Onsted, Donna Born of Tecumseh and Violet Herman of Adrian.

GM Wins Award

Executives of Fisher Body Division's headquarters in Warren were in Tecumseh Tuesday to award the local plant for achieving the highest quality among the division's five interior trim operations during the second quarter of the 1978 model year.

Making the presentation for the division was George E. Hooten, general director of reliability and Edward T. Henry, general factory manager.

Accepting the banner in a ceremony held in the plant were William J. Polk, plant manager, W.J. "Jim" Gillespie, director of quality control, Philip J. Chrzan, plant superintendent, Saburo Sasaki, superintendent-trim fabrication and six hourly employees representing production and the service departments.

The quarterly award recognizes the General Motors facility and its 1,100 employees for having the highest level of product quality as a result of comprehensive audits taken from November through January 1978.

The monthly product evaluations are conducted by divisional quality control auditors who visit each plant and randomly select products made there for audit. A continuing process at all Fisher Body Plants, these monthly inspections are in addition to the daily quality reviews conducted by the local plant's quality control personnel.

In addition to accumulating the best three month average, the Tecumseh Plant established a new all-time high mark for trim plants during its January audit and has attained nine monthly quality achievement awards during the competition in the 1977 and 1978 model years.

The Tecumseh trim plant daily produces 2,750 interior trim assemblies for GM's intermediate sized Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac car lines.

Torries Post 2nd Win

Britton's cage team slipped by Pittsford 64-61 last Friday to register only its second win of the season.

Both victories were over Pittsford.

The Tories were behind 12-9 after the first stanza but scored 30 points in the second frame to 23 for Pittsford to lead 39-35 at the half.

Pittsford outscored Britton 26-25 in the second half but it wasn't enough to overcome that second quarter Tory effort.

The Tories managed to hit on 43 percent of their shots from the field in the second period adding 10 of 12 from the line.

Overall, Britton dumped 40 percent of its shots from the field to 45 percent for Pittsford.

Dan Sparrow had 23 points for the Tories, Phil Loesch and Greg Fanslau added 12, Randy Smith had 11.

Britton completed the regular season with a 0-12 Tri-County League mark, 2-18 overall.

Windbreaks Payoff

What is the payoff from a windbreak? Greater comfort and relief from the cruel wind. Windbreaks can add a great deal to comfort by breaking the force of the wind, allowing the heat from a home to stay around the home and not be whipped away.

A good windbreak can cut wind velocity by 75 percent, making a real difference in general comfort and fuel bills. Planted to protect a driveway, a windbreak can also reduce the amount of shoveling needed after a blowing snowfall.

Windbreaks are great for wildlife. Evergreens provide food and shelter for birds and other types.

For more information on how windbreaks work, contact the Lenawee Soil Conservation District, 265-5887, 227 N. Winter St., Adrian.

Gymnastic Registration

The Tecumseh Recreation Department is now taking registration for intermediate and advanced gymnastics classes.

This program is open for students below the eighth grade.

There are still openings in the beginners class to begin March 8.

For further information contact the Recreation Dept. at 423-5602.

Chamber Urges Political Action

The best way to influence legislators to work for the business community in solving the problems of workmen's and unemployment compensation and single business tax is to make sure the right legislator is elected in the first place.

That was part of the message Robert LaBrant delivered to nearly 100 members and guests of the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce at its annual luncheon Feb. 28 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

These problems are not solved in a vacuum, but by involvement in the political process, LaBrant emphasized. He is political action program director for the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

LaBrant outlined how local chambers of commerce can organize to maximize political effectiveness.

1976 P.A. 388, effective June 1, 1977, allowed corporations and non-profit corporations a first-time opportunity to establish and administer "separate, segregated funds."

In other words, business was given the statutory basis to set up a political action committee to support candidates sympathetic to its problems.

Labor unions were doing this since the 1940's. As recently as 1972, LaBrant reported, the Michigan Education Association,ranked third in state political clout, became active in elections supporting "friendly" legislators.

Furthermore, he stated that his research showed that the MEA had organized 86 affiliate organizations at the grass roots level for political activity.

Since P.A. 388 became effective, only six of 13,332 corporation formed political action committees; only 20 trade unions, only six professional associations and 11 chambers of commerce have formed political action committees. There are 283 chambers of commerce in the state of Michigan.

LaBrant told his audience that the Michigan Chamber of Commerce has a mini-pac kit available for small businesses, trade organizations and chambers that details how political action committees may be organized in one afternoon.

He explained that if a group does not raise or spend more than $500 per election in each primary and general election, requirements for detailed financial report to the state may be waived.

LaBrant illustrated what $500 in each primary and genral election could do.

He stated that research shows these contributions are comparable to what other organizations are giving.

LaBrandt said that 11 of 38 senate seats and 22 of 110 house seats will be open races in the 1978 elections. Michigan Chamber of Commerce political action committee also plans to be involved where incumbents have a pro business record and where incumbents have a poor business record.

"The problems of business are not solved in vacuum," LaBrant concluded. "They are solved by involvement in the political process. We have to understand the needs of legislators. They want to return to office. The needs of business can be solved if business organizes political action committees."

Macon Montage

MACON — As the snow gradually disappears, one begins to see things peeking out from under the snow that were buried for quite some time. I was happy last week to find the garbage can lid we had about given up on.

Clinton-Macon Road residents are seeing something they were beginning to forget about — the road construction. These past months, the snow made their road look like every other road in the county.

A talk with Ron Lear of the Lenawee County Road Commission revealed what residents might expect over the next months.

Real road construction will not begin until May. Between now and then, work will be mostly surface grading as road crews wait for all the moisture to come out of the sand base which is down.

When workers are satisfied that moisture problems are taken care of, the heavy construction will begin with surfacing scheduled probably for late in the fall.

With financial problems plaguing the road commission, its only hope is that the road crews don't have to be rescheduled for 1979.

If this is the case, residents and travelers of the road can expect a good road of gravel and crushed stone down.

Meanwhile this spring, the commission will try to keep bad mud problems at a minimum by bringing loads of stone out when they feel they are needed.

Focal point of the refreshment was a three-tiered cake with live flowers on the top.

Guest book was a scrapbook which was signed by all and will hold all the cards received by the couple. The Hewletts were happy to have five of their 10 grandchildren there and three of their five great-grandchildren.

Grandson, John, was home from Western Michigan University for the occasion.

Begin Tourney with Victory

Tecumseh's basketball squad had yet another close finish Tuesday night of this week beating Monroe Catholic Central 69-64 to open district play in Saline.

The Indians were behind by one point with 1:30 left in the game. John Ely and Bret DesErmia were both fouled and Jeff Hans made a key steal to spark the orange and black victory.

Tecumseh made 26 of 58 for 45 percent while Monroe completed 23 of 52 for 44 percent. Both teams were hot from the foul line, the orange and black sinking 14 of 18 and Monroe 18 of 20.

The Indians dominated the rebounding picking off 39 to 25 for Monroe. Hughes and Hans each had 12.

Hans and Ely each had 19 points, DesErmia 14 points, Maves 10, Hughes four and Cangley two.

Tecumseh now posts an 18-3 mark, rated 11th in the state. Airport has moved into the seventh spot in the state according to the AP poll.

Tecumseh meets Monroe Jefferson in the second round of district competition Thursday. A win there would put them into the finals Saturday night facing the winner of the Saline-Airport match-up played Wednesday night.

Both district games will be played at Saline with game time set for 7:30 p.m.

Wrestling Program Beginning

A junior high wrestling program, coordinated annually by high school wrestling coach Pat Connors and assisted by Ron Frenzen, will have its first meeting March 7.

Those interested must be 14 years of age or less.

Practice schedules will be given out at the first meeting. Interested participants are asked to bring their practice equipment to the first meeting since there will be a short workout.

Details of the spring wrestling program in the elementary schools will be announced next week.

Redskins Victorious

Clinton's cagers advanced in district play by beating Napoleon 58-41 Monday night.

Last Friday, the Redskins fell to Manchester 65-55 to complete LCAA action. Clinton ended league play with a 7-5 mark, tied with Manchester for third place in the league.

The Skins were not challenged by Napoleon Monday night. Clinton was ahead 14-6 after the first frame, 26-17 at the half.

Clinton dominated rebounding pulling down 50 carooms to 31 for Napoleon. Mark Dettling had 12 and Dave Porter 10 for the Redskin cause.

Clinton dumped 26 of 66 from the floor for a lackluster 39 percent but Napoleon managed to hit on just 16 of 62 for 26 percent.

Mike Karapas had 16 markers for Clinton. Dave Porter added 15 and Dettling, 10.

Clinton plays Michigan Center this Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Clinton for the next round of district competition.

A strong third quarter effort powered Manchester far ahead of Clinton Friday night.

The Skins never caught up dropping the LCAA match-up 65-55.

The Dutchmen were in the lead just 27-26 at the half but 22 points in the third frame to just 11 for the Redskins gave the Dutchmen a 49-37 fourth quarter advantage.

Jeff Porterfield had 11 points for Clinton while Mike Karapas added 10.

Tecumseh's cagers lost a highly emotional battle to the Airport Jets last Friday. The loss left the Indians in second place in the Huron League while Airport won the championship. Above, Tecumseh cheerleader Paula Knisely bursts into tears after a stunning last-second shot by Airport gave the Indians their third loss of the season. Bret DesErmia, right, is pictured earlier in the game going for a rebound. With seven seconds left, DesErmia scored a basket giving the Indians a one-point advantage. But a tense Tecumseh bench, left, saw their tenuous lead evaporate with the 35-footer at the buzzer. Below, one can see how physical the game was as Richard Cangley tangles with a Jet player while John Ely goes for the basket. In the background, Ben Maves watches.

Judo Tourney Sunday

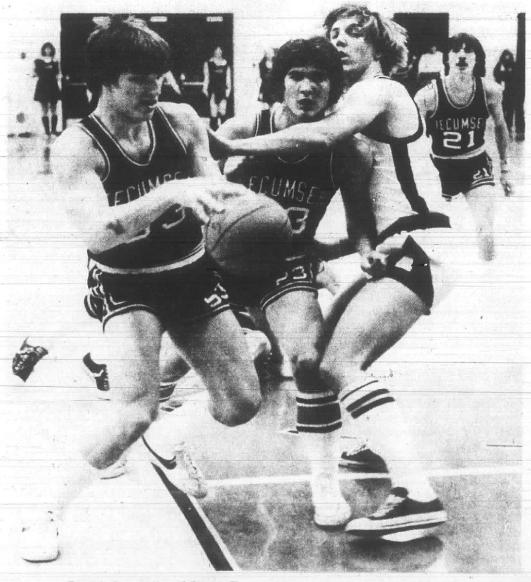
Many high-ranking Japanese and American judo black-belt experts will be attending judo competition this Sunday in Adrian at the YMCA.

The Lenawee County YMCA Judo Club is hosting the competition which begins at 9:15 a.m.

There will be junior competition for 6-18 years old competitors and senior competition for 18 and above.

Many of the competitors will be from the Tecumseh-Adrian area.

There is a small admission charge.



Indian Gymnasts Complete Season

Tecumseh's gymnastics completed its season Monday falling to Saline 81.35-74.75.

Although the Indians ended the regular season with a 4-7 mark, coach Mary Wood was pleased with the season. And four girls on the team qualified for regional competition to be held this Saturday.

Wood said, "Ending the season with this record isn't that bad. The community has seen the improvement over last year. This year, the kids didn't let the losses get them down. Competition is strong but attitude is important. We had a good attitude this year. Throughout the year, the girls have improved."

And four girls qualified for the regional to be held at Ottawa Hills High School this Saturday. That's the most ever to qualify from a Tecumseh team. Grace Gould and Cathy Egli both qualified in vaulting and Joanie Spencer and Joanie Rapin in the uneven bars competition.

In order to qualify for the regionals, competitors must meet a score set by the state at the start of the season in four different meets. This year it was 6.8 vaulting and 6.4 in the uneven bars.

There are 42 schools in Tecumseh's regional and the top five performers in each event will be taken to the state meet.

Against Saline Monday night Cindy Egli was the only winner taking the balance beam competition with a 5.85 score. Grace Gould was second in vaulting with a 7.1 score.

Overall, Egli had 20.15 points while Gould had 14.2, Joanie Rapin 12.1 and Debi Patten 10.2.

The Indians cruised past Vandercook Lake last Wednesday 78.45-67.15.

Debi Patten won the balance beam competition with a 6.25 mark while Cindy Egli had 7.4 in vaulting to win that event. Joanie Rapin won the uneven bars event with a 6.7.

CHS Volleyballers Are 14-1

Clinton's volleyball squad continues its excellent season defeating three more opponents.

The Redskins defeated Hudson last Thursday, Morenci last Wednesday and Blissfield on Monday of this week.

Clinton closes out its league season with a match at Morenci this Thursday.

Next Monday, the Skins hold their annual Parent's Night. Refreshments will be provided for the players and their parents at 6 p.m. A match with Britton will follow at 7 p.m.

The score in the Blissfield match was 15-5, 15-7 with Sue Richter scoring eight serving points.

The victory assured Clinton of at least a share of the LCAA League title. They post a 10-1 league mark, 14-1 overall.

The Skins defeated Morenci last Wednesday 15-8, 17-19, 15-10.

Beth Langowski had 15 points and Marcia Camfield had 36 sets.

The junior varsity Redskins won 15-6, 14-16, 15-9.

The Redskins beat Hudson last Thursday 15-6, 15-11. Cathy Gibson had 14 serving points for Clinton.

The Tigers won the junior varsity match-up 12-15, 15-8, 15-6.

On March 8, the Skins travel to Addison for a pre-regional match-up at 7 p.m. A victory there would send Clinton into the regionals to be held at Onsted all day March 11.

Softball Sign-Up

Any men's or women's slo-pitch softball team that desires to get on the Tecumseh Recreation Department waiting list is urged to do so, as teams will be selected according to their order of sign-up.

This does not include teams that were in the league last year.

COMPLAINTS RAISED

Shot at Buzzer Throws Indians into 2nd Place

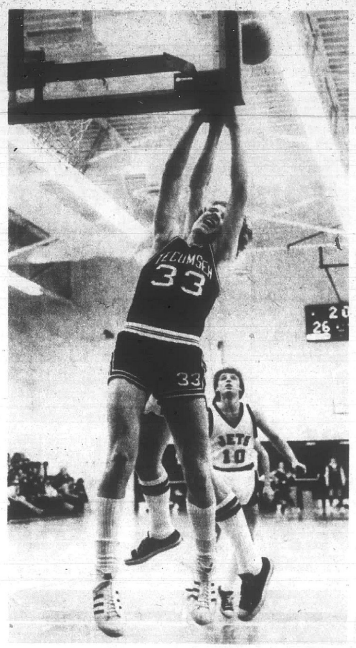
By Frank Weir

Last Friday's Airport-Tecumseh cage game has to go down as one of the more bizarre contests in recent years.

The Indians lost the battle, and the Huron League title, when Airport's Gary Baker swished a 35-footer at the buzzer making the final tally 59-58 in favor of the Jets.

Questions have been raised about everything from the officiating to the scoreboard clock.

Although outspoken after the game Friday, Coach Jim Curth would only say Tuesday, "I don't want to say anything negative about the game. Our kids held their poise great. Ely and Hans played as well as they can and Ely probably played the best game of his career."



But others at the game Friday have questioned the officiating and some maintain that the scoreboard clock at Airport stopped at the two-second mark.

Airport athletic director Joe Hamilton said Tuesday, "A lot of people on both sides said that the officiating 'stunk' and I'll go along with that."

But Hamilton maintained that the Airport scoreboard gives the impression that it has stopped at the two-second mark when it really hasn't. He said that three or four bulbs on the board go off as soon as the 'three' appears. This makes the three resemble a two, Hamilton says. And when the clock flashes the real two, it gives the impression that it has stopped at the two.

Hamilton concluded that the time keeper was a "40-year veteran" and Airport's junior high athletic director counted off the seconds while the time keeper watched the ball.

At any rate several Tecumseh fans still maintain that the clock stopped.

Tecumseh led for most of the game until the fourth quarter when Airport came alive and pulled ahead 46-45 at 5:23 of the fourth quarter.

With around four minutes remaining in the game, an official called a foul on Jeff Hans, his fifth. Curth became angry at the call and was assessed a two-shot technical.

The other official disagreed with the first and the foul was eventually assigned to Richard Cangley. However, the two-shot technical remained.

Hans stayed in the game and sunk a basket with :25 remaining to pull Tecumseh within one 57-56. Bret DesErmia made it 58-57 in favor of Tecumseh with seven seconds remaining.

But the Jet's Baker made the 35-footer at the buzzer stunning everyone in the packed gymnasium.

As would be expected, statistics were close.

Tecumseh made 48 percent of its shots from the floor to 49 percent for the Jets. Both grabbed 22 rebounds. The Indians suffered 17 turnovers to 16 for Airport.

John Ely led Tecumseh in scoring with 24 points. Hans had 22.

With the loss, Tecumseh ended up in second place in the Huron League, behind Airport.

All-League Named

Selections were made this week to the All-Huron League team and Tecumseh's 6'4" senior Jeff Hans was named to the first team.

Bret DesErmia and Richard Cangley were named to the second team while Ben Maves received honorable mention.

CITY SAYS SALE LEGAL

Questions Fly as Council Sells Bidwell Building

Tecumseh city council accepted a sales agreement Monday to sell the Bidwell Building, 102 W. Chicago Blvd., to D.E. Limpert of Manchester for $10,000.

Vote was unanimous among the council members present. Councilmember Carlton Cook was on vacation and absent from the meeting.

Limpert is a general contractor specializing in historic and commercial renovation since 1955. He restored the building known as the Black Sheep Tavern, Manchester and others in the area.

In the sales agreement, Limpert stated he would present plans for exterior renovation and interior re-use of the building for council's approval within 60 days after the city accepted the sales agreement Monday.

Closing date shall be within 15 days from date of final council approval of renovation and re-use plans.

The city did not restrict Limpert in the use of the building. He will be completely responsible for any renovations, repairs or improvements. Use of the building and renovations must meet all existing zoning requirements, statutes and codes.

Limpert told assistant city manager Paul Preston that every effort will be made to obtain a good mix of commercial and retail in the first floor; however, the ultimate use of the building will depend on the market.

Limpert, present Monday night, stated that the first floor would be the "number one priority" to be developed, the second floor would be developed commercially, if possible, or made into apartments. The third floor would be for storage only.

Agreement also stated that Limpert shall not demolish or remove the building without prior written approval of the city.

Robert H. Thornton Jr. P.C. Realtor of Ann Arbor, with Michael McPhilips as authorized broker, will receive $1,000 at the closing for services rendered.

Agreement also stated that purchaser will apply for a building permit within 30 days from closing date and will complete restoration within 180 days from date of the issuing of a building permit by city.

On Feb. 21 after the regular council meeting, Tecumseh city council held an executive session to discuss the sale agreement proposed by D.E. Limpert of Manchester.

The Tecumseh Herald challenged the legality of the closed session under provisions of the Michigan Open Meetings Act, 1976 PA 267.

It states that public bodies may meet in executive session for purchase or lease of realty. It does not state executive sessions may be held to discuss the sale of public property.

Monday night before Council entered into its sale agreement with D.E. Limpert, Council members Len DeMoss and Mary Bowers questioned the city attorney Greg Forsthoefel on this and other points.

He said the city's closed meeting was legal under Section 8 (d) of the act.

"Maybe we didn't cover ourselves on all the technical points," Forsthoefel said after the meeting. But "I'm convinced we were legal under the open meetings act.

The Herald also challenged the city's ability to sell the building without sealed bids.

Section 12.1 of the city charter entitled "Purchases-Contracts-Leases, purchase and sale of property," states: "In all sales or purchases in excess of $500, (a) the sale or purchase shall be approved by the council, (b) sealed bids shall be obtained," etc.

In a letter addressed to city Council, at the request of assistant city manager Paul Preston, city attorney Greg Forsthoefel replied:

"Upon review of Chapter 12 of the City Charter, the legislative history of the Charter Commission, together with Michigan Statutes for home rule cities, the writer is of the opinion that the city may sell or lease real estate commonly called the Bidwell building without the benefit of competitive and sealed bids."

"Then why did we take sealed bids when we sold property on S. Pearl St.?" asked Council member Mary Bowers.

Forsthoefel said that in that case, it was to the advantage of the city. He stated that the charter does not apply to the sale of real estate. He cited the fact that the city also set the price per acre for the sale of industrial park property.

"Then this charter means nothing," Mrs. Bowers said.

An unidentified man, who said he was a Tecumseh area realtor (Larry Carpenter), asked the city if it had appraised the building. "City has nothing on file," Preston stated.

"Wouldn't it be advisable for the city to get it appraised to get a fair market value?" asked Carpenter.

Preston stated "At this point we had no willing offer except this one."

Asked if the city advertised the building for sale, Preston cited newspaper reports of his Jan. 15 report to Council. It was reported in the Tecumseh Herald Jan. 19.

The Herald's Jan. 19 news report mentions that the building was available for restoration, renovation, and renting. It did not mention that the building was for sale nor did Preston's release say it was for sale.

In that early report, he told Council, he mailed out about 75 letters to realtors in the Ann Arbor area "advising them of the availability of the building." In an attempt to attract retail, he personally contacted a number of different retailers. He mailed nearly 100 letters with a plan

EDITORIAL

New Way To Peddle Public Property: No Advertising, No Sealed Bids, No Appraisal

Sale of the Bidwell Building Monday night by Council was illegal, in our opinion.

Sale of the property is justified. The manner in which it was done is highly questionable, and hopefully will not be repeated in the future.

Let's take a look at the City Charter, Chapter 12, Section 12.1: In all sales or purchases in excess of five hundred dollars, (a) the sale or purchase shall be approved by the Council, (b) sealed bids shall be obtained, and (c) the requirements of Section 12.2 shall be complied with.

When the Charter says "all sales," do we interpret "all" to be inclusive and wholly? Or, does the word "all" exclude real estate and real property - and the Bidwell Building?

One would have to assume that sale of real estate is excluded from the "all sales" aspect of the Charter. Our interpretation of the Charter and the word "all" are, therefore, wrong. We must advise G&C Merriam Company, printers of the Webster Dictionary, that its definition of "all" is incorrect.

Since a precedent has been set by our city officials in the sale of the Bidwell Building, other sales of city property can be consummated now by simply going to city hall and making an offer.

Council can merely adjourn under false pretenses to a closed session, discuss your offer and arrange for your purchase. It doesn't make any difference about the bid. It might be high, it might be low, it doesn't have to be competitive. As far as we know, the Bidwell Building, for example, was not even appraised nor does Council have a true value of its worth.

Instead of receiving $10,000 for the property, it is conceivable that two or three times that amount would have been offered in sealed bids. It is also possible, we agree, that a sum less than $10,000 could have been offered, but the transaction would have been above board, and legal.

Some three or four years ago, The Herald was in need of parking space for its employees and attempted to buy the property on which the Kennedy house occupied. This writer inquired about buying the property and was told that sealed bids would be necessary. Such a response was absolutely correct.

Times sure have changed.

Indians Win District, Bow in Regional

Inkster Cherry Hill ended the cage season for the Indians Tuesday night at U-D in Detroit when the hot shooting Spartans romped to a 85-72 regional tournament victory.

Poor shooting from the field and at the foul line contributed to the Tecumseh loss. The Indians were cold, a far cry from their 75-55 performance in bombing Saline Saturday night for the district title.

Cherry Hill raced to a 25-14 quarter lead, stretched it to 43-28 at the half, and went ahead by 19 points at the end three periods, 65-46. Tecumseh scored seven straight points to narrow the margin at the start of the second quarter, but Inkster came right back to tally eight unanswered points.

Scorers for the Indians were Bret DesErmia, 15; John Ely, 13; Lyndon Hughes, 12; Jeff Hans, 11; Ben Maves, 10; Richard Cangley, 5; and Jim Neill, Doug Bohannon and Mark Creswell, 2 each.

Story and pictures of Tecumseh's victory at Saline are on page 12.

84 Called Back at Fisher Body

William J. Polk, plant manager, at Fisher Body Division, GM Corporation, Tecumseh plant, announced today that during the last two weeks some 84 employes were recalled from layoff status.

This represents a call-back of nearly 70 percent of those plant hourly-rated employes (having recall rights) furloughed due to reduced assembly plant requirements and weather factor curtailments, which had great impace on GM and Division operations.

Polk added, "the continuance of the mid-February recovery in auto sales and aversion of serious weather problems will lend itself to further employe call-back by the Tecumseh trim facility."

$24,816 Spent Here by City on Blizzard

City manager Cal Zorn has reported to Council members that in the first two weeks after the snow storm of Jan. 25-27, the city spent $24,816 for snow and ice control and emergency police and fire.

He said he will apply for 75 percent recovery of monies paid to contractors from Jan. 28 to Feb. 1 for snow removal.

Total cost of contractors was approximately $8,000. City will be able to apply for recovery of 75 percent, or $5,840.

February Was Cold

Spring is around the corner, but lest we forget, this winter should come in a close second to the one that set records a year ago.

In January 1977, Tecumseh had 18 days of zero or below temperatures. This recent January was warmer - only seven days of zero to below weather. While January was a bit warmer, the blizzard that hit us on the 26th and 27th left us with snow and ice that continues to dominate the landscape here.

If you recall February 1977, you'll remember a fairly mild month. Not so this year and records at the city's wastewater plant proves it.

During the first nine days of February, our lows ranged from zero to 12 below. From February 13th through the 20th, our lows were zero to 10 below. For the entire month, we had 17 days of zero or below weather, and there were only two days when the lows were above 12 degrees.

Thawing days for January and February, when the mercury was above 32, number just six and the warmest was a 36 on Feb. 24th.

Senior Housing Market Analysis Set for March 9

A market analysis for senior citizen housing in the Tecumseh area will be presented March 9 at 9 a.m. at council chambers, Paul Preston, assistant city manager announced the presentation at the March 6 council meeting.

UNION BUILDING SOLD — Mr. and Mrs. James McCann, owners of The Cake Shoppe, at left, purchased the 128 year old Union Building, 110, 116 W. Chicago Blvd. from Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kohler. One of Tecumseh's senior realtors, Kohler had his office there since 1957 owned the building since 1962 and was largely responsible for its preservation, particularly its interior marble and woodwork. Artifacts will remain with the new owners. The oldest building block in town, it was occupied by numerous businesses. Third floor hall served innumerable social functions. (PHOTO BY FRANK WEIR)

Consider Court for Ruling

Question of whether the City of Tecumseh was legal in its negotiations and sale of the Bidwell Building may well be settled in court.

City officials contend they were legal and proper. The Herald has disagreed as have many others. Officials claim their closed session was legal, the local newspaper says it violated the state's open meeting act; and officials say their sale of the building was legal, and the newspaper claims otherwise.

Cost of having the issue decided in court is prohibitive, possibly as much as $1,000. Is the cost worth a court decision? We're not sure but will decide in the next few days.

for the building to retailers in the Adrian, Ann Arbor areas advising of the availability of the building. No one else replied.

"I tried to cover the waterfront in these areas," Preston stated Monday.

Because Council expressed interest for commercial development of the building, "I was not interested in negotiating with someone who didn't have a track record...and we'd have the building sitting there," Preston replied.

Preston said the purchase price was a figure he suggested "over coffee, based on taxes we had paid. I felt it was a good faith offer from the purchaser."

Regarding the controversy surrounding the executive session, Limpert said Monday "I frankly was a little surprised. Once the offer was presented to this body, I felt the community was entitled to know," he told Council.

"I think its too bad we didn't handle it differently. It left me with a bad taste," said Council member Bowers. She stated she was surprised the realtor sent a press release — stating a "tentative agreement" was reached — to local newspapers after a confidential session was requested.

Request was reportedly made because Limpert was also negotiating for other property, privately owned property, in Tecumseh.

Herald also challenged the city on procedure it used to have the executive session.

The open meetings law states: "Sec. 7 (1)A ⅔ roll call vote of members elected or appointed and serving shall be required to call a closed session, except for the closed sessions permitted under section 8 (a), (b), (c) and (g). The roll call vote and the purpose or purposes for calling the closed session shall be entered into the minutes of the meeting at which the vote is taken."

Those exceptions listed above are (a) dismissal or discipline of a public officer or employee and (b) student, when the person involved requests (c) collective bargaining and (g) partisan caucuses.

According to the minutes of the Feb. 21 city Council meeting, printed in legal notice in the Tecumseh Herald March 2, "Motion Easton and seconded Cook to adjourn to an executive meeting to discuss the suit filed by the Tecumseh Police personnel. Motion carried unanimously."

The minutes did not record a roll call vote, nor a motion to discuss the sale of the Bidwell property.

"What is the purpose of having an executive session if you have to say why you're having it," said attorney Forsthoefel after the Monday meeting.

Two council members, Harold Easton and Mary Bowers, told the Herald they did not know that the sale of the Bidwell buiding was to be discussed at the Feb. 21 executive session.

Forsthoefel stated that he was under the impression that Council was aware that the sale of the property was to be discussed during executive session.

Adopt Resolution

Tecumseh city council adapted a resolution Monday night endorsing the 208 water quality plan for the River Raisin Basin.

The Region II Planning Commission completed the initial planning for the improvement of water quality in the Jackson, Lenawee, Hillsdale Counties.

This effort resulted in a series of reports documenting water quality conditions in the region, discussed alternative solutions to these problems and resulted in a draft of the 208 Areawide Wast Treatment Management Plan in February.

The draft recommends certain actions be taken by local units of government to improve water quality in the region.

The resolution adopted Monday designated Tecumseh as a water quality management agency to carry out those portions of the plan that pertain to the city.

City was also notified that the waste water plant has moved up on the state's priority list from 98 to 14. There were 238 applications for funds.

Theoretically, ranking means that Tecumseh would be ranked higher priority to receive funds available. Ranking is determined by a number of statistics.

2 Patrol Cars Ordered

Tecumseh city council Monday night ordered two new patrol cars for the police department through the state. The Plymouth Fury cars with police package will be bid out by the state cost of each over $5,300.

We're Back - Thank You

The absence of our column may have caught your attention and we are pleased to announce its return and our return to good health.

Dad and I would like to thank all the wonderful people who have in their own way expressed concern for our well being during our recent illnesses. Perhaps you sent a card, or visited in the hospital. Perhaps you sent a lovely floral arrangement or spoke over the phone. Perhaps you did none of these at all, just thought of us. Whatever you did, we thank you for whatever part you played in helping us back on our feet.

As personal experiences may have shown yourself, there is a great deal of strength in the support of your family's visits or the call of a friend. Again our belief, which we have seen time and again by visitation at the funeral home, has been reinforced by our own personal experience. That support certainly helped getting us, especially me, back on our feet.

The funeral offers that very same support. The importance of a funeral is not with how expensive a funeral is, but the importance of a funeral is with how soon a person (or persons) are able to be back on their feet; to be able to lead an organized and purposeful life again.

This is a return of a series of brief articles we hope will be helpful to you. We look forward to your questions and comments. We take this opportunity thank you for whatever part you had in helping us back on our feet.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Last week's article about the screech owl ended with a paragraph explaining how supersensitive sight and almost unbelivable acute hearing combine to make this little 10 inch tall bird an expert hunter.

According to the books this owl has a wide range of food likes. Practically all of his hunting is done during the night and almost anything he catches he will eat.

I was surprised to read that he would tackle bats and even beetles and other large night flying insects. He catches them on the wing which says something for his flying ability.

Like all owls the screech owl has soft feathers which must be a great help in his hunting. The 'feathery edges' of the feathers make his flight absolutely noiseless. As he swoops on an unwary victim, there is no whistling or swishing of wings to give him away.

If our weather ever moderates enough so that people have the urge to be outside and if our mountains of snow diminish enough so that people can move away from the shoveled paths and driveways, The General and His Lady can do a bit of detective work.

Owls swallow their meals whole. The edible portions are digested but bones, skins, fur and other nonedible parts are formed into pellets which are regurgitated.

Often these coughed-up pellets are found at the base of the bird's nest-tree. By careful dissection it is fairly easy to tell what the bird has been eating.

I am not curious enough about our owl's dietary preferences to undertake such a job but, if they want to know, I would be more than glad to have a telephone report.

A statement in the National Geographic's Water, Prey, and Game Birds caught my attention. When talking about the screech owl the book said that he stayed in his hole during the day to escape the crows, jays and cardinals that gather to harass him.

Well, I am not sure about the crows and the cardinals but oh, what I have heard about the jays!

The General and His Lady must have a corner on at least half of the bluejays in Lenawee County. At times they can count 20 to 40.

And harass the poor owl they certainly do. It is part of the morning routine for each and every jay that comes into their yard to fly to the owl's tree and peer into his hole.

Now that the days are getting longer at both ends, my friends find their owl watching routine has changed. The little guy finishes his night's hunt and flies to his home in the oak tree too early for The General and His Lady. However, he obliges them and me by making late afternoon appearances. The telephone is busy at owl waking up time these days.

Although I know 'Hooty' only second-hand, I almost feel we are kindred souls. He does not wake up easily either. According to reports, when he first appears in his front door he is a dumpy, slouched down character with eyes either closed or opened to mere slits. As often as not he drops back into his hole for a bit more waking up. How familiar it sounds.

When finally he 'makes it', he hops out to the small limb right by the front door and prepares to meet the world. His eyes are open and he spends some time ruffling his feathers, twisting and turning, and just generally getting himself together. He appears agitated and nervous. Finally he flies — his strong wings carrying him off for another night of silent hunting.

We are now wondering what the next phase of the owl watching will be. It will soon be mating season. How exciting if I could begin receiving reports about courtship and finally some family raising!

Flour Sold at Home, Satisfied Hungry Abroad

By Kathy Brown

In 1927, Hayden Milling Co. acquired a new location, 314 S. Pearl St., and a new president, Perry Hayden, grandson of William Hayden, Tecumseh's grandmiller for whom the company was named.

During the 1930's, the company's new prepared biscuit flour became popular across the United States. A carload a day was packaged by automated equipment.

Because it was not profitable to hold it, Hayden Milling Co. sold the original mill at M-50 to Henry Ford in 1933 for one dollar. Check is now at Tecumseh Public Library.

Ford razed the 1898 mill and constructed the present structure, patterned after the original Globe Mill. The site became one of Ford's village industries that employed rural youth to make automobile parts. In the 1960's, the small factory was converted into the Tecumseh Community Center.

In 1937, a fire in the boiler room of the S. Pearl St. Hayden Mill caused over $8,000 damage. Mill operations resumed within one week. Production was stepped up to 24-hour shifts to meet demand.

In 1938, a $14,000 addition added 8,000 square feet to mill capacity. That opening day, farmers from 50 miles around, some waiting 13 hours, sold their wheat to Hayden Mills at the premium price of $1 a bushel. Hayden employes logged over 20 hours. Immediate steps were taken to increase receiving capacity.

At the height of mill production in the late 30's and 40's, pancake, cake, self-rising, pastry, whole wheat and graham flours were produced. A grain elevator, feed mixing plant, feed and seed warehouse with nationwide distribution were operated. During the peak season about 50 or more were employed by the industry.

In 1940, a sermon inspired Hayden to illustrate some of the Bible's lessons on "tithing," "rebirth" and "returns on what we sow."

He started the so called "Dynamic Kernels" experiment. Original 360 kernels, planted on a 4 x 8 foot patch, multiplied in six years to 72,150 bushels garnered from 2,666 acres of land. Tithe by the sixth year was $100,000 to 150 different churches.

Henry Ford assisted in the project five years with land, machinery, labor. He personally participated in the harvests. Project was called "the most spectacular international human interest story in the world". National radio hook-ups and newsreels publicized it.

When Henry Ford II succeeded his grandfather, support of "luxury projects", such as the Ford schools and Dynamic Kernels projects, was withdrawn.

Ford land was not available for the last planting so Hayden distributed kernels throughout the country to 250 farmers that agreed to plant, harvest and tithe.

A symbolic crop was planted in the infield at the Lenawee County fairgrounds, Adrian and ceremoniously harvested with antique farm implements. A helicopter flew the grain to Toledo where crackers were made then flown back and distributed to the afternoon crowd.

After World War II, Hayden Mills obtained a government contract to produce flour for worldwide famine relief. Government paid a premium on the market price to encourage wheat production, at its lowest ebb in 20 years due to war and limited rainfall.

After Perry Hayden's death, his wife, Elizabeth, became president of Hayden Mills in 1954. She was grandniece of Woolston Comfort, owner of the old Quaker mill in Raisin.

Industrial changes caused the company to abort its flour operations. For its continuing years, Hayden Mills served its time honored clientele in southeastern Michigan and northern Ohio with bulk feed and seed sales until June 1977, when the S. Pearl St. mill burned.

Mrs. Hayden, active in Tecumseh organizations, resides at 512 W. Logan St.

Restoration on a Grand Scale

CLINTON — One can see historic district restoration on a grand scale on a two-hour mini-bus tour of Savannah, Ga.

The 2½ square mile historic area of Savannah's antebellum houses, presents a diverse assortment of architectural forms.

More than half of the 1,100 designated historic houses have been restored since the district was formed in 1955.

Restoration of the brick, and some frame homes, was accomplished by private individuals — often professional persons establishing their offices therein, and it was all accomplished without federal funds.

Low two percent interest loans from local banks and property tax incentives made the work possible.

In many cases, the severely dilapidated buildings were owned by low-income blacks. For a falling-down relic of a house, one now must pay about $45,000, and renovation costs range from $30,000 to $150,000 in some cases.

When completed, often with elaborately restored iron grillwork, and modern interiors, the period homes are worth $150,000 or more, and apartments now rent for about $300 in them.

Savannah is a charming city, which has been able to retain 20 of its downtown parks, which were laid out by Georgia's founder, James Edward Oglethorpe in the 1700's.

Tour ends with a visit to the Juliette Gordon Low home where she founded the Girl Scouts in 1912.

Among the more than 50 notable restaurants in Savannah is one, which is so well kept a secret by Savannahians that it needs no identifying sign outside.

Located on Jones St. in the street-level of the luxuriously restored brick townhouse, one follows the crowd to find Mrs. Wilke's Boarding House.

Guests are seated at family style tables of 10 and served a bounteous assortment of tasty dishes, all one can eat, at one price, $3.

It's a good chance to chat with local residents, who explain that one is expected to "carry your own" dishes to the kitchen when finished.

Holloway Happenings

By Helen Smoll

HOLLOWAY — Carol Germain hosted the Friendly Neighbors Farm Bureau Tuesday. Cooperative dinner was served.

Mrs. Louis Machan presided at the meeting. Five counties made their membership goals.

Lawrence Smoll gave the minute-man report on "Big Labor's Big Grab." He reported organized labor's bargaining power has materially increased the cost of production such as, fuel, machinery, trucks, fertilizers and other farm chemicals. Labor gets more than half of the cost of transporting, processing, wholesaling and retailing food, he said.

He encouraged members to oppose Senate Bill 1883 by writing a letter immediately to Senators Robert Griffin and Donald Riegle, United States Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Some of the topics discussed, were Citizen's for Reasonable Taxation and energy savings practices.

Hester Wooster led the discussion on "agri-crime". Michigan Farm Bureau, in cooperation with law enforcement agencies, has developed a Rural Crime Prevention Program, offered to county farm bureau members. "Operation Identification" involves the marking of household items and farm equipment, with owner's driver license number.

Mrs. Jay Fisher entertained The Around the Block Extension Monday evening with Mrs. G.W. Calhoun, co-hostess.

"Spring Event" will be held on April 19, 6:30 p.m. at the West Adrian United Church of Christ. Northeast district, clubs will provide food.

Mrs. Jack Silberhorn gave a safety report. Project leaders, Mrs. Elwyn Green and Mrs. Ken Mitchell, presented the lesson on, "When the Lights Go Out."

Mystery prize was won by Mrs. Green.

The Women's Association will have a potluck supper on March 16, 6:30 p.m. in the Raisin Presbyterian Church of Holloway. Hostess will be Mrs. Wilson Sawyer and officers of the Women's Association.

Entertainment will follow.

Mrs. Robert Kerr hosted for the Main St. Extension Club, with Mrs. Ray Moll as cohostess. Ten members were present. Information on the cost of mailing newsletters and also College day for women were discussed.

Child Rearing

Eleanor Weisberger, assistant professor of child development at Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine and child therapist at the Parent Child Center in Beachwood, Ohio will speak about historical trends in childrearing.

Reservations for the luncheon at the Lenawee Country Club may be made by calling Mrs. Robert Bruce, 4547 Clubview Dr., Adrian.

Two Volunteer for 'Eye' Program

Roger Proctor of Tecumseh and Gary Couture of Clinton, funeral directors at Proctor Funeral Homes, are volunteers in the Michigan eye donor program. They respond to donor calls at Tecumseh's Herrick and Adrian's Bixby hospitals.

Last year, 266 people had their vision restored through corneal transplants, an operation made possible through the services of the Michigan Eye Bank, (MEB).

In observance of the services provided, March 5-11 has been designated As "Michigan Eye Bank Week."

The cornea is the normally clear structure at the front of the eye. When it becomes injured or diseased, it turns cloudy.

Vision is restored by replacing the diseased tissue with clear healthy tissue obtained from someone who has donated their eyes.

In the more common corneal diseases, transplant operations are 90 percent successful. However, the success of the operation is dependent upon the quality of the donor tissue.

To insure high quality tissue, it is important that eyes are removed and transported to the Michigan Eye Bank immediately after the donor's death.

MEB is a joint project of the Michigan Lions and the medical centers at the University of Michigan (313) 764-3262, and Wayne State University, (313) 577-1329. Call either for more information.

Stories Stir Controversy - Our Readers Write

To the Editor:

This is a letter of thanks, to you The Herald, for finally having the nerve to question the legality of how our city government is run.

I, as a citizen, have wondered for years why Council can go into a closed session when it seems to benefit them directly or actions that they as Councilmen want to see ruled upon.

As for the police retirement, is the city fighting this solely because they would no longer have a free hand to use the monies as "they" see fit? The money from this retirement system has been used for years by the city to invest and loan as they deem necessary.

The question I'm asking is where does all of the interest from these investments go? The money belongs to the police officers, but they certainly are not getting any of this interest. Is this interest-gain record open for public inspection?

Regarding the sale of the Bidwell Building, again it seems that members of our city government are trying to "pull a fast one" on its citizens. Is this really how a free and open society is run -

"Behind Closed Doors?"

I firmly believe that it is time for the citizens of Tecumseh to wake up to what is going on in their city government, and to possibly reevaluate the candidates for Council before the next election.

To the Members of the Tecumseh School Board:

I wish to make known to you my feelings about the recent events concerning censorship of books read by Tecumseh students which are considered pornographic by some people.

I write as a concerned citizen of this community as well as the parent of two children, one of whom is still a student in the Tecumseh school system. I communicate by letter instead of in person because my work schedule does not permit my attendance at a school board meeting.

Essentially, I support the present policy of book selection and the system of allowing the substitution of books considered distasteful. This policy seems sane, rational and liberal in spirit. Basis to this policy is the position taken which does not require any person to read a book which he or his parents considers distasteful, inappropriate, or even vulgar.

If I correctly interpret the current policy, no one is forced to ready any book against his will.

I find this a salient point as well as a position which I would heartily endorse.

I am convinced that our educational system has a series of checks and balances built into it which serves as a safeguard. I vote for school board members, whom I consider intelligent, sensible people of good judgement. I assume that they in turn will act responsibly in hiring intelligent, sensible teachers for our school system. These teachers are after all, professionals; their judgment in educational matters is and must be different from that of non-professionals.

I do not intend to imply that I think them incapable of occasional lapses of bad judgement, but if bad judgement occurs, our system includes the possibility for redress.

In essence, I would oppose a committee of parents serving as a book selection committee. I think it would be unworkable and inefficient and would ultimately result in detriment to our educational system. I certainly would not want any citizens of this community to act as censors for me or my children unless I had some say (i.e. by vote) in their selection. I emphatically do not want a committee of parents involved in book selection. I am sure, however, that any citizen suggesting a book to be included in a course of study would have his suggestion received with courtesy and respect.

In terms of the issue of what constitutes pornography, to my mind the use of occasional "dirty words" in any book does not constitute pornography. In reality, I am certain that lamentably my daughters have heard more filthy language from their peers in school and out of school than they will ever read in books.

I am also convinced that an important responsibility of education is to present to any student not only the world he knows but also the world he does not know.

Sincerely,
Patricia M. Eby

Dear Sirs:

We would like to congratulate the Herald on its excellent coverage of the incidents relating to the Airport-Tecumseh basketball game on the twenty-fourth. In addition, we hope to bring to public attention the manner in which authorities at the high school followed through under the circumstances.

On Monday, the twenty-seventh, all of the members of the team were called to a vacant classroom to meet with the administrators. The team members were told that if the ones who did the damage would identify themselves and agree to make a restitution, the subject would be dropped.

All of the damages were owned up to, and they checked with Joe Hamilton, the athletic director of Airport. This choice of disciplinary action was made by the administrators.

On Tuesday, the twenty-eighth, another meeting was called, but this time only the players who confessed were called. Principal Clarence Lacny announced the assessment of a three-day suspension. Apparently, this suspension was dictated by members of the school board.

Under normal conditions, the administrators handle all such disciplinary matters. Obviously, outside pressure was directed toward our administrators.

To our reasoning, this demonstrates poor leadership, when the administration breaks its word so easily. Such an action mars our school name for more than the action of a few athletes.

Questioning this uncanny system of justice, we raise the question that if we can not count on our school leaders to act honorably, why should we feel compelled to do so?

Sincerely,
Greg Lewis

On behalf of the eighth grade students who visited the Tecumseh Herald office on Thursday, March 2, we would like to express our thanks to both of you.

We appreciate the time and effort you spent to show the students through the phases of newspaper publishing and printing work.

The students who toured were interested in what they saw and we have received favorable comments about the visit.

Than you again for your time and interest.

To the Editor:

Regarding the Herald's recent article noting the slow response to the "Helping Hand" program; I would like to express my concern about it (and, likewise, have heard others note).

The intention of the program is most noteworthy; however, the pitfall seems to lie in the worry that a child who needs help will feel that he should only go to a home displaying a "Helping Hand" even if the emergency is immediate.

One worries that the child would panic if he could not find a designated house and that someone nearby who could help would be bypassed, with possible harm incurred by the child, while he was frantically seeking an "approved" home.

By singling out specific homes as places to go for help, there is the danger of interpretation that all others would be unsuitable or unable to help in time of need.

Cagers End Season with 20-4 Record

Tecumseh's cagers bowed to a quick Inkster-Cherry Hill team 85-72 on Tuesday this week to end the season with an admirable 20-4 mark.

Last Saturday, the orange and black rolled past Saline 75-55 to win the district championship.

Inkster-Cherrry Hill piled up a sudden 25-14 lead after the first quarter and led 43-28 at the half.

Many in the crowd stated that Tecumseh had a few problems adjusting to the rough-and-tumble style of inner-city basketball.

Some maintained that the officials took the viewpoint, "anything goes."

Tecumseh coach Jim Curth said, "They were so much quicker than us it was unreal. They were a little bigger than us but the key to the ballgame was their quickness."

Curth was pleased with the season however and will sorely miss his eight seniors including Ben Maves, Richard Cangley, Doug Bohannon, Jeff Hans, Bret DesErmia, Pat Davis, Jim Neill and Lyndon Hughes.

That list includes four of the Indians' five starters.

Curth also added, "I want to thank all the fans and the parents for their support this season, particularly when we started tournament play."

Tecumseh did not shoot well connecting on 26 of 68 for 35 percent from the field to Inkster's 36 of 57 for 46 percent. Inkster added 13 of 17 from the line to 18 of 29 charity tosses for the Indians.

Inkster also held the rebounding advantage 39-27.

Bret DesErmia led in scoring for Tecumseh with 15 markers. John Ely had 13, Lyndon Hughes 12, Jeff Hans 11 and Ben Maves 10.

Last Thursday, the Indians easily bumped Monroe Jefferson 65-44 to advance to the District finals.

Ben Maves had 16 points in the battle while Bret DesErmia had 13 and Hans 11.

Although fired-up and backed by an enthusiastic group of fans, Saline managed to stay with Tecumseh for only the first quarter in the district championship Saturday.

With five minutes left in the first frame, the Indians found themselves trailing 8-2 but pulled within one 14-13 by the end of the frame.

The orange and black came alive in the second and third periods putting on an impressive display of speed and shooting. They outscored the hapless Hornets 24-8 in the second period to lead 37-22 at the ahlf and 20-13 in the third quarter.

The Indians' defense forced Saline to shoot from the outside and the Hornets were not very successful to say the least. Tecumseh could hardly miss. Bret DesErmia was particularly tough from the outside corners dumping 20-footers time and time again.

For the evening Tecumseh connected on 31 of 52 for 60 percent. Saline could only manage 22 of 69 for 32 percent.

Hans had 14 of the team's 40 rebounds. Saline picked off 23. Hans led in scoring as well with 22 markers while DesErmia had 16, John Ely 13 and Lyndon Hughes 12.

Last Thursday, the Indians easily bumped Monroe Jefferson 65-44 to advance to the District finals.

Ben Maves had 16 points in the battle while Bret DesErmia had 13 and Hans 11.

Score By Quarters

Tecumseh	14	14	18	26—72
Inkster	25	18	22	20—85

Scoring for Tecumseh against Inkster: DesErmia 5 5 15; Hans 3 5 11; Ely 5 3 13; Cangley 2 1 5; Maves 4 2 10; Hughes 6 0 12; Creswell 1 0 2; Bohannon 1 0 2; Neill 0 2 2. Total 27 18 72.

Volleyballers Host Regional

The Indians picked up three wins in volleyball action recently.

They defeated New Boston Huron last Wednesday 15-7, 15-1, Adrian Thursday 15-13, 15-8 and Flat Rock on Monday of this week 13-15, 15-3, 15-5.

The wins gave the orange and black a 13-5 overall record, 10-5 in the Huron League. They are third in the league behind St. Marys and Monroe Jefferson.

Sheila Bilmeyer had 11 serving points against Huron while Gloria Fosbender came up with 16 serving points against Flat Rock.

Tecumseh won the junior varsity match-up against Flat Rock 15-11, 15-6. Donna Bohannon had eight and Kathy Stuart seven serving points.

The Indians traveled to Chelsea on Wednesday night for a pre-regional match. If they won there, they would enter regional play this Saturday. Tecumseh is hosting the regional.

The Indians would open regional play at 1 p.m. Saturday if they won Wednesday.

Tories Split Pair

Britton's volleyball squad closed out its regular season by beating Dundee last Thursday and falling to Clinton on Monday.

Final tally against Dundee was 15-4, 15-6 and 15-5, 8-15, 15-10.

Redskins Defeated in Finals

Although Clinton's cagers squeezed past Michigan Center 54-51 in semi-final district basketball play last Wednesday, they couldn't do the same Saturday night.

The Redskins fell to East Jackson 56-47 ending the season with a 14-7 mark.

Clinton played even with East Jackson for the first quarter and led 26-23 at the half.

Clinton's only loss this season was against Addison. Another loss would prevent Clinton from attending regional play.

Bank Directors Approve New Dividend Policy

Directors of United Savings Bank last week approved a 45-cent dividend, payable April 1, and new policy regarding future dividend payments.

This year's first quarterly dividend for each share of stock is payable to shareholders of record on March 15.

Kenneth C. McElroy, chairman of the bank's board, says the new dividend policy will be effective this year. Policy is to declare and pay four quarterly dividends within the calendar year.

Additional dividend checks, representing the last three quarterly payments for 1978, will be sent June 15, Sept. 15 and Dec. 15. Since the bank paid dividends on Jan. 2, shareholders can anticipate five dividend checks this year.

Mr. McElroy says the bank expects to continue its policy relative to total yearly dividends being in the range of 42-45 percent of net income. Based on current projections, he states that it is possible that the Dec. 15 dividend will be somewhat larger than those paid for the first three quarters.

Annual shareholders meeting of the bank will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Require 200 Units for Senior Housing

by Kathy Brown

Unmet housing demand for elderly in Tecumseh is 200 units, according to a recent market analysis for the city of Tecumseh on elderly housing.

Study was prepared by Richard D. Masters of Masters and Associates of Lorain, Ohio. Cost was $3,000.

Purpose of the study was to determine the market for [illegible] and meet the requirements of Farmers Home Administration. Such a study will give the city an advantage in applying for funds.

The Tecumseh housing commission will discuss the survey and preapplication for funding from Farmers Home Administration at a meeting Thursday at 9 a.m. at city hall. Meeting was rescheduled from last week.

Members of the Tecumseh housing commission are: James Daly, Roger Proctor, Nancy Nichols, Jens K. Touborg and Paul Fackler.

While the study's conclusion that there is a need for senior citizen housing is not a [illegible] surprise, officials feel the number of units recommended was a surprise. Previous estimates of demand were between 50-100 units.

The market study recommended demand will increase another 40 units in two years. By 1984, 350 units will be needed, the report said.

Jeff Hans, 6'4" senior forward on Tecumseh's outstanding basketball team this season, has been selected on Class B's all-state team. Hans was a top scorer, top rebounder and quick enough to play a guard post. It's probably the first time ever that the Indians have had an all-stater in both basketball and football. Jeff Anderson gained such honors on the gridiron.

Bank Picks Architects

Daniels and Zermack Associates, Inc., has been selected by United Savings Bank for designing and planning the bank's new main office here, Kenneth C. McElroy, bank board chairman, announces.

The 27-year-old Ann Arbor firm's speciality is financial institutions and has designed approximately 300 such buildings throughout the Midwest.

Irish Hills branch of State Savings Bank of Clinton was designed by Daniels and Zermack.

Old Vescio property on E. Chicago Blvd. is the site for a new main office for USB.

Bloodmobile Visit Today at Center

Goal is 100 pints. This is the only drive at the community center this year. Senior citizen center will be closed due to the Bloodmobile.

Any adult between the ages of 18 and 65 may donate blood. Process takes about 45 minutes. Actual donation takes 10 minutes. Seventeen year olds must have parent's permission. Persons on certain medication or with health problems cannot be accepted.

When blood is given — less than a pint — it is quickly replaced. Donors should take a regular meal time before giving blood.

EXPECT FILING THIS WEEK

Suit against City Council for Sale, Closed Session

A lawsuit against Council will be filed Thursday or Friday in Adrian, The Herald learned Monday afternoon.

The suit will challenge city officials handling of the sale of the Bidwell Building and Council's adjournment to a closed session on Feb. 21. Other details of the suit are not known at this time.

For the past two weeks, The Herald has been critical of the closed session and method of selling the building. Last week, the local newspaper indicated that it was contemplating a suit to determine if Council's actions were legal.

Saturday, The Herald decided to proceed with its suit, only to withdraw when it learned another party had also instigated action. The Herald is not involved in any way with the suit scheduled for filing today or tomorrow.

Since the Feb. 21 closed session and later discovery that Council was acting to sell the Bidwell Building, The Herald's position has received considerable support. There have been offers to help finance the cost of a suit.

Support even came from Florida where a local resident called Monday evening and promised to back the newspaper, including financial support.

If for some reason that a suit is not filed this week in Adrian, The Herald will file and will accept backing of businessmen and residents.

All parties, including The Herald, agree that the city should sell the building. It's generally agreed that the city should never have accepted it as a gift in the first place.

In 1976 Gladys Robideau purchased the property for $40,000 and later gave it to the city. Since then there have been a number of remodeling and restoration proposals for the building, but all rather costly. The Herald does not know when attempts to remodel the building were abandoned nor does the newspaper know when the city decided to sell it.

The Herald first learned that the building was for sale when an Ann Arbor real estate firm sent the paper a news release after the closed session, announcing a tentative sales agreement. The sale, not publicized, was discussed at the closed session on Feb. 21, when officials adjourned from their regular meeting to "discuss a suit against Council by the police."

Discussions with officials the past week did not change The Herald's opinion that sale of the building and closed session were illegal.

$240 CASH TAKEN

Gunman Holds Up Store, Threatens Two Customers

A lone gunman - youthful, slender and wearing a ski mask - held up Barry Seidel at Merkel-Seidel Furniture Saturday afternoon and made off with $245 in cash.

I couldn't believe it, remarked Seidel, in describing the armed robbery that took place about 3 p.m. and with three customers in the store.

According to Seidel, he was waiting on a customer near the office department of the store when he first noticed the youth enter through the side door off the Vescio parking lot.

He proceeded to the steps leading upstairs to the house section of the store, went upstairs and ordered two women there to the first floor, saying "Hurry up, I don't have all day."

The youth then returned to the first floor, walked past Seidel and his customer, apparently to see if customers were in the back of the store.

When Seidel asked him if he could help him, the young gunman wheeled around, pulled a handgun from beneath his jacket, pointed it at Seidel and said, "You know what this is for."

About this time the two women customers had reached the first floor, saw what was going on and fled towards the front door on E. Chicago Blvd. The youth shouted at them to stop, or "I'll blow your heads off."

The two women continued outward, rushed to a nearby barbershop where Joe Gregory called the police. In the meantime, Seidel had handed over the store's cash in a money bag, and the robber fled out the side door towards Vescio's.

Mrs. Seidel happened to be pulling into the parking lot and nearly hit the running youth. She later remarked that she saw the store's money bag in his hand and was suspicious.

Merlin Mowery, police chief, says the police have little to go on, and there are no suspects. Besides the ski mask, the youth also wore gloves. There are no clues as to whether the gunman had an accomplice in a waiting car, or even that he made his getaway in a car.

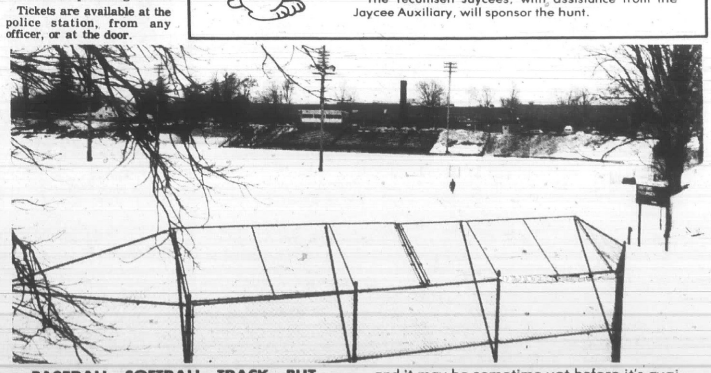
Jaycees Sponsoring Easter Egg Hunt

The Easter Bunny is coming to the Tecumseh Park, the Pit, on Adrian St., on March 25, at 1 p.m.

One hundred dozen eggs will be hidden in the park for children ages 1-10 to hunt. Prizes will be given.

The Tecumseh Jaycees, with assistance from the Jaycee Auxiliary, will sponsor the hunt.



BASEBALL, SOFTBALL, TRACK...BUT — Although hundreds of Tecumseh High School athletes would love to get outside and workout, January's blizzard continues to be with us. A year ago, this athletic field was clear of snow and full of activity, but not today, and it may be sometime yet before it's available for spring sports. While recent days of temperatures in the 30s and 40s and a rain Monday have cleared away much snow, there's still too much as the photo shows.

Study Shows Need for Senior Housing

These conclusions were based on analysis of available data, organized in the study. Data included the Tecumseh Land Use Plan, Regional Housing Element and Region II Planning Commission Study, an academic study by former Tecumseh resident Robert J. Bonner, census data, zoning ordinances and building permits. Interviews were conducted with local real estate agents, apartment officials.

Findings that supports the conclusion are:

+Elderly population of 65 and over in the city is approximately 10 percent and continues to grow. Elderly population 60 and over in Lenawee County is 14 percent.

+Households have grown smaller in the past 10 years, average size decreasing from 3.5 to 3.0 persons per household. Decrease in size will add to demand on existing housing.

+A 1975 survey of approximately six percent of the elderly showed over 75 percent interviewed would move to senior citizen housing, if built.

+Low income elderly (75 percent of those interviewed had an income under $6,000) will be increasingly priced out of the housing market.

+Waiting list in Adrian for senior citizen housing there is in excess of 100 names. Thirty percent of the present occupants of Adrian senior citizen housing are former Tecumseh residents. There is no housing unit specifically for the elderly in Tecumseh.

The study concludes that the tight housing market in Tecumseh is created by small, young families and retirees attracted to the small town. In 1974, rate of vacancy in single family homes was one percent, and six percent for rentals.

Elderly persons on a fixed income are forced to maintain homes or private rentals. There is a small number of inexpensive rental units in the area.

These homes are too big, too expensive to maintain by the elderly. Utilities are vostly and mortgages are difficult to get.

Study also indicated that a well designed elderly housing project will create new demand as people have an opportunity to become familiar with its operation and advantages.

The study also analyzed the eight-acre site on Adrian Street donated in 1976 for the city's elderly housing project by Jens Touborg.

Project planned for the site is known as "Orchard Terrace." Original design was for 60 units. Maximum units it could support is estimated at 90. No cost estimates are available for construction or rental at this time. Property is zoned residential-multiple units.

Masters' study said the site conforms with the city and regional housing goals to provide low and moderate income housing for the elderly in an environment compatible with existing housing and with necessary opportunities and services.

Three Accidents, Three Are Cited

March 9 - Police cited Roger P. Reed, 32, of Jackson for failing to yield after he collided with Hazel L. Bush, 73, of 9264 Welch Rd., in the intersection of Maumee and Logan Streets.

On Saturday, Donald L. Dowling, 20, of Adrian reportedly ran a yield sign on Maple and struck an auto driven by Lori L. Burkhardt, 17, of 705 Russell Square. The Burkhardt auto was eastbound on Pottawatamie.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

Mourning doves are birds about whom there is little indifference. People are either fans or foes, few are in-between. Mom and I enjoy them thoroughly and it is a good thing because this winter our resident flock of mourning doves has been large. Larger than ever before.

Many people who feed birds are reporting the same thing. Large flocks of mourning doves seem to be all over and it is not unusual to hear numbers such as 20 and 25.

Believe me, 25 mourning doves in one group is 'a lot of' mourning dove. There are questions about our winter doves. Some who are entertaining doves now have not noticed them in past winters. We have always fed them but not in such numbers.

Most books agree that this is a migrating bird and thus it would appear that perhaps the birds we see billing and cooing in the springtime and who show such a fondness for sitting side by each on utility wires during the warm weather months are not the same birds who are mobbing our feeders this winter. In other words, the summer gang has moved south and the flocks we are currently seeing are from further north.

Whether in winter or summer mourning doves seem to spend an extraordinary amount of time just simply perched on a tree limb, wire, or fence rail doing nothing. Such patience.

Sometimes, when the sun is bright and warm, it is easy to believe that the doves parked in the trees are sunbathing; however, when the wind is strong and raw the birds can look so uncomfortable and miserable that one can only wonder why they are out in the open and not tucked snugly into a thick evergreen or tangle of bushes.

I am looking at such a mourning dove now and wondering why he is sitting out in the open. His usually long and graceful neck is pulled in until his little head seems to be resting on his shoulders. The feathers on his round plump body are fluffed out, he looks about twice as big as he should. In fact, were it not for the long skinny tail this bird is so hunched up & fluffed out that it looks as though we have a football perched along the limb.

According to the books the fluffed out feathers trap air next to his body keeping him warm. It is nice to know there is a reason for his unkempt appearance. The tail at the end of the 'football' is so skinny that it is hard to believe he has the usual compliment of 14 tail feathers.

Of course, perhaps he doesn't. These birds are poorly equipped to handle our bad winter weather. Many times this year we have seen mourning doves with ice frozen to their tails. We have also seen some with missing tail feathers.

One I particularly remember — as he came in for a landing at the food trays his tail was fanned wide open showing that one of the long middle feathers was missing. It is quite possible it had frozen to a branch and when the bird flew away the feather stayed put.

We take mourning doves so for granted, at least I am apt to, that the bird books are often brought into play. A shame too for some of the reading is quite interesting. One book explains the head bobbing or nodding as the dove walks. Actually, they call it a "mincing gait" which I think is great, so descriptive.

This book claims that the bird pushes his head out before each step and holds it there "while the body catches up." The advantage is that holding the head steady for a moment gives the bird better vision than he would have were the head moving. Unfortunately they do not say what he is supposed to be looking at or for.

Two Paintings Donated to Society

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Partridge, all of Tipton, were acknowledged Tuesday night at an informal reception given by the Tecumseh Area Historical Society in the Clara Waldron history room of the Tecumseh Public Library.

The families donated two paintings by Michigan artist Lavern F. Wheeler. Both paintings are on permanent loan to the library.

The Curtis Family donated an untitled portrait of two little girls, painted in 1875. "The Artist's Dream," painted in 1863, was donated by the family of Mel and Emma Partridge, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Partridge of Tipton and Mr. and Mrs. Russell partridge of Brentwood, Calif.

Not a great deal is known about Wheeler or his works. From Clara Waldron's Herald newspaper column, "Is That So" and from a book on Michigan artists, and the back of one of the paintings, Betty Kline, president of the historical society, pieced together some information.

Lavern F. Wheeler was a native Detroiter and later a Tecumseh resident. He was a photographer by profession; an art teacher and portrait and landscape artist by avocation. Wheeler lived with his mother for many years in a small house in Tecumseh near the Methodist parsonage located then at Chicago and Pearl St.

"The Artist's Dream" was a copy of the original. Sometime in 1868, Wheeler raffled the picture and a smaller one of a scene on Esopus Creek, Ulster County, N.Y. Tickets sold at 50 cents a chance.

Shortly before his marriage, James Ingersoll bought a ticket on each picture. He won both. The two paintings were part of the Ingersoll home until Edith L. Ingersoll, a Tecumseh librarian, made a gift of "The Artist's Dream" to the Partridges on Jan. 30, 1954.

The painting hung over the Partridge family mantle in their Pearl St. home until Mrs. Partridge died.

The artistic work that brought Wheeler the most recognition locally was the Sutton Opera House curtain and scenery, considered to be executed in the best style of the period.

The Sutton Opera House was built in 1878 and later became the Strand (movie) Theater until 1968. Now it is the site of the Gambles store.

A portrait of Shakespeare with the quotation, "All the world's a stage" was painted atop the heavy red velvet stage drapes.

A Rhine landscape, complete with the Ehrenbreitstein Castle, was depicted. The 10 sets were intended to serve the needs of any professional or amateur theater, concert, lecture, commencement, etc.

The sets consisted of a drawing room, complete with tasseled draperies and elaborate doorways, forest scene, kitchen, balcony, a street, a dungeon, a "common room," a rocky pass, and a garden landscape of roses climbing over pink brick walls, perhaps the most used with seemingly half the plays opening amid its bowers.

With some reinforcement, the sets served the Sutton Opera House until the movie screen of the Strand Theater replaced them. In 1960 one of the sets was found and used for a little theater play.

Wheeler's work for the opera house was apparently appreciated outside the local area as it brought him at least one commission to do another set of scenery, reportedly "with complete satisfaction."

Deaf May Phone for Police Help

A telephone that enables deaf people to "talk" with State Troopers at Lansing is now in operation according to State Police Director Col. Gerald L. Hough.

Installation at the Lansing post in the state secondary complex will make it possible for the deaf to call in and communicate by means of a telephone typewriter called TTY. Unit was paid for by the Lions of District 11-C2 (Central Michigan).

A deaf person having a TTY unit can dial the Lansing post number. This activates the receiving set where the officer, on duty is alerted to an incoming deaf call. Messages may then be typed between units. Staelens says there are approximately 30 deaf people in the greater Lansing area that have the TTY sets.

68 Years Celebrated

Camp Fire Girls, the first such organization for girls, was founded in 1910 by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick. They organized a program for girls that allowed them the kind of experimental opportunities that only boys had been given up to that time.

The program, based in part on Indian lore and love for the out-of-doors, gave young people the "playing field" to grow into the best of what they naturally are and wanted to be.

The program has been expanded to offer all youth opportunities to help youth realize their personal potential as concerned, self-directed individuals.

Right now programs are in Tecumseh, Britton and Clinton. Celebrations and programs are being planned in each of these areas during March and April. Camp Fire is 1,000 strong in the area.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

I am often asked were I find the recipes for this column. Most are sent to me by the readers but others are found in magazines, on the backs of canned goods, and in numerous recipe books and pamphlets I have accumulated. Here are two I tried this week.

While paging through my recipes I came across this casserole from a circular published 10 years ago. This was delicious and a big hit with my family. Can be made ahead and frozen.

WESTERN HOSPITALITY CASSEROLE

4 pounds lean stewing beef, cut in 1 inch cubes
¾ cup flour
2 teaspoon salt
½ cup vegetable oil
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 (6 ounce) tomato paste
1½ cup dry red wine
3 cups water
1 teaspoon thyme
2 bay leaves
2 (4 ounce) cans mushrooms stems and pieces, undrained
1 (8 ounce) egg noodle bows, cooked and drained
3 cups shredded Cheddar cheese

Coat meat with flour and salt. In large Dutch oven brown meat in oil at medium temperature. Add garlic, tomato paste, wine, water, thyme and bay leaf. Cover; simmer 1½ hours or until meat is tender; remove bay leaves. Stir in mushrooms and noodles; divide mixture in half and pour into two 12x8x2 inch baking dishes.

To freeze: wrap in freezing paper and freeze. Early in day to be served, thaw at room temperature. About 1¼ hours before serving, unwrap and cover with foil. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Uncover. Border each with half of cheese. Bake 15 minutes longer. 12 servings.

Note: I prepared this on day to be served. I cut recipe in half, eliminated freezing instructions and baked according to directions. Excellent!!

Keep this springtime dessert in mind for Easter dinner. It can be made ahead and no baking involved so it would be great for summer entertaining, too. I found this in a recent magazine.

LIME CHIFFON DESSERT

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 (3 ounce) package lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 (14 ounce) sweetened condensed milk
1 (8 ounce) can crushed pineapple, undrained
2 teaspoons reconstituted lime juice
4 cups miniature marshmallows
1 cup (½ pint) whipping cream, whipped Lime twists, optional.

In sauce pan, melt butter, stir in crumbs. Pat firmly on bottom of 9 inch square pan. Chill. In large bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water; stir in condensed milk, pineapple and lime juice. Fold in marshmallows and whipped cream. Pour into prepared pan. Chill 2 hours or until set. Garnish with lime twists. Refrigerate leftovers.

Responsibility, Confidence Needed

Escape from responsibility is often the reason people begin to use drugs. This habit results in such crimes as the sale of heroin, writing bad checks, breaking and entering and other crimes of theft.

Dennis Keitzman, owner of the "Living Water Coffee House," made these observations and spoke about his work with young people of the area, at the March 6 meeting of the Tecumseh Monday Club at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Keitzman, a former drug addict himself has committed himself to God. The Living Water Coffee House is state incorporated, self-supporting, non-profit and a crime prevention organization.

Keitzman works to develop a positive character healing and physical healing as needed. An inward change is necessary for an outward change and the establishment of faith in themselves, he told the women. Changes are needed for the body, emotions and the soul. Music is used as a theraputic agent and the young respond to it.

Keitzman works with those in prison on a one to one basis with much success. He does juvenile and marriage counseling, too.

Mrs. Harold Sisson assisted by Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. Harold Bowen and Helen Bowen, served refreshments. Tea table was decorated with spring flowers and a St. Patrick's Day theme. Twenty-eight members and guests were present. Ruth Kuder called the meeting to order and Mrs. Merrick Dibble introduced the guest speaker.

Next meeting is March 20 at 2 p.m. in St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Richard Marks of Richard Marks Stained Glass Studio and Gallery will talk about the art of making stained glass windows. Guests are welcome.

CLINTON — Sexton Joe O'Donnell of Riverside Cemetery, recently received a letter from Santa Monica, Calif., with a check for $300 enclosed from Eugene and Ruth Kimball Rosacrans and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Amos F. Paley of Grand Rapids, Mich.

"To help you buy the things you need," for the chapel at Riverside, the letter explained.

Mrs. Rosacrans noted, "It was built the year I graduated. I remember how hard the ladies of the Clinton Culture Club worked to raise the money.

"My father L.W. Kimball was on the cemetery board for many years and I remember of his speaking of the chapel many times.

"This check is given in memory of our parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Kimball and our grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Smith, who were early settlers in Clinton.

Discuss History of Canton China

CLINTON — The history of Canton china was discussed by Thomas Forshee for members of the Clinton Woman's Club, last Wednesday.

An expert on oriental and early English china, Forshee owns the Antique Boutique in Ann Arbor.

He illustrated his talk with a table full of precious Canton pieces.

Canton china, if not cracked, has a crystal-like ring when struck. The color is never pure white. All is hand painted under glaze. No two are alike since whole families including the children, take part in the artistry.

It is not glazed on the rims and often not on the back of the plates.

Until 1891 they were not marked.

Although Sir Thomas Minton designed blue willow ware in 1785 with pagodas, bridges, men and mountains as designs, his pattern was a copy of Canton ware designed centuries before in China.

Because this ware was heavy, it was good ballast for sailing ships and clippers since seawater couldn't damage it.

Though the Chinese began making china in the 11th century, trade was not opened with the Portugese until the 15th century; the Dutch in the 17th century, British in 18th century and the Americans were prevented from trade with China until after the Revolutionary War.

By the 19th century America dominated the trade with China.

At the business meeting officers were elected for the 1978-79 year. They are: president, Mrs. James Chellman; first vice-president, Mrs. Harlin Fraumann; second vice-president, Mrs. A.L. Cahill; recording secretary, Mrs. Genevieve Reilly; corresponsing secretary, Mrs. Daniel Goodman; treasurer, Mrs. Lauren Dornes; and parliamentarian, Mrs. Richard Broniman.

Elected to the board of directors are Mrs. Alfred Cewhy, Ruth Davis, Mrs. Dwight Service and Mrs. George Wolf.

St. Patrick's Day motif decorated the tea table arranged by the social committee, Mrs. Alwin Wahl, Mrs. John DeKany and Mrs. David Hough.

April 12 meeting will be at 7 p.m. in the Lyster Hall of St. John's Episcopal Church. Program will be open to the public at 7:30 p.m. and will feature a talk by Vernor Fry on Solar Heat: Alternative Methods of Heat Supplementation.

Tour Restored Scott Home

CLINTON — An informative talk by Martin Scott about paintings was a feature of the Historical Society of Clinton meeting, Thursday evening.

Members toured the recently restored Scott home, on E. Michigan Ave., formerly owned by Leora Kane.

Built in 1912 by the Reiser family, one of the nicest features was the carved pine kitchen cabinets.

When Sharon Scott wanted more cabinets as she modernized the kitchen, she was able to find a 40-year old stock pile of yellow pine at a Tecumseh lumber yard. Carpenter was able to build matching cabinets and even chiseled matching designs to blend with the original cabinets.

A display of photos showed the progress of the house restoration.

Mr. Scott described the process of restoring paintings, cleaning techniques and the repair of canvas. Dirt and somepimes bubbles can be removed.

Nominating committee of Stan Gibbard, Shirley Fraley and Sally Scheer were named to report at the April 11 meeting.

New members, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holt and Mr. and Mrs. James Meeks, were welcomed. Marilyn Randall was a guest.

Shirley Fraley reported that she will work with the Clinton fourth grade in several sessions of Clinton history.

She will present slides of Clinton houses, depicting the various housing styles used in the development of the village; conduct the students on walking tours of the houses, local churches of historic interest and Atlas Mill. The inside of some of the homes may be included for architectural details.

Mrs. Guy Hoover will tell the fourth graders about local Indian history, the history of Clinton Inn and will take them on a tour of Greenfield Village to see the restored Inn.

Mrs. Charles Allen has recently donated several pictures to the Society, including the Clinton Centennial, old Clinton businesses, the 1905 school building, now gone; and others of historic interest.

Lenawee County Historical Society will publish in one volume a copy of the 1874, 1893 and 1916 Atlases of the county. Advance orders at $16 are to be placed with Shirley Fraley.

Norman Campbell is preparing a history of the old Campbell dairy in Clinton, to be presented at a later meeting.

Readers Write

To the Editor:

I am a college sophomore who, while home for the weekend, was surprised to discover that some parents consider Dick Gregory's book, Nigger, pornography. I too read the book as a student at T.H.S.

As I remember the book, the language was terrible. However, this is an autobiography, not a story someone made up. Because of this I was allowed to read the book. After all, this book only portrays the world as it really is.

As a born again Christian I feel a responsibility to be aware of the conditions that exist in this world, no matter how ugly they may be. Perhaps instead of trying to ban the book the parents involved might use it to point out the results of sin in the world, and consider their responsibility to do something about these conditions.

Sincerely,
Loraine Stevens

To the Editor:

I have just finished reading my copy of the March 9th edition of The Tecumseh Herald and I feel compelled to offer my comments on your sports editorials.

I am confused as to why your sports editor shows such partiality to certain sports at Tecumseh High School. I believe a newspaper should be unbiased in their reporting and that is definitely not the case with The Tecumseh Herald.

In particular, I resent the fact that the wrestling team has been virtually ignored all season. For the information of readers who do not follow the wrestling team's progress, I would like them to know that the wrestlers finished 2nd in their league (same as the basketball team), losing only to New Boston Huron who are the Class B State Champions.

Tecumseh has some outstanding boys in this program, but they get no recognition for their hard work and accomplishments. I believe the lack of interest and recognition is detrimental to the wrestling program as the younger boys lose interest in progressing because they know they won't get any attention. Everyone likes to be recognized for their accomplishments and they deserve to be.

Three weeks ago there were lovely pictures of each senior on the basketball team, yet the wrestler who participated in the state tournament did not rate more than a sentence in a small article on the sports page. Last week there were five action pictures of the basketball team and this week there are four pictures. The wrestlers rated a team picture and one action picture all year. What about the four boys who went to the regional tournament, which by the way is the toughest region in the state, don't they deserve special recognition?

I hold no animosity for the basketball team and refer to them only because they are the recipients of your enthusiasm and get the lions share of the attention.

It is too late for this year, but please remember that Tecumseh has a wrestling team that wants and deserves some recognition next season. Some 35-40 boys will appreciate it - not to mention their parents and fans.

Thank you for listening,

Frances DeHaan

All letters must be signed, and name can be withheld on request, if request is justified. Relative to this letter, it appears that The Herald neglected the wrestlers here, and we apologize.)

Distribute Palm Branches at Celebration

Palm Sunday will be celebrated at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church with the traditional distribution of palms at the Saturday evening liturgy at 5:30 p.m. and Sunday morning liturgy at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m.

The palm branches can be compared to crepe paper and confetti used to welcome a hero today. Palm Sunday commemorates Jesus' triumphant entry in to Jerusalem. The common people welcomed him as a hero with palms. Later in Christianity, the palm branch became the symbol of martyrdom.

The palm branches that are distributed remind the faithful of the fickleness of people. A few days after his welcome, Jesus was condemned to death. The liturgy will reflect the individual's responsibility for Jesus' death and the necessity of eliminating evil from the world.

Pascal meal will be celebrated at St. Elizabeth Church at 6 p.m. March 22 at the school gym. Meal is a reenactment of the Passover Meal during which Jesus gave the Eucharist. All parishoners are invited. Reservations are necessary.

Bulletin will have more details.

Mass of the Lord's Supper will be Holy Thursday, March 23 at 7 p.m. at the church.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

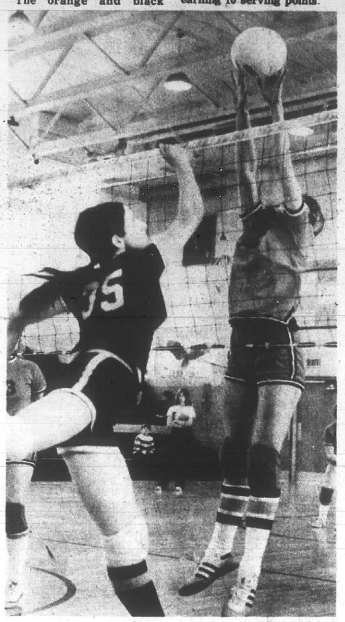
Indians Can't Get Past St. Mary's

Tecumseh closed out its volleyball season losing to Monroe St. mary in the regional semi-finals Saturday.

The regionals were hosted by the Indians.

The orange and black earned the right to play in the regionals by beating Chelsea last Wednesday in a pre-regional match-up.

Final tally in that game was 15-4, 15-5 with Sandy Dunn earning 10 serving points.



Tecumseh started regional play by beating Columbia Central on Saturday 15-9, 15-13.

Jill Greenfield had 12 serving points and Debbie Steadley, eight.

The Indians fell to Monroe St. Mary in the semi-finals 15-9, 15-7 with Sandy MacGeorge scoring 10 serving points.

St. Mary went on to lose to Saline in the regional finale.

Coach Denise Knuth said of regional play, "We were so fired-up for Columbia Central and I think it was one of our best games of the season. But St. Mary was fired-up for us. It's so psychological, just the name 'St. Mary's,' we get out there and freeze almost."

Tecumseh ended the season with a 15-6 overall record, 10-5 in the Huron League. Monroe Jefferson and St. Mary tied for first in the league, while Tecumseh was second.

3 Are All-League

All-Huron League volleyball selections were announced this week and three Tecumseh players were honored.

Clinton closed out its season with a 16-2 mark.

Britton Tories Drop Title Game

Britton's volleyball squad fought its way to the Class D regional finals last Saturday only to lose the championship contest.

The regional was held at Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard High School.

The Tories began the day playing Taylor Baptist Park winning easily 15-1, 15-7. Kim Cottrell and Janelle Schultz each had six serving points while Janene Schultz was the top setter and Sue Williams did a good job spiking and blocking.

Britton went on to play Southfield Christian next having a tougher time of it. They prevailed in the end, however, 15-9, 16-14. Cottrell again led in serving with 11 points followed by sophomore Judy Frayer with nine.

Janene Schultz did a fine job setting in the game while Pat Armstrong and Cottrell were strong at the net according to coach Peggy Raeburn.

It took the Tories three games to win the semi-finals over Grass Lake 10-15, 15-4, 15-12. Janene Schultz had 10 serving points, Frayer nine and Janelle Schultz eight.

Cottrell and Armstrong each added six.

The Grass Lake contest was especially costly for Britton since Cottrell sprained her ankle late in the final game.

Coach Raeburn felt that the injury hurt the team emotionally. In addition, two other girls, including starter Peggy Squires had to leave to perform in the senior play.

Britton faced Ann Arbor Greenhills in the regional finals undermanned. And they couldn't generate much of an offense losing the championship, 15-3, 15-6.

Frayer had four serving points in that contest.

Britton completed its season with a 15-11 overall mark, 5-7 in the Tri-County League. They finished in the fifth spot in the Tri-County League.

3 Named All-League

Three Britton volleyball players were named to the Tri-County all-league team this week.

Senior Kim Cottrell was named to the first team by a unanimous vote.

Janelle Schultz, another senior, was named to the second team while Janene Schultz received honorable mention.

Controversy, Opposition Grows over Sale of Bidwell Building

By Kathy Brown

Tecumseh city Council gave its attorney a vote of confidence Monday night. It also decided unanimously to seek a legal opinion, from the Michigan Municipal League, to affirm the opinion of city attorney Greg Forsthoefel that the city acted legally in the sale of the Bidwell Building.

Council also unanimously decided that it would not accept any back up offers for the sale of the Bidwell Building until the legal questions are resolved.

Council entered a sales agreement March 6 with D.E. Limpert of Manchester to sell the Bidwell Building for $10,000. He was given 60 days from that date to present plans for reuse and restoration to be approved by Council.

Council first discussed the sale of the building to Limpert at an unannounced closed session Feb. 21. The Herald has argued that the closed session was illegal. The Herald also argued that the city acted illegally in the sale, because it did not advertise the sale or take sealed bids.

Monday night Council also received and placed on file a letter from Larry Hartwig, salesman for Carpenter Real Estate, 6875 N. Adrian Hwy., regarding another offer.

Hartwig stated in the letter that on March 8, he and Larry Carpenter wrote a purchase agreement at Carpenter Real Estate offering cash for the Bidwell Building, an offer "considerably higher" than Limpert's.

A lawsuit contesting the sale of the Bidwell Building was not filed last week in Adrian as intended or as The Herald was informed. If the party, unknown at this time, fails to file, The Herald will contest Council's action relative to a closed session and subsequent sale of the Bidwell Building.

Assistant city manager Paul Preston, who handled the disposal of the building, advised the Carpenter agents that Council would have to decide on the new offer.

Hartwig stated that if he had known that the property was for sale, as Ann Arbor realtors were informed, the office would have made an earlier offer.

City attorney Greg Forsthoefel told council, "If you accept second, third and fourth offers, you may find it difficult to convince him (Limpert) of the reasons you may find it necessary to reject his plans."

Carpenter stated at the meeting, "I would say this would be true if properly marketed. But I say it has not been properly marketed."

Councilwoman Mary Bowers then asked Preston and Mayor Aden Mead if they knew that Limpert was a real estate agent for Fahey Realty in Manchester. They said they did not know this.

She cited Rule 41 of the Real Estate License Rules of the state of Michigan, department of licensing and regulation:

"A broker or his salesman shall make his true position clearly known to the listing owner, in buying or acquiring, directly or indirectly, an interest in a property that is listed with the broker. Satisfactory proof of this fact shall be produced by the broker upon request of the department."

"A broker or his salesman shall make his true position clearly known to the owner of a particular property who requested the broker's services as a broker, when the broker acquires, directly or indirectly, an option to purchase that particular property. Satisfactory proof of this fact shall be produced by the broker upon request of the department.

"I don't think that makes any difference," said attorney Forsthoefel. "He (Limpert) is not the broker."

"I've always been of the position that a realtor or broker should always make his true position known. I didn't know that Limpert is a realtor." said Carpenter.

"I think the question is were we legal in what we did, even if we made a mistake in the way we did it," said Mead.

"We were all concerned about vandalism and the appearance. We wanted two things, to improve the historic appearance of the downtown and to contribute to the business area. Limpert came to us with a plan. I think the boiling question is did we operate legally at the time."

Mead asked Forsthoefel to explain his legal interpretation of the city's position. Forsthoefel cited several sections of the city charter.

See Letter to Editor - Page 3

He refuted the opinion that the city acted illegally because it did not accept sealed bids for the sale of the Bidwell property at W. Chicago and S. Evans St.

"All the language in Chapter 12 positively excludes real estate. How do you take out a sealed bid on a piece of real estate you wish to purchase? If you sell by sealed bids, then the important thing is you've got to buy by sealed bids," Forsthoefel argued.

"I think that if you do anything to disturb this agreement, you would be on thin ice or perhaps no ice at all," Forsthoefel stated.

"I think you established a sound case," Tressler said. "It shows the wording in the charter is not as clear as it could be. It is obviously misunderstood by some and (in some sections) in obvious conflict."

Tressler suggested the city ask the Michigan Municipal League for a legal opinion to affirm Forsthoefel's.

Forsthoefel replied he would "certainly not" mind.

"Why are we now questioning Greg?" said Mrs. Bowers. "I seemed to be the only one upset about this thing two weeks ago. I still feel there is misrepresentation here, and it just adds to the other things," she said.

"I think Council did a good job in this case with the facts known, but I think it would have done better if it (the building) was marketed," Carpenter stated.

He asked if Council had ever sold real estate without sealed bids and if it ever took sealed bids on property. He received a "yes" to both answers.

"We did it with good faith and with good intentions. I think in the interest of the citizens of Tecumseh, we might do it the same way or a different way. Sure part of our methods may be faulted, but two years from now, people may look back and say we did an excellent job," Tressler stated his position.

Commission's Understanding - Sealed Bids

What was the intent and understanding of the Charter Commission relative to Council selling or buying property in excess of $500.

Charles Mensing, Tecumseh's first mayor and member of the Commission that adopted the charter in 1953, was asked this question.

He said, and "purely from memory," that it was the Commission's understanding and interpretation at the time that Council would be required to obtain sealed bids in selling property in excess of $500.

Mr. Mensing also recalls that a representative of the Michigan Municipal League attended the Commission's meetings and assisted in writing the charter. The city's first mayor also stated that he personally pushed for a higher dollar figure but was over ruled, and the "in excess of $500" was adopted.

He also said that it was the understanding that "all sales and purchases" included real estate and real property.

Perry Satterthwaite, also a member of the Charter Commission, was asked the same question. He said that it was too long ago and he couldn't remember.

Third member of the Commission still living, James C. Beardsley, former city attornery, was not asked the question since he is associated in law practice with the present city attorney, Greg Forsthoefel.

Construction, Costs Given Shareholders

Kenneth C. McElroy, chairman of the board of the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh, told approximately 60 shareholders Tuesday afternoon that construction of a new main office would probably begin late this year or early in 1979.

He said that preliminary plans and drawings would not be completed until late summer for the office, estimated at this time to cost between $1.5 and $1.8 million including furniture and fixtures.

Daniels and Zermack Assoicates of Ann Arbor are the architects. Construction site is the present Vescio property at the east edge of the downtown business district.

Following the annual shareholders meeting, which was held at the Tecumseh Country Club, directors adjourned and re-elected all officers of the bank.

Visiting hours in general wards are 1-4:30 p.m. and 6:30-8 p.m. In maternity ward, hours are 2:30-4:30 p.m. and 6:30-8 p.m. No children under 12 are admitted as visitors.

Special Session on March 28th

Tecumseh planning commission will have a special meeting March 28 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall. Agenda includes a four-story senior citizen housing building and rezoning of industrial parking lots west side of Mill from RA-1, single family to RM-1, residential multiple.

OK 45% Increase

Tecumseh city Council unanimously voted Monday night to increase the city contribution to the Al Meyers Airport maintenance from $1,000 to $1,600, a 45 percent increase.

The airport requested $2,200 or a 100 percent increase based on increasing costs for this year and last.

Funds are applied to runway maintanance and does not include utilities, building.

In 1976, the city voted to increase the contribution to the airport from $900 to $1,100. It also required the airport to purchase additional liability insurance to bring the total coverage up to $1 million. Additional premium cost the airport $266 more, thus dropping the city's usual stipend from $900 to $834, or $66 less.

Blizzard this year also increased maintenance costs of the airport. City's bill to airport for snow removal was $651, plus additional help costing $100.

In her report, Mrs. Allen H. Meyers, airport president, stated: "The airport cannot simply be compared to another private business. Even though it must be self-supporting, it still must carry out a public duty because it is under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Department of Transportation." She demonstrated in the report that the airport brings business into the community and that it also attracts a special kind of tourism.

Although the council members were impressed with the airport's report, it did not feel the 100 percent increase was justifiable. Two council members, Mary Bowers and Carlton Cook, also a pilot, spoke strongly in favor of the full increase.

One third of the airport is in the city and remaining two-thirds is in Tecumseh township.

In the report to council, Airport president Mrs. Allen H. Meyers included 15 interviews with Tecumseh area businesses. They answered the question: "In what way do you use the airport?" and "Is the airport important to your business?"

Three businesses, Parachuting Services, Inc., Bishop Avionics and LaLonde Studio of Design, stated their increase in business and livelihood is directly tied to the airport.

Other businesses stated they use the airport for executive travel and receive or send air freight.

These included: Fisher Body, Tecumseh Products and Peerless Gear, McDonald's, Don's Beef Buffet, Meadows Market, Tecumseh Plywood, Michigan International Speedway, Budd Co., Meyers Inddstries, Tecumseh Equipment.

4-Story, Senior Citizen Complex Now Considered

Tecumseh could have a four-story, 122 unit senior citizen complex in its future.

Monday night, council referred a zoning change to planning commission that would allow the city to build a four-story multiple unit structure on the eight acres designated for senior citizen housing, west of Adrian St.

Present zoning allows maximum of two-and-one-half story multiple unit building.

Architect Francis Faulhaber and assistant city manager Paul Preston told city council that the best way to utilize the site and approach the current need for 200 senior citizen units was to build a four-story structure.

The number of needed senior citizen housing units was determined in a market analysis by Richard D. Masters of Masters and Associates of Lorain, Ohio.

Faulhaber said the present project plan was for a three-story building with elevator and 89 apartments arranged in a modified "T" shape and angled so that each apartment would be exposed to sunshine during part of the day. Parking stalls are 104.

"I think our problem is not just the site. If we extend the hallways (to accommodate more apartments) they become too cumbersome for residents to use. A fourth floor would solve the problem," said Faulhaber.

Preston pointed to another possible problem.

Farmers Home Administration, to which the city plans to make an application for funds, has not approved a four-story building, nor one with an elevator. "But that doesn't mean we can't be a forerunner," said Preston.

"I would prefer to go in with a total number of units we can build at this time and negotiate with the federal government," said Preston about the expanded project.

Preston explained that the Farmers Home Administration at the state level has authority to fund only $1½ million. "Even at 90 units, we exceed this," said Preston.

In this case, the Farmers Home Administration in Washington D.C. must make the approval and this will take longer than anticipated.

Reasons why city chose to deal with Farmers Home are: it is geared toward smaller communities, initial approval for loans comes from Adrian and Lansing rather than Washington D.C., and basically, Farmers Home has had more funds available over longer periods of time than the federal department of Housing and Urban Development.

Council member Jay Tressler pointed out that the city might have greater need for senior citizen housing if geographic limits for residents of the housing project were liberal.

Adopt Policy

Tecumseh students will now be able to choose whether they wish to release their school picture to the media for inclusion in newspaper graduation supplements and in the yearbook.

That's the result of a new picture release policy adopted by the School Board Monday night.

High school principal Clarence Lacny said later that the policy goes into effect immediately. Those students who would prefer that their school photograph not appear either in the yearbook or in the graduation supplement are asked to stop by the principal's office to pick up a form.

Forms will be available starting April 3 and must be returned by April 7.

Students over 18 may sign the form themselves while those under 18 must have their parents sign, Lacny said.

Repairs May Cost $2,300

Repairs to the city's 1973 fire pumper may cost as much as $2,300 for the pump alone, city manager Cal Zorn told Council Monday night.

The pumper, which is in Grand Ledge at present for repair, was sent there in August 1976 for the same problem relating to the shifting mechanism when the pump is in use.

City did not pay the first $308 bill because the fire department was not satisfied with the repair work.

Since that time, the city has experienced red tape with various companies and new management involved.

Flowers Push Through Snow

Talking It Out

What can I say? What can I do?

If you've avoided visiting the home of a terminally ill friend or relative because you don't know what to do or say when you get there, you're not alone. But here are some things you can consider:

DO IT NOW

Visiting them now shows you're still a friend. Visiting at the funeral shows the widow(er) and family the same things, but also that you waited too long. Do it now, and show you care.

What to say and do:

Say that you've been praying for him and mean it. Say that you've brought a book that might help. Say you've arrange to take that friend to the hospital (or doctor's office) for the regular visit next Thursday, so the spouse can tend other chores. Take his wife's grocery list along with yours when you go marketing next week. Offer to fix a lunch, wash a car, drive the kids or any other special little chore as needed. But do it now.

Don't stop there.

After the funeral, all of the above are still good examples to follow - and may aid in comforting the family.

Herald Readers Write

To the Editor:

The writer lives in Tecumseh Township but pays taxes on property in the city, so I have been quite interested in the controversy about the sale of the Bidwell building.

The local assessor's valuation of the property has been reported at $60,000, it has been reported Mrs. Robideau purchased the property for $40,000 and the city council offered to sell it for $10,000. It would be interesting to learn why the city offered the property at this price when the assessor had it valued at a much higher price. The writer wonders if the assessor and city Council keep each other informed as to what each one is doing.

The writer is a member of the Board of Review in the township and we hope we never get into such a ridiculous situation as the city is in.

Respectfully,
Dwight Hodges

To the Editor,
To the people of the Tecumseh Community,

Our thanks and appreciation to all of you who helped make the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's Salad Luncheon such a success last week.

Thank you, the public, for supporting us by coming to our luncheon; and thank you, Auxiliary members, for your willing hands and hard work.

With such a winning combination it is not surprising that we realized our largest net profit to date — $1,156.00. This money will be used to purchase equipment for the Herrick Memorial Hospital, thus benefiting the entire community.

Sincerely,
Joyce Butters

Tecumseh Girls Celebrate Scouting

March 12-18 is the 66th birthday anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States, founded in 1912.

March 14 four Tecumseh Scouts Beth Ruggirello, Judy Wotring, Michelle DeShano and Kim Kidner presented a birthday cake honoring the 66th scouting anniversary to Robert Robinson, chairman of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, one of the supporters of Girl Scouts in Tecumseh.

Tecumseh has 16 troops with 172 girls of all ages. Four adults are registered. Tecumseh is part of the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council that serves Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee counties. Some three million girls are in Scouting.

This year Tecumseh had another great cookie sale. Troops sold 408 cases.

Scouts serving during worship at the United Methodist Church were Mrs. John Rounds, Amy and Jennifer Rounds, Laurie and Sharie Murphy, Kathie Bick, Jo Hanna Bailey and Laura Joseph.

Laurie Murphy was presented first class Scout award, Jenny and Andy Bick were introduced as working on the God and Community and God and Country Awards.

Following is a resume of troop news:

147

Girls have a new leader, Kathie Bick. Troop is bowling March 18 at 3 p.m. and visiting the Richard Burgess farm to see horses March 25 at 1 p.m.

258

159

A ceremony was held last week and girls received the following: Carey Yeager, Shelly McGraw, Susan Neibarger, Girl Scout and World Friendship pins; Michelle Naugle, world friendship pin and drawing and painting badge; Barbara Hopkins, weaving and basketry badge and Laurie Murphy, first class Scout award.

190

An art and craft meeting is planned.

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. has encouraged girls to be active doers. Today's Girl Scouts have many more opportunities from career exploration to a heightened awareness of women's roles in changing society.

A case in point is the new handbook, Worlds To Explore, where activities for even the youngest girls help them expand their understanding of the world around them, its people, resources, art and sciences.

Other activities give them a chance to examine the potential impact of women in tomorrow's world and the importance of exercising options.

For more information about local Girl Scout activities call the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council, 784-8543.

Computer Management

Richard Smith and Gregg Hardy recently used the computer as a management tool for the farm. Smith and Hardy of Tipton participated in a workshop called Pro-Ag.

This is a computerized farm management service offered exclusively by International Harvester, (IH), according to company officials.

Smith and Hardy took part in the workshop at the Harvey House. A computer terminal was connected via telephone lines to IH's computer operation in Fort Wayne, Ind.

At the workshop, IH instructors helped Smith and Hardy develop farm-related data on their operation. Such information included their labor, machinery and equipment, cost per acre, and productivity. Also assisting in the workshop was Don Ford of the Tecumseh Equipment. Co., an IH dealer.

This information, IH said, was then transmitted via a computer terminal to the IH computer. The computer center than provided an individualized analysis of the farmer operation. Highlighted was such data as cost per acre, primary profit sources, and opportunities to hike income.

With this information, the farmer then tests alternatives affecting land, labor and equipment.

According to IH, the aim of the program is to allow the participant to continue making changes until they find the best way to boost profit and productivity.

Farmers pay a nominal service charge for computer time used.

Happy Easter!

Helping Hands Still Needed for Children

The Tecumseh Schools and Jaycee Auxiliary have received only 18 applications for the Helping Hand program.

Jaycee Auxiliary project co-chairman Sarah Russell urged the community to participate in the crime prevention project. "It seems there is not enough interest by parents or persons in the community to become involved," she reflected.

Applications are available at the Grey Fox Floral, Tecumseh Herald, through the elementary schools and Doby's Donuts. Call Sarah Russell, 423-7686 for further information on becoming a helping hand volunteer.

Those who already have applications can return completed forms to the Tecumseh Police Department, at city hall on Chicago Blvd. and Maumee, or the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department, Adrian.

Mrs. Russell said, "It could be your child that would need assistance in an emergency. Let's make sure our community is a safe place and give our children homes ready and willing to help."

CUSTOMER INFORMATION FROM GENERAL MOTORS

WHY WE'RE INTRODUCING AUTOMATIC SAFETY BELTS NOW

WILL YOU LIKE THEM? WILL YOU CHOOSE THEM? WE NEED TO KNOW.

In May we will make automatic safety belts available as an option on the Chevrolet Chevette. We're doing this now because we need to know how well you like them and whether you'll choose them.

Not enough people use the safety belts that are now standard equipment in every car. So the government has directed that some form of passive restraint, such as air cushions or automatic safety belts, be built into every car by 1984.

The automatic safety belt is very easy to use. When the door is opened, the safety belt automatically moves out of the way so that the passenger has room to sit down. As the door is closed, the safety belt automatically fits around the passenger. Knee bolsters are built into the instrument panel to help limit forward movement during an accident. In addition, regular lap belts can be fastened to supplement the automatic safety belts.

We also have plans to offer air cushions in some of our future cars, because they have advantages in convenience and appearance. And we are working hard to improve them.

On the other hand, automatic safety belts have these advantages: they are lighter, which helps gas mileage; their cost is relatively low, and they would be easy to replace.

We'd like you to try the new automatic belts and judge them for yourself. How many people order automatic safety belts, and what they think of them, will help us plan our cars for the 1980's.

That's why we're offering the option of automatic safety belts now, so you can tell us how to design these cars the way you want them.

This advertisement is part of our continuing effort to give customers useful information about their cars and trucks and the company that builds them.

Celebrating Its 150th Anniversary

By Kathy Brown

Nine years older than the state of Michigan, the First United Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh was incorporated with 10 charter members on Easter Sunday, April 6, 1828.

To celebrate its 150th anniversary, the congregation plans a special activity week April 2-9.

An attic search was announced in conjunction with the anniversary. Tecumseh area residents and former residents are asked to check among their family souveniers for church programs, newspaper clippings and personal mementoes saved from church activities.

A special case in planned to display these mementoes during the week. Pam Bunch is chairman of the historical committee. Anyone with items to loan may contact her.

Part of the preparation has included the writing of the church's history. Dee Jay Rinehart, historian, has spent considerable time in the last year researching the history. She has come across some interesting sidelights to flesh out the story of the church and its people.

Ou. of the first 10 members, eight were women. None have direct descendants in the area. However, one of the charter members, Maria Hixon, was 103 when the church celebrated its 75th anniversary in 1903. She died the next year and was buried in Riverside Cemetery, Clinton.

The Rev. Noah Wells, a Presbyterian minister from Detroit, gave the first Sunday service in Tecumseh in 1825.

Circuit riders served the community until Sept. 1827 when the Rev. Alanson Darwin came as the first pastor of the Presbyterian congregation. The Rev. Edmond Watkins is presently the pastor.

By 1836, the congregation outgrew the school and court houses in Tecumseh where the services were held. On Jan. 12, 1837, the Session House was completed at Maumee and E. Chicago Blvd. It was later sold to the Friends Society and used by them for 60 years. It is still in use as a residence at the corner of Cummins and Adrian St.

In the fall of 1840, the white frame meeting house, large enough to hold 400, was dedicated. The church continued to grow. It held daily meetings with the Methodists and Baptists.

The United Methodist Church in Tecumseh celebrated its 150th anniversary this year too. Festivities were held last fall however, due to unpredictable winter weather.)

Under the pastorate of the Rev. Samuel E. Wishard, plans for the present church at 211 W. Chicago Blvd. were made. It was started in 1865 and built in Gothic revival style. Wishard was also responsible for preserving the church's early history.

In 1892, trustees were authorized to consider lighting the church with electricity at no cost to the church for fixtures, but the improvement was not made until 1898 when electric lights were no longer free.

In 1949, a group of young people originated the idea of having a basement in the church. On Oct. 13, 1949, the fellowship center was dedicated. It was used for religious gatherings and could serve as a dining room for 200. In 1950, it was divided into smaller rooms for Sunday school.

On March 21, 1971, the Christian Education Building was dedicated after almost a year of planning. In May 1976, the interior and exterior of the church was restored.

Two prominent citizens from Tecumseh's early years were each involved with church activities for 50 years.

Serill C. LeBaron, since 1834, was church secretary for 37 years in his own hand and continued with the help of a Mrs. Moreley," making his term 50 years.

LeBaron set up the Academical School, the first advanced course of study beyond that offered by the district school in Tecumseh. Following the 1830's panic, he became receiver of the Tecumseh Bank, the Globe Mill and other speculative ventures in town.

J.S. Strong, local entrepreneur, was choir director for 50 years and in 1889, gave the church a new pipe organ. Strong's first enterprise was a stream engine foundry.

He financed the three storied brick block that later became Satterthwaite Hardware, now Baldwin Hardware. He was somewhat active in the clothing firm of Strong and McNair located in the Contented Sole. He built the yellow brick home at 109 S. Union St.

BUSY HISTORIAN — Dee Jay Rinehart, historian First United Presbyterian Church, Tecumseh, spent long hours piecing together a comprehensive history of the 150 year old congregation.

Lenape SME Drive

Four local men are participating in the annual Boy Scout Lenape District Sustaining Membership Enrollment (SME) program. Kick-off breakfast was held March 11 at Hathaway House, Blissfield, courtesy of owners, The Weebers.

The SME program has a support funding goal of 22 percent of the budget needs for the Wolverine Council of which the Lenape Districts (Lenawee County) is a part.

SME workers for Lenape Districts have a goal of $9,300 of the $76,000 goal for the Wolverine Council.

Primary funding — or 56 percent of the budget for Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouting — on a local level is the United Fund. Remaining 22 percent is from activities and projects.

Edwin Walters is district finance chairman of the 1978 SME volunteer committee. District volunteer chairmen of their cities are Neal Judkins of Britton; Steve Bowman of Clinton and Earl Mason and Ed Walters of Tecumseh.

Pvt Yvonne M. Phenicie, daughter of Wanita Phenicie, Paul's Trailer Park, recently completed a food service specialist course at Ft. Jackson S.C.

The course trains personnel to prepare and serve food in large and small quantities. Students receive training in baking, field kitchen operations, and the operation of an Army dining facility.

She entered the Army in October 1977 and is a 1977 graduate of Lawton High School.

Sportswriter of the Year

Jim Murray, syndicated sports columnist for the Los Angeles Times, has been chosen the sportswriter of the year by National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association.

It marks the 12th time in the past 13 years that he has been the recipient of the award. In addition, to winning the award, he will be inducted into the Association's Hall of fame.

Murray, husband of the former Jerry Brown of Tecumseh, will receive his awards at the Association's annual dinner, April 4th, at Salisbury, N.C.

ADMINISTRATIVE SECRETARY, ZOLA WELLING

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY
KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SIES, BUSINESS MANAGER

A lady with a different point of view at Herrick Hospital is Zola Welling. As administrative secretary she has seen many changes take place at 500 E. Pottawatamie St.

In fact, during her tenure here of some six years, she has inhabited no less than four different offices while the renovations and new construction were underway.

She began in the outer office of the old building in what is now Norma Moll, RN, director of nursing's office today.

A short time later Zola's office was moved to the old X-ray department to make way for the construction crews.

Zola laughed as she recalled the time that part of the old building was being razed by a wrecking ball; the first time the ball hit the west end of the building, the vibration of the impact knocked her right out of her chair.

Another time, she moved her desk from one of the office to the other from day to day to dodge falling chunks of plaster. But as time passed, the last temporary move was made to the basement behind the old kitchen. That lasted for a couple of years and in the winter it was cold.

She finally moved to the first floor, to a bright, newly decorated and heated office. Here she plans to stay.

Zola's duties as secretary to William Groover, administrator are varried. Besides maintaining many files, handling correspondence and acting as receptionist, she frequently and good naturedly acts as the typing pool for many departments of the hospital.

Zola lives near the hospital with her two pet dachshunds which she nicknamed "Shadpoke and Heybabe." A family is expected about April 22.

When the workday at the hospital ends, Zola Welling is not one to shift into park in front of the "tube." Her latest project is the replacement of the back end of her house. If this job sounds like heavy construction, you are right. She admitted she had some help setting beams in place.

At present, the project is awaiting the return of warm weather. "At least I finished the shell and insulating," she remarked. This spring, she looks forward to nailing a few shingles. Keep it up, Zola.

This thing we call hope — it is a strange thing. It springs eternal in the human breast. . . and yet so often it has been mocked by time and tragedy.

Why, indeed, does every man cling to his hope, even when the self-styled realists cry hopeless.

The answer is written in the beautiful history of the first Easter Day. Faithful friends of the Master came to anoint His Body. Came sorrowing . . . without hope.

And they returned rejoicing: Christ is risen . . .

That was the birthday of Hope . . . the certainty of Christians that even death cannot destroy the believing soul!

And every Easter Day countless men and women discover or rediscover that Hope. It brings a new joy to their lives. It will, to yours . . .

A Christian Ad

What do we mean when we say "A Christian Ad"? Well, we might mean an ad that goes to church, but that's not what we mean. We might mean an ad that was put together by Christians, but that's not what we really mean. What we want to tell you is that, being Christians, any ad that we write would be a Christian ad. Christianity is a way of life. So, everything we do reflects our way of life -- our Christian way of life.

What does Christianity mean?

It means you have a friend who is the truest friend you will ever have.

It means you have a new outlook on life now. It also means you have eternal life.

It means a security you didn't know was possible.

It means you have someone to listen to your problems and help you carry your burden when times are bad, and to love you no matter what.

It means being free from guilt of knowing you have done wrong, and a chance to begin again.

How? By asking Jesus Christ to forgive you, by asking Him to come into your heart and cleanse it. By becoming more Christ-like as He lives in you.

Want to know more? Call 451-5373 and ask for Linda.

Who are we? We're the young adult class of the Britton Congregational Christian Church.

50 FOOT MURAL — Fourteen students at THS have spent much of their time the past two and a half weeks painting this 50 foot long mural. Art teacher, Ann Fox's students undertook the 10 foot high graphic mural as a project to both cover a large blank wall and to celebrate National Youth Art Month. The room is presently used as both a cafeteria and study hall.

As the seasons change the window watching is apt to be super-good. It might be strange, humorous, incongruous, but always interesting. Now that winter has officially given way to spring all sorts of exciting things will begin happening any day now. However, a week or so ago we enjoyed an interesting morning, a typical change of season morning with a little winter but some hints of spring too.

When the drapes and curtains were first opened the world outside was a magical winter fairyland. Hoar frost was thick and heavy. The window scenes looked like well-flocked Christmas trees. It was a beautiful, beautiful sight.

Into this winter wonderland flew a pair of cardinals. The male of course, was gorgeous in the bright scarlet and the female was far from dull and drab.

Her courting plumage was unusually colorful, the fawn of her breast was a rich lush shade, her back was surprisingly dark, and her tail and wings were highlighted by bright red feathers. A glamorous gal; in fact, it was a handsome couple.

Their actions clearly bespoke spring even though the world looked wintry. Only at this time of the year does the male become courtly and polite. Instead of chasing the female away he invites her to join him.

Unfortunately the couple was not dining at the near-my-window feeders but were instead snacking on the seeds which were scattered on the ground and in the bushes beneath the trays.

We only had a partial view of what was going on — the birds seemed to be eating close together but apparently love matters had not progressed far enough for him to be feeding her. It won't be long now though.

The birds who were breakfasting on the trays themselves were the cute little redpolls. Yes, large flocks were still in residence. They were outnumbering juncos and goldfinches.

And here is another example of seasonal overlapping. We think of redpolls as winter birds, which they most definitely are, but the few goldfinches who shouldered their way to the feeders were thinking spring. Several of them were showing a great deal of their spring and summer bright yellow. So encouraging.

Temperature and wind cooperated to allow the trees and shrubs to keep their white lacy trim for an unusually long period of time. After breakfast Mom and I just happened to look up at the nearby limbs of the creek-bank maple tree.

Perched there was one of the brightest of the male redpolls. He was snuggled in the white stuff and oh, how his lovely rosey pink breast did show up.

It was just as Gertie T and I had noticed once before — in certain positions and under certain lighting conditions the front of a highly colored male redpoll is the same raspberry and as is the male purple finch.

While looking at the maple tree Mom and I were again conscious of the nearness of spring in our winter window scene. The branches of the maple tree were heavily flocked with hoar frost but at the end of each small twig was a bud, an obviously swelling bud.

Next we noticed the forsythia bushes and these were even 'more so' — each and every bud was accentuated by the white coating and through the frost it was possible to see that the branches themselves were beginning to take on a tannish yellow color.

Further up the creek are willow trees and even they were showing signs of spring.

Finally, of course, the frosty loveliness began dropping, sagging and falling. While it was still a fairyland though a black colored bird flew into the scene. The first grackle.

Although he was a reminder of the hordes to come he was also a reminder that spring is on its way. It can't happen too soon either — the snow was pretty and the bird watching super, but the season is now spring and we are more than ready.

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Approves Zoning Change

At a special meeting Tuesday night, the city Planning Commission recommended a zoning change that would allow a four story senior city housing project on eight acres of land designated for that purpose in the west section of the town near Adrian St.

In a related matter, Tecumseh Housing Commission will meet Thursday at 9 a.m. to discuss the pre-application for funds for senior citizen housing from the Farmers Home Asministration, announced assistant city manager Paul Preston.

Planning Commission reached no decision Tuesday night on the zoning change of property west of Mill St. near the city's industrial park site. A party interested in building multiple units inquired about the zoning change.

City manager Cal Zorn asked the commission not to make a decision until he could speak to Raisin Township Supervisor Richard Gallaway for some input from the township.

No Suit - Yet

As of Wednesday, no lawsuit against Council over the sale of the Bidwell Building had been filed.

One party indicated two weeks ago that such a suit would be filed to contest the sale. The Herald has stated that it will contest the legality of the sale if the other party does not.

Unless there are other developments, The Herald will file a lawsuit the week of April 10th, challenging a closed session at which the sale was discussed and Council's sale agreement without taking sealed bids.

Don Limpert, Manchester, buyer of the property nor Clyde Wellwood, Manchester contractor and associate of Limpert, are not involved in the questionable action.

Tornado Alert Warning Set for April 6

Tecumseh Fire Department will participate in the county-wide Tornado Warning System test on April 6 at 6 p.m.

A three minute steady blast will be sounded.

In case of actual tornado, this will be sounded. Residents are advised to take cover in basement away from windows.

Do not call the police station or fire department as this only ties up the lines for emergency calls. Listen to radio for all clear.

Discipline Explained

The Tecumseh Herald learned that five Tecumseh High School students were suspended March 23 for one day following an incident at the All-County Choir at Onsted High School recently. Students were reported to be smoking on a break.

According to a signed letter to the editor from an observer, at least two of the students suspended were not smoking but were given the same punishment.

Principal Clarence Lacny told the Herald that the investigation of the incident was handled by assistant principals, Michael McAran and Dan Webster.

"I do know that they talked with the teacher and students involved," said Lacny. "They handled the discipline and I didn't want to circumvent this. This is not a precedent setting event."

According to assistant principal Weber, he suspended four students, McAran suspended one after they discussed the incident with the teacher and seven students reportedly involved.

Lacny said, "The suspensions were based on a violation of discipline code at a school sponsored activity, based on observations of the supervising teacher.

"Anytime our kids are representing Tecumseh High School in an activity, it is a school function," Lacny stated.

Superintendent Robert Duhan stated that even if students involved are 18 years of age, "as long as they are registered students of the high school, they must abide by the rules. That's board policy."

Attorney To Run in Senate Primary

At a press conference in Jackson Wednesday afternoon, Tecumseh attorney James W. Daly, 31, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the 19th District State Senate seat now held by Sen. Hal W. Ziegler (R - Jackson.)

A native of Lapeer, Daly has resided in the area for about 10 years. He has an Associate of Arts Degree from Northwood Institute, a Bachelor of Science Degree in political science from Eastern Michigan University, and a J.D. Degree from the University of Detroit.

Daly is a partner in the law firm of Crudder and Daly in Tecumseh.

Always active in community affairs, he worked for six years at the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ann Arbor. He is a former member of the board of directors, Alcoholic Information-Referral Center at Bixby Hospital, a member of the Lenawee Bar Association, the Michigan Bar Association and the American Bar Association, the vestry of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Tecumseh Country Club, Tecumseh Kiwanis, Devils Lake Yacht Club, the Tecumseh Eagles, Adrian Elks Club and is on the board of the Community Action Center.

Daly and his wife, Fran, have two sons, Robert, 7, and Mark, 4. He is certainly no stranger to political life in Michigan, as his family has deep roots in the system. Daly's uncle is Charles Potter, a former U.S. Senator from Michigan (1953-59), and his grand-uncle was Ernest Converse, a Michigan Attorney General during the 1930's.

Daly cites his deep community involvement, legal background, and experience in Mental Health field as major assets to the campaign. He also has widespread support among the rank-and-file, active Democrats in the 19th District.

Both Jackson County Democratic Chairperson Randall Treacher and Lenawee County Chairperson Jeffrey Ely have characterized Daly as the front-runner for the Democratic nomination.

Daly is deeply concerned about the Milliken administration's record, especially in the areas of health services (which he calls "poorly administrated, badly budgeted, and out of control"), tax relief (Daly has said that "the Republican administration has brought the out-state middle class to its knees paying outrageous taxes") and industrial relations ("Michigan must remain a strong industrial leader in this country if we are to prosper.")

JAMES DALY

Finally, he believes that the time is right for a Democrat to carry this District. Citing figures which show that the Democrats lost the District in 1974 by less than one percent, he believes that with the right campaign, people will come to understand how absolutely vital it is for a strong candidate to be elected this time.

"The Republicans have done about all that they could as a minority. We continually suffer because they are weak. We need a strong Democrat to go to Lansing and bring home some results.

Election Date Is June 12th

Tecumseh School Board passed a resolution declaring June 12 the date for the annual school election this year.

The resolution is required by law.

Two school board terms are up for election this year, the posts held by Dr. Donald Phelan and by William Macbeth.

No one has filed for either of the two terms, including the incumbents.

The deadline for filing petitions is 4 p.m. April 10 at the school board office.

Parents Organize To Protest Abuse from JHS Teachers

Parents concerned about verbal and physical harassment of their students at Tecumseh Junior High School will meet Monday, April 3 at 7 p.m. at the Zapata Center, 1015 Erie St., Adrian to discuss their common experiences and concerns.

The group identified as "Concerned Parents of Tecumseh Junior High School Students" organized itself at a similar meeting Monday in a Tecumseh home, following an incident at the junior high school on March 20 when a student was reportedly struck by a teacher.

Superintendent Robert Duhan said he was aware that Tecumseh Junior High School principal Donald Berkley met with the student's parents and the teacher to discuss the situation. Any disciplinary action would come from the principal, stated Duhan. He said that "no announcement is made of what disciplinary action may be taken against a teacher or student."

Berkley could not be reached Wednesday morning for comment.

Eight parents and three students attended the March 27 informal meeting. Dee Cortez and Tom Flores, community liaisons from Zapata Center, Adrian, attended the meeting to hear the parents concerns.

Concerns listed by parents Monday included cold classrooms, teachers refusing to talk to some parents about some students' problems, teachers using "big words," teachers swearing in classrooms, teachers using a "zapper" to administer static electricity shocks and pulling girls' hair for discipline, and a "gay" female teacher that has student girlfriends.

Zapata Center acts as a community liaison for the Hispano community. It offers outreach, counseling and interviews all people involved to help them resolve their situation.

Al Connor of the Student Advocacy Center, Ann Arbor, affiliated with the Zapata Center, will speak about alternatives to the parents at the next meeting. For more information, readers may contact Dee Cortez, 263-5907 or 265-5521.

"The parents feel it is prejudice," stated Dee Cortez. She said that not all that attended Monday's meeting are Hispano. Some are Anglo and they feel the discrimination is based on low income.

A parent that attended Monday's meeting stated that parents of "slow learners, whites who pal with Spanish speaking students and low income whites" are also being harassed by teachers.

The reason the families are seeking mediation was described by one parent: "My vocabulary is limited. I'm afraid they're going to shut us off. It is confusing for us, really."

They are organizing, as one parent put it, "to get parents together that have concerns, and we will meet at the April 17 school board meeting. We feel that the more support we have, the board will have to deal with this problem. This has been going on for a long time."

Hearing on April 3

April 3 at 8 p.m. was the date city council set Monday for a special public hearing required for city spending of its Federal Revenue Sharing Funds. Second hearing will be in May.

Total anticipated for 1978-79 fiscal year is $90,120.

Plans to spend this amount are designated as follows: $2,200 for senior citizens; $4,500, Region II Community Action agency; $52,200 refuse collection; $11,000, landfill; $15,000, clean-up; $5,200 new equipment and contingeney fund.

Total anticipated revenue sharing for the current 1977-78 fiscal year was $92,000. Total appropriated to end of February was $68,971. City appropriated the money in approximately the same way, or about 2.5 percent to senior citizen programs, five percent, Community Action agency; 80 percent solid waste disposal; five percent to new equipment and seven percent for police radio.

City also received 1977-78 Title II public works funds, for continuing city services, in the amount of $28,714, used for police salaries. Anticipated revenue for 1978-79 fiscal year was estimated at $20,000.

Questions Director's Discretion

At the March 20 city council meeting, council member Jay Tressler questioned the discretion of the recreation department Director Ward Eardley in use of the city recreation bus for transport of different groups.

Tressler said that a group of Tecumseh families were taken March 7 by the director to a high school basketball game in Detroit, but when a local garden club asked to use the bus for an activity, it was refused.

At least two other council members stated that policy should be determined by the council, not the director.

City manager Cal Zorn told council, that the city vehicle is "not for hire" and for use only on city recreation activities. This conforms with present insurance coverage. He stated further that the recreation department does pay into the city budget equipment fund when the bus is used.

Suggestion was made to have the city recreation board recommend guides for a policy for use of the vehicle.

Two Accidents Despite Ice

Although city streets were slick with ice Saturday and and Sunday, local police handled only two accidents the past week. One was attributed to icy conditions.

What protection should I have for my family?

Most people feel the responsibility to assure their family or survivors a reasonably smooth adjustment to life without you. Fulfilling this responsibility helps greatly in your peace of mind.

Life insurance protection, written up by a knowledgeable agent to suit your situation, is an important step.

A will is an essential document that will assure your estate will be directed as you desire. State laws vary so a competent lawyer in the state of your residence is your best advisor. Important items to include in your will might include the naming of an executor, your bequests of significant properties, trust funds, and any memorial or remembrance gifts.

Pre-planning your funeral arrangements is also a great relief to your survivors. You definitely will relieve their burdens in their hours of sorrow and we can help you with this without cost or obligation.

Keep in mind that safe-deposit boxes are usually inaccessible for some time after a death. A small savings account or a book of Traveler's Checks which are immediately available will help until the estate is settled.

Adopts New Weather Policy

Tecumseh's Board of Education approved a new policy recently for activities occurring during inclement weather.

In addition, the board members discussed policies on selection of instructional materials and the posting of new employment positions.

The new policy concerning activities during inclement weather states that if students are sent home early due to weather, then all activities are cancelled.

However, if classes are closed from the beginning of the school day and conditions improve during the day, then administation officials have the option of allowing activities to be held.

The board also reviewed the selection of instructional materials and procedures that parents must follow to complain about materials.

Supt. Robert Duhan said that materials are selected by the building principal, department chairperson, curriculum coordinator and the teacher.

Several criteria are used, Duhan said, including purpose of the material, appropriateness, content and other factors.

If a parent has a complaint, he or she first must request the building principal to reconsider the material. The principal contacts the superintendent and curriculum coordinator while the material remains in the program. An ad-hoc committee, made up of the curriculum coordinator, department chairperson, teacher of the class and one teacher not involved with the material, reads all the material.

The ad-hoc committee then completes a checklist of criteria and submits a written recommendation to the Board of Education.

The School Board has the final say as to whether material is retained or rejected.

Board member William Macbeth reminded the board of its policy concerning the posting of new positions.

Any new position, either professional or non-professional, must be approved by the board.

Kite Flying Suggestions

Kite flying is already underway. K.L. Chichester, Adrian district manager for Consumers Power Co., urged parents and children not to fly kites near electric power lines.

Other suggestions were: do not use wire or metal parts, fly in dry weather and avoid busy streets and highways. If your kite is snagged in a power line, do not pull the string or climb utility poles.

Ushering in Spring with New Grandson

The Robert D. Moore family ushers in spring with the birth of a grandson and a visit to the new family by the Michigan women relatives.

James Michael Lambert was born March 13 at 10:30 p.m. to Mr. and Mrs. J. Randy Lambert (nee Beth Moore) at Charlotte, N.C. He weighed 7 lbs. 6 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Moore of Rogers Hwy. and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lambert of Valdese, N.C.

Great-grandmother is Mrs. Frank Daehne of Tecumseh and great-great-grandmother is Mae Dillon, resident at Provincial House, Adrian.

Mrs. Daehne flew to North Carolina to visit and assist the new family. She was later joined by Mrs. Robert D. Moore, and Mrs. Patrick Cathey and daughters, Anne, 16 months and Kate, seven weeks, of Tecumseh. Mrs. Cathey is the new mother's sister.

The three Tecumseh women returned from North Carolina by car on Easter Sunday, March 26. Since Mr. Cathey's family resides in Charlotte, it was the first time they had seen their new granddaughter, Kate.

The engagement of Mary Kathryn Records to Nicholas G. Wagner is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Records of 110 N. Union St. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wagner of Escanaba. An Aug. 12 wedding is planned at the United Methodist Church, Tecumseh.

Egg Hunt Continues with Sleet

Saturday's sleet didn't discourage 125 youngsters who turned out for Tecumseh's two Easter egg hunts.

Approximately 50 children, aged one through 10, showed up at the "Pit" to search for eggs boiled and dyed by the Tecumseh Jaycees and Auxiliary. Twenty prizes were awarded.

At St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, the egg hunt was moved indoors to the school. Each classroom was designated for an average group. Approximately 75 children aged one to 10 participated. First and second prizes were awarded to each age group.

Clinton's Jaycee Easter egg hunt, held outdoors at the high school, attracted over 100 kids Saturday afternoon.

Take Bids for Food, Lawn Care

Bids are to be received by the school district for lawn care equipment and for equipment to accommodate the serving of hot lunches to elementary school children.

A lunch program for elementary school students will be instituted next fall in accordance with the Mandatory School Lunch Act.

School districts were given a year's reprieve from instituting lunches for elementary school students, but all districts must have a program by fall.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told the school board recently that the district will have to spend around $60,000 for additional plumbing, electrical and ventilation modifications to be in accordance with health department requirements.

The district hopes to receive a reimbursement from the state for 75 percent of the $60,000. That figure represents capital outlay necessary to institute a lunch program. The state, in the Act, said that districts would receive 75 percent reimbursement for capital outlay.

Cooley said after the meeting that ARA Food Services will probably handle the elementary school lunch program. ARA currently operates the junior and senior high lunch programs.

The district will be receiving bids on lawn care equipment since a tractor recently used by the district is "worn out due to extensive use," Cooley said.

Repairs $500 Less than Anticipated

The city's 1973 fire pumper was returned from Grand Ledge and as of yesterday, it worked, stated fire chief Wallace MacGeorge.

Cost for repair was over $1,800, about $500 less than anticipated at the last city Council meeting.

The pump on the vehicle was completely repaired. Except for a few parts that did not arrive, the pumper is operable and able to service the city.

Conference Is Attended

Mrs. Allen H. Meyers of the Allen H. Meyers foundation, Tecumseh was one of the 130 foundation representatives that attended the sixth annual conference of the Council of Michigan Foundations, March 15-17 at Dearborn Inn. "Society's Priorities--Foundations' Challenges" was the theme.

The annual conferences enable the foundations to discuss common problems. During this conference guest speakers such as Senator Donald W. Riegle Jr. challenged the foundations to assume a unique leadership to deal with social problems in a direct way that is impossible for government.

The conferences are designed to help foundations communicate more effectively with the public and remove the aura of mystery that surrounded foundation activities.

A reception was held for the delegates at Lovett Hall, Greenfield Village.

The Allen H. Meyers Foundation was founded in 1966 by Allen H. and Nydia Meyers to encourage, support scientific education teaching and research in engineering and aerospace study and design.

Present policy is to assign "starter grants" to worthwhile applicants from the community first, then outward to the area and state.

The foundation then encourages grantees to apply for financial help from additional resources. Along this line, the Meyers Foundation requested a copy of the 1978 Michigan Foundation Directory for the Tecumseh Public Library so Tecumseh area students may become more familiar with other sources of financial aid.

A special fund, the Allen H. Meyers Foundation Fund, was created after his death, March 15, 1976, and enables the general public to make memorial contributions to be dispersed in certain areas of research.

Meyers was an aviation pioneer in Michigan. Dr. Nydia Meyers is involved with genetics research at the University of Michigan.

Artist Entertains Club

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marks of Marks Stained Glass Studio, 302 E. Chicago Blvd., showed slides of Tiffany glass from the Tiffany museum to the Tecumseh Monday Club March 20 at the St. Peter's Church Hall. Twenty-six members and guests were present.

The couple talked and showed slides on the making of glass by the hand blown method and the current methods of making metropolitan glass. The hand blown glass is made as it was a thousand years ago, using the same type of tools.

The couple also showed slides of Mr. Marks' work in churches and homes. Besides being an artist, he is also a teacher.

Ann Waterman reported on "Battered Teachers." More than 63,000 cases were reported. The crimes consist of rapes, muggings, beatings, bodily harm. Few culprits are brought to trial.

Ruth Kuder, president, gave a short history of the club. It was organized 84 years ago to enrich the cultural life of the community. She reviewed the past year and club accomplishments.

Mrs. Robert Bonner and her committee served refreshments. Ruth Kuder and Naomi Sallows poured beverages.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

It was aggravating, it was frustrating, it was maddening — but, it was also lots of fun! I was looking up the creek, looking but not seeing. As I turned my head, a bit of movement caught my attention but still it did not quite register.

Suddenly three thoughts came simultaneously. A mourning dove was landing in one of Diepenhorst's trees. It was a large mourning dove. It was too large for a mourning dove. About then I alerted Gertie T. to the fact that something was going on. I'll not admit how much time the two of us spent trying to identify the bird — we knew it was a hawk, but what kind?

The bird landed in the third tree on our neighbor's bank, up just far enough so that there was a myriad of twigs and branches between him and us. It was an absolute tangle of branches and twigs. Perfect camouflage.

The binoculars came out, my bed was twisted around, and thus began the long session. Neither Gerti T. nor I proved to be good mystery solvers on this particular afternoon.

It was easy to identify the bird as a hawk. His upright position gave that much away. We next determined that his back was on the darkish side, his tail relatively long and barred, but where was his head?

The sun was bright and warm and the bird was obviously enjoying himself. He just stayed perched on that limb, and try as we might, there was no good way to get a look at his head. Too much 'jungle' in the way.

Hawks have unbelievably sharp eyesight. In fact, their eyes, although only a fraction as large as a human's eye, have eyeballs which are as large, and in some instances even larger, than ours.

And these eyes have "... the greatest density of nerve receptors known for any eye." More than once movement in the house, Mom or Gertie T. moving from one window to another for example, has been enough to spook a hawk who seemingly was too far away to be bothered. With this in mind Gertie T. and I were quite careful for this fellow was closer than the others had been.

However, we grew bolder as no changing of the bed's position or standing on tiptoes, sitting in a chair, or kneeling down brought us any closer to knowing who the hawk was.

And seemingly he was paying no attention to what we were doing; in fact, we almost wished he would turn his head and peer our way.

If there were streaks over his eyes and if his cheeks were tannish, chances are we were watching a pigeon hawk. Of course, slightly smaller and with a more colorful marked head would be a sparrow hawk.

Finally Gertie T. took a calculated risk and went out to the front porch. The noise and movement bothered the bird not a bit. Her view of him from there was good enough to explain his lack of action — he was taking a nap!

At long last he woke up or at least changed position enough for us to see his breast. The front view is even more frustrating than the back. Those blamed tree branches and twigs. His light tannish front with dark markings blended right into the 'jungle'.

Here our frustration reached its peak — without the binoculars it was absolutely impossible to see the bird even though we knew his exact location and, when using the glasses, he could be in perfect focus but with a mere blink of the eye, he would disappear.

Disappear right while we were watching him and we knew he hadn't moved a feather. Never have I seen a more perfect example of protective coloration.

The final irony of the day was that when the bird flew away Gertie T. was looking elsewhere and did not see him go. I was luckier. He flew down the creek which, of course, brought him my way. Even so I had only a momentary glance of a dark bluish gray streak. He was fast.

From the bird book reading we have done since and from matching what we remember about our napping hawk against what these books say, it is likely that maybe, perhaps, and possibly our bird was a pigeon hawk.

Projects Are Discussed

Projects were proposed and discussed at the March 14 meeting of the Tecumseh Area Historical Society at the library.

The Jack Curtisses and Austin Partridges were acknowledged at an informal reception for their gifts. Two LaVerne Wheeler paintings were donated to the society, loaned permanently to the library. Julie Rhora will seek appraisals for the paintings.

A bronze marker to denote the Musgrove Evans house, 409-411 E. Logan, built by the town's founder ca. 1836, has been ordered and will be erected at the present site of the home when received.

Several people have suggested other sites for historical markers.

Proposals were to 1) reduce dues of life memberships and 2) establish junior membership. Vote will be at next meeting, date to be announced. Dorothy Dabe volunteered to coordinate ideas for activities for junior membership if it is approved.

An ad hoc steering committee, Millie Saksewski, Dick Lewis, Pat Eby and Julie Rhora, will collect ideas for using the funds from the home tours. Suggestions will be voted on by members at a future meeting.

Cecil Eby agreed to keep a more complete record of historical society activities. Anyone with old newsletters, newspaper clippings, etc., may contact him.

Since volunteers are needed to serve on project committees, a questionnaire will be distributed in the next newsletter to give members at large an opportunity to volunteer.

Donations of printed historical items, pertinent to the Tecumseh area history, may be loaned or donated to the Clara Waldron room at the Tecumseh Public Library. Clippings, photos, old books, business directories, etc. relating to the Tecumseh area's history are greatly appreciated, stated society president Betty Kline.

For information to donate or loan these items, contact the library personnel or Tecumseh Area Historical Society, P.O. Box 26, Tecumseh, Michigan 49286 or call president Betty Kline.

Stop Mail While on Vacation

Tecumseh post office officer in charge Ron Butler suggested these mailing tips for vacationers:

+Ask a friend to check and hold your mail every day or request the post office hold it for up to 30 days. Local post office has "request to hold mail" orders to be completed.

+Let post office know when to resume delivery.

+Buy enough stamps when traveling. Mail in business districts where pick-ups are later and more frequent.

+Use sufficient postage. When traveling abroad, you must use the stamps of the country from which you mail.

Family Affected by Alcohol

Margaret McCaffrey addressed the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club at its regular meeting March 28 with a discussion on alcoholism and alcoholism services in Lenawee County.

McCaffrey provided an overview of the disease alcoholism explaining the physiological effects. She went on to say that alcohol does not affect only the physical characteristics of an individual, but also the social and familial areas of a person's life.

McCaffrey said that the alcoholic's family needs treatment for the illness as much as the alcoholic.

AIRC offers treatment services for both the alcoholic and the family. Family members are encouraged to seek treatment when the alcoholic is getting treatment, McCaffrey said, so that they can adjust to the changes made as a result of alcoholism treatment.

McCaffrey concluded by explaining the details of the services offered by AIRC. Services provided by the center are offered county-wide, and can be utilized by all residents of Lenawee County.

Village of Britton
Council Meeting
March 20, 1978

Meeting was called to order by President Pickell.

Roll call was taken as follows:

Present: Councilwomen Below, Denny, Furgason, Councilmen Bryan, Dicks, Spence.

Absent: None.

Motion Bryan, seconded Spence that the minutes of the regular meeting on March 6, 1978 be approved as printed. Motion carried unanimously.

The following preamble and RESOLUTION were offered by Councilman Elmer Bryan and supported by Councilwoman Nelie Denny:

WHEREAS, this Council has determined that it is necessary for the public health, safety and welfare of the Village to construct sanitary sewers and sanitary sewage disposal facilities to service the Village; and

WHEREAS, after study, this Council has determined that it is neither feasible nor practicable for the Village to finance such necessary construction alone; and,

WHEREAS, the County of Lenawee, has, by resolution adopted October 25, 1966, declared it necessary and advisable to make available the provisions of Act 342, Public Acts of Michigan, 1939, as amended, to the citizens of the County and has designated the County Drain Commissioner as County Agent for purposes of Act 342.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. This Council does hereby determine that it is impractical and financially unsound for the Village to undertake alone the aforesaid necessary sanitary sewer improvements.

2. This Council herby requests the assistance of the County in acquiring and financing of the above described improvements under the terms of the aforesaid Act 342, Public Acts of Michigan, 1939, as amended, said improvements, after acquisition, are to be operated, administered and maintained by the Village as agent of the County.

3. This Council herby recommends that the Lenawee County Agent engage as consultants in connection with said project the following parties:

As Engineers: Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout, Limited, Toledo, Ohio

As Bond Attorneys: Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, Detroit, Michigan

As Financial Consultant: Stauder, Barch & Associates, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan

4. This Council and all of its agents and employees shall cooperate with the County Agent, when established, to the end that said County may issue, as promptly as possible, County bonds in such amounts as may be needed to pay the total cost of the aforesaid improvements (less such grant funds as may be available to meet part of such costs), which bonds shall be retired out of payments made by the Village to the County through the County Agent in amounts fully sufficient to meet all principal and interest requirements thereon attributable to the improvements benefiting the Village.

5. This Council hereby agrees to reimburse the County and its Agent for all expenses incurred in connection with the project should the financing and construction of the project not be completed for any reason whatsoever.

This Council also agrees that prior to formal employment of Finkbeiner, Pettis and Strout, Limited, by Lenawee County as project engineers, said firm shall be employed by the Village to initiate the project as promptly as possible and prepare the necessary preliminary engineering reports and the Village shall advance funds to meet the cost of such services: Provided, however, any such advance of funds shall be reimbursed from the proceeds of County bonds, when issued, or to the extent permissible from the proceeds of Federal or State grants.

6. The Village Clerk be and is hereby directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to the Lenawee County Drain Commissioner for submission to the Lenawee County Board of Commissioners, with his recommendation attached hereto.

7. All resolutions and parts of resolution insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this resolution be and the same hereby are rescinded.

AYES: Councilmen E. Bryan, J. Dicks, J. Furgason, P. Below, R. Spence, N. Denny.

NAYS: None.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

Motion Dicks, seconded Denny that either Tiede or Bearinger, village employees attend the AWWA meeting on April 12, 1978 in Lansing. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion carried unanimously.

Ordinance No. 9006 pertaining to dogs will be enforced.

President: Kermit E. Pickell Jr.
Clerk: Dorothy E. Hindes

Donald Mitchell Acts as Agent

BRITTON — At the March 22 meeting of the Lenawee County Board of Commissioners, approval was given to Donald Mitchell, County Drain Commissioner, to act as the County's agent in the Britton-Ridgeway sewer project which has been stalled for eight years due to red tape tying up the state and federal grants.

This means that Michell may administer state and federal grants and that local money to finance the sewer project may also be raised by issuing bonds backed by the county.

Rough estimate of the cost of the project is over $2 million. The sewer will service the entire village of Britton and the unincorporated community of Ridgeway, located on M-50 and Ridge Hwy.

A tentative grant from the Environmental Protection Agency of $1.1 million and a state grant of $75,000 will help pay for the project. Mitchell said that these grants may change when an updated estimate on the sewer costs is made.

Emmanuel Bell Rang on Easter

BRITTON — The Emmanuel Lutheran Church, on Ridge Rd., bell rang Easter morning at the sunrise service and again at 10:30 a.m. for the first time since 1964.

The new church was built that year and as no place was provided for the church bell, a parishoner took the 400 lb. bell to his farm for safe keeping when the old church came down.

Record has it the last time the bell sounded was when it was tolled at the funeral of John Schroeder in July 1964.

Hearing the bell, which was mounted on a trailer for the occasion, was something new for the new church members and brought back many memories for some of the old ones.

There is a fund for construction of a bell tower and plans are just getting underway for its construction.

Time is getting short to complete a tower by June 18, the 15th anniversary of the new church building.

Band performed before three judges who rated the band from one to five, with one being the highest. They then performed two pieces of music, which they had not seen prior to that time and performed them for a different judge. The four ratings were then averaged together for the final rating.

Music peformed by the band included: "Totem Pole" by Osterling; "Overture:Disones" by Andrews; and "Music for a Ceremony" by Morrissey.

Band will also receive a plaque to be hung in the band room of the school, and each member will receive a blue medal.

Band wore its new uniforms for the first time at the festival, March 18, in Hudson and received many compliments, it was reported.

At the festival each band was required to perform a march, a selection from the required list and number of its own choosing.
